C. G. WOODALL
Editor and Publisher.

G. W. CRUIKSHANK has resumed publication of the Baltimore Evening Day.

MR. JAY GOULD, contrary to the general method of thought adopted by the Blaneites, doesn't believe the country is going to the bow-wows. But then it is probable that Mr. Jay Gould is no longer a Blaineite. Mr. Jay Gould is one of the sort that never pins himself to a failure,—not if he knows it.

THE whole country has found out that Arthur P. Gorman of Maryland, is a remarkable man. He is just now the most talked about man in the country. What he says and what he does is noted and digested, as being worthy of noting and digesting. Hes everywhere praised as a cool he ed, clear headed, sound headed leader. His national reputation has utly killed out the petty cry of "B Gorman" that was sometimes seb against him at home. Josh Bigs' philosophy, that "it ain't nonner of use to argy agin a sus" will be taken to heart by tho at one time were inclined tote against Mr. Gorman.

THERE is a certain class of statesman at Washington who is always loud in his praises of "the horny-handed son of toil," "the bone and sinew of the land," as he grandiloquently styles the farmer. He will tell in glowing terms how agriculture "is the very bed rock of our national prosperity." He never tires of bestowing high-soaring praise upon the tillers of the soil. What the agricultural interests want, and what they have got sense enough to know they want, is governmental fair-dealing, and not oratorical praise. They want practical justice, not poetic justice. They want, above all things, that the government shall cease to tax the agricultural interests to sustain the manufacturing interests. The farmers of the land are not to be bamboozled by a few rhetorical flourishes.

A BILL providing to make the head of the department of agriculture at Washington a cabinet officer, passed the House of Representatives on Monday by a two-third vote. If there is any necessity for there being a department of agriculture at all, certainly the head of the department should be a cabinet officer. No other interest in this country begins to attain to the importance of agriculture, and the official at Washington who represents in the government of the country the agricultural interests, should be the peer of him who stands at the head of the navy, the interior or the State department. When the interests of agriculture are represented in the government at all, there should be no secondary place apportioned them. It is quite another question however, as to whether agriculture has anything to do with the government or the government with agriculture. The latter question involves whether or not there should be an agricultural department, and does not affect in any way the claim that if agriculture is to be represented in the government at all, it should have the highest manner of representation. As the government has already established a department of agriculture, it is proper and right that it should go further and give the department representation in the cabinet. The question will come up before the Senate, and if it passes, agriculture will be represented by a head that will sit at President Cleveland's council board.

A Rare Old City.

New Orleans letter to N. Y. World.

This is a veritable land of flowers and breezes. You do not need much shelter, and there is an abundance to eat. Piles and piles of oysters, the finest red snappers and pompano fish I ever saw taken from the waters of the Gulf, and no end of fruits and vegetables displayed in the most tempting array in the historic old French market. I could not now underlake to give even a faint idea of the extent and splendor of the Exposition; that must come later, but I could write all day about the weather and the fairy-like surroundings we now enjoy in this peculiar old city. It is the most un American place in the United States in its quaint streets, the names and customs of its inhabitants, and the architecture of its buildings. It all looks strange to one who has been used to the cities of Boston, Chicago and New York, but I think is none the less charming. Those who are to come here from the North will find as much to interest themselves in the people who live here, the climate and the peculiar institutions of the city as in the Exposition. The restaurants have novel dishes, the saloons have novel drinks, the people have novel manners, and you can't help feeling that you are in a land of poetic fancy, a veritable dreamland, of which you have had faint imaginative touches in the past. Rare old city is New Orleans! It is a very garden of pleasure. The Latin races that were its founders have bequeathed their spirit of ease and jollity to their descendants. There are more clubs here than in Boston or Chicago or Cincinnati. The people are sociable to a high degree. They like to eat and drink and be merry. They like to dance and sing and have music. It is the only place in America where there can be a successful Mardi Gras carnival.

JAY GOULD ON POLITICS.

THE MONOPOLIST WHO USED MORE THAN ONE MEANS TO ELECT BLAINE, EXPRESSES HIS OPINION UPON THE OUTLOOK.

From the N. Y. World.

Jay Gould sat in the luxuriously furnished reception-room of his palatial Fifth avenue mansion last evening, and his countenance wore a serene expression. He rested upon a plush upholstered sofa and his slippered feet beat a tattoo upon an immense leopard skin. He was asked by a reporter of the World if he would express his views as to the present condition of business and the outlook for the future. He announced his willingness.

