HUNTING PERUVIAN GAME.

An Englishman's Account of His Fine Sport In the Highlands.

Hunting in the highlands of Peru is a very enjoyable if little known sport, according to an Englishman "who spent some days hunting from 15,000 to 18,000 feet above the sea on grassy plains or in valleys surrounded by high mountains." There is considerable small game—snipe, ducks, culi culi (a kind of grouse) and quivio (a kind of guinea fowl)—but the game a sportsman out for a day or two seeks is vicuna and alpaca. The vicuna is the wild llama and is a shy animal with great vitality, requiring neck or shoulder shots to kill. The alpaca is the mountain vicuna, living on the coarse and scanty forage of its home region. Its wool is a foot long, but so curly and fine that it fits to its body like a darky's hair. Both are related closely to the guanaco of the Patagonia deserts, which sometimes wanders into the uplands of Peru.

The Englishman carried a 44-40 American rifle and a 16 gauge shotgun for small game.

"Entering a large pampa," he writes, "we sighted a herd of vicuna. We tried to ride around them, but they made off, passing Ashmore at about 200 yards. Lying down, he opened fire, and a fine specimen rolled over. We cleaned it, loaded it on to a pack mule and rode on, soon striking another herd of seven, which at once made off, but my second shot at 140 yards dropped one dead. This we took, and soon after bagged two brace of culi-culi."

That night the hunters rolled up in their blankets on the mud floor of a hut. Hammocks strung from post to post would have been better. Next day, after a restful night, they "began to shoot the valley adjacent to Caraguiri." Some of the writer's bullets hit two vicuna at 130 yards, and some of the others hit the valley. The dead animals were loaded on the pack mules, and after going over the summit of an 18,000 foot mountain the hunters had the rare good fortune for that region of jumping seven guanaco, which ran too fast for the mules the men rode and struck a gait across the pampa discouraging to the hunters.

"But leaping from my mule," says the writer, "and sighting my rifle at 400 yards, I dropped a bullet ahead of them, and the bunch of dust scared them to a standstill. I then plumped the remaining nine bullets into the herd, and two fell dead."

A 38-55 rifle would have been better for such long range work, and a 40-82 still better, but no matter, the guanacos were killed. One was 45 inches high at the shoulder and weighed 140 pounds dressed. The other was 36 inches high and weighed 75 pounds dressed.

The total bag was two guanacos, seven vicuna, seven brace of culi-culi, one brace of quivio, five ducks, three snipes and no end of fun. The end of the hunt was to the tunes of a banjo and a piano. —New York Sun.

The Power of the Word Resurrection.

The skeptical mind may frame questions as it will—death sternly refuses to give it any satisfaction. The love of money may heap around us mountains of gold. All this is but to lower the ratio of that which a man is to that which he possesses. The fever of self indulgence may multiply our enjoyments, but each new enjoyment is, for the common run of men, a new want, and each new want is a new link in the chain of moral servitude, a new deduction from our high prerogative of freedom. Schemes of negation may each for awhile fret and fume upon the stage of human affairs. It is death, the great auditor of accounts, that reduces them, one and all, to their natural and small dimensions. The present is louder than ever in its imperious demands, but injured nature takes it upon her to reply that the present is the life of animals, and the future is the life of man. In the development of luxury, we are immeasurably ahead of the ancient Greek, and we might have been proportionably more successful in shutting off the questionings of the soul respecting that which is to come had not a new voice sounded forth in the world to proclaim the word resurrection, since which it has become impossible, by any process within our resources, to stifle the longings of the human spirit to obtain the command of some instrument for measuring the future which expands before it.—Hon. W. E. Gladstone in North American Review.

Disappointment.

A Washington paper says that a young lady of the Capital City met a gentleman from a far western state at a party in Washington. "You are not from the far west, sir?" she said doubtfully.

"Yes. I have lived there all my life."

"Oh, I'm so glad to meet you!"

"Thank you."

"But—excuse me—you see, I've read all the western stories, and it seems to me that you've forgotten something."

"Nothing that I can call to mind."

"Why, you don't say 'thar' and 'look hyar, stranger,' and use all sorts of bad grammar, and wear a pistol so that it bulges out your coat."

"I have never done those things."

"Oh, dear! Then my idol is shattered!"

FASHIONABLE COLORED WEDDING.

Reported by the Officiating Minister of the Occasion.

