What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

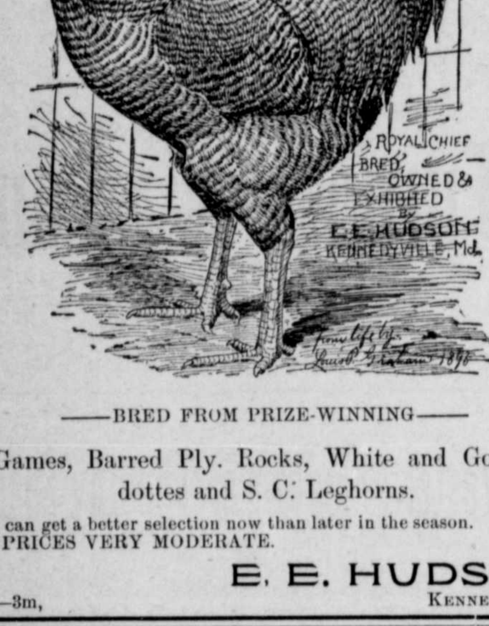

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.

KENT'S APPOINTMENTS.

Who Are Booked and Who Are Seeking Appointment.

The contest for the local civil offices in Chestertown and Kent county is lacking of any great excitement among Republicans, and the leaders claim that they are having trouble to find persons who are willing to take them.

However, there have been several petitions sent to Annapolis, and the slate is being made up. Dr. C. W. C. Johnson has sent his petition in, on which are a number of prominent Republicans, and Justice Bartus Wilkins, of Rock Hall, has also made application. It is said by a prominent Republican that there will only be two justices appointed in each district, so that it will be a paying office.

Another new move is to redistrict the county, and appoint a general supervising register, whose duty it shall be to examine all the lists and keep them straight. Mr. Bryan is prominently mentioned for keeper of the almshouse and also as a magistrate. William H. Lambert is also mentioned in connection with the justice's office. In the first district Jeremiah Peacock is mentioned for magistrate and Charles Smith for register. In the second district Samuel Comly is put down as register and James E. Weer for magistrate. Joseph W. Harper and Alday Clements prominently spoken of for positions on the county school board.

In Worton, Mr. Rouse is mentioned for magistrate and George T. Williams or Mr. Greenwood for register. Joseph Downey has been endorsed for magistrate at Rock Hall and William D. Crosby spoken of for register. Several names have been mentioned for the position of notary public, among them being J. B. Burchinal and R. S. Thomas. It seems that many Republicans in Chestertown aspire to higher offices. C. M. Lucas would not refuse the Fish Commissionership, nor B. N. F. Wilkins the State Wharfingership.

The fight for magistrate in Millington is a lively one, and of great interest to the Democrats. Nehemiah Clarke has a long petition, and so has James C. Moore. A meeting of some of the prominent men of the district was held at the request of Senator Westcott, and Moore recommended. The other faction held a caucus, and recommended Clarke. Now Captain Numbers is being urged to come in and accept the place.

For election supervisor Mr. J. H. E. Clarke is named to take Mr. Ford's place.

A novel supper was given by Col. Wm. P. Howard at his residence, on Cannon street, last night. The menu consisted principally of muskrats, served by the noted chef, H. T. Grey. The guests included Capt. George B. Westcott, Frank H. Howard, Hiram Brown, W. B. Usilton, Jr., Dr. H. L. Dodd and others.

Captain Cundiff is negotiating for the purchase of Buck Neck wharf, and has offered a good sum for the property. He was in town recently.—Baltimore Herald of Friday.

KNEW HOW TO MAKE HIM TALK.

How Mrs. Grant Overcame the General's Reticence.

"My husband," said Mrs. U. S. Grant to an interviewer, the other day, "could talk very well if he wished to, though it was often hard to get him to talk. He seldom spoke about the war, and there were some subjects which he would never take up of his own accord. He would never allow me, however, to make a misstatement if he could help it, and I often got him to talking about certain things by intentionally stating them in a way which I knew was not correct, whereupon the General would look at me in a despairing way and say: 'Now, Julia, I think you are mistaken about that, you have it all wrong. It was this way.' He would then go on to tell the true story of the matter in all its details. He grew interested as he talked. His face lighted up at such times, and he expressed himself in good language. He was a very well-read man, and during most of his life he was a hard student.

