Subscription $1.50 per year; 75 cents for six months, in advance.

Advertising Rates.

Transient advertising will be charged at the rate of one dollar per square for first three insertions, and twenty-five cents per square for each subsequent insertion. A space equal to eight lines of brevier, constitutes a square. Figure-work will be charged fifty cents per square additional for first three insertions.

JOB WORK.

Handbills, large and small; flyers, dodgers letterheads, billheads, envelopes, cards, tags, programmes, and other kinds of job work will be done neatly and reasonably.

Correspondence upon matters of local interest desired. Anonymous communications will not be inserted.

It is desirable that communications be in by Saturday night if possible, and in any case no later than Monday night or Tuesday morning.

Simple notices of marriages and deaths, inserted free. Obituary notices will be charged at the rate of five cents per line.

—Hard crabs retail in Chestertown at 12 cts. per dozen. Soft crabs readily bring 75 cts. per dozen.

—Mr. W. N. E. Wickes, as agent, advertises in this issue, Lister's well known brand of phosphates.

—Messrs. R. Nicholson, Isaac Parsons and James Brice left on last Friday for a trip to Long Branch and Ocean Grove.

—The tramp is making his summer sojourn among the peach orchards. He has been quite numerous around Chestertown during the past week.

—Some Kent county growers got as high as $2 per box in Baltimore last week for first class peaches. The ordinary run however ranged much lower.

—An excursion from Baltimore by the steamer Nelly White, came to Chestertown on Monday. The excursion was by a lodge of improved order of mechanics.

—Mr. H. M. Stuart has begun work upon the foundation of the new jail. It will adjoin the old jail, and is between the old jail building and the court house.

—Ashley, the negro who was shot at the Jewell's Woods camp, is yet living, and his attending physician has concluded that the bullet did not reach a vital part.

—We have been informed that the report of wheat yield on Mr. T. W. Eliason's farm, tenanted by Mr. G. Foxwell, considerably overstated the amount obtained on fallow.

—Miss Lela McFadden, who was appointed by the Orphans' Court for Kent county to the vacant scholarship at the Baltimore Female College has resigned, and the vacancy is open.

—The Peninsula Press Association holds its annual meeting at Rehoboth, August 18, and will make a trip thence to New York by old Dominion line, which touches at Lewes, Del.

—The St. Dennis annual picnic is advertised to come off at McCauley's woods, near Lambson's Station, Aug. 6th. Those who have attended former St. Dennis picnics will want to go again.

—Don't forget Cape May on next Wednesday. The excursion is under charge of the M. E. Sunday school of Chestertown. The water will be fine for bathing and the trip an enjoyable one. Plenty of time for a long bath and a stroll or a ride afterward, is assured.

—At the lawn party advertised to come off at Mr. J. T. Dixon's on next Tuesday evening, there will be a cotillion band from Baltimore that will furnish fine music for dancing. The supper also will be sumptuous and varied. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon may be relied upon to make the occasion a pleasant one.

—Dogs got into the sheep on the home farm of Mr. Josiah Ringgold, Jr., on last Friday night, killing six and wounding a number of others. From the number of losses sustained in this county from sheep-killing dogs, it would seem pretty clear that either the sheep or the dogs must go.

—On next Thursday, at Pennington's hotel, Galena, R. Hynson, Esq., as trustee, will sell three highly improved farms belonging to the estate of the late Col. George W. Spencer. These farms are among the most productive in the county, and possess numerous attractions that make them desirable to purchasers.

—Presiding Elder Caldwell preached an interesting sermon at the M. E. Church, Sunday evening. He took for his subject The Divinity of Christ, arguing the question not upon the usual grounds of miraculous power, but upon the character of Christ, the greatness of his teaching, and the impression he made upon his own age and succeeding ages.

—We have received from Messrs. R. Hoe & Co., through Messrs. Root & Tinker a handsome engraving, entitled "Representative London Journalists." The engraving presents the faces of eleven leading London journalists with the front page of their journals as a background and makes a picture that is a welcome ornament to a newspaper office.

—The Chestertown base-ball nine expects to play a game with the Sudlersville nine, on the Sudlersville grounds, on next Friday; with the Betterton nine, at Chestertown, on Saturday. It expects to go to Cambridge on Wednesday, Aug. 6th. The Chestertown nine played the "Layfayettes," a nine that came over on the excursion Monday from Baltimore. Score 23 to 9 in favor of Chestertown.

