…LLINS & HOPPER,

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS.

GOVERNOR BROWN yesterday pardoned Stephenson Archer.

HON. BENJAMIN HARRISON says he has no idea of being a candidate for the presidency in eighteen ninety-six. Republicans, if you don't want the ex-president to run again don't give him a chance.

A STREET-SPRINKLER is one of the decided improvements being spoken of for Chestertown. Let the matter be thoroughly considered, and if at all practicable let us have the comfort-giving and dust-destroying sprinkler.

JACOB S. COXEY, Marshall Carl Browne and Christopher Columbus Jones, the three leaders of the "commonweal army," have been found guilty of a violation of law and will be sentenced hereafter. Thus ingloriously ends what its leaders styled "the greatest march of the 19th century."

LAND COMMISSIONER PHILIP D. LAIRD is now being spoken of for a judgeship in his circuit to succeed Judge Vinson, whose term will expire this year by limitation of age. No mistake could be made in giving a judgeship or indeed, any other office within the gift of the Governor to such a man as Mr. Laird.

THE grand jury found a true bill against Jackson yesterday. The case has been postponed until Friday in order that a full bench may be present. Judge Wickes is at Elkton and Judge Robinson at Annapolis. Judge Stump expressed a desire to have a full bench at the trial and for that reason the postponement of the Queen Anne's murder trial was made.

SENATOR WILLIAM T. HEPBRON, of Kent county, was at the Carrollton Hotel yesterday. He had just returned from Washington, where he had been to look after his chances for the United States Marshalship. Mr. Hepbron says that he feels reasonably confident of securing the appointment, as he has the support of both Senators Gorman and Gibson.—Friday's Baltimore News.

LATER.—News was received yesterday that Buchanan Schley has been made Marshall, and Wilkinson, Appraiser.

IT IS NOW quietly rumored that the base of operations has been changed, and that the chances of Hon. Thomas J. Keating for the Tax Commissionership are not so flattering as was supposed some ten days ago. The ex-comptroller, however, is said to have the backing of Senator Gorman, and in that event the opposition to his promotion know not what a day may bring forth.

LATER.—The Hon. Thomas J. Keating was yesterday elected Tax Commissioner by the Board of Public Works.

A KENNEDYVILLE GENTLEMAN, in response to queries from Senator Vorhees relative to certain desired statistics, wrote the Senator that the people in Kent, as he believed in every section of the country, are demanding action on the tariff. Let the bill be passed or defeated. Anything, so the action is certain and final. Anything is better than the present state of suspense and inaction.

IT IS now claimed that the State cigarette license law, requiring each dealer in cigarettes to take out a State license of fifty dollars, is defective and as a consequence of no effect. Because of a defect of a clause in the law, it is contended that no fee can be collected from dealers. A test case will be required to test the matter, and should the law, by reason of the error, be found void, the State will lose about $15,000 in license fees. There are only two dealers in Chestertown, but a lot more will handle them if the law is invalid.

IT IS NOW INTIMATED that the "Farmer Governor," who so successfully ran the gauntlet of all opposition under the nom de plume of "Farmer Brown" several seasons ago, is now casting political seed into the ground with a view of being his own successor, or possibly, it is hinted, of being the successor of one of the Maryland Senatorial G's. Says the Baltimore Herald: "You may, therefore, write it down that Mr. Brown is now laying his plans to succeed either Senator Gibson—Eastern Shore law or no Eastern Shore law—or if not Mr. Gibson, then—be it spoken with bated breath—even Senator Gorman himself! Even now it is said that Mr. Rasin has some United States Senatorial ambitions of his own, although some of his friends say that he may be named for the Governorship. In the backgound is the potential personality of John K. Cowen.

THE Balt. News, in speaking of the judiciary of Maryland, says: "The only present full bench in the State elected in 1867, is that of the Second Judicial Circuit, which embraces the counties of Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline and Talbot. The chief judge of each circuit and one judge specially designated from Baltimore City compose the State Court of Appeals, and the present chief judge of that body is Chief Judge John M. Robinson of the Second Circuit. His associates on the circuit are Joseph A. Wickes, of Kent, and Frederick Stump, of Cecil. In 1882 these three judges were re-elected, and when their terms expire, in 1897, they will have sat on the bench for thirty consecutive years. Judges Robinson and Wickes will be 70 years old and Judge Stump 60. The law provides that judges must be over 30 and under 70 years of age, and the General Assembly is given the power, when a judge reaches the age limit before the expiration of his term, to extend his service if he still possesses the full vigor of his intellect.

