Germany, Beigium, France and other countries. The remakable cures made in London of chronic English Surgeons without obtaining relief, consulted J. A. Sherman, and were at once relieved and eventually restored to a state of soundness through his method to the astonishment of the eminent Surgeons who had formerly treated them. In the case of Mr. Hemy James, who had been a great sufferer for over 20 years, his wonderful and complete cure was certified to by that distin guished Surgeon and operator on rupture at Kings College Hospital, John Wood, F. K. S., F. K. C. S., F. R. C., also Dr. Edward Bellamy, Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, Surgeon to Charin Cross Hospital, etc., Sir Henry Thompson, Surgeon at University College, London, and others. J. A. Sherman's extensive practice in the treatment of riernia in its various forms with a success unparalleled in all previous ages, is of the hignest value to those who are afflicted with rupture and hope to be once more sound. In J. A. LIVELY POLITICS IN QUEEN ANNE'S.

The Centreville Observer of Thursday last had the following relative to the local candi dates in Queen Anne's: George will likely be to the forefront asking the endorsement of their friends for the clerkship. In the second district Messrs John F. Godwin and W. P. Finley will in friendly but earnest spirit strive for | band's given name in full and not give for the mastery. Both of these gentlemen want the clerkship. The third district will have some candidates too for the place. Ex-Senator Turpin is in the fight to stay to the end. Clerk Dunbracco likes the of fice well enough to earnestly desire a little extension or a full term. Hon. A. R. Weedon, it is said, has his eye also in that direction. The fourth district will have a candidate in Mr. F. B. Legg, commissioner and he too is in the fight to win. The fifth will be in the race, and either Mr. George Davidson or John Dodd will likely earnest. Wm. H. Cecil is announced in he sixth, and it is said will pull out from the levy court in time to force his battle Messrs R. J. Catlin and Chas. W. Clements are in the fight in the seventh. It is said both will make an earnest effort to secure district endorsement. All these gentlemen are thoroughly qualified for the position and any one would fill the office creditably. So far' it looks as though Dr. R. M. Price and Col. W. S. Roberts will have the field to themselves for senatorial honors What the future will develop in this line is uncertain. Mr. Samuel A. Wallen would fike to be returned to the Legislature. Mr.

P. T. Potts of the sixth has some desire for the sheriffality, and Geo. W. Fennimore of the seventh would like that place also. There will be eight places to provide for on the county ticket this fall, and it looks already as though no place would go begging. Whether or not factional lines will be drawn is an open question. Many believe the contests will be made for individual success, rather than factional preferment. If the Levy Court fails to comply with act of assembly, and all come out, it will likely make some complications, giving two additional places upon the ticket, and also raising a nice question, whether or not a full new board can be elected under the existing law. Mr. J. B. Bright of the fourth has been spoken of for the Legislature, though some of his friends say he would prefer the Levy court. Messrs J. Frank Legg and E. Cockey are also spoken of in connection with the commissioners office. It is said that if Mr. F. B. Legg should not make the clerkship he | measuring not less than three inches in

To Dissolve Bones.

Although bones can be reduced to plant food by an easy and simple proc-ess, and when done make one of the most valuable of all fertilizers, yet of all matter on the farm none is more neglected. Bones whole are not available food for plants; therefore the farmer takes no interest in them as a means of plant food and they are suffered to lie about the farm unnoticed. have practiced dissolving bones in ashes for many years. I collect all the bones. large and small, all beef and hog bones,

When winter comes and I am burning good wood I put in a box or barrel a layer of ashes some two or three inches deep, then a layer of bones (you can break them with an ax if you wish-I never do), and then another of ashes nearly full, then fill with ashes. I now keep this wet with water, being careful not to put enough to leak through. I use soapsuds as much as I can, as it is better. I am careful not to let this mass freeze, as the process will stop while frozen. I also save through the winter a hopper of strong ashes in the same way it is done for making soap.

When spring comes, if the bones are not dissolved sufficiently, I put the bones up. When done mix it with dry earth to make it better to handle. The Sweat of His Brow.

A Sebec young man has demonstrated what pluck and persistent work can do. On one of the streets of that village stands a good sized dwelling house, with L, shed and stable. The house is two stories, and the set of buildings is really best in that place. This fact is remarkable, because it is all the work of a boy (now twenty years old), who has had no means to start with. He has performed nearly all the labor with his own hands in spare time. When his money for material ran short, he would work out and earn more, thus not running in debt for anything. He is unmarried, but the little wife, when he gets her, will have a home that ought to be famous as a monument of her young husband's forethought, thrift and industry .- Bangor Commercial.