ONE of the smaller New England colleges has for janitor a colored man, who has filled that position to the satisfaction of all concerned for over twenty-five years.

Like many of his race, he is possessed of much wit, and it is not often that the students get the laugh on "Sam," as they familiarly and affectionately call him. One autumn day, just after the college year had begun, when he was overseeing the burning-over of part of the campus, a freshman coming along, cried:

"Well, Sam, that's 'most as black as you are!"

"Yes, sah," promptly replied Sam; "and next spring it will be 'most as green as you are!"

If asked the question "Have you got a stomach?" it would be safe on general principle, to answer "Yes." But, if you are sure of it; that is, if you ever feel any distress after eating or any pains of whatever description in the region of the stomach, you have got something more than an ordinary stomach, in other words, you have got a diseased stomach. The stomach is a powerful muscle, and the proper remedy for a tired stomach is rest. Try the Shaker Digestive Cordial, for, this product not only contains digested food, which will nourish the system without any work on the part of the diseased organs, but it aids the digestion of other foods as well. You can test its value in your case for the trifling sum of 10 cents. Sample bottles at this price are carried by all druggists.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Funny Things We See.

The constantly healthy woman trying to gain sympathy in illness.

The eavesdropper when she overhears her own character discussed.

The stout woman painfully striving to reduce flesh in a gymnasium.

The fragile, flower-like being making her way through a nine-course dinner.

The girl who boasts of not being jealous watching her fiance dance with another.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE COLISEUM.

Rome's Vast Ellipse and the Many Changing Moods It Has Seen.

It seems strange that not until the middle of last century did it occur to any of the successors of Peter to rescue from the desecration of indifference a spot saturated, one may say without hyperbole, with the blood of the martyrs. Everybody knows that earthquake, fire and inundation competed with each other for its destruction. Guiscard's troopers stalled themselves there, and the Frangipani transformed it into a fortress. When less turbulent times supervened, it became by tacit consent the common quarry of the more powerful Roman houses. When for a time friendly enough with each other, they held tilt and tourney within it, and then mystery plays restored for a time its theatrical character. Sixtus V had a scheme for turning it into a woolen manufactory, and another prince of peace thought it would serve capitally as a powder magazine. Meanwhile it remained a convenient market place for the sale of vegetables. But in 1750 an earnest Ligurian monk, Leonardo da Porto Maurizio, came to Rome, craved audience of Benedict XIV, and obtaining papal sanction for the new form of devotion known as the Via Crucis, induced the sovereign pontiff to consecrate the Coliseum to celebrate mass there and to erect a large wooden cross in the very center of the pagan arena.

Ever since the stations of the cross, commemorating the journey to Calvary, have encircled the vast ellipse, and the newcomers whose rising voices disturbed my reverie are wandering hither behind a tall, barefooted, bareheaded Franciscan friar, to make the dolorous pilgrimage. All the fine ladies of Rome are there, and, heedless of delicate flounce and furbelow, they kneel on the unswept ground at every halt made by the rosary girdled monk and bow their heads in audible lamentation. Then, when the long, sad service is completed, he rebukes them for their transgressions and invites them to a holier life. That much I can make out from where I sit, in sympathetic contemplation of the scene, though no small part of his exhortation reaches me, but in fitful vowel sounds, musical, but somewhat vague in meaning. Before they have come to a close a blare of trumpets tells me that a body of French zouaves is coming along the Via San Gregorio, between the Palatine and Cælian hills, on their way back to barracks from the exercising ground that lies beyond the tomb of Caius Cestus and Shelley's burial place.

The insolence of alien drum,
Vexing the bright blue air,
To smite a people's anguish dumb
Or speed a rash despair,
That once had wrung
That prophet tongue
To challenge force and cheer the slave,
Rolls unrebuked around his grave.

—Fortnightly Review.

NEW YORK CANDY PEDDLERS.

Clustered In Dingy East Side Rooms, They Sleep on the Floor.

Very nearly all the dark skinned men who sell that brilliantly colored candy from push carts are members of a regular clan and for the most part Greeks. When the day has ended and their work is done, they gather together in a dozen or more dens in Roosevelt and Cherry streets just at the foot of the famous Cherry hill, there to eat, rest and before sleeping to load up their carts for the morrow, that they may get an early start.