THE ELECTRIC ROAD.

The Baltimore stockholders of the Queen Anne's Electric road, came to Centreville on the steam tug Frances, on Monday, for the purpose of electing directors and effecting a permanent organization. The following directors were elected: John S. Gittings, W. H. Bosley, B. Palmer Keating, Wilmer Emory, W. Bolner, W. G. McCormick and Frank Ehlen. Mr. W. H. Bosley, was made president; John S. Gittings, vice-president; W. W. Busteed, secretary; Robert Smith, treasurer, and John B. and E. H. Brown, attorneys. The outlook for the construction of the road is very favorable, a large amount of stock having been subscribed. The survey of a route has been completed from Queenstown to Chestertown, and a free right of way has been secured. It has not been determined when active operations will begin, but it is stated with much color of authority, that the road is a boni fide business enterprise, and will be carried through. The gentlemen drove from Centreville to Chestertown over the proposed route on Monday, and took the tug for Baltimore during the afternoon. Now let the electric current wend its way from Chestertown to Rock Hall.

The tug Frances is the one which rescued Capt. Cecil R. Atkinson from the ice in Chesapeake bay, on March 4, two years ago.

THE PEOPLE OF MARYLAND PROTEST.

The people of Maryland, on Monday night, in Baltimore city, stamped with their eternal condemnation, the hesitating, halting and unnecessary delays of Congress in fulfilling the pledges of the Democratic party, made to the people by the Chicago convention and during the last campaign. Mr. Daniel Miller was made chairman of the monster protesting convention of the people. On the stage were many of the most representative men of the State. James A. Pearce, Esq., was unable to be present, but sent the following letter:

"The masses of the people throughout the country are calling for the redemption of the pledges of tariff reform, by which the Democratic party at the last election secured their votes, and the recent utterance on this subject from Ohio in the election of a Democratic Congressman by a majority of nearly 3,000 in a district which gave McKinley a handsome majority, gives significant emphasis to this demand.

"Every consideration of party consistency and political honor demands that a Democratic Senate should cease to obstruct and hinder the work of a Democratic House of Representatives chosen by the people for that especial work, and the time has now come when that Democratic Senate should be called and held to a stern account for its long course of delay and obstruction.

"While the Senate discusses schedules the essence of tariff reform, the relief from bounty in the shape of taxation is obscured or forgotten, and while the ears of Senators are alive to the selfish appeals of their constituents, they seem deaf to the cry of distress which rings through the country.

"Longer delay and inaction can only justly be ascribed either to political imbecility or to absolute surrender to the domination of special interests, regardless of the welfare of the country."

The Senaterial Autocracy from Maryland may, in terse but inelegant terms, say the people and the press be d—, but the limit of endurance has evidently been reached, and a halt may be found a wise precaution by the senatorial lords, who, after securing protection for special interests, loudly call for a passage of their compromise abortion.

THE SENATE MUST ACT.

The following petition has been circulated during the past week in Chestertown: The undersigned, citizens of Maryland and members of the Democratic party, urge the calling of a public meeting to express the sentiments of our people in regard to the paramount importance of the prompt adoption by the Congress of the United States, of a tariff bill in accord with the pledges of the Democratic party for tariff reform. The business interests of the whole country demand that special interests should no longer be permitted to delay action and jeopardize the success of a measure which so largely concerns the general welfare. The signers are:

James A. Pearce, Lewin W. Wickes, B. F. Fleming, E. F. Perkins, Jr., W. B. Copper, Wm. F. Russell, E. S. Wroth, H. M. Stuart, Geo. W. Smith, R. H. Collins, Chas. L. Dodd, H. M. I. O. G. T.'S CELEBRATE.

A Delightful Occasion at Rock Hall.