"Why is the business world so depressed?" he was asked.

"For various reasons. One is that we pass through just such periodical depression at least every ten years. At such times it is to be expected that stocks will go below their normal value. Then Wall street wakes up to a famine in stocks, starts a bull movement and carries them just so far the other way. I think the indications are that we are now down to hard pan. The railroads are not making a good showing, because the war has been the means of reducing the rates to such a figure that the competing lines are compelled to do business at less than the cost of operation. Again, the season about the period of a Presidential election is always one of despondency. The prospects of a change of administration cause a great many enterprises to hesitate. Business men are uncertain as to the policy of any incoming administration and they fear to make ventures. This feeling of apprehension, I believe, however, is passing away. The fears of a change in the tariff system also seem to be growing less marked, because labor is settling down to European prices. Again the beginning of a new year is almost upon us. At such a time business firms desire to call a halt and take an inventory of their stock and start in afresh."

"Do you believe that the outlook for business is an encouraging one?"

"Most certainly I do. I believe that after the first of January we shall begin a new era. I think that the year 1885 will be a money-making year. The balance of the trade of the world is now in our favor. Foreign nations are buying of us more than we are buying of them. They are paying us the difference in hard gold coin. Millions of this reaches us on every incoming steamer."

"But why, then, is money a drug in Wall street?"

"It is not because there is no legitimate amount of business. It is because business is being done on a lower basis. It now requires a less amount of money to buy and sell the same amount of stock, because it is so cheap. Another reason why money is so easy is that securities, which have been paid for by outside investors, have been removed from the street. They are not, therefore, carried on margins as usual."

"Do you believe that the advent of the new Administration will furnish further encouragement to the business world?"

"I believe that the Administration of President Cleveland will be careful, sound and conservative. He will naturally desire to make a good record for himself as well as for the party of which he is now the leader.

"He will take good care that, so far as his policy and actions are concerned, the prosperity of the business interests of the country shall not be disturbed. It is always ruinous for any party to offer any menace toward the material welfare of trade, and I am confident that the Democratic Administration will govern itself accordingly. I have the highest regard for Mr. Cleveland personally and officially. He has given us an excellent administration in this State, and I believe he will make us a good President. I did feel that the Republican party should be continued in power, because I recognized the fact that its platform was pronounced upon the subject of a protective tariff. Now that labor is settling down to a lower basis, I do not know but that it is just as well that the Democrats were victorious."

"What are your views as to the composition of President Cleveland's Cabinet?"

"I believe he will select representative statesmen to fill it. I should not be surprised if William C. Whitney should be honored by a position. He would in my opinion make a capital Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Bayard, as every one is aware, would fill the bill as Secretary of State. Mr. McDonald, of Indiana, would make an exceedingly able Attorney-General. He is a jurist of unquestioned ability and I believe he would endow the office with honor and distinction. For Secretary of the Interior Gov. Crittenden, of Missouri, would do. The people beyond the Mississippi must have a representative and I know of no man who could more admirably fill the position. He is an exceedingly capable man, thoroughly acquainted with the territory over which he would be placed in charge and in short an official of which any State or nation might be proud. I believe Gen. McClellan would prove an admirable Secretary of War."

"And whom shall we have to succeed Robeson and Roach and Chandler?" asked the reporter.

"Mr. Gould thrust his hands into his pockets and laid back upon the sofa. "Well," he replied, "I do not know that President Cleveland would permit me to name more than four members of his Cabinet. Therefore I hardly think it would be in good taste for me to proceed further in the Cabinet-making business. Possibly it would be better for me to leave the choice of the Secretaries of War and the Navy to him."

The Tonnage of Oyster Vessels.

Collector Webster has replied to the letter of Capt. Waddell in reference to the false admeasurement of oyster vessels. The collector says that under the laws of the United States there are three customs districts in Maryland, viz: Annapolis, Eastern (Crisfield) and Baltimore. The collectors are authorized to admeasure and license vessels belonging to their respective districts, and it is beyond his authority to have all vessels readmeasured, as requested. All vessels hailing from Baltimore, he says, have been properly admeasured and are licensed under their true tonnage. He refers to the fact that last year as many vessels of over 10 tons were licensed in the Annapolis district as under 10 tons, some of which licenses were taken up here and the vessels licensed under their proper tonnage. The law only requires masters of vessels to show their licenses to United States revenue and customs officers. It is not in the collector's power, he says, to compel them to show their licenses to other parties, Capt. Waddell having complained that captains refused to exhibit their licenses to the State fishery force. The collector says: "If, however, masters of vessels refuse to exhibit to your officers their United States licenses, you might take up the State licenses, and thus compel them to quit oystering. In cases in which it is apparent that the tonnage is over ten tons this could be done with safety." For twelve months past the Baltimore office has been endeavoring to discover and take up all licenses of the character in question. The collector adds: "It will give me great pleasure to co-operate with you to the extent of my authority in all efforts to prevent violations of the oyster law of the State."

