The Transcript.

THURSDAY, AUG. 14, 1884.

—Messrs. T. R. Hubbard & Son advertise their brand of phosphate in this issue.

—The Chester river line has made an entire change of schedule, as will be seen by advertisement.

—C. H. Baker, Esq., as trustee, recently sold a small house and lot, located in Quaker Neck, to Mr. James H. Baker for $200.

—The Town Commissioners have entered into contract with Col. Taylor for water-works, and work will soon be under way.

—The base-ball nine of this town known as "The Red Peppers," went to Cambridge last week and defeated the best nine of that city. The "Red Peppers" rank third in point of playing ability in Chestertown, and had only two of the first nine players with them. It is quite astonishing that an inferior nine from a rural village should lay out the leading nine of a great city.

—Dr. W. M. A. S. Maxwell, of Still Pond, has been quite ill, but we understand is better.

Mr. G. B. Westcott has recently been confined to his house by illness, but was out again on Tuesday.

Mr. B. F. Fleming, superintendent of the Kent County Railroad, has recently been confined by illness but was out on Tuesday.

—Walter Francis and W. Baker, of the lower district, while driving pretty briskly on last Sunday evening, came in collision with their buggies, and each was over-turned. There was a wreck of both buggies. Each had a lady in, but no damage was sustained by the occupants of either carriage beyond the damage to the buggies. They were driving through a wood when the collision occurred.

—On next Tuesday evening, at the town hall, there is to be a concert, in which the "Emerson Quartette" and other musical talent will take part. The names mentioned in the advertisement elsewhere are not unfamiliar to the Chestertown public, except that of Mr. John Finch. Mr. Finch comes with the reputation of being one among the best humorous songsmen in Baltimore. The concert will undoubtedly be a pleasant entertainment. The town hall will be provided with pleasant seats.

—There were quite a number of Chestertowners went to Cambridge last week. Nearly all say they were greatly disappointed in the magnificence of the city. Cambridge, they say, has three fine churches, some handsome front yards, and a flouring mill worthy of note, but they say that taken all in all, even Chestertown is much ahead of her, not to speak of other progressive peninsula towns. The Chestertowners are especially liberal in their conversation concerning Cambridge hotels. They say that for bad fare and bad accommodations the Cambridge hotels are hard to beat.

—The real estate of the late Col. George W. Spencer, which was sold by R. Hynson, Esq., as trustee, on last Thursday, brought a satisfactory price, considering the depression that has been shown to exist in the real estate market by other sales this year. The home farm, containing 611 acres, was sold to Cochran & Hanson, of New York, at $75 per acre, aggregating $45,825.00. The Todd farm, containing 365 acres, was sold to Capt. Andrew Woodall at $55 per acre, aggregating $20,075.00. The Jervis Spencer farm, containing 244 acres, was sold to John G. Miers at $70 per acre, aggregating $17,080.00. The total aggregate of sales was $83,062.50.

—An Indian Doctor, gotten up in fantastic style and driving four horses to a vehicle that looked like a circus band wagon, drew up in front of the Voshell house on Monday evening and began an open air concert. He had among his performers a funny song man and two other musicians. He soon gathered a crowd and began to wag his chin in setting forth his marvelous powers. He had not been long orating when an opposition vender, of a cureall opened up near by and bawled so energetically that he drew off a large part of the crowd. The Indian doctor started up his band and played his rival down. But as soon as the music would cease, the two-minute cure man would start up again. Finally the Indian wonder gave in and withdrew from the field. The same performance was repeated Tuesday, but the Indian medicine man by driving around to various places finally succeeded in depriving his hated rival of the crowd.

—The Baltimore American, in notes from Jackson's Grove Camp, states the position taken by the Rev. W. M. Strayer in regard to prohibition as a national issue at this time. The American says,—

Rev. W. M. Strayer, who was to have delivered the temperance sermon Monday morning, has written a letter to Mr. Wm. Daniels, candidate for Vice-President on the Prohibition ticket, repudiating his action in bringing the temperance cause into national politics at so early a day in its history. Rev. Mr. Strayer is one of the strongest temperance advocates in the Methodist Protestant Church, but under existing circumstances he cannot give his support to the nominees of the Prohibition party at this time, and will not preach the temperance sermon, as appointed by the committee on religious service.

