SPRING OF 1894.
TRADE MARK
After a successful experience of 19 years in the manufacture of Fertilizers, we confidently refer you to our record, and earnestly solicit your patronage. An article that has been sold 38 seasons in succession, with an increased sale each spring and fall, and our sales the past year larger than ever before, ought to convince the most skeptical as to the merits of our goods, and that they must have superior quality and absolute uniformity and purity.
PEERLESS!
Our CORN and TOMATO Phosphate
The leading farmers and canners throughout New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, speak in its highest praise, declaring it to be positively THE CHEAPEST, THE SAFEST and THE BEST in use. Once a trial, always a patron. Wouldn't it be a good idea for you to try them? Farmers who have not tried our Tomato Phosphate will consult their interest by doing so upon their next crop. Many farmers think that all Phosphates are alike, but a fertilizer apparently the same by analysis on paper may show a vast difference when tested on the soil.
CHESTERTOWN, MD., 1893.
T. R. HUBBARD & SON—GENTLEMEN:—Yes, the ton of your Tomato Phosphate purchased of you and used last year, did well. I had my tomatoes in a young pear orchard of one-year-old trees. I applied the Phosphate by sowing broadcast and cultivating it in. The fruit was large, smooth and perfect, and whilst it is almost incredible, feel sure that my yield was 16 tons to the acre, but I know that Lamotte paid me for over 15 tons per acre. I know it did splendidly for me. R. S. EMORY.
CHESTERTOWN, MD., Jan. 2, 1894.
GENTS:—In reply to your question as to my opinion in regard to your Tomato Goods, must say it is a good goods from the fact the finest Tomatoes grown and brought to my cannery were grown with your Phosphate. I remember one of my growers would bring some loads that were particularly fine, while others were not. I asked what made the difference, and he replied Hubbard's was used on the best, while another that cost more money, on the others. I believe your Tomato Phosphate to be an excellent article. JOSEPH DOWNEY.
FOR POTATOES,
Our "Special Potato Manure" has been used for years in competition with Mapes, Yarnell's and Baughs, in fact, all the high grade goods on the market.
For General Truck
We make a Special Truck Phosphate that contains all the required elements of plant food. One fair and impartial trial, will convince the most skeptical as to its merits.
FOR OATS,
Use our Special Oat Fertilizer, which has stood the test now for years. One patron claims to have grown 61½ bushels per acre with it.
FOR GRASS.
As a top dressing for grass, our Phosphate has no equal, but it should be applied in February or March if possible.
There Are Your Peach Trees.
As the world grows older and its people wiser, there is a growing demand for better and more perfect quality of goods of all kinds. The people to-day are not content with the manner in which their ancestors fertilized their orchards, but are striving to reach the heights of perfection. Finally, T. R. Hubbard & Son offered O. S. Guano, a natural bird manure found in the West Indies, and introduced here after their senior's return from that place in 1882. This goods is the base of their Fruit Grower. In appearance it looks like old peruvian. In analysis it runs higher than dissolved animal bone. In action has eclipsed all competitors. In sales more than any other Peach manure in the world. Then taking into consideration the quality, price, guarantee, our success, satisfied patrons, increased trade, our reputation, together with the fact that you have this season the prospect of a crop, we think further comment from us unnecessary, as a trial will convince you that the goods speak for themselves.

A SERMON IN RHYME.

The Sum of Living.

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yes, and let him know
That you love him, ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend—till he is dead?

If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sung by any child of song,
Praise it. Do not let the singer
Wait deserved praises long.
Why should one who thrills your heart
Lack the joy you may impart?

If you hear a prayer that moves you
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join it. Do not let the seeker
Bow before his God alone.
Why should not your brother share
The strength of "two or three" in prayer?

If you see the hot tears falling
From a brother's weeping eyes,
Share them; and by kindly sharing,
Own your kinship with the skies.
Why should anyone be glad
When a brother's heart is sad?

If a silvery laugh goes rippling
Through the sunshine on his face,
Share it. 'Tis the wise man's saying—
For both grief and joy a place.
There's health and goodness in the mirth
In which an honest laugh has birth.

If your work is made more easy
By a friendly, helping hand,
Say so. Speak out brave and truly,
Ere the darkness veil the land.
Should a brother workman dear
Falter for a word of cheer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness,
All enriching as you go—
Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver,
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until its happy end,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

CONJUGAL STATISTICS.

The Number of Married and Unmarried—More Widowers than Widowers.