Burdette's Lodge No. 297, Independent Order of Good Templars, celebrated its first anniversary, at Rock Hall, on Friday evening last. The occasion was one long to be remembered in the history of the live and progressive organization, which has set out upon its magnificent mission under most auspicious circumstances. Downey's Hall was profusely decorated with banners, pictures, bunting and flowers, and when the enjoyable programme commenced, the scene was one of pleasure, beauty and animation.

The exercises were opened with the singing of a stirring temperance song by Miss M. V. Hersch, Miss Middleton, Miss Hersch; Messrs. William Downey, Wm. Davis and Joseph Kendall, with Miss Bessie Downey presiding at the organ. Rev. Edward Davis made an earnest prayer, asking that the Divine blessing be bestowed upon the organization and its splendid work. Profs. Eugene Willson and Harry Wagoner, violinists, and Mr. Mannie Miller with the autoharp, interspersed the exercises with delightful music.

The public installation of officers was of peculiar interest to the large number of persons present, the hall being filled to its utmost capacity. The obligations taken by the officers are of a most binding nature. The following officers were installed by Lodge Deputy Virgil Kendall: Chief Templar, Wm. H. Krusen; Vice-Templar, Miss Cassie Stevens; secretary, M. L. Maslin; financial secretary, Miss Clara Middleton; treasurer, Wesley Satterfield; chaplain, Miss M. V. Hersch; Marshal, Charles Porter; deputy-marshal, Damon Rollison; assistant secretary, Gus. Ayres; guard, Joseph Ryan; sentinel, Wm. Davis; supt. juvenile Temple, Frank Kerr; Past-chief Templar, Joseph Apsley; organist, Miss Bessie Downey. After the installation, Chief Templar W. H. Krusen made a pleasant and instructive address, giving a history of the order, its objects, and a review of the glorious work which has already been accomplished. His appeal for Burdette Lodge was forceful and earnest.

The organizer of the lodge, Rev. C. J. Burdette, and other prominent workers, were expected to be present, but were prevented, and their parts in the programme fell upon Chief Krusen and Lodge Deputy Kendall, who fulfilled every requirement of the occasion in a most satisfactory manner. Miss M. V. Hersch, who possesses elocutionary powers of rare merit, gave a humorous reading, "The Visitor," in her own pleasant style. Addresses were then made by Rev. Edward Davis, L. B. Russell and C. C. Hopper. After singing, the guests and members repaired to the heavily burdened tables and partook of ice cream and cake. The cream was delicious and the cake could not be surpassed. The Tables were profusely decorated with fragrant flowers. Over the long table were the letters, I. O. G. T. and "Welcome to All." Opposite, was a splendidly executed picture of Rev. C. J. Burdette, organizer of the lodge. The charter, handsomely framed, also graced the room.

Mr. William H. Krusen has been untiring in his efforts in advancing the organization, and he, with his co-workers, are to be most sincerely congratulated. Miss M. V. Hersch, as well as others, has also been untiring in the great work. After refreshments and splendid music, the exercises closed with the benediction by Rev. Edward Davis.

The lodge then went into business session. Some of those present on the unusually pleasant occasion were: Misses Kendall, Addie Satterfield, Nannie Coleman, Belle Coleman, Bessie Davis, Ella Middleton, Mamie Wickes, Sallie Legg, Minnie Maslin, Tillie Lambert, Mara Ayres, Maggie McKivitt, Annie McKivitt, Nettie Boyer, Annie Trew, Nannie Taylor and Bessie Davis; Miss Martha Diehl, of Baltimore, and Miss Coleman, of Morgan's Creek Neck; Mrs. Kate Wagoner, Mrs. W. T. Rollison, Mrs. Edward Davis and daughter, Mrs. Thomas Ayres, Mrs. Charles Ayres, Mrs. William Durding, Mrs. John Fogwell, Mrs. William Downey, Mrs. William Keating, Mrs. Idenbryer, Mrs. R. S. Crew, Mrs. A. Casey, Mrs. Harry Webb, and Messrs. Wm. Keating, Edw. Apsley, Rev. Edw. Davis, Frank Kerr, Geo. Downey, James Moffett, Wm. Downey, Jr., Chas. Porter, John R. Fogwell, Chas. Middleton, D. C. Kelley, Harry Webb, Wm. Williams, Noble Moffett, Elwood Kendall, Fred Harding, Wm. Downey, R. N. C. Ayres, Wm. Rollison B. F. Coburn, Frank Downey and Albert Strong.

