National Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT:

GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:

THOS. A. HENDRICKS,
OF INDIANA.

FOR CONGRESS:

CHAS. H. GIBSON.
OF TALBOT COUNTY.

Reasons for Supporting Cleveland.

Mr. H. K. Thurber, a prominent New York business man and Republican in politics, has written a letter to the New York Times, in which he says:

"I for one shall vote for Grover Cleveland for president, and have many acquaintances and friends who have uniformly acted with the Republican party that will also vote at this election the Democratic ticket, and the reasons assigned I give below. They do not consider James G. Blaine a bad man, but the reason is that the Republican party is committed to the policy of high taxation. They believe that the collecting $150,000,000 a year in excess of the amount needed for the support of the government is a wrong policy. They believe that this generation has paid all that it ought to of the war debt. They believe that every government bond that is now out is needed as a basis for the security of the circulation granted the national banks and for investment of estates, &c., that need the highest form of security regardless of the rate of interest. They believe that the paying of these bonds, that is now reducing the national bank note circulation at the rate of $200,000 to $250,000 every month, is a mistake. They believe that such excessive taxation as enables our sugar refineries to sell granulated sugar at this time to foreigners at $3.40 per 100 pounds when for home consumption they have to charge $6.50, is a mistake and wrong. They paid high taxes cheerfully until such time as our government credit stood as high as any government in the world, when our 3 per cent. bonds (liable to be called in at the pleasure of the government) commanded a premium, and when they had been so reduced that it was an actual injury to the best interests of the country to redeem them further. They then expected from the republican party such action as would reduce onerous taxation, and have been anxiously hoping that the policy of the party would change. When, therefore, Mr. Blaine, the incarnation of the high taxation policy, was nominated, and when the democratic party announced that their policy would be the collection only of such revenue as would support the government, and when they presented a candidate for our support that was known to be an honest man, one that the taxpaying republicans of the city of Buffalo selected from the democratic party and made mayor to relieve themselves from a dishonest gang of republicans who had long controlled the city, we thought we could not make any great mistake in voting this time the democratic ticket. The foregoing reasons are to my knowledge the ones that will govern the course of many republicans in the election."

Political Notes.

James Buchanan is running for Congress in New Jersey and Zachary Taylor in Tennessee.

One objection against Candidate Butler is that if he should be elected President, Congress might order his portrait printed on a postage stamp.—Newport (R. I.) News.

The character of the Government can hardly rise higher than the source from which it springs, and faithfulness of public servants is not apt to be greater than the people demand.—GROVER CLEVELAND's Buffalo speech.

There is no channel in which the rings know Mr. Blaine could be more useful to them than the channel of the White House. From the helm of the ship of State is a good perch from which to cast anchors to windward.—Nashville (Tennessee) American.

Gen. Butler, riding in a palace car on a free pass, presents an impressive spectacle to the anti-monopolists and workingmen. He does, indeed. He shows the workingman that while he lives he will never give up a dollar for the support of the bloated bondholders who own the railroad.—New Orleans Picayune.

I met John Kumler last night and in the midst of the enthusiasm he said: "The Republicans will carry Ohio by 20,000 majority." I said: "Why?" "Well," he says, "we have got the bulge and we are going to get the votes in the box." I said to him: "My beloved St. John, you overlook one very important fact. We are going to do the counting this year for the first time in thirty years. You have had the Returning Board yourselves for the last twenty years; now we have got that. We ain't going to do anything wrong, but we are going to take d—d good pains to see that you don't."—Pickaway in the Cincinnati Inquirer.

At a Democratic meeting at Fair View, N. J., Saturday evening, Mr. Gustav Kobbe, of New York, one of the speakers, read the following extract from a letter to him by Mr. Warren Fisher, Jr., at Windsor, Vt., on July 12, 1884: "In April or May of 1880 Blaine sent word to have me meet him at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He then authorized me to get the letters from Mulligan, pay $10,000 if I could not get them for less, and then wanted Mr. Mulligan and myself to go to Europe and remain until after the election, all at his expense. Mr. Mulligan declined the offer. He said that Blaine had stolen his letters in Washington. He never should have what he held at any price."

