SALT AND THE GRUB WORM IN STRAWBERRY PATCHES.

One of the worst enemies to strawberry fields which have been set for a year or two, is a white grub which preys upon the roots and often comes in such numbers as to destroy whole patches in a few days or weeks. Besides these is another insect, called, in some places, the 'crown borer,' which is also very destructive to the strawberry plant. While there is nothing known which will rid strawberry fields of these two scourges, which will not at the same time poison the swelling fruit or burn or kill the growing plants, it has been found that salt will work wonders when used in what might be called heroic doses. A barrel of salt to the acre is little more than a homeopathic dose to insects, boring in the crowns or burning or eating the roots beneath, but where that dose is doubled and 560 pounds are sowed evenly broadcast, it soon tells. However, we would not advise anyone to try that much salt beyond a few square rods, because all soils are not alike, and all plants have not the same power of resistance; but try salt on a few rods, and see if it does not work wonders in destroying worms and insects of all kinds.

IT is a good plan to set a few hens, when eggs do not bring a good price in the market. Well fattened chickens will command a good price in the autumn and winter, and if you delay in the hatching till later, the chickens will not be of sufficient size to pay well. After the chickens are hatched out, be sure to have a suitable place to keep them in, and feed well, on a dough made of Indian meal, with plenty of milk near, for them to dip their bills in. Also, have some lime or wood ashes in a box, where they can have access to. It pays to raise poultry.

THE common cranberry is a most attractive plant, when properly cultivated in pots, and can endure a great deal of neglect which would be fatal to other plants. It only needs to be kept cool and moist. A compost of muck and sand is the proper material for potting it in. Although usually regarded as aquatic in its nature, it will not do to have the soil saturated with water. What it requires, is that water shall be within reach of its roots, and that the soil shall be one through which water can rise readily by capillary attraction.

CHICCORY does best in land suitable for, and treated the same as carrots. It is best to sow in drills, about two feet apart, on well prepared land. It is just as important as onions, that the land should be kept free from weeds until the chiccory is well started. Afterwards it is as well able as any plant we know of, to "take care of itself." In the drill the plant should be thinned to about a foot apart. The roots should be washed and dried, then roasted and ground. It is said that chiccory is a most attractive plant, as forage for sheep.

ONE of the most useful implements that can be used on the farm, is the field-roller. It crushes the clods, levels and smooths the ground and presses the earth firmly upon and around the seed, which causes them to sprout and grow much earlier. Of course the ground should be dry when the roller is used. In very dry weather a good rolling of the ground will frequently cause seed to grow when otherwise they would not have germinated.

AFTER pruning the orchard, care should be taken to clean up and burn all the brush before the embryo insects harboring in it have time to mature. The loose bark should also be scraped off and burned, and every cluster of the eggs of the tent catterpillar be removed betimes and cast into the fire. Attention to these matters will save a great deal of vexation and loss hereafter.

FOR flesh-producing purposes, sweet corn is the best; but, for making good bread meal, white flint corn is the best, possessing more starch and flesh-producing properties and less oil than the yellow corn. The white corn is also better for working animals, but for butter and fattening purposes, the yellow corn is the best.

AN old gardener says with regard to cultivating onions, that if care is taken to draw away the earth gradually from the bulb until they are quite uncovered, and only the fibrous roots are in the earth, you will never have scullions, but very large, sound onions.

THE sooner fruit is thinned after it has set, the better it is for the tree, as all growth of fruit costs effort for the tree to make, and is therefore exhaustive. No one who desires the choicest fruit will fail to thin an overloaded tree.

BE sure and plant pumpkin seed among your corn, when you thin it. Plant every fifth or sixth row of corn, with one pumpkin seed, about twenty feet apart, in the row. If the land is rich, plant them much closer.

DON'T allow bushes to grow in your hay-fields. Tear them out, root and branch. A good farmer will not need to read this item. Only slack, or lazy persons need a prescription of this kind.

CABBAGE SEED.—Sow, after the 15 of the month, Flat Dutch, American Drumhead Savoy for winter use, and Red Cabbage for pickling and slaw.