Congressional Notes.

Wednesday, Dec. 10th.—In the Senate Mr. Sherman presided, having been designated by Mr. Edmunds for the purpose. An invitation was presented from the Commisssioners of the New Orleans Exposition to take part in the opening ceremonies on the 16th inst. Mr. Blair submitted a resolution, instructing the Committee on Naval Affairs "to investigate Captain John Ericsson's new system of naval defence, especially his submarine gun and torpedo, and to inquire whether the same are about to be purchased for the exclusive use of any foreign Power, and whether prudent provision for the national defence requires the purchase of such inventions by the United States Government." The Committee on Foreign Relations was granted permission to sit during the sessions of the Senate. The Oregon Land Grant Forfeiture bill and the bill for the admission of Dakota were considered. Mr. Vest spoke in opposition to the latter bill. At the conclusion of his remarks the Senate went into executive session, and afterwards adjourned.

In the House, a communication was received from A. M. Scales, Representative from the Fifth District of North Carolina, saying that he has forwarded to the Governor of that State his resignation, to take effect on the 30th instant. Mr. Scales was elected Governor of North Carolina last month. The Military Academy Appropriation bill was passed. It appropriates $309,771, being $4792 less than the appropriation for the current year and $83,573 less than the estimates. The Committee of the Whole was, on motion of Mr. Morrison discharged from the consideration of the President's Annual Message, and so much of it as relates to the Treaties with Hawaii, Mexico and Spain was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. Mr. Morrison introduced a resolution for a holiday recess from December 23 to January 5, and it was referred. The Inter-State Commerce bill was discussed.

Thursday, Dec. 11th.—In the Senate Mr. Van Wyck offered a resolution directing the Committee on Rules to report an amending or additional rule requiring that treaties which concern matters of revenue shall be considered in open session. Blair's resolution, offered on Wednesday, directing the Committee on Naval affairs to examine Captain Ericsson's inventions relating to guns, torpedoes, etc., was agreed to. The bill for the admission of Dakota came up as unfinished business, and was discussed by Messrs. Harrison, Vest and Cockrell. Mr. Sherman introduced a joint resolution, which was passed, appointing February 21st (February 22d being Sunday) for the ceremonies connected with the completion of the Washington Monument; authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to have cards of invitation suitable to the occasion engraved in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and appropriating a further sum of $7500 to the amount already authorized to be expended in the celebration. The Senate adjourned until Monday.

In the House, Mr. Hancock of Texas reported the Invalid Pension Appropriation bill, and it was referred to the Committee of the Whole. The Inter-State Commerce bill was discussed, and "a general understanding was arrived at that general debate shall close the next day the subject is taken up, and that then a vote shall be taken as between the substitute and the Committee bill. Whatever measure shall be successful will then be open to amendment and debate under the five-minute rule." Mr. Hiscock of New York, introduced a concurrent resolution providing for a joint committee of five members of the next House and three Senators, to investigate the capacity of the canals of New York, with a view to their acquirement by the General Government.

Friday.—The United States Senate was not in session Friday. In the House Mr. Warner, from the pension committee, introduced a resolution for an investigation of the publication in the Congressional Record of an attack on the committee by his colleague, Mr. J. D. Taylor. After a long debate, in which personalities were indulged in, the resolution was adopted. An evening session was held for the consideration of pension bills. The House adjourned until Monday. Arrangements have been made by the Navy Department for an expedition to survey route of the Nicaragua canal. The House committee on public lands will report favorably a bill providing that no alien or foreigner shall own lands within the United States.

Monday.—In the United States Senate, Monday, there was a brief secret session on Mr. Van Wyck's resolution providing for the consideration of commercial treaties in open session. The Dakota bill was briefly discussed and then laid aside and the resolution of Mr. Hill in opposition to the suspension of the coinage of silver dollars or of the issue of silver certificates was discussed by Messrs. Hill, Sherman, Allison and others. In the House a large number of bills were introduced. After debate, a resolution was adopted fixing January 16 for the consideration of the McPherson and Dingley currency bills.

FREE DISTRIBUTION.