The first data on conjugal conditions in the United States ever gathered by the government, is given in a census bulletin recently made. It shows that of a total population of 62,622,250 in 1890, almost three-fifths were single, a little more than one-third married, and not quite one-twentieth were widowed. The divorced constituted a small fraction of one per cent. The actual numbers of the classes are as follows: Single, 37,129,564; married, 22,331,424; widowed, 2,970,052; divorced, 120,996, and unknown, 70,214.

The male constituted over fifty-one per cent. of the total population. Of 32,067,880 males in the country, 19,945,576 were single; 11,205,228 married; 815,437 widowed, and 49,101 divorced. Of the females, 17,188,988, or over fifty-six per cent. were single: 11,126,196 married; 2,154,615 widowed, and 71,895 divorced. The proportion of widows, says the report, was nearly three times as great as of widowers, indicating that a greater portion of widowers remarry than widows, while figures show that divorced men have remarried to a greater extent than divorced women. Twenty-three males out of 11,290,008 under fifteen years of age were married; 585,748 out of 3,104,983 between twenty and twenty-four years: 1,728,930 out of 2,425,664 between thirty and thirty-four years, and 869,925 out of 1,233,719 sixty five years and over. Of married females, there were 1,411 out of 10,952,192 under fifteen years; 313,893 out of 3,308,852 from fifteen to nineteen years; 1,414,712 out of 3,091,783 from twenty to twenty-four years; 1,805,064 out of 2,529,466 from thirty-five to forty-four years; 1,796,979 out of 2,430,878 from forty-five to fifty-four years; 905,627 out of 1,499,977 from fifty-five to sixty-four years, and 418,399 out of 1,183,569 sixty-five years and over.

THE MISERIES OF DEBT.

What a terrible thing debt is!

I know little of it from personal experience, thank fortune, because I have made it a rule to contract no bills.

What I haven't the cash for, I do without.

But, of course, people sometimes run into debt whose intentions are even better than mine.

A young girl who is a very good saleswoman said to me recently:

"I am living in a boarding-house at $5 a week, and yesterday I obtained work for the first time in a month.

"I owe two weeks' board, and I assure you, Polly, that my sufferings have been intense.

"The landlady never asked me for the money, and that made it all the worse.

"I know that half of her rooms are empty, and I declare that I felt like a criminal every time I sat down to a meal.

"Then I imagined that all the boarders knew of my indebtedness and looked at me in a reproachful way.

"And when a servant omitted to show me quite as much consideration as usual, I was quite sure that the kitchen shared my secret and looked at me with scorn.

"Of course, this was all my morbid fancy, but it was terrible at the time.

"Every knock at my door seemed to be a summons from the landlady to take my things and go.

"But I ascertained later that there were people in the house who had owed her for months, and even borrowed money of her.

"My debt was the least of her worries, but it is the greatest of mine, and will be until I pay it, which will be soon now.

How people can go through life and live in debt is a mystery to me."

And it is to me, also.—New York Recorder.

Guillotines of the French Revolution.

One of the effects of the new ideas which gave birth to the revolution was to lessen the respect due of children to their parents and teachers. Another was that their familiarity with blood-shedding led to its inevitable result, and their contempt of the horrors of the "national razor" showed itself in their playing with models of it, and their childish cruelty in using it upon living subjects.

Guillotines became children's toys, with which they operated on birds, mice and insects. Even as late as 1801 the Arras authorities had to order the seizure and destruction of these toys, as "suggesting ideas of death which might render children ferocious and sanguinary." And at Paris in 1795 a commissary suggested that children should not be allowed to approach the scaffold just after an execution (two murderers had then been guillotined), as this was calculated to impair their proper horror of blood.

It is, however, dangerous to generalize from isolated facts, and Taine attaches undue importance to Annie Plumptre's talk with a gardener at Nimes, who told her, "We never dared to scold our children during part of the revolution. The self-styled patriots held as a fundamental principle that children should never be punished. This made them so unmanageable that often when a parent began scolding his child the latter told him to mind his own business; 'We are free, we are equal, we have no father and mother but the republic. If you are not satisfied I am; you can go elsewhere and find a place more to your liking.' Children," added Miss Plumptre (this was in 1803), "are still very impertinent, and it will take years to make them bearable.—St. James Budget.

Tit for Tat.

"Wasn't that Rising Robert, the book agent, who left the house as I came in?" asked the Judge of his eldest daughter.

"Yes, papa."

"Did I not issue an injunction against his coming here any more?"

"Yes, papa; but mamma has granted a supersedeas pending an appeal."

"Don't talk to me," she said: "I know
That in my cheek's a rose,
But I don't care to match it with
That blossom on your nose."
—Detroit Free Press.

The days are getting longer fast
Beneath the sun's great lever.
But man, poor hard-up man, alas!
Is just as short as ever.