THE grease which has become hardened by dust on the axles of machinery can all be cleaned off by the use of kerosene.

IF you want good-sized potatoes' use good-sized tubers for seed. Do not, if you can avoid it, cut more than one eye in a set.

THE leaves of the common dandelion are very acceptable to horses. They are an excellent medicine, having a very beneficial effect upon the health, and making the hair sleek and glossy.

PAPA'S LETTER.

I was sitting in my study,
  Writing letters, when I heard,
"Please, dear mamma, Mary told me
  Mamma musn't be 'isturbed.

"But I'se tired of the kitty,
  Want some ozzer fing to do.
Witing letters, is 'ou, mamma?
  Tan't I wite a letter, too?"

"Not now, darling, mamma's busy;
  Run and play with kitty, now."
"No, no, mamma, me wite letter—
  Tan if 'ou will show me how."

I would paint my darling's portrait
  As his sweet eyes searched my face—
Hair of gold and eyes of azure,
  Form of childish, witching grace.

But the eager face was clouded,
  As I slowly shook my head,
Till I said, "I'll make a letter
  Of you, darling boy, instead."

So I parted back the tresses
  From his forehead high and white,
And a stamp in sport I pasted
  'Mid its waves of golden light.

Then I said, "Now, little letter,
  Go away and bear good news;
And I smiled as down the staircase
  Clattered loud the little shoes.

Leaving me, the darling hurried
  Down to Mary in his glee,
"Mamma's writing lots of letters;
  I'se a letter, Mary—see?"

No one heard the little prattle,
  As once more he climbed the stair,
Reached his little cap and tippet,
  Standing on the entry stair.

No one heard the front door open,
  No one saw the golden hair,
As it floated o'er his shoulders
  In the crisp October air.

Down the street the baby hastened
  Till he reached the office door.
"I'se a letter, Mr. Postman;
  Is there room for any more?

"'Cause, dis letter's doin' to papa,
  Papa lives with God, 'ou know,
Mamma sent me for a letter,
  Does 'ou fink 'at I tan go?"

But the clerk in wonder answered,
  "Not to-day, my little man."
"Den I'll find anozzer office,
  'Cause I must go if I tan."

Fain the clerk would have detained him,
  But the pleading face was gone,
And the little feet were hastening—
  By the busy crowd swept on.

Suddenly the crowd was parted,
  People fled to left and right,
As a pair of maddened horses
  At the moment dashed in sight.

No one saw the baby figure—
  No one saw the golden hair,
Till a voice of frightened sweetness
  Rang out on the autumn air.

'Twas too late—a moment only
  Stood the beauteous vision there,
Then the little face lay lifeless,
  Covered o'er with golden hair.

Reverently they raised my darling,
  Brushed away the curls of gold,
Saw the stamp upon the forehead,
  Growing now so icy cold.

Not a mark the face disfigured,
  Showing where a hoof had trod;
But the little life was ended—
  "Papa's letter" was with God.

THE LATEST ACCOUNTS of the Rugby colony, in Tennessee, differ as to the probable failure or success of the enterprise, some making it appear that the colonists cannot much longer be kept together, while others are in accord with the following remarks by Hastings Hughes, a brother of Tom Hughes, the founder: "I was at first disappointed myself, but I have been reassured since my stay here. I do not agree that it would have been better to have sought a more prolific soil. The farmers on the prairie lands get demoralized. Their work is too easy. They can do very well on the five or six feet of black mould, but after they have exhausted it they become dispirited. The natives go in for dipping snuff and drinking this horrible whiskey, or they could do much better with the soil. If a man told me he wanted to get rich in a short time, that he din't care for miasma and agues and chills and all that sort of thing, I would send him elsewhere, and he might do better in a shorter time, but English people who can take their time about it, and who wish to keep themselves and their children healthy, will do very much better here." There are 150 English residents at Rugby, and about as many Americans. Thirty to forty of the Englishmen are said to be rich men's sons gone wrong. Mr. Hughes holds funds in trust for them, and gives them just enough to cover their expenses at the hotel. Most of these fellows do not work, but spend their time hunting, fishing, and drinking moonshine whiskey. They have no serious intention of becoming settlers. One got drunk, went to sleep on a railroad track, and lost a hand.

