Farm and Household.

HOW LONDON GILT-EDGED BUTTER IS MADE.—In Dorset dairies the milk stands for twenty-four or thirty-six hours, according to the season of the year, and in some cases is skimmed a second time after having stood a second period; the cream is considered ready for churning immediately after it is skimmed, and during hot weather is commonly churned every day, while in cold weather the churning is done only on alternate days. To this practice of churning the cream while it is quite sweet and fresh is owing in a great measure the reputation which Dorset butter has long possessed, the practice, indeed presupposes the strictest cleanliness with respect to milk-pans and other vessels used in the dairy, for without this primary condition the daily churning would be practically valueless. The old-fashioned barrel churn with improved beaters is commonly used in Dorset daries, and after the butter is taken out of the churn the greatest care is taken to wash out all the traces of buttermilk, so as to avoid the light colored streaks that commonly appear in ill-made butter. The coldest water that can be obtained is used for this purpose, and the butter is repeatedly turned and pressed on a slab of wood. A dairyman whose hand is naturally cold always succeeds best in butter making, all other things being equal.

TURNING UNDER CLOVER.—A writer in the Farm and Field in reference to the matter of turning under clover, says that some persons contend that if clover is turned under in its green state it sours the land, but that his own opinion is that it should be plowed under when in bloom, and gives for proof of it that he plowed down the one-half of a field of clover when in bloom, and the other half of the field not until some time after the crop had been mown for hay; that the following year the wheat on the half of the field which had been plowed when the clover was in bloom was not only much the best, but that the young clover at the time of writing was fully six inches higher. But did it never strike the writer that the real cause of the difference lay in the early plowing of the first half of the field, and not to the condition of the clover when plowed under.

THE use of a timothy head to cure chickens of the gaps is barbarous, and editors indorsing it by publication, ought to share in the odium. One might about as well use a rat-tail file. Those desiring to know how it must affect a sick chicken, should try it first in their own wind pipes. That such a remedy can cure the gaps in the sense of saving them is preposterous.

A correspondent of the Cultivator thinks that a large quantity of iron in the soil is favorable for the production of fruit, especially for peaches. Lands having so much iron as to make the soil sterile for ordinary farm crops have been noted for producing a sure crop of peaches of the finest quality.

CELERY SALT.—Sift four ounces of finely powdered celery seed with an equal quantity of fine salt. Put into bottles, cork tightly and use for seasoning soups, salads, and warmed up meats. Economical housewives save all of the roots, stalk, leaves and trimmings of fresh celery dry them in a slow heat then put away in tight boxes to be used for seasoning soups.

PANS for bread should be greased very lightly, either with butter or lard; for rye, Indian or graham, they must be greased more thoroughly, as the dough clings to the pans more. Bread or anything containing much starch should be eaten slowly. A crust of French bread eaten very slowly at the beginning of a meal often improves the appetite of delicate persons.

MEAT PIE.—Take mashed potatoes, seasoned with salt, butter and milk, and line a baking-dish. Lay upon it slices of cold meat of any kind; add salt, and pepper, catsup and butter, or any cold gravy; put in a layer of potatoes and another layer of meat in the same way till the dish is full; have a layer of potatoes on the top. Bake it until it is thoroughly heated through.

To cure bunions use pulverized saltpeter and sweet oil. Obtain of a druggist five or six cents worth of saltpeter, put it into a bottle with sufficient olive oil to dissolve it, shake it up well, and rub the inflamed joints night and morning, and more frequently if painful.

MANY persons iron towels, fold them and put them away before they are thoroughly dry. This is an error, and sometimes leads to results not expected. In their damp condition there is a mold which forms on them called oidium, one variety of which causes numerous skin diseases.

TURKEY raising is carried on extensively in Tehama county, Cal. One man, in addition to raising and tending a large flock of sheep, raised nearly 700 turkeys last year.—Large flocks of from 1,000 to 15,000 are frequently met with, tended by women and children.

FOR profit don't keep old fowls year ajter year, except for extraordinary merits. Some few old hens are famous mothers, and are worth keeping on that account sometimes. But as a rule work them off in two years or so.

A GOOD way to cook liver is to fry it in butter, with an onion cut in small pieces scattered over it. Cook slowly; when done add a lump of butter and a little flour; stir well and turn over the liver. Serve with Saratoga potatoes.

THE reason why cabbage emits such a dissagreeable smell when boiling is because the process dissolves the essential oil. The water should be changed when the cabbage is half-boiled, and it will thus acquire a greater sweetness.

COLTS' HOOFS should be pared occasionally or injury will result.

THE BALLAD OF BABIE BELL.

THOMAS B. ALDRICH IN THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM.

I.

Have you not heard the poets tell
How came the dainty Babie Bell
Into this world of ours?
The gates of Heaven were left ajar;
With folded hands and dreamy eyes,
Wandering out of Paradise,
She saw this planet, like a star,
Hung in the glittering depths of even—
Its bridges, running to and fro,
O'er which the white-winged angels go,
Bearing the holy dead to Heaven!
She touched a bridge of flowers—those feet,
So light they did not bend the bells
Of the celestial asphodels!
They fell like dew upon the flowers.
Then all the air grew strangely sweet!
And thus came dainty Babie Belle
Into this world of ours.

II.