—There is a strong desire among admirers of Mr. J. Hines' stallion, Smuggler, and the admirers of Mr. E. B. Emory's Cyclops to see a race between the two. Mr. Emory, we understand, is not willing to enter Cyclops in a general race. It is believed that a race between the two for a purse of $500 would bring gate money enough to pay expenses. Mr. Hines, we understand, would be glad for Smuggler to meet Cyclops.

—E. H. Brown, Esq., for J. B. & E. H. Brown, trustees, offered for sale at the Voshell House, on Tuesday, the Urieville Mill property. No satisfactory bid being received the property was withdrawn.

Mr. T. W. Eliason, as mortgagee, sold on Wednesday, at the Voshell House, Chestertown, two farms belonging to the estate of the late George W. Howard, located in the second election district of Kent county. "Youngs Neck" or the home farm, containing something over 265 acres, was sold to Mr. Frank H. Harper, and brought $52.50 per acre, or an aggregate of something over $[illegible] per Bloomfield, containing something over 208 acres, was sold to J. Frank Wilson at thirty-three dollars per acre, or an aggregate of something over $6,864.00.

—The Chinquepin camp meeting riot has gone the rounds of the newspapers as far north as N. Y. city. The story of the riot has gradually gained in dramatic power, and we should not be at all surprised to see it turn up somewhere in the north manufactured into a southern outrage, and figuring as a campaign argument why Blaine should be elected. The following clipping will give one phase which the story has already assumed:

"Last Sunday week there was a negro camp-meeting near Worton Station, in Kent county, Maryland. Excursion trains were run, bringing together on the camp ground about 4,000 negroes. A negro from Clayton took with him a stock of whiskey for retail; the liquid flowed freely and hundreds became drunk. A negro named Henry took the road and swore he could whip any man on the ground. He had no further to go; about a hundred were ready to see him and go him better. It soon became a contest of Maryland versus Delaware. Pretty much all on the ground soon became involved in the general riot. Pistols, razors and knives were freely used. One man was mortally wounded, and a great number were more or less injured."

—Orphans' Court, Tuesday, July 29, 1884.—Present, Judges Walker, Hyland and Stevens.

J. Walter Skirven, executor of Mary E. Haines, late of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania, deceased, filed his first and final administration account, which was received, passed as stated, and ordered to be recorded.

Base-ball.

The Sudlersville nine came to Chestertown on last Friday to play a return game with the Chestertown nine. The game proved to be the most exciting that has been played on the Chestertown grounds in a long time. In the first innings the game kept close; near the middle of the game, however, the Sudlersville nine pulled ahead by four or five runs, and when the ninth inning opened, the friends of the home nine were despondent. On the ninth inning, however, the Chestertown boys got down to work in earnest, and sent Morgan's balls flying to all parts of the field. The game at this point became intensely exciting. At one time there were two out, and three runners on the bases. Hynson came to the bat, and the result of the game hung upon his success. The emergency did not rattle him, for he sent a ball far over the left fielder's head and saved his nine. At the close of the 9th inning the game was a tie. There were a number of Sudlersville visitors present, and when on the tenth inning the Chestertown boys were put out in one, two, three order the visitors sent up a hurrah that was loud and long. When the Sudlersville nine came to the bat it repaid the compliment, with the first three batters, and the game was still a tie at the close of the tenth inning. On the eleventh inning the excitement among the spectators was about at the notch reached in a 2.24 horse race when the two favorites are coming down the homestretch neck and neck. The Chestertown nine, however, again sent Morgan's balls flying and got in five runs. The Sudlersville nine was closed out with two runs, and the game stood at the end of the 11th inning, Chestertown 25, Sudlersville 22. Some of the Sudlersville nine showed the bad taste in the latter part of the game to dispute the umpire's decisions. In the early part of the game there were a number of decisions that were notoriously against the home nine, and yet there was not a word of complaint. Disinterested spectators were of opinion that the umpire's decisions enabled the Sudlersville nine to gain the lead near the middle of the game, and it is creditable to the players and to the friends of the home nine that they did not make a muss about it. Wickes, the catcher on the Chestertown nine, played a splendid game, as did also Evans of the Sudlersville nine. Morgan and Evans make the main strength of the Sudlersville nine. Take them away and the nine could not play half the game it now plays. The Chestertown nine was as follows: L. Wickes, c.; R. Hynson, 1st b.; S. Wickes, r. f.; H. Thomas, s. s.; J. Urie, l.f.; U. Townsend, p.; T. Barton, 2d b.; J. Brice, c. f.; A. Hyland, 3d b.