—The Grocer and Canner of Baltimore, the organ of the packers, discusses the peach question from the packers point of view, as follows,—

"Peaches are beginning to come in goodly quantities but are commanding such fancy prices for ordinary stock, that the packing fraternity look on at distance and watch the fun. Knowing well that their turn comes later in the season. The commission merchants and shippers are having all the fun now to themselves. But the time is drawing near when the stock will arrive in such quantities that the packers will be called upon to come to the assistance of the shippers to aid in using up the stock. It is impossible yet to determine how low the prices may rule. No unusual glut of the market is looked for this year. As the railroads and transportation companies throughout the country have made such complete arrangements for rapid transit and quick delivery, that unless, an over abundant supply comes in, a glut cannot take place. Hence, we look for prices to maintain a steady, and sometimes fancy figures."

—Orphans' Court, Tuesday Aug. 12, 1884.—Present, Judges Walker, Hyland and Stevens.

Wm. G. Trew, guardian to Wm. T. Brown, returned his final guardian account, which was received, passed as stated, and ordered to be recorded.

The last will and testament of Esther A. W. Handy, dec'd, was admitted to probate and ordered to be recorded.

—The true principle upon which to sell fertilizers, is that adopted by I. P. Thomas. Read the advertisement in another column.

A Young Man from Worton Committed for Forgery.

George W. Parsons, a young man residing in the vicinity of Worton, was brought before 'Squire Burgess on Tuesday evening, charged with having raised money on a number of forged notes. One note is for $500, and was discounted by the Kent National Bank. To this note was forged the names of John Gale and Tilghman Shafer. Another note, for $75 with the names of M. M. Rasin and T. Shafer fraudulently attached, was also discounted by the Kent bank. A note for $38, with M. M. Rasin's name forged, was negotiated by H. H. Barroll. Another note, for $150 with the name of John Gale and the name of either S. Cooper or M. M. Rasin, is held by T. Parsons.

The accused acknowledged the forgeries, but could give no explanation of how he came to commit them. The forgeries were detected by the bank officers suspecting the genuineness of the signature of Mr. T. Shafer on a note that was brought to renew the original note for $500. Parsons is a young man, and was married only four or five months ago. His young wife was in town Tuesday evening endeavoring to find bail for her husband, and was in great distress. There was great sympathy felt for her.

People who know Parsons say that he generally bore the reputation of being a sensible young man, as well as an honorable one. The developments regarding the forgeries have created a great deal of surprise. It is noted now, however, that he has more than once engaged in a number of rash business transactions. He recently bought a small tract of land for $2,000 upon which he paid only $300.

Some St. Dennis Notes.

GALENA, Aug. 11, 1884.

Dear Transcript—The St. Dennis congregation, of Galena, held their famous annual picnic in McCauley's woods on last Wednesday.

The weather was all that could be desired; the full moon almost driving night into day. Nearly five hundred people embraced the opportunity of having an evening of pleasure.

A bountiful supper tempted the appetites of all, which, on like occasions, were keenly whetted for the fray. After satisfying the inner man, the dancers betook themselves to the platform where they accompanied the notes of Prof. Immick's excellent string band until late in the evening.

As waltzing has never been tolerated at these picnics, being disapproved of by the church, all could avail themselves of the opportunity to dance in a proper and respectable manner.

Not the slightest event occurred to mar the enjoyment of the pleasure-seekers. All present were much pleased at the good time they had. Father Bradford spared neither expense nor trouble to himself, in order to make it a success, and a success it really was, surpassing as it did, all previous picnics held in those woods. The respectable sum of two hundred dollars was the net result.

We would call your attention, Mr. Editor, to the beautiful and substantial structure now in the course of completion in Galena, to become the rectory of a resident priest in our midst. Rumor has it that at no distant day, Father Bradford will remove from Dover and occupy this beautiful house. When in our midst take a peep at it. It's something new for the county.

T. G. Wroth and T. S. Bordley are spending a week at Cape May.

The Earthquake.