One of these rendezvous presents a unique appearance late at night. It is generally a store on the ground floor, that the push carts may be trundled out easily when heavily loaded. From the sidewalk the "store" does not show a single ray of light. It looks forbidding and deserted. But its door opens readily. The entire front of the long apartment is filled up with carts laden with the sweets and displaying signs. Only a narrow passageway is left to get to the back of the room.

Here, around a smudgy table, five or six chattering Greeks are playing cards and quarreling over the game. On the boards is spread a quantity of candy, newly made and cooling, for it is in a room back of this that the stuff is prepared. The candy maker not only makes a profit selling to the peddlers, but he gets still more of their money, lodging them on the same floor as their push carts. Sometimes when a peddler is "broke" the maker of sweets sends him out with a load of candy to sell on shares, but as a general thing he gets cash for his product before the carts go out.

Beds are, for the most part, unknown luxuries. Only the most prosperous peddlers seem to be able to afford them. Generally the floor is marked out with chalk lines, divided into narrow squares, and there on the hard boards, without disrobing or changing an article of their clothing, the candy peddlers sleep.—New York Herald.

Maternal Pride.

"Just think of it," she said proudly, as the voice of her son rose above all the others in the college yell.

"Just think of what?" asked her husband.

"Hiram and all those other boys conversing in Greek just as natural and easy as if it was their natural tongue."—Washington Star.

Restitution by an Earthquake.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good" is a well known axiom which was verified once in a somewhat peculiar manner in the Philippine islands.

About 14 years ago the first class iron vessel Rhoodie, of 1,600 tons register, was scuttled in Manilla bay, having caught fire when on the point of sailing with a full and valuable cargo of hemp, pearl, shell, gum copal, bar copper and other merchandise.

During the earthquake many months later she was thrown up by a tidal wave from where she lay in 12 fathoms of water to close inshore in two or three fathoms and was then purchased by an enterprising diving and salvage company just started in Singapore for the trifling sum of £14, when it transpired that her cargo had not suffered from her long submersion and was valued at about £60,000.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Ticking of the Clock.

"The ticking of a clock," says Mr. Bugleby, "is a sound so familiar that we take no thought of it till it ceases. Here are two or three of us sitting together talking. Suddenly we become dimly conscious that there is something missing; a moment later some one says, 'The clock has stopped.' Then we all listen. What a roomful of silence! Then we wind the clock and set it going. How pleasant it is to hear it again, and how loud and plain it sounds at first, but soon it sinks to its accustomed note, and with normal conditions thus restored we resume our conversation."—New York Sun.

Her Invitation.

Fair Hostess—Now, Mr. Borem, you must spend one more evening with us before we go into our new house.

Mr. Borem (graciously)—Most certainly, with pleasure. When do you move?

Fair Hostess (doubtfully)—Pa is uncertain just when that will be, but not for a year or two at the least.—Pick Me Up.

After the Trail.

Rankin—In my opinion the judge's charge to the jury was outrageous.

Fyle—It wasn't half as bad as the bailiff's. He charged them $1 a meal.—Chicago Tribune.

The temperature of the earth advances one degree for every 51 feet of descent. It is supposed that at a distance of 80 miles below the surface metals and rocks are at white heat.

A small daughter was taken to visit the Museum of Natural History the other day. "Oh, mamma," she said, upon her return, "I've been to a dead circus."

TRY a can of Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). It is delicious. Full quart, 10c.

Healthy, happy children are those whose mothers have been, and are, healthy. The best intentioned woman in the world will fall short of her duty to her children if she is worried and wearied with weakness and sickness. Most all irritable women are sick women. Most all melancholy, listless, languid women are sick women. Every woman who will take the trouble to notice, will find that at certain fixed periods she is nervous, cross, irritable and despondent. Any irregularity makes the conditions worse. Even a well woman is less amiable than usual at these times. What can be expected from a sick woman?

When every movement is a dreary drag, when the nerves are all on edge in sympathy with the particular ones affected—when it seems that death were very much preferable to living—what can a woman do for her children then?

It is every woman's duty to be well and healthy. There is no reason why she should be otherwise if only she will take proper care of herself and take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when she needs it.

This celebrated remedy has been used in the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., of which Dr. Pierce is Chief Consulting Physician and specialist, for over 30 years. Thousands of women have been cured by it and hundreds have written grateful letters.

Some of these letters are embodied in a 1000 page book, profusely illustrated, called "The People's Medical Adviser," which will be sent on receipt of 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to cover postage and packing only, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.