Mr. Blaine and the Tribune are poor comforters. The country is suffering from a deplorable depression of industry. Monopolists and manufacturers who have been "protected" into enormous wealth are shutting out labor because they find the continuation of their business in the present stagnation of trade would be unprofitable. Wages are "scaled down" to starvation rates in other places than the Hocking Valley. Thousands upon thousands of willing workingmen are destitute of employment. Bank defalcations are of common occurrence. Securities of all kinds have shrunk hundreds of millions of dollars within the past year. And Blaine and the Tribune stand forward to tell the people that all this depression, bankruptcy, shrinkage, idleness and starvation must not be attributed "to defects of the Republican policy, BUT TO THE ATTACKS UPON THAT POLICY BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY."

So, then, we can never have a hope of national prosperity and can never expect that business and labor will be relieved of their present depression and suffering.

There will always be an opposition to the party in power. Heretofore it has been held that a vigorous opposition is essential to the public interest.

The astute statesman of Maine and his spirited organ hold the reverse.—N. Y. World.

SITTING BULL'S FIRST DAY.

THE INDIAN FROM THE PRAIRIES HOOTED BY THE ARABS OF THE STREET.

Sitting Bull at our noon meeting: Why, certainly not,' said one of the assistant secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon. 'He and his party came into the building and repaired immediately to the hall shortly after the close of our meeting. Suppose that is how the impression was gained that he was at the meeting.'

Sitting Bull and party spent yesterday forenoon in driving about the city. Before going out the chief ate an early breakfast, consisting of what would have fed a dozen ordinary persons, which he washed down with five cups of coffee. His drive about the city lasted until noon. Everywhere he attracted attention and on portions of his drive he was followed by a crowd of boys, who ran behind the carriage. The old savage sat in the vehicle with his head bent to one side and apparently taking little interest in the drive. On Broad street, near Spring Garden, a crowd of boys ran after the carriage and called the Chief hard names.

'Oh, you savage!' cried a youngster, who had climbed up on the axle of the vehicle.

'Do you want a glass of blood?' called out another lad.

If Sitting Bull understood these and other remarks he did not mind them, as he never raised his head. Finally a boy discovering that bad words had no effect, threw a paper ball close to the ears of the Indian. He quietly turned his head and showed his teeth. Had he displayed his scalping knife it would not have frightened the boys more. They went in the opposite direction as fast as their legs would carry them.

In the evening the warrior, his wife, the Princess Red Spear and another lady and six chiefs held a reception at Association Hall. Their nation and themselves, their past and present, together with their future aspirations, were eloquently discoursed on by Major Newson, who introduced the noble redskin warrior and made him sing, talk and dance for the amusement and instruction of the audience. Mr. Bull made a feeling speech, which was interpreted by Louis Primeau.

He was not very lucid, but as far as an Indian can be he was very complimentary to his Eastern brethren. When the entertainment was over the audience passed round to the front and shook hands with the warriors and the ladies. The chief appeared rather tired. The ladies, especially Mrs. Kinyan Hiyaya Sunka Haska, however, rather enjoyed the handshaking business.—Phila. Times.

Under Sixty Feet of Water.

While men were engaged in sinking caisson No. 9 of the new railroad bridge of the Baltimore and Ohio company near Havre de Grace on Wednesday it suddenly turned on one side and filled with water and sank. A number of men were under it and great fears were felt that they were killed. Preparations were at once made to save the party, air being pumped down to them. The caisson was floated at 12 o'clock with air pressure and the water pumped out of the first chamber. Mr. O'Brien, the foreman, descended and opened the door of the lock, where the men were found, six in all, in an exhausted condition. As soon as Mr. O'Brien signalled up that the men were alive loud cheers were given. The depth of water where the caisson was sunk was between sixty and sixty five feet.—Middletown Transcript.
