He who votes for St. John, votes in the air. He who votes for Butler, votes in the mud. He who votes for Cleveland, votes for an honest man.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Next Tuesday is election day.

Before the Battle.

Next Tuesday brings the end of this exciting Presidential campaign. No man can say what the result will be until the votes are counted out next Tuesday night. There are many unusual elements that enter into this contest, that cannot be measured. First, the revolt among that class of Republicans who repudiate Mr. Blaine as a corrupt candidate, is an undemonstrated and an unknown quantity. How large it will be or how small it will be no man can say. Certainly from among the prominent men in the Republican party it has taken a large number of the best. How many of the voters whose opinions have not been in print, will repudiate James G. Blaine, Tuesday's election alone will determine.

Ben. Butler, who is undoubtedly running in the interest of Blaine, will gather in votes here and there.—How large is the Butler boom or how small it is, can now only be guessed at. Next Tuesday, however, will exactly determine the number of Butler fools in this broad land.

John Kelly, too, is an uncertain figure. No man can say exactly what John Kelly will do, and if it were known what he will do, then it could not be told how great or how small the effect of what he will do will be. The vote of next Tuesday will be likely to show John Kelly's hand one way or another.

The Irish defection, from the Democratic party, cannot now be measured. By some process of reason, a large number of Irish voters have been led to openly declare for James G. Blaine. It is for the most part the O'Donovan-Rossa element that has espoused Blaine, while the Parnell element is with the Democratic party. How large or how small the O'Donovan Rossa following is, Tuesday's vote alone will determine.

The St. John and Daniel party is probably the most uncertain element affecting next Tuesday's Presidential election. It is an element that is difficult to be even intelligently guessed at. The prohibition movement is of uppermost importance in the minds of a great many people who have the right to vote. Whether most of these will stand up to their principle, so far as to cast a countless ballot for it, cannot be told. The St. John and Daniel vote next Tuesday, may be astonishingly large or astonishingly small. It is a problem, however, that can only be demonstrated when the election figures come in.

New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, California and Michigan are every one doubtful States in next Tuesday's election. Every one of them may go Republican, or every one of them may be swept by the Democrats. There are unusual elements of uncertainty at work in each of these States. No man can tell how the electoral votes of any one of them will be cast until next Tuesday's election returns are tabulated.

The Democratic party has no reason to look forward, however, with discouragement. An unbiased and intelligent observer cannot help but perceive that indications are at least as favorable to Democratic success as otherwise.

The man who votes the Democratic ticket next Tuesday can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that he is voting for a candidate whose public record is without a blemish. He may know that Grover Cleveland in every position of trust has done his duty honestly, fearlessly, conscientiously, justly. That he has never used a position of trust to subserve his own ends. That, always in his public capacity, he has stood with an iron will for upright government and honest methods.

The Democratic and Independent press of the country have been accused of throwing mud at James G. Blaine. It cannot be justly termed mud-throwing when the truth is told. It cannot be justly termed throwing mud, when documentary evidence of guilt against James G. Blaine, in his own hand-writing, is made public. James G. Blaine is a candidate unworthy the votes of the conscientious element of the Republican party, and that element cannot escape responsibility by shutting its eyes to the fact. The man who votes for James G. Blaine, must keep his conscience in the dark.

Every man who has an opinion should not fail to express it at the poles next Tuesday. The right of franchise is a precious right, and the man who fails to appreciate it, lacks intelligence. This great Democracy—this great Republic, is built upon the foundation plan of a free ballot, and if this great Democracy—if this great Republic is to stand, the free ballot must be cast for a man who represents honest methods in government and not for one who represents dishonest methods.

He who votes for St. John, votes in the air. He who votes for Butler, votes in the mud. He who votes for Cleveland, votes for an honest man.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Next Tuesday is election day.

Political Notes.

What has become of the Rev. Stephen B. Elkins? He has not been heard from for several days. Perhaps he is cleaning and loading revolvers to preserve Indiana ballot boxes from the contamination of Democratic votes.—From the Chicago Times.

The recent exposures of the intimate relations between the managers of Butler's canvass and the managers for the Republican national candidates have very naturally confirmed the suspicion which has existed for some time that Butler's candidacy was simply intended to assist in the defeat of Cleveland and in the election of Blaine. This impression has been greatly strengthened by the course of the New York Sun, which for the past few days has had but little to say in behalf of Butler, but has warmed up in its praises of Blaine and its denunciations of Cleveland.

At last we have the official returns of the State election in Ohio. The Republicans have a plurality on the head of their ticket of 11,324. As a matter of fact they have no majority whatever. Counting the Democratic, Prohibition and Greenback vote they are in a minority of 2,113. And this is the great Republican State which rolled up a plurality of nearly 20,000 in the October election of four years ago!—N. Y. World.

Henry Ward Beecher makes his meaning plain when he speaks. He delivers blows on the intellect of his hearers which tell and the impression of which remains. Said Mr. Beecher in his Brooklyn speech: "If you vote for Blaine you vote for corruption. If you vote for St. John you vote for the air, and if you should happen to vote for Benjamin F. Butler it will be for mud; but, gentlemen, if you vote for Grover Cleveland your vote will be cast for an honest man."

Massachusetts may go either for Blaine or for Cleveland. The situation in this State is as good to speculate on as any. If 10,000 Republicans go for St. John, a moderate estimate, and 30,000 more go half for Cleveland and half for St. John or stay at home, the Republican vote will be cut down to 120,000. On the other hand, the Butler vote of last year, 150,000, can spare 30,000 to "the old man," and with 15,000 from the Independents will still be ahead of the Blaine vote by 15,000. If the Independent vote is not over 20,000, and is only half cast for Cleveland, it will be "nip and tuck." It is claimed that there are men who voted for Butler who will vote for Blaine; and there are some Democrats who voted for Robinson who will be back in the ranks voting for Cleveland. So predictions are unsafe.—Springfield Republican.