Chestertown, in common with other points along the Atlantic coast, was stirred up by the earthquake on Sunday. Only about one in every ten noticed it, however, and a great many who did not notice it were incredulous in listening to the few who stood up for the earthquake. One dweller on High street was shaken up by the vibration, and told his wife that there had been an earthquake. She ridiculed the notion, and tried to persuade him from making himself ridiculous by reporting an earthquake on the street. He went forth, however, and mentioned his earthquake to all he met. It was a long time before he found any one to back up his earthquake theory, but before sun-down the number of those who had observed the earthquake increased very considerably. One gentleman, who was sitting on his porch on Front street, felt himself rocking, and concluded that he had an attack of vertigo. A young lady who was lying down up-stairs at the same house, jumped off the bed, frightened at its rocking. In an adjoining house, a lady who was up-stairs caught up her child, thinking the house was about to fall. Up on College hill, Dr. Bardeen was lying down and noticed the pictures swaying on the walls, and immediately concluded that there was an earthquake vibration. The experiences of a number of others were similar. One gentleman who lives in the country noticed a report like thunder.

The shock was a universal topic of discussion in the daily papers of Monday. It was generally felt along the Atlantic coast as far north as Maine and as far South as Washington.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPLANATION.

Professor H. Carvill Lewis, of Germantown, a well-known geologist, said, in speaking of the causes of the earthquake:

"It is due to the gradual shrinkage of the earth's crust. The consequence is a latteral pressure, crushing and displacing the underground strata. The earthquake to-day has no analogy to those in volcanic regions, where there is much motion. Here there was little motion and much sound. The rocks are in a state of gradual strain, and yielding, produce an earthquake. This is verified by experiments made in the granite quarries of Massachusetts. The cracking of a board floor and the noise made by an expanding stovepipe are much like the noise accompanying to-day's shock. The motion to-day seemed to travel from southeast to northwest. The whole chain of our mountains is at right angles to the trend of all our strata."

"The common belief," says Arnold Guyot, "is that earthquakes are accompanied by some extraordinary condition of the atmosphere, such as a very high or low barometric pressure, very calm weather or high winds, sultry or damp weather, a prolonged drought or peculiar electrical or magnetic disturbances, but careful scrutiny of the cases leaves this in doubt. According to the records a greater number of earthquakes occur in winter than in summer and seem more frequent at night than in the daytime. The most common theory of the cause of earthquakes is that advanced by Professor Dana, the increasing tension produced in the earth strata by the steady contraction of our cooling planet. To this cause geology refers the rising of mountain chains in long fissures in the hard earth crust, and the settling under their own weight of these vast structures and the lateral tensions thus engendered, coming from time to time to a paroxysm, might explain these crackings of the ground, upheavals and subterranean noises. In this view every difference of pressure, atmospheric or astronomical, from lunar or solar attraction, many have a share of influence in the phenomenon. As to the influence of the seasons, the time of day, of electricity, magnetism and the solar spots, they show once more, if finally proved, how intimate are the relations of all physical agencies with each other and how close an analysis is required to understand so complex a phenomenon.

"Different descriptions have been given of the subterranean noises accompanying these shocks. In some earthquakes they are likened to chains pulled about, increasing to thunder; in others the sound is like the rumbling of carriages, growing gradually louder until it equals the loudest artillery, or like the hissing produced by the quenching of masses of red-hot iron in water, or like the rush of wind under ground. In the case of the earthquake at Lisbon the area affected was very large, in Europe extending to the southern shores of Finland and in America beyond the St. Lawrence in Canada, and was observed in some of the West India islands."

DELAWARE PEACHES DOWN EAST.

THE LUSCIOUS FREESTONES ROBBED OF THEIR KERNELS FORTY-EIGHT HOURS AFTER SHIPMENT.

From the Boston Globe.

"Thirty-five dollars and twenty cents was the cost of running the sixteen-car peach train that arrived in Boston this morning," said a well-known fruit dealer. "It came from Delaware, where forty-eight hours ago the peaches still hung in the orchards. Boston pays the best prices and wants the best and earliest fruit, and she gets it. Three years ago no peaches came direct, while now a train comes in four times a week at the commencement and every day in the height of the season. The trade in the Delaware fruit is controlled by fifteen houses in this city. These distribute the fruit through New England.