Sudlersville—Evans, c.; Morgan, p.; Barwick 1st b.; Moore, 2d b.; Parvis, 3d b.; Neville, s.s.; Sudler, l. f.; Roe, c. f.; Painter, r. f.

Score by innings:

Peninsula Items.

Mr. Geo. M. Russum, of Denton, has announced that he does desire to be a candidate for Congress.

Middletown, Del., has waked up on the water-work question, and the next election of town commissioners is to be fought on the water issue.

Democratic primaries were held in Dorchester county on last Saturday. It is understood that the Dorchester delegation will be for C. H. Gibson.

Mordecai Price, a well-known citizen of Queen Anne's county, died last Sunday. Mr. Price during his lifetime took an active part in politics, and filled a number of positions of trust.

Jacob Tome, of Cecil, has given $25,000 to Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., to erect a building for the scientific department, which will be known as the Jacob Tome building.

The Italian laborers on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, in Cecil county, again last week started a riot by demanding their pay before pay-day. Nobody was hurt. Two or three rioters were arrested and lodged in jail.

The Smyrna Times and the Smyrna Record are taking up an immense amount of their presumed valuable space in a highly embelished wordy warfare. It is probable that the Smyrna community would enjoy a rest.

There was no contest at the Democratic primaries held in Talbot on Saturday. The county convention, which met in Easton on Tuesday, elected four delegates with instructions to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Chas. H. Gibson for Congress.

Bug Cephas is to be hanged to-morrow at Cambridge. The Dorchester county sheriff has borrowed a Talbot county gallows upon which the ceremony will be performed. Cephas has been driving a lucrative business by turning his ill-gained notority to commercial account. That is to say, he has had posted over the door of his cell a notice informing curiosity seekers that they might look at him for ten cents.

Richard Townsend, a farmer living near Townsend, Del., has a living curiosity of no ordinary kind, and one which will especially direct its attention to growers of stock everywhere. He has a calf nine months old, Holstein breed, that is giving a gallon of milk every night and morning. The calf is of ordinary size for a calf of that age. Quite a number of persons have been to look at the youthful milker, and all agree that they have never seen or heard of the like before.—Smyrna Record.

It has heretofore been the belief of fishermen that crabs only shed in shallow water, but this theory has been exploded by some oystermen down the bay, who caught soft crabs in their dredges while working late in the season. Instead of using a bow-net and wading around the shore, the crabbers of Crisfield and elsewhere down the shore drag for them with a net arranged something like a terrapin drag. One man is reported to have caught 1,000 in a day and worked in the channel.—Crisfield Leader.

The record in the case of John Murray, indicted by the grand jury of Dorchester county for the murder of John N. Steele, and removed to Queen Anne's county for trial, was received at the clerk's office here last week. The record is a very carefully prepared paper, covering thirteen pages of legal cap, a copy of which has been made by the clerk of our court for use at the trial. The record names D. M. Henry, Jr., and John W. Crisfield as prosecuting attorneys, and Clement Sulivane, Henry Page and Daniel W. Voorhees as defendant's counsel. P. B. Hopper, Esq., of this county, will also prosecute, and some of our attorneys will probably assist in the defense. There are 21 State witnesses, and 13 witnesses for the defense returned in the record.—Centreville Observer.

The Queen Anne's Democratic convention met in Centreville Tuesday, and elected four delegates to Cambridge under the jury system. Resolutions were adopted that as it had been the established custom when the Democratic party in the county had only one candidate for Congress to permit him to name the delegates and alternates to the congressional convention, this courtesy be extended to Mr. John B. Brown, whose fellow-citizens in the county are asking his nomination for Congress, and that he be requested to name the delegates he desired to represent his interest in the congressional convention.

Mr. Brown named the following gentlemen as his delegation: Col. Wm. McKenney, State Senator Wm. T. P. Turpin, Wm. E. Temple and W. Scott Roberts, with Wm. E. Barton, Dr. H. Decourcy, W. W. Busteed and Dr. A. E. Sudler as alternates. Their nomination was made unanimous.

The convention then took into consideration the propriety of referring the question of the continuance of the jury system to a vote of the people. It was agreed to let the system remain.

Real Estate to be Sold.