Success to Burdette Lodge and the great work which it has set out to accomplish. May each recurring anniversary occasion find it progressive, successful, and far advanced on the road toward its shining goal.

OUR FIRST DEFEAT.

The Washington College Team Drops a Game to the St. John's men —Other B. B. Notes.

The game last Saturday between Washington and St. John's Colleges, was one of the most exciting ever played on the home grounds. It was exciting on account of the close score, the fine playing, and the kicking against umpires. The game, from start to finish, was entirely different from any played here this season. Former contests, so far as the home team is concerned, have been fought and won entirely by the work of the battery. Burris and Zearfoss were both out of condition, and the fielders were called upon to do most of the work. The fact that, in no game have they been offered chances to test their coolness and ability in the face of an onslaught upon their pitcher, made their work of Saturday stand out in brilliant colors. Of course errors were made, but their work as a whole was first-class, and highly satisfactory to all interested. In a game at Fredrica, Del., last week, Burris had his pitching thumb injured, and in the first part of last Saturday's contest a grounder struck him on the end of the same finger, rendering it entirely useless for grasping the ball. His arm also was not in the best of trim, owing to the same Delaware game. Zearfoss suffered also on that visit, the first two fingers of his throwing hand being swollen and stiff. The battery is the mainstay of any club, amateur or professional, and any one who saw the manner in which Burris was tossing "dew-drops" to the St. John's boys, can only wonder why the score was not up in the teens. One reason the score did not reach higher figures was the clever work done by the men back of the pitcher. It would be useless to particularize. Every one was in the game, and every one did all he could to win. The game was probably lost by errors of the out-field, but so well did all play, that it would be unjust to censure.

The St. John's boys also played good ball, but they should not have gone away with the game. They were distanced at one time by a score of 3 to 0, and that, when the game was well advanced. Errorless playing by W. C.'s out-field would probably have kept St. John's side of the score looking just that way, but errorless games are unusual, even with professionals. The umpires on both sides were in for the usual share of abuse, but without prejudice, it can be said, perhaps, that W. C. got the worst of the bargain.

Two or three errors of judgment in a game like that of Saturday last, contributes largely toward the issue, and Mr. Cooper, by many, was considered rather at fault. Mr. Cameron for the home team came in for his share of censure. The objections to him were mostly with regard to his judgment of balls and strikes, a matter in the settlement of which a spectator is entirely at sea. A criticism that might be fitly applied to both umpires is, that they did not place themselves in a position at all times to judge a close play. A man at first base cannot see a close play at third, it is almost a physical impossibility. Without meaning any unjust criticism of Cooper, the visiting umpire, we must say, signally failed to follow the ball and to put himself in position, consequently some of his decisions were decidedly off.

An umpire should be ubiquitous; he should give his decisions quickly and firmly, thereby convincing the players of his certainty, impartiality, and the uselessness of appeal. The substitution of Mr. Boston for Mr. Beaston in the last inning was probably misunderstood by a great many spectators, and the objections of the visitors might have led many to believe the change to be unfair.

A substitute, according to the rules can be put in at any time, but he must be in uniform. Mr. Boston was not in uniform when he was called and by the rules could not be substituted, but the home team claimed to have put him into uniform within the required time and he was allowed to bat.

A return game will be played Saturday week between these two clubs. The W. C. boys hope to come home with more runs to their credit than the St. John's boys took away with them from here. The score last Saturday was St. John's, 5; W. C., 4.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Blackiston captures a fly ball with as much ease as the traditional spider catches the unresisting insect of inquiring propensities, and with as much satisfaction. He played a magnificent game on Saturday.

Polk's playing on Saturday last was certainly refreshing. He has gotten new life. He ran bases like a deer, and fielded like a veteran. The college will feel his loss when he leaves.