The old man had gone over to a neighbor's to find his wandering hens, and h was in such bad humor that his language was, to say the least, not polite. "Don't swear so," pleaded the neigh bor, a pious person. "Don't you know curses, like chickens, come home t

What the captain saw was this: On the evening of Aug. 15, between 9 and 10 o'clock, the ship was in latitude 45 degs. 57 min., longitude 52 degs. 52 min., when there appeared a bright patch in the sky at about 15 degs. altitude, appearing and disappearing at intervals o about thirty seconds, and bearing east half south from the ship. In character it resembled closely the northern lights, and later in the evening the same phe nomenon appeared in the west south and then of bones until the vessel is | west. On the 17th, in latitude 40 legs 39 min., longitude 68 degs. 56 min., the phenomenon was again seen in the northwest at an altitude of about 30 degs. and remained visible from 10:50

Lewis H. Rogers, of Boston, gives the following interesting explanation of the

There is a large search light on Mount Washington, which was started up on the night of Aug. 13. The nights and ashes in a large kettle and then of Aug. 15 and 17 were clear, and the pour on lye leach from this hopper of light was running and being flashed ashes and boil them until they are eaten around the heavens between 8 and 11:30 o'clock. There is an attachment to the apparatus by which the beam of light is shut off and on at will, thus enabling the operator to make long and short flashes of light, by which method the Morse or any other understood alphabet

On the night of Aug. 17 we had the light pointed about 45 degs. over Portland for some time. The words "Congratulations," "Mount Washington," "Good night" were flashed and read by an operator on the top of a building in Portland, Me. He was not in line of vision with the light, and the beam was and diphtheria, are frustrated by the far over his head. Thus the light, or the Pasteur's researches have proved that | reflection of the light, might have at different times appeared to the east, south or north of an observer on the ocean.

To my mind, therefore, it is an almost assured fact that the light seen by Captain Findlay, of the steamship Missouri, emanated from the search light proon the top of the tower on the summit of Mount Washington.-Philadelphia

Why He Looks Under the Bed. "I always look under the bed for burglars before retiring," said W. W. Greer, at the Lindell. "I was not always so careful, and came near being murdered and robbed as the result of neglecting this simple precaution. was in the employ of a lumber firm in Wisconsin, and a portion of my duties was to visit the logging camps and pay off the men. I usually carried about $1,500 in bills on these trips. I got to Chelsea late one night, from which place I was to take conveyance to the camp, and staid all night at the hotel. I placed the money between the mattresses, my pistol under my pillow and lay down, but did not fall asleep. The moon shone in brightly through the curtainless windows, and I lay there idly watching it race through the fleecy clouds, when I felt a movement of the bed. I realized at once that some on was under it, and without making a sound raised upon my elbow, secured

He had a large knife in one hand, with which he had evidently intended to cut my throat. He turned ashy pale as he saw his position, groveled on the floor and whined piteously. I recognized him as one of the loggers I had come to pay off, and was sorely tempted to kill him but turned him over to the authorities instead, and he got a year in the pen."-

The Boy Was More Than Pleased. There is an active, healthy small boy in West End avenue who cannot comprehend what nervousness really is. He knows that it is something extremely disagreeable, for his mother has been nervous as long as he can remember. His private opinion, expressed to his father one night, is that nerves are things brought on earth by evil spirits for the purpose of making little boys miserable. One day he overheard his mother telling a neighbor that her nerves were completely destroyed. The lad was overjoyed, and to celebrate what he considered to be an emancipation he went out in the back yard and romped with his big dog, with damaging results to his clothing as well as to his mother's gera-

After the neighbor had gone away he burst into his mother's presence with a velocity that almost threw her into a spasm, and before she could utter the usual "Don't be so noisy, Harry!" he had his arms around her neck and was exclaiming: "Oh, mamma, now we won't have any more trouble with nerves, shall we? I heard you tell Mr. B. that yours were completely destroyed. Isn't that nice?"-New York Times.

A Scheme That Works. When you go into the Marble Collegiatechurch, at Fifth avenue and Twenty ninth street, you will find in the book rack of each pew a card of the size of a fashionable envelope. It is an "acquaintance card," bearing the pastor's name and church address on one side, with a nice little square in the upper right hand corner in which is printed, "If mailed, two cent stamp here." On the other side is printed: "In order that the pastors may have the opportunity of seeking personal acquaintance and extending to you the courtesies of the church, please write your name and address below, drop the card in the pastor's mail box, hand to an usher or return by mail. Signed, David James Burrell. D. D., pastor; Rev. Palmer S. Hulbert, Rev. Alfred E. Myers, assistant pastors." It is a sort of a drop-a-card-in-a-slot-andreceive-a-pastoral-call scheme, and they say it works well.—New York Times.

Reminding Him of a Fact. A few days ago an elderly gentleman and his wife came down Broadway to gether. A lady crossing the street fell down. The old gentleman rushed to her assistance and helped her in every possi ble way. When he returned to his wifshe shook her fist at him. "It's all right: it's all right," he whispered. "Yes, " know it's all right," she replied hotly.