C. H. Baker, Esq., as trustee, advertises for sale, on August the 2d, a house and small lot.

R. Hynson, Esq., as trustee, advertises the valuable real estate of the late Col. George W. Spencer to be sold on Thursday, August the 7th. The estate is divided into three farms, each of which is in a high state of cultivation.

Fuller particulars of the above mentioned property are to be found in the advertisements.

A Murder at Middletown, Del.

A brutal murder occurred in front of the African M. E. Church, on Lockwood street, last Sunday evening. James Warrington, a young negro who came from Pocomoke City, Md., about six weeks ago, was the victim, and Louis Johnson, of the notorious Johnson family, of Hamtown, was his slayer. The murder occurred soon after the congregation had been dismissed and were leaving the church. It appears from the evidence of the witnesses at the Coroner's inquest, that Warrington was leaning upon the fence speaking to his acquaintances as they came out of the church when Johnson rose from a crouching position near Warrington, with a heavy hemlock pailing in his hand, and struck a powerful blow at his victim. Warrington threw up his arm in time to partially break the force of the blow, but the picket struck him on the head with sufficient force to stagger him. Johnson struck two more blows in rapid succession, breaking the heavy picket at the last, and Warrington was knocked flat upon the ground. But he immediately raised himself partially up, and supporting himself upon his left elbow, drew a small revolver and fired three shots at his fleeing assailant. It is probable that Warrington was then only partially conscious, for the balls flew wide of the mark. One lodged in the thigh of Frank Warner, a spectator of the affray, and the other two went over the heads of the crowd. Warrington was carried in an unconscious condition to a neighboring house, where he died at about 11 o'clock of the following day.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the crime. An inquest was held upon Warrington's body by a colored jury, which decided that "Warrington came to his death from blows on the head, inflicted by Louis Johnson." Johnson has been arrested and lodged in Newcastle jail.—Middletown Transcript.

A MURDER IN WORCESTER COUNTY.

A SUITOR TO A YOUNG WIDO SHOOTS HER FATHER.

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., July 27.—For some time past Mr. Irving J. Mills has been paying attention to Mary E. Ross, the widowed daughter of Capt. L. T. J. Davis of Pocomoke City, Worcester county. Mr. Mills is a drummer for W. G. Bansemer & Co., of Baltimore. Capt. Davis is spoken of as a peaceable and law-abiding citizen. Mrs. Ross is an attractive brunette, 25 years old, and has been a widow about two years. Since the death of her husband she has been living with her son in the house of her father. Capt. Davis has objected to Mr. Mills visiting his house, not considering him a suitable companion for his daughter, but Mrs. Ross thought otherwise. She was in the habit of meeting Mills clandestinely, but always protested to her father that she never saw him.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Ross left her home, saying she was going to visit a friend and would not be back for several hours. After sauntering for several squares in the direction of her friend's house, she turned a corner, and found her lover awaiting her with a horse and buggy. She took a seat beside him, and the two went for a drive up the river's bank.

Capt. Davis had gone over the drawbridge near Pocomoke City, on the road by which the pair thought to return, to visit his niece, Mrs. Marcellus Dickerson. While the Captain was conversing with his niece he was surprised to see Mr. Mills and Mrs. Ross approaching him. Quickly going to the side of the road, he hailed them, and requested his daughter to get out of the carriage and go home with him. This Mr. Mills objected to, and started off, but Capt. Davis seized the bridle and said he would hold the horse while his daughter alighted. Then Mrs. Ross jumped out of the carriage. At that moment Mills drew a revolver and fired. Capt. Davis staggered back and fell dead at his daughter's feet. Mrs. Ross threw herself on her father's body, and Mills walked off without a word. With the help of two negroes the body was placed in a passing cart and carried home. The weapon used was a five-shot revolver of the pattern known as the American bulldog.

Irving J. Mills is 31 years of age, with a cleanly shaven face and a sandy mustache. He is of medium size and apparently of muscular build. When the correspondent of the Sun called on him he was seated in a room in the Somerset county jail, smoking a cigar and talking with his counsel, John A. Crisfield and Henry Page. Mills refused to make any statement, but said that after the shooting he left the scene, and went to the house of an uncle living near the place, and requested to be sent up to Princess Anne. Being unable to procure a conveyance immediately, and fearing that the people might take the law into their own hands, he started out on foot. After walking about eight miles in slippers through the rain and mud he reached the house of a man who, after hearing his statement of the case, brought Mills to Princess Anne and delivered him up to the jailer. Mills left Baltimore on June 28, and since then he has been in or near Pocomoke City, spending his time in loafing and drinking rather than working for his firm. On Thursday night he offended James H Lockerman of Worcester county, and was promptly knocked down.