"Two dozen peaches for a quarter is the retail price to-day, but does one buying his quarter's worth realize that over $10,000,000 is annually sent to Delaware from this city for the sale of this fruit? The wholesalers here act as commission merchants for the growers, and, after deducting expenses and commissions, remit the net proceeds to their principals. No peaches are bought on house account. The wholesalers sell by the truckload at 75 cents to $1.25 a basket to the jobbers and these distribute to the smaller dealers and hucksters, who, two hours after the arrival of the train, have the peaches on sale at their stands."

Peninsula Items.

The Queen Anne's national bank of Centreville is completed except as to some interior details, and is an ornamental structure.

In our last issue we made note that the Cambridge Chronicle had passed from the control of Clement Sullivane, Esq., to the control of Dr. J. Hooper Shepherd. Almost immediately after the first issue under the new management, Dr. Shepherd died, and the Chronicle passes back to the former owners.

Mr. Gibson has always been one of the most earnest workers in the party, subordinating personal interests to the party's good on many occasions, always supporting the ticket, even when personal enemies were upon it. Being an eloquent speaker, his voice has always been raised in behalf of the Democratic party when called upon, and always very effectively.—Easton Star.

Except the Hon. John B. Brown, the most popular candidate with our people before the Cambridge Convention was Charles H. Gibson, of Talbot. This popularity springs from the high personal regard our people have for the man himself, for his high character, affable manner, high talent, and strict honesty as a public man and a private citizen. He has always been held in high esteem here, and his nomination gives general satisfaction.—Centreville Observer.

A strange death of a little girl by accidentally swallowing a lightning bug is reported from Concord. The child was playing in the yard with a number of other children, at her parents' house, near Odell's factory, and, while laughing and romping about, a lightning bug flew into her mouth and made its way down her throat. The little girl became suddenly ill, and though physicians did everything to relieve her sufferings, she died within a few hours afterward. This is the first death from such a cause on record.—Pocomoke Record.

The Caroline Democrat which is edited by Mr. M. S. Muchler, the law partner of Col. P. H. Downes is disposed to be a little bitter over the choice of the Cambridge Convention not falling to Caroline, but winds up finally by heartily endorsing Mr. Gibson. The Democrat says,—

"Mr. Gibson is so well known to our people that he needs no eulogy at our hands. His personal friends in the county are numerous and influential. For many years he has been a regular practitioner at our bar, and his well known ability and oratorical powers are fully appreciated by our people. We think we are not stepping beyond the bounds of certainty when we say, that he will receive the full Democratic vote of this county, and that he will make no inconsiderable inroads upon the ordinary Republican vote of the county. His majority in the District will doubtless be not less than 1500."

Facilities for Reaching the Seaside.

There never has been a time when the numberless resorts of the New Jersey coast were so easy of access to the people of the adjacent States as the present. From New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland, the lines of the Pennsylvania system connect closely at Philadelphia or elsewhere with the seashore roads, making it possible for residents of the sections named to reach the Atlantic with, in most cases, a single change of cars. From Philadelphia, nine express trains leave every week-day, two additional on Saturday and four on Sunday, for Atlantic City; three for Cape May on week-days, one on Sunday; and seven on week-days, one additional on Saturday and two on Sunday for Long Branch, and the long list of resorts on the upper coast. These trains run at hours best suited to the needs of travelers, and reach, direct or by connection, every point of interest from Cape May Point to Sandy Hook.

An equal number of trains run from the coast to the interior. Besides these, there are daily excursion trains from Philadelphia to Atlantic City, Cape May, and contiguous resorts, while Long Branch and Ocean Grove are accessible by cheap excursions every day except Saturday and Sunday. To ease of Transportation, cheapness is added, making the traveling expense of a summer tour an inconsiderable item. The comprehensive system of excursion tickets afforded by the Pennsylvania Railroad covers almost every point in the territory referred to herein. Such facilities places a trip to the seaside within the reach of every class of persons.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla is designed for those who need a medicine to purify their blood, build them up, increase their appetite and rejuvenate their whole system. No other preparation so well meets this want. It touches the exact spot. Its record of forty years is one of constant triumph over disease.