JONES was eating dinner at his boarding-house, and during his investigation of his plate of hash, he ran across a piece of postage stamp. The landlady saw him pick it out and look at it, and she began to get mad. But Jones said nothing, and, laying down his knife and fork, began to dig with a spoon in the dish from which the piece of stamp had come. Finally when the lady could stand it no longer, she said: "Well, Mr. Jones, what is the matter?"

"Oh, nothing," replied that philosopher.

"What are you playing in the victuals for, then?"

"Why, you see, the piece of stamp reminded me of a letter I was expectirg, and I just thought I'd prod around this dish awhile, and see if I couldn't find the mail-carrier, and ask him about the letter without walking down to the office."

The mail-carrier was not found, and Jones has changed his boarding-house.

SPEAKING "BY THE CARD."

C. H. Wood, Esq., of the C. & T. Ry., Port Huron, Mich., favors our correspondent with the following: After suffering for nearly a year with rheumatism, receiving treatment from most of the best physicians of Michigan and the West, I happened to try a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil. Upon the first application I used fully half a bottle, and its effect was almost instantaneous. I immediately dropped all other treatment, and confined myself to its use alone. After the use of three bottles, instead of being driven to my business, or moving about on crutches, I walked from one to three miles daily about business, and have been free from this horrible disease for over a year, not having the slightest twinge of it. Hence, I say that all medicines known to me are useless when compared with the Old German Remedy. Use this statement when and where it suits.

MARBLE WORKS,
Chestertown, Md.

ALLOW ME to tender my sincere thanks for the past patronage of the public, and hope to receive their approval and patronage this present year. I am prepared to cut and finish every design in the marble business.

I have a very handsome assortment of my own finished

TOMBSTONES.
Some of the Latest Designs,
HANDSOMELY FINISHED,
COPIED FROM THE LATE PARIS EXHIBITION.

A large assortment for children, different patterns, some as low as $6.00, lettering included. Some fifty different patterns for grown persons, handsomely finished, some of them as low as $15.00, lettering included. Also, a fine line of different patterns, expressly for the very thick and heavy and handsomely finished of the best marble.

Marble Posts, marble Vases with Pedestal, Marble Coping, Tombstones and Monuments, of all sizes and styles.

Marble or Sandstone worked to order. I warrant all my work not to color or blister—time has no effect on it. I set up all of my work, thus relieving the purchaser of all trouble or risk.

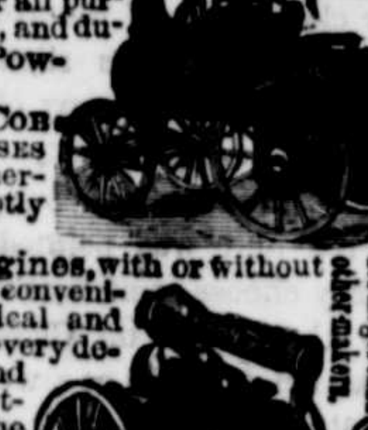

Come one, come all, that are in want, and examine my work and learn my prices. I will be thankful. Don't send the money out of your own neighborhood.

Call and see me. I do not like to canvass for work, for I think it too sad a business to barter with relatives or friends.

My work can be seen in all the cemeteries of Kent and the adjoining counties.

HELP Yourselves by making money when a golden chance is offered, thereby always keeping poverty from your door. Those who always take advantage of the good chances for making money that are offered, generally become wealthy, while those who do not improve such chances remain in poverty. We want many men, women, boys and girls to work for us right in their own localities. The business will pay more than ten time ordinary wages. We furnish an expensive outfit and all that you need free. No one who engages fails to make money very rapidly. You can devote your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. Full information and all that is needed sent free. Address STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine. Oct. 14, 1880.