What causes the great rush at Stam's drug store? The free distribution of sample bottles of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the most popular remedy for coughs, colds, consumption and Bronchitis now on the market.—Regular size 50 cents and $1.

IT is really strange, but it is nevertheless a fact, that a majority of the Republicans take actual comfort in the defeat of their party. There is hardly a Republican Senator or Member who does not take pleasure in the contemplation of a thorough reorganization and cleaning up of the departments. I have heard much worse things about the departments and their management than I have ever heard from the Democrats. The trouble with the Republicans who were conscious of all these wrongs was that they could do nothing, or fancied they could not, without injuring the interests of their party. If Senator Bayard takes charge of the Treasury Department next spring and undertakes the reform of that department he will have a greater task upon his hands than he has ever before undertaken. The customs division will probably first command his attention. Here for years all the decisions of this bureau have been sold in advance to a few favored importers. The investigation of the Senate Committee on Appropriations two years ago will give the new Secretary a number of suggestions. In that investigation it was shown that a few of the favored officials had had their servants' hire, carriage repairing, house decorating and even newspapers and children's school books charged up to Uncle Sam.—N. Y. World's Washington Gossip.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching and affecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address, The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, O. Sold by C. F. Stam.

Do You Know?

FROM the slow manner in which the TAXES are coming in I fear that the tax-payers are not generally posted as to the necessities of the case. On the first day of January all levies in my hands are due, and to meet them all taxes must be paid on or before that date. Those who fail to pay by that time will do me great injustice and themselves discredit. Please attend to this at once, and let me have the money.

You can find me at home. In Christmas week I will be at Kennedyville on Friday, 26th; Still Pond, Saturday; Chesterville, Monday; Chestertown, Tuesday, and Lynch's Wednesday.

Harper's Magazine,
ILLUSTRATED.

With the new volume, beginning in December, Harper's Magazine will conclude its thirty-fifth year. The oldest periodical of its type, it is yet, in each new volume, a new magazine, not simply because it presents fresh subjects and new pictures, but also, and chiefly, because it steadily advances in the method itself of magazine-making. In a word, the Magazine becomes more and more the faithful mirror of current life and movement. Leading features in the attractive programme for 1885 are: new serial novels by Constance Fenimore Woolson and W. D. Howells; a new novel entitled 'At the Red Glove;' descriptive illustrated papers by F. D. Millet, R. Swain Gifford, E. A. Abbey, H. Gibson, and others; Goldsmith's 'She Stoops to Conquer,' illustrated by Abbey; important papers on Art, Science, etc.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.
PER YEAR:

Harper's Weekly has now, for twenty years, maintained its position as the leading illustrated weekly newspaper in America. With a constant increase of literary and artistic resources, it is able to offer for the ensuing year attractions unequalled by any previous volume, embracing a capital illustrated serial story by W. E. Norris; illustrated articles with special reference to the West and South, including the World's Exposition at New Orleans; entertaining short stories, mostly illustrated, and important papers by high authorities on the chief topics of the day.

Every one who desires a trustworthy political guide, an entertaining and instructive family journal, entirely free from objectionable features in either letter-press or illustrations, should subscribe to Harper's Weekly.

Harper's Bazar,
ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Bazar is the only paper in the world that combines the choicest literature and the finest art illustrations with the latest fashions and methods of household adornment. Its weekly illustrations and descriptions of the newest Paris and New York styles, with its useful pattern-sheet supplements and cut patterns, by enabling ladies to be their own dressmakers, save many times the cost of subscription. Its papers on cooking, the management of servants, and housekeeping in its various details are eminently practical. Much attention is given to the interesting topic of social etiquette, and its illustrations of art needle-work are acknowledged to be unequalled. Its literary merit is of the highest excellence, and the unique character of its humorous pictures has won for it the name of the American Punch.

Harper's Young People.
AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

The serial and short stories in Harper's Young People have all the dramatic interest that juvenile fiction can possess, while they are wholly free from what is pernicious or vulgarly sensational. The humorous stories and pictures are full of innocent fun, and the papers on natural history and science, travel, and the facts of life, are by writers whose names give the best assurance of accuracy and value. Illustrated papers on athletic sports, games, and pastimes give full information on these subjects. There is nothing cheap about it but its price.

An epitome of everything that is attractive and desirable in juvenile literature.—Boston Courier.

A weekly feast of good things to the boys and girls in every family which it visits.—Brooklyn Union.

It is wonderful in its wealth of pictures, information and interest.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.