In 1868, when Seymour was a candidate for the Presidency, James G. Blaine made a political speech in the Brooklyn (New York) Academy of Music, in which he said: "If we needed any excuse for an additional word on our side it may be found and furnished in the extraordinary spectacle presented at this moment before the American people, when the candidate of the Democratic party, in wild despair at the result of the State elections, is traveling through the country on express trains at the rate of thirty miles an hour, with dishevelled hair and wild companions, engaged in the hopeless task of reviving the impaired constitution of the Democratic party. And no sooner had he started on the most extraordinary journey than you found Democratic papers in tones of impudent defiance daring the Republicans to send Gen. Grant on a wild mission of the same character. No, thank you, gentlemen, one Presidential candidate making a fool of himself at the rate of thirty miles an hour is quite enough, and Gen. Grant, in the garb of a plain citizen, quietly awaits the verdict of the nation in his modest home at Galena."—Washington Special to Cincinnati Enquirer.

He who votes for St. John, votes in the air. He who votes for Butler, votes in the mud. He who votes for Cleveland, votes for an honest man.

The Father of the Dashing and Debonair Custer at a Democratic Rally.

From the Detroit Free Press.

When the great mass meeting was at its highest point of enthusiasm last night, Chairman Dickinson stepped forward and said: 'I am informed that the band is about to play 'Yankee Doodle.' Before this is done I have a word to say. I am reminded of the presence here of a man who bears a name that is fresh and green in the memory of every man in Michigan and of a true knight, whose plume was his golden hair. It is told of a great boy General of Michigan that when he was to make a particularly desperate charge he threw away his hat and ordered the band to strike up 'Yankee Doodle.' [Cries of Custer! Custer! and cheering.] I present to you now some of the blood and spirit of General Custer—his father.'

The venerable, white haired man who stood by the side of Mr. Dickinson as he was introduced was received with the most tumultuous cheering of the evening. It was a very touching scene. After one hearty round of cheers had been rendered a man in the audience called: 'Three cheers for Custer—he was my old commander,' and these were given even more lustily. The aged father of the gallant Michigan General simply bowed modestly in return. When he had taken his seat Mr. Dickinson added: 'I have only to say that every drop of blood that flows from that heart and every beat of that heart is for Grover Cleveland.' [Cheers.]

Cutting Down the Maine Majorities.

[Augusta (Me.) Special to Boston Herald].

The publication in this morning's issue of the Kennebec Journal, Mr. Blaine's home organ, that Governor Robie's majority last September is 12,082, has occasioned not only much surprise in political circles, but has produced a sensation. This shows a difference in Robie's majority, according to the Journal's official figures, of 7,647 less than they reported it a week after the election, and which at that time was telegraphed all over the country. Those who made bets on Robie's majority, and supposed they had lost, are now demanding a return of the money. If the Journal has at last furnished the correct figures of Robie's majority, instead of Blaine and Logan's majority being 25,000 that it predicted, the best informed politicians put it at about 8,000. There is every indication of a large falling off from the September vote. The St. John movement is gaining in strength every day. The recruits are being principally drawn from the Republicans in the rural towns.

Is Mr. Conkling for Cleveland?

Mr. Emil D. Neustadt, who acted as marshal of the first division in the business men's parade, stated in the headquarters of the democratic national committee Saturday night that he had a positive assurance that Roscoe Conkling would make his views concerning the presidential election public during the coming week. A business men's meeting in favor of Cleveland and Hendricks is to be held on Saturday under the auspices of the Joint Campaign Club of the Produce and Maritime Exchanges, and Mr. Neustadt declared that ex-Senator Conkling had promised to either address the meeting or write a letter stating his preference as between Grover Cleveland and James G. Blaine. A score or more of gentlemen heard Mr. Neustadt's statement, and three cheers were given for what was perhaps prematurely accepted as an assurance that Mr. Conkling intended to pronounce for Cleveland.—New York Times.

Our WAGONS, CARTS & DEARBORNS

Have a reputation throughout this Peninsula. We have sold them in New Castle county, Del., and in Cecil county, Md., and as far as Salisbury, Md. We have over ONE THOUSAND of these running to-day, and as far as our personal knowledge extends we do not know of twelve set of tyres cut in the whole of them. This is evidence enough of what kind of lumber we use in making them.

We could give you testimonials enough to fill one side of the Chestertown Transcript to establish this fact if it were necessary, but the public already knows of the standing of these goods.

We have justly earned the high reputation we hold as manufacturers by our manner of doing business—

We give our own personal supervision to every minutia in building;

We see that all lumber is well seasoned before it is used, and every other part is what it should be.

We do all kinds of JOB-WORK & REPAIRS furnish estimates for Bridge work, and repair all kinds of machinery.

We also sell Plow Castings and Plows, such as Wiley's, Concaves, and Minor & Horton's. These Castings are all ground and polished and sold cheap.

We also have on hand and make to order all kinds of HARROWS,

Such as Twin and Double, and Single A's. You will find a large lot of Single, Double and Three-horse Trees of the best hickory, well ironed; also, Plow Hames.

You will see by calling at our works that we have too much at stake to do mean or shoddy work.

Thankful for past patronage and hoping for a continuance of the same,

We are respectfully, CHAPMAN & LAMBERT.