A pleasant coterie of friends and relatives assembled at the mansion of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Smith, in Piney Neck, near Rock Hall, after witnessing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Sadie Smith, to Mr. J. W. Bentley, on Tuesday evening, March 31, '96, in Aaron's M. E. Church, at Sharptown, the writer officiating. The bride was attired in a white merino dress, with silver buckles, while neatly encircling her brow was a beautiful wreath, exhibiting appropriate colors, while the bridal veil hung in graceful folds. The groom was dressed in the conventional full dress. Miss Mamie Smith, a sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Mr. Earnest Susco was the groom's best man. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple sustained many congratulations by white and colored. On reaching their home, as above named, they found many friends awaiting their arrival. The happy party repaired to the dining room, where they partook of a sumptuous repast. In the wee small hours of the morning the participants repaired to their homes highly pleased, while the pastor's heart was made glad by a magnificent fee, increased from the customary proportion by the groom's liberality.

The decoration of the church was very befitting for the occasion. Miss Julia Chambers, of Chestertown, presided at the organ. We wish them long life and happiness. There were many valuable presents given by both white and colored, amounting to over $2500.

REV. L. E. TOULSON.

P. S.—This article has been delayed by reason of the pastor being away to a conference, which convened April 1st, in Chester, Pa. 1t.

What the Shakers of Mount Lebanon know more about than anybody else, is the use of herbs and how to be healthy.

They have studied the power of food. They nearly all live to a ripe old age.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial is prepared by the Shakers from herbs and plants with a special tonic power over the stomach.

It helps the stomach digest its food, and digested food is the strength-maker.

Strong muscles, strong body, strong brain, all come from properly digested food.

A sick stomach can be cured and digestion made easy by Shaker Digestive Cordial.

It cures the nausea, loss of appetite, pain in the stomach, headache, giddiness, weakness and all the other symptoms of indigestion, certainly and permanently.

WHAT A BULLDOG DID.

Bear Was Small Game For This Particular Canine.

There were five officers from Fort Reno and four from Fort Kearney, and seven or eight citizens from the east who had come out for a hunt, and we had pitched our camp on the eastern base of the Big Horn mountains, at the headwaters of Clear Fork river. One of the civilians, who hailed from Boston, had brought along his bulldog, and though he was guyed and ridiculed a hundred times over he insisted that the dog should be taken along on the hunt.

"You just wait!" he replied to all sarcastic remarks. "I want to see him tackle a bear, and if he gets a chance to it's dollars to cents that he comes out ahead."

One day six of us went off up the mountain, and the owner of the bulldog was one of the party. His dog was at his heels, as a matter of course, but as we were out for the climb more than in expectation of sighting game no one objected. We had reached a point a thousand feet above camp and directly over it when a big cinnamon bear which had been snoozing alongside of a rock started up with a "woof!" Before any one had scarcely got sight of him or realized what sort of game it was the bulldog rushed forward and tackled him, getting a tail hold.

"Stu—boy! Hang to him! Now's your show!" yelled the man from Boston, and the bulldog got a death grip. Old cinnamon hadn't his nerve with him that day, and the first move he made was down hill. At his first plunge he started a good sized bowlder from its bed, and 100 feet down he dislodged a great mass of earth. That was the start of an avalanche. Earth, rocks, trees and bowlders began to move, and a strip 300 feet wide went booming down into the valley. The men in camp heard and saw it in time to escape, but it swept away every tent we had and filled the bed of the creek 30 feet deep with debris.

"Not an ounce of provisions, a cooking utensil nor a blanket was saved. Where our camp had stood was a mass of earth and rock 15 feet deep. We got down as soon as possible, and men were sent off to Reno to bring back a new outfit. No one ever expected to see that bulldog again, of course, but three hours later he walked in among us as if nothing had happened and hadn't so much as a scratch on him. We looked and looked, but no one spoke for two or three minutes. Then the man from Boston suddenly remarked:

"'I told you he'd get away with a bear, but I wasn't so sure about an avalanche. I've raised his price to $3,000, and I don't care to sell at that!'"—Detroit Free Press.

Stove Colors.

In view of the fact, says an Austria-Hungarian journal, that black iron stoves do not in all cases suit a room which is painted in light colors, and of the attempts made unsuccessfully to use upon them a water glass paint, Herr Kratzer, a Leipsic chemist, has been experimenting in this direction with very satisfactory results. The colors, he finds, may be blue white, borium sulphate, zinc white, borium chromate, yellow ocher, uranium oxide, green chromium oxide, cobalt green, green ultramarine, ultramarine blue, cadmium oxide for yellow brown, English red or caput mortuum for brown, brown oxide of manganese, burned terra di siena, red iron colors, chrome red. These are to be mixed with warm soft water, distilled or rain, and diluted 33 degrees or sulphur free water glass. Thus one part of water glass may be mixed with two of warm soft water, and one part of bronze powder be worked up with 50, by weight, of the diluted water glass. It may be necessary to give the color a thorough preliminary wetting with very soft water, particularly if the color be an earthy one, and the better this is done the better will the color mix with the water glass, but no more color should be mixed than can be used within two to four hours. The iron should be perfectly free from grease and rust, and should be treated with a scratch brush—then three coats, at 12 hour intervals.