Capt. L. T. J. Davis was one of the most popular men in the county. He was 46 years old. He never carried a weapon of any sort, and there was no pistol on his person when killed. Mrs. Ross says she saw no attempt at violence on her father's part. The ball entered the body about 1½ inches above the left nipple, and passed through the heart. The son of Capt. Davis married the sister of his father's murderer some eight months ago.

An Irksome Fruit Law Not to be Enforced This Season.

We received just too late for publication in our last issue, from Mr. J. E. Hendrickson, president of the Philadelphia produce exchange, an account taken from the Philadelphia Record of a successful movement, inaugurated by the Exchange, against the enforcement of the law requiring all fruit and vegetable crates sent to the Philadelphia market to be marked with quantity contained. Fruit growers will be gratified to learn that the law will not be enforced before November. The following from the "Record" explains the matter:

A special meeting of the Produce Exchange was held yesterday to receive the report of a committee appointed to confer with City Property Commissioner Dixey relative to the enforcement of the law requiring all receptacles in which fruit and vegetables are sold to be marked with the quantity they contain. The committee presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

That while the Produce Exchange affirms its entire willingness to abide by this or any other law for the regulation of the trade, it protests against any attempt to enforce the provisions of an ordinance making, as this one does, a sudden and radical change in the methods of the trade, without affording its members proper time to communicate with shippers, and so to adjust the various relations of their business as to admit of its enforcement with the least possible injury to the commercial interests of the port and of its members, and the Produce Exchange hereby respectfully requests that the Commissioner of City Property will refrain from any effort to carry out the requirements of the ordinance, according to his interpretation thereof, until the season of 1885, or at least until such time after the reassembling of City Councils in September next as will give to this Exchange the opportunity to voice its protest in that body, and to make an effort to secure such additional legislation by Councils as will take cognizance of these objections of the Exchange and give its members time to prepare for compliance with the law; if it shall be decided by the proper authority that the ordinance is intended to govern the sale of fruits and vegetables at wholesale.

"As I told the committee from the Produce exchange the other day," said City Property Commissioner Dixey last evening, "no steps will be taken to enforce the law until November 1. That will give them ample time to make the necessary arrangements to meet its provisions. The berry season is about over, and notice was given too late to arrange for the fruit crop, and the only farm product the law will be applied to this season will be potatoes.

The Canned Goods Interests.

There is probably no business further from a settled basis to-day than that of the packers of canned goods. The ratio of demand and supply, with the cost of production, is demanding recognition, and until these ratios are established the business will continue what it has more decidedly become every year—an uncertainty. A dozen years ago the cans alone cost more by twenty per cent. than many a case of tomatoes sold for during the past winter. More was likewise paid for labor; the fruit and vegetables have not so materially changed in value. The industry has grown to colossal proportions however, and what was once a luxury is in many places now used on the score of economy. But the increase of production and consequent comedown from fancy to real values has not been fully met by packers in decreased cost of production; hence a demoralized market and many packers anxious to quit the business.

The Havre de Grace Republican, says "the Harford tomato packers are greatly discouraged and many have concluded to quit the business out-right." To a certain extent this is not to be wondered at. A great many Harford growers either pack their own crops or, perhaps, two or three growers will go in and their families furnish much of the needed force. Their individual output is small and such packers do not attempt to establish a brand, but sell their pack unlabeled to some large house which grades it perhaps as "seconds," labels it and throws it on the market. There are fifty-seven firms in Baltimore alone that deal in "seconds" or doubtful and unknown goods. Having no earned merit to stand upon they unsettle the market and give small returns to the packer. Besides many of the small packers have no ready capital and they have to pay through the nose for long credit on cans and other necessaries. We have good authority for saying that some Harford packers this year paid over 17 per cent. more for cans on time than our home packers, who bought for cash.

But the business will regulate itself in time to the advantage of those packers who will offer nothing but strictly choice goods under their own brand. Many established brands now command almost fancy prices and there is room at the top for the successful competitors in the race for choice goods. The tomato business has, however, been overdone and our home packers will handle scarcely any this season. It is also claimed that the cost of labor must adjust itself to the present status of the trade. This phase of the question is unpleasant, but it thrusts itself upon the packer who needs keep his weather-eye open. Even at a small reduction good wages can be made by all who will work and the canneries will continue a blessing to labor; through a demoralization to the plans of the farmer, who sees his best hands running off from steady work to earn the fast-coming shekels that flow during the short packing season.—Greensborough Free Press.