The double play executed by Burris, Polk, Zearfoss and Brice, was on the professional order. Two men, one attempting home from 3d, and the other, 2d from 1st were both caught after a short hit to Burris.

Woodruff's work at 2d base was a reminder of old times, and shows what that player can do when the necessity arises.

Armstrong should remember that ducking his head won't fool the umpire always, and that while learning how to get bases on balls, he is forgetting the batting trick.

Holloway surprised himself by allowing that fly ball to slip through his fingers. He captured the next one in fine style.

Beaston is not responsible for the rough outfield, but he should see that a grounder does not bound many many times before he gobbles it.

Manager Perkins, on Monday received a letter from the manager of the Baltimore City College base-ball team, canceling the game scheduled for Saturday next. The reason given was that it was impossible to secure a proper place for the game. Mr. Perkins heard from the manager of the city term on Tuesday, stating that all necessary arrangements have been completed by which the game of ball with Washington College next Saturday afternoon will be played at Clifton, the Johns Hopkins athletic grounds. The steamer will leave Chestertown at SIX o'clock A.M. instead of seven o'clock as heretofore published.

A despatch from Annapolis to the Baltimore Herald of Monday said: The St. John's College team could not refrain from breaking the quietude of the primitive Sabbath of Annapolis this morning, by giving, as it entered the college campus, the college yell, in token of victory over its ancient and natural foes—the Washington College team. St. John's College redeemed itself from two signal defeats of last year by this rival and most excellent team.

The Clings, of Chestertown, crossed bats with the Locust Grove team on Monday, at Locust Grove, and suffered defeat by a score of 21 to 20. Heavy slugging and kicking characterized the contest.

The teams took position as follows:

LOCUST GROVE.	Position.	CHESTERTOWN
H. Minner	Catcher	H. Cannon
J. Mulford	Pitcher	Earl Usilton
C. Hayes	1st Base	M. Davis
C. Scotton	2d Base	C. Howard
B. Wilson	3d Base	O. Estes
H. Kelley	Short Stop	J. Thompson
H. Falkner	Left Field	W. C. Blackiston
R. Vinzant	Centre Field	J. Cannon
J. Atwill	Right Field	V. Barnett

Umpires, Baker for Chestertown; Beaston for Locust Grove.

The Professionals and Merchants gave the second of a series of exhibition games on the Washington College campus, on Monday afternoon. The game opened with much excellent all-round work, and the score promised to be kept well down, but an upward tendency soon set in, and up went the scores. The players took position as follows:

MERCHANTS	Runs	PROFESSIONALS	Runs
Dr. H. L. Dodd, 1b	4	Dr. C. W. Whaland, 2b	6
Hiram Brown, l f	4	Horace Beck, 3b	7
George Brice, s s	4	R. D. Hynson, 1b	8
J. H. Aldridge, 3b	1	W. W. Beck, p	3
Dr. G. Allen Jarman, c	3	W. H. McFeely, s s	4
W. R. Aldridge, p	2	S. Hicks, c	2

D. A. Bacchus, c f	3	. D. Urie c f	3
Total	26	Total	41

Official scorer, Hiram M. Brown.

Snow Hill, following the example of Chestertown, last week had a game of ball between nines composed of her professional men and the merchants. Six innings were played, resulting in a score of 30 to 29 in favor of the merchants.

A FARAER'S TALK ON FARMING.

How to Grow the Tomatoes and Other Hints as to Profitable Agriculture.

EDITORS TRANSCRIPT:—

The seasons come and the seasons go,
But the farmer's tale is a tale of woe.

That a thorough-going, practical farmer can make something out of farming is just as much a fact now as ever it was before. The man who cannot milk a cow, plant tomatoes, weed the garden, cut asparagus, feed the pigs and do anything and everything that no one else will do on the farm, is (to use a common expression) not in it. But there is no use moralizing, it is a fact, not a theory that now confronts the farmers of this Peninsula, and that fact is that wheat is now, and has been for several years, grown at a loss. With corn it is different; the fodder is worth nearly as much as the corn. As there is no money in wheat what next? The dairy business? Many look to that as a loop-hole to escape the general disaster. But without very careful attention there is nothing in that, and the landlord wonders all the time where he is in it, and if the tenant keeps an unusual number of cows, their relations become strained, and in many instances broken. In this connection I would say don't keep any more cows than you can properly feed and attend to, and can milk of a Sunday night (your own lone self). Plant for the cows Siliseau sugar beets just as soon as you can now. They are splendid when the pasture fails in the fall, the time that milk usually brings a good price, and if you have the ground to spare, an acre or two of field corn, planted in June will also help fill the milk cans.