Men and Their Hats.

"Well, well," remarked a leading hatter the other day, "everybody has smiled at the vanity of women as they take long and fond glances at their reflections in the store windows, but woman is not a marker for the ordinary man. The uglier a man is the longer it takes him to suit himself with a hat and the oftener does he look into the glass while buying one. I have an unusually prepossessing customer who would exhaust the patience of a Job. He came into the store the day after the styles arrived and consumed two hours and ten minutes in getting a hat that pleased him. The next day he returned the hat and had one made to order. This man is so ugly that nothing could improve his looks but a mask."—Philadelphia Record.

Do Texas Foxes Climb Trees?

A correspondent of a sportsman's paper declared recently, "There is little sport to be had in hunting foxes in Texas, because they climb trees in 10 or 20 minutes after the dogs start them." The foxes in England are often driven to the trees by the eager dogs, but they do not climb in the sense that a squirrel or bear does. They jump to the lower branches of the trees and by their aid work themselves up to the top branches. A fox can get into a tree that is no higher than 8 feet to the lower branches, and it is probably by jumping that the Texas fox gets into the trees.

Strong, Progressive and Rich.

The Woman's club of Dorchester, Mass., has purchased a lot of land for a clubhouse site. The club is strong, progressive and rich, with a membership of 400 or 500. It was organized four years ago, and Mrs. Harriet E. Bean is the president. It is the first woman's club in the vicinity of Boston to own real estate.

A Remarkable Tree.

There is a wayward white oak tree near Laporte, Ind., that may well puzzle naturalists with the vagaries of its growth. The tree is 9 feet in circumference at the base, and there are no branches of any size below 15 feet from the ground. There the great bole divides into a number of limbs. Two, leaving the trunk about 20 inches apart, grow west, their lines diverging for some 6 feet, and then each rending toward the other. Twelve feet from the body of the tree they unite again, making a perfect oval, and out of this grow two smaller branches. As if not satisfied with that expressed disregard for the laws of nature, this old tree has performed another feat. Six feet from its base grows another white oak, less than half its size, and no sooner does the smaller tree arrive at the charmed circles of those branching limbs than one of them grows right into it, and is absorbed. The second tree is very much larger 20 feet from the ground than at its base.

Noah's Business.

While teaching a class of girls in a school recently, the master asked the following question:

"What was Noah supposed to be doing when the animals were going into the ark?"

He received several answers. At last a little girl put up her hand.

"Well," he said, "what do you say?"

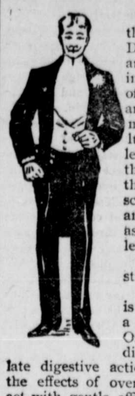

"Taking the tickets, sir."—Buffalo Times.

Fair Offer.

In the middle of the third act the young woman with the big headdress turned around in her seat and spoke to the youth immediately behind her.

"Sir," she said, "if you will change your brand of chewing gum, I'll take off this hat. I'm getting tired of that wintergreen fragrance."—Chicago Tribune.

TRY a can of Hopkins' Steamed Homany (Hulled Corn). It is delicious. Ful quart, 10c.

You can carry the little vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets right in the vest-pocket of your dress suit, and it will not make even a little lump. The "Pellets" are so small that 42 to 44 of them go in a vial scarcely more than an inch long, and as big round as a lead pencil.

They cure constipation.

One "Pellet" is a laxative; two a mild cathartic. One taken after dinner will stimulate digestive action and palliate the effects of over-eating. They act with gentle efficiency on stomach, liver and bowels. They don't do the work themselves. They simply stimulate the natural action of the organs themselves. That is where they differ from all other pills. That is what makes them better than all other pills. You don't become a slave to their use as with other pills, because their help lasts. Once used, they are always in favor.

CAUTION.—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—it's an easy name to remember. Don't let a designing druggist talk you into "something just as good." He makes more money on the "just as good" kind. That's why he would rather sell them. That's why you had better not take them.

For a free sample (4 to 7 doses) of "Pleasant Pellets," address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Butchers

—AND—

Dealers in Live Stock

of all kinds, also

Eggs, Hides, Tallow and Wool.

Through these columns we desire to inform the public generally that we deal in live stock of all kinds, and anyone having anything in this line to sell would confer a favor to call on or address us. When you begin shearing your sheep let us hear from you about your wool. It does not pay to ship when you have a home market. Remember we pay cash for everything we buy. We want especially some fine LAMBS at once. Inquire for us and we'll do you good financially.