Safe Keeping for Land Records.

The Clerks of the Circuit Courts for Caroline and Queen Anne's counties recently forwarded to the Land Office, at Annapolis for safety and reference, in case of fire or other loss, abstracts of deeds for the year ending May 31, 1884, as required by law. So far Baltimore city and county, Calvert, Caroline, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's and Washington counties have complied with the law. Cecil county is as far back as 1873; Charles, 1828, Garrett, 1873; Howard, 1879; Kent, 1879; Montgomery, 1874; Prince George's, 1818, with the exception of 1861 and 1862; Wicomico, 1878. Land Commissioner Scharf has written to the circuit judges in several of the counties who are behindhand, reminding them of their obligations under article 56, section 6, of the Revised Code, "to inspect the records and papers of their office attached to their respective courts relating to lands, tenements and other real estate, and examine the condition thereof, and see whether the clerk of such court has performed the duties required of him by law," and also to the duty of the clerk, under article 57, section 12, to prepare an abstract of all deeds recorded in his office, "and transmit the same on or before the 1st of June in each year to the Commissioner of the Land Office."—Denton Journal.

THE DECLINE IN WHEAT

has been remarkable, but far more so the decline in seasonable clothing as you will see upon calling on C. N. OEHM & SON, 230 W. Pratt St. and 55 Hanover St.

They quote brown and striped linen pants at 50 cents, a lot of independent fine cassimere coats at 2.00, 2.50 and 3.00, worth three times the amount, and special lots at half value. You must look at them when in Baltimore by all means.

TO THE FARMERS

—OF—

KENT, QUEEN ANNE'S & CECIL

IT is universally acknowledged by the most practical farmers that the Ohio Chilled Plow is the best plow in the world for neatness of work, and lightness of draft to the team. As I have ordered a large number of these plows, both two and three-horse, farmers will do well to give me an early call.

We also keep on hand, the Old Reliable Concave Nos. 9, 10 and 11, Polished Minor and Horton, Wiley Nos. 3 and 4, and Two-Furrowed Plows, and Harrows, Twin, Single A, and Double A A, Cultivators and Cultivator Teeth unsurpassed by any manufacture. Single, Double, 3 and 4 Horse-Trees and Hames.

As there have been a great many Chilled Plows sold in these counties, and as farmers have been put to a great deal of trouble to get Castings for them, if they will only give the name and number of the Plow, I will endeavor to keep them on hand at my shops in Galena and Chestertown. I always have on hand Plain and Slip Shares for the Ohio, Oliver, Roland, Advance and Syracuse.

If any of you are in need of anything in my line, please give me a call, as I intend to sell them low for the cash.

Thankful for past patronage, I solicit a continuance of the same.

W. A. Hyland,

Galena and Chestertown.

Elliott & Gemmill's

Farmers' Agency

Will furnish at short notice and Bottom Prices, any Implement manufactured in the United States.

We make a specialty of the Iron Turbine Wind Mill, manufactured by Mast, Foos & Co.; also, the Buckeye Force Pump, especially adapted to deep wells and forcing water.

Any one needing a Wind Mill we say try a Turbine They are strength and durability [illegible] We control this Mill for the county, and have no sub-agents. Will make prompt estimates for any one desiring a Mill.

We would also call the attention of Farmers to our

which we pronounce, after thorough testing it last season, to be the best combined Grain and Fertilizer Drill ever offered to the trade. Our reasons are—

First, It is a perfect Wheat Seeder

Second, You have no cog wheels to take off or put on to chance quantities.

Third, With the Glass Feed for Phosphate you can sow any quantity of Fertilizer without clogging, gumming or pasting, from 100 to 500 lbs., and can make the changes while walking along.

Fourth, Both wheat and phosphate are distributed within plain view of the operator.

Fifth, It has double force feed for wheat, which makes it sow regular in whatever position it may be placed, especially when seeding side hills. All other drills will seed more or less according to position.

Call and examine it before buying, it will pay you.

Farmers clubbing together can make it pay.

Remember we have no sub-agents Save money by giving us your orders direct.

We have in use in Queen Anne's county eighty-three of the Buckeye Drills. In 1882 we sold there 28; in 1883 we sold 55.