The cow business in a nut shell is this: A good breed, good feed, good milking and careful attention will bring profitable results. If you are not willing to accept these conditions, raise steers or sheep, but don't fool with cows.

In this connection I will mention the fact that some business men of Baltimore are discussing the feasibility of running an early boat out of Chester river to take milk to Baltimore. There is at present in all cities a cry for pure milk, and as most of the milk used in Baltimore comes from cows fed on Brewers' grains and other unwholesome food, they would rather get their milk from a distance. If the milk could be gotten there in time then the problem would be solved, and the county of Kent would have instead of the delusive peach, something more tangible and real to build their hopes upon, and if an electric road can be run to Rock Hall and through the county, not only the daries, but every garden in the county will send something to the city that will help keep the wolf from the door.

TOMATOES.

There is some money in tomatoes and loads of work. If you have 20 or 30 acres in tomatoes on the 20th day of May, bid farewell to family and friends and give your heart and soul to the tomato patch until you get a good stand. Dry weather and the cut worm will sadden your heart many a bright summer day.

HOW TO PLANT TOMATOES.

Have the ground in thorough order, harrow and roll until it is just right. There are two ways of planting, either good; one way is to plant the plants 4 feet 2 inches each way, which has succeed very well with us. Another plan which I intend to try this season, is to run the rows 3 feet 6 inches one way, and the cross rows, or the way we intend picking, 5 feet. The benefit of this latter mode of planting can be plainly seen, that is, you can pick your tomatoes in a 5-foot row, have no trampling on plants, and is altogether in my opinion a better mode of planting tomatoes. Make your driveways afterwards, you will gather many a tomato off the roads thus run. Draw your largest plants 8 or 10 days before you want to plant, heal them in at some convenient spot in the patch where they can be shaded and watered. You will find when you are ready to plant little roots putting out on all sides, and when they are planted out they will even in dry weather commence growing at once. If the ground has not been manured drill 300 pounds of phosphate per acre. Also drop at the rate of two hundred pounds of phosphate per acre in the hill, cover with a cultivator used for covering corn and if dry roll down. Plant your plants carefully, and if it is a good season and the cut worms and the tomato worm don't destroy the patch and the cannery men make enough to pay you for the tomatoes, in September you will look with pride on the money you have on hand to pay for phosphate used on your wheat.

NOTICE OF OPENING BOOKS —FOR— Subscription to Stock!

THE Commissioners of THE CHESTERTOWN LIGHT, POWER AND RAILWAY COMPANY hereby give notice that BOOKS FOR SUBSCRIPTION TO THE CAPITAL STOCK OF SAID COMPANY, will be open from 10 o'clock A. M. to 2 o'clock P. M., on the 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th of May, 1894, at

AND IN THE CITY OF BALTIMORE.

The capital stock of the company is $50,000 (with privilege to increase to $500,000), par value $50 per share; first payment at time of subscription $1.00 per share.

The franchise of this company is available for STEAM or ELECTRIC RAILWAY, ELECTRIC LIGHT, POWER and MANUFACTURING.

The building of a link of railway from Chestertown to the Chesapeake Bay would complete a new line from all Peninsula points to Baltimore and Washington, and effect a saving in distance to those cities of from 50 to 75 miles, and from one to two hours in time.

It would open up country seats to city residents, and afford a new and valuable outlet for farm products by rapid transfer and cheap rates.

Peninsula farmers must quit endeavoring to compete with the great West in raising wheat and corn, and turn their attention to raising food supplies in greater variety for the great cities along the Atlantic coast.

To effect this, additional, cheaper and more rapid lines of transportation are essential.

Capitalists and others interested in the development of this field, are especially invited to examine the splendid opportunity which the promotion of this corporation presents.