Seventy-five head of Jersey Heifers in calf, for Sale Cheap.

To make room for new importations we will sell sevensy-five head of pure blood Jersey Heifers in calf, at $85 to $125 each, as to age, style and earliness in calving. They are all very large and handsome, good colors and finely developed in all points that go to make up a first-class dairy cow, for butter or milk. Are all from first-class thoroughbred Jersey cows, making 14 to 17½ pounds of butter per week, and are served by solid colored Herd Registered Jersey bulls. Due to calve in March, April, May and June.

These heifers are all sired by the celebrated Herd Registered Jersey Bulls, Lord Darnley No. 3730 Lowrie No. 2484, and Earl of Willow Glen No. 2843; all solid color, full black points. They have been served by Imported Devon bull No. 7910 (of the celebrated Cocmassie strain), one of the best young Jersey Bulls that ever left the Island. Rapier No. 3743, Winsome Boy No. 5496, Maurus No. 4639, and Hercy Douglas No. 3769. These bulls are all from the very deepest milking strains, and from the very best butter families. Solid colors, full black points. They cannot fail to produce very fine calves.

Carefully boxed, delivered on board the cars, free, with feed, &c., for their trip, warranted to reach purchasers safe. Also, for sale, thoroughbred and imported sheep; thoroughbred and imported hogs; improved breeds of poultry. Full information as to prices may be had upon inquiry of

TO THE FARMERS —OF— KENT, QUEEN ANNE'S & CECIL

IT is universally acknowledged by the most practical farmers that the Ohio Chilled Plow is the best plow in the world for neatness of work, and lightness of draft to the team. As I have ordered a large number of these plows, both two and three-horse, farmers will do well to give me an early call.

We also keep on hand, the Old Reliable Concave Nos. 9, 10 and 11, Polished Minor and Horton, Wiley Nos. 3 and 4, and Two-Furrowed Plows, and Harrows, Twin, Single A, and Double A A, Cultivators and Cultivator Teeth unsurpassed by any manufacture. Single, Double, 3 and 4 Horse-Trees and Hames.

As there have been a great many Chilled Plows sold in these counties, and as farmers have been put to a great deal of trouble to get Castings for them, if they will only give the name and number of the Plow, I will endeavor to keep them on hand at my shops in Galena and Chestertown. I always have on hand Plain and Slip Shares for the Ohio, Oliver, Roland, Advance and Syracuse.

If any of you are in need of anything in my line, please give me a call, as I intend to sell them low for the cash.

Thankful for past patronage, I solicit a continuance of the same.

W. A. Hyland,

Galena and Chestertown.

Elliott & Gemmill's

Farmers' Agency

Will furnish at short notice and Bottom Prices, any Implement manufactured in the United States.

We make a specialty of the Iron Turbine Wind Mill, manufactured by Mast, Foos & Co.; also, the Buckeye Force Pump, especially adapted to deep wells and forcing water.

Any one needing a Wind Mill we say try a Turbine. They are strength and durability itself. We control this Mill for the county, and have no sub-agents. Will make prompt estimates for any one desiring a Mill.

We would also call the attention of Farmers to our

which we pronounce, after thorough testing it last season, to be the best combined Grain and Fertilizer Drill ever offered to the trade. Our reasons are—

First, It is a perfect Wheat Seeder Second, You have no cog wheels to take off or put on to chance quantities.

Third, With the Glass Feed for Phosphate you can sow any quantity of Fertilizer without clogging, gumming or pasting, from 100 to 500 lbs., and can make the changes while walking along.

Fourth, Both wheat and phosphate are distributed within plain view of the operator.

Fifth, It has double force feed for wheat, which makes it sow regular in whatever position it may be placed, especially when seeding side hills. All other drills will seed more or less according to position.

Call and examine it before buying, it will pay you.

Farmers clubbing together can make it pay.

Remember we have no sub-agents Save money by giving us your orders direct.

We have in use in Queen Anne's county eighty-three of the Buckeye Drills. In 1882 we sold there 28; in 1883 we sold 55.