She came and brought delicious May,
The swallows built beneath the eaves;
Like sunlight in and out the leaves,
The robins went the livelong day;
The lily swung its noiseless bell,
And o'er the porch the trembling vine
Seemed bursting with its veins of wine;
How sweetly, softly, twilight fell!
Oh, earth was full of singing birds,
And opening spring-tide flowers,
When the dainty Babie Belle
Came to this world of ours!

III.

O Babie, dainty Babie Belle,
How fair she grew from day to day!
What woman-nature filled her eyes,
What poetry within them lay!
Those deep and tender twilight eyes,
So full of meaning, pure and bright
As if she yet stood in the light
Of those open gates of Paradise!
And so we loved her more and more;
Ah, never in our hearts before
Was love so lovely born;
We felt we had a link between
This real world and that unseen—
The land beyond the morn!
And for the love of those dear eyes,
For love of her whom God led forth
(The mother's being ceased on earth
When Babie came from Paradise)—
For love of Him who smote our lives,
And woke the chords of joy and pain,
We said, "Dear Christ!"—our hearts bent down
Like violets after rain.

IV.

And now the orchards, which were white
And red with blossoms when she came,
Were rich in autumn's mellow prime;
The clustered apples burnt like flame,
The soft-cheeked peaches blushed and fell,
The ivory chestnut burst its shell,
The grapes hung purpling in the grange;
And time wrought just as rich a change
In little Babie Belle.
Her lissome form more perfect grew,
And in her features we could trace,
In softened curves, her mother's face!
Her angel-nature ripened too.
We thought her lovely when she came,
But she was holy, saintly now.
Around her pale angelic brow
We saw a slender ring of flame!

V.

God's hand had taken away the seal
That held the portals of her speech;
And oft she said a few strange words
Whose meaning lay beyond our reach.
She never was a child to us,
We never held her being's key;
We could not teach her holy things—
She was Christ's self in purity.

VI.

It came upon us by degrees;
We saw its shadow ere it fell,
The knowledge that our God had sent
His messenger for Babie Belle.
We shuddered with unlanguaged pain,
And all our hopes were changed to fears,
And all our thoughts ran into tears,
Like sunbeams into rain.
We cried aloud in our belief,
"Oh, smite us gently, gently, God!
Teach us to bend and kiss the rod,
And perfect grow through grief."
Ah, how we loved her, God can tell;
Her heart was folded deep in ours;
Our hearts are broken, Babie Belle!

VII.

At last he came, the messenger,
The messenger from unseen lands;
And what did dainty Babie Belle?
She only crossed her little hands,
She only looked more meek and fair!
We parted back her silken hair,
We wove the roses round her brow,
White buds, the summer's drifted snow—
Wrapped her from head to foot in flowers,
And thus went dainty Babie Belle
Out of this world of ours!

"AH! my darling wife," said George, the week after his marriage, "if your husband were to die what would you do?"

"I don't know, I am sure, George," said the wife reflectively, "I never thought of that. I must look in my book of etiquette and read the rules for young widows.

THE coinage of the United States Mint at Philadelphia during the month of July amounted to 1,420,000 pieces, valued at $806,200. Of this amount 300,000 pieces were silver dollars, and 620,000 of the pieces were cents.

FROM old manuscripts in the National Library in Paris, it appears that as early as 1639 the practice of throwing vitriol was known.

STRIPS of very thin India-rubber are beginning to be used as a bandage in grating instead of the wax commonly applied.

What We Know About It.

"What do you know about St. Jacobs Oil?" said one of our oldest subscribers. This was a fair question, and we answer, that we are reliably informed, that a gentleman of this city who has suffered untold agony, and spent a mint of money to get relief from Rheumatism, in desperation bought some and tried it, and declares that it is the best remedy for Rheumatism he ever heard of.

CHEAPER!!
CHEAPEST!!!

THE subscriber is now selling his best Ice Cream for $1.25 per gallon; 75 cents per half-gallon; 40 cents per quarter gallon; 25 cents per one-eighth gallon; plates 10 cts. It is now pronounced to be the very best that was ever in this market—so declared by ladies and gentlemen from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The Cream furnished by the undersigned to the Odd Fellows' anniversary, at the Court House, April 29th, was said, by the two hundred or three hundred ladies and gentlemen who partook of it, to have been the best they ever ate; which, of itself, is a good advertisement.

Picnics, Festivals and Excursions will be allowed a discount on all orders of and above five gallons!

All orders must be accompanied by the cash. The Ladies' Parlor will be open after next Monday.

Thanking the public for all favors conferred in the past, and hoping for a continuance of liberal patronage, I promise to do my best to please all.

HELP Yourselves by making money when a golden chance is offered, thereby always keeping poverty from your door. Those who always take advantage of the good chances for making money that are offered, generally become wealthy, while those who do not improve such chances remain in poverty. We want many men, women, boys and girls to work for us right in their own localities. The business will pay more than ten time ordinary wages. We furnish an expensive outfit and all that you need free. No one who engages fails to make money very rapidly. You can devote your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. Full information and all that is needed sent free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine. Oct. 14, 1880.

25,000 Bushels of Shells
To be burned, the Lime from which will be sold cheap, if delivered within the next sixty days.

This lot will close out the stock of one of the firms for which I am agent. As the next will not be so cheap, now is the time to buy.
