CALL FOR

Democratic Primaries.

To the Democratic voters of Kent county, pursuant to the action of the County Executive Committee, the Democratic voters will meet at their respective election districts and precints on Saturday, 11th day of September, 1897, between the hours of two and six o'clock P. M., for the purpose of appointing six delegates from each district (where there are two precints each precinct to have three delegates), to meet in Chestertown on Tuesday, the 14th day of September, 1897, at 11 o'clock A. M., to nominate two candidates for the House of Delegates; one candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court; one candidate for Register of Wills; one candidate for County Treasurer; one candidate for Sheriff, and two candidates for County Commissioners, and one candidate for County Surveyor.

The judges of nomination hereby named for each district and precinct shall appoint two clerks, and shall open and close the polls at the hours herein prescribed, and when the polls are opened, shall receive the votes of all persons offering to vote who are well-known and recognized as Democrats, and whose names shall appear upon the registration books, and also the votes of those not registered, but who will be entitled to registration and to vote at the ensuing November election, provided such person shall give satisfactory proof equal to that required by the officers of registration to said judges, and shall further pledge themselves to support all the nominees of the Democratic party and of none other. And upon the closing of the polls at the hour herein directed, the said judges shall proceed to count the votes cast, and shall certify to the six persons receiving the highest number of votes as delegates; the number of votes cast for each person for the aforesaid respective offices to be filled, whereupon it shall be the duty of the delegates to proceed to Chestertown on said Tuesday (September 14th, 1897,) and cast the vote of the several districts for the persons receiving the largest number of votes, until it shall be made to appear that all or part of such persons cannot be nominated. In this event the convention shall proceed to nominate a ticket by the majority vote of the same.

The candidates for county commissioners to be nominated as follows: The fifth and seventh districts to select one candidate by a majority of the whole number of votes cast in said two districts, and the third and sixth districts to select one candidate by a majority of the whole number of votes cast in said two districts; the two candidates so selected to be voted for by the delegates in convention assembled.

The mode of procedure herein prescribed shall be strictly followed, any other method will not be legal, as this committee has full power so to decree. The clerk of the circuit court is hereby requested to furnish each election district with the registered voters thereof.

WILLIAM S. WALKER, Chairman.
R. D. HYNSON, Secretary.

TWO FEATURES of the levy this year will be that the rate was declared ahead of the usual time, making a ten-month year, and that it will be given to the public later than usual.

A KENNEDYVILLE DEMOCRAT said last week: "I am not much of a prayer, but I mean to work, and get the old lady to make many strong appeals for democratic success this fall, and I know that we will win."

JUDICIAL NOMINEE MULLIKIN was completely snowed under in the Talbot county primaries by Congressman Barber, on Saturday. The fight was against Dr. Barber as chairman of the central committee and he received one hundred and fifty-four of the two hundred and one votes cast.

CAROLINE COUNTY will hold her democratic primaries on September the eleventh and her convention on September the fourteenth, the same dates selected by the democrats of Kent. Treasurer George A. Deakyne is conceded a renomination for his old office. Ex-Senator J. F. Dawson and J. W. Kerr are spoken of for the senatorial nomination to succeed State Comptroller-elect Thos. A. Smith.

THE PROHIBITION STATE CONVENTION held on Thursday, nominated James W Frizzell, of Baltimore, for State Comptroller, and Mr. R. T. Turner, Jr., of Betterton, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The nominations were made by acclamation. In the selection of Mr. Turner the prohibitionists placed in the field a man of unquestioned character, a successful business man and a high toned christian gentleman. No better selection could have been made.

THE CLAIM IS NOW MADE that the Baltimore American has been sold out to a syndicate of democrats with Senator Gorman at its head, and that the policy of the paper will shortly become out and out democratic. The announcement is coupled with the statement that a traitor is more dangerous than an open enemy, and certainly, none should know better the full meaning of the term used than the inspirer of the announcement of the sale of the republican official State organ to the democrats.

THE "TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT" which is being raised by the republican and make-believe democratic press relative to the "force-out" treatment of Mr. George A. Deakyne, is failing to have any upsetting or disorganizing effect upon that gentleman or his friends. A manly and straightforward fight was made for the nomination and a vast number of persons throughout the State regret that Mr. Deakyne failed in his laudable ambition, but neither disappointment nor regret will force any part of the Caroline county democracy from their allegiance to their party and the people. The supreme duty of the hour is the election of the State and local democratic tickets, and already the Caroline leaders are in the breach and are speaking in no uncertain way for Senator Smith and every part of the ticket.

PURSUANT TO ADJOURNMENT the republican nominating convention will meet in Chestertown next Tuesday, and in all probability name a full local ticket and get in position for the fall campaign. Representative party leaders were in town from every section of the county on Tuesday getting matters in shipshape for the final lining up. While there is an abundance of material from which to draw, if Mr. Urie's plan of making a full purse a condition precedent to selection for the ticket, is adopted, the nominations may prove a matter of some little embarrassment to the convention.

IF SENATOR GORMAN has any regard for the republican and mugwump press of Maryland and the country at large, he will not for a moment entertain an idea of making an unequivocal withdrawal from the United States Senatorial contest as his own successor, for without the Gorman-bossism bugaboo, many of our worthy and energetic journalistic reformers would be forced out of business. Like a stream deprived of the springs which feed it, they would dry up and blow away. The favorite text for their weekly sermons and extended soliloquies on bosses and bossism would be removed. These papers and their editorial scribblers have for weeks been endeavoring to so becloud the political waters by their agitation that they may install another favorite son of the Wellington order before the outraged people are aware of their purpose. They are quaking with fear lest Senator Gorman may withdraw. A prominent Kent countian said several days ago: "While I have never endorsed all of Senator Gorman's politics or his political methods, as compared with Wellington and his gubernatorial protege, he becomes an angel of light."

"FOR CHIEF JUDGE of this second judicial circuit the democrats have nominated Hon. James Alfred Pierce. For the same position the republicans have nominated Judge George M. Russum. To vote for Judge Russum is to cut Mr. Pierce. No one else will be affected by such cutting but Mr. Pierce. Mr. Pierce's manhood is one which soars above adverse criticism. His character is not one simply gilded with the veneering of popular morality; but he is a gentleman of consistent religeous practice; he is an abominator of vice, a champion of virtue, an advocate of justice, and a ready defender of sound moral reform against the bitter attacks of wickedness and sin. Had the democracy made search amidst even the pulpit of our land she could not have found a man of whom it more correctly can be said "that should the spotless ermine of the judicial robe fall upon him, it will touch nothing less spotless than itself."—Centreville Observer.

The candidacy of James Alfred Pearce, Esq., for the chief judgeship of the second judicial circuit has truly been received without adverse criticism by the members of all politicial parties. Not that sentimentality and a socalled etiquette, claimed to be due to aspirants for the exalted position have exempted him from a proper investigation by the voters of the district and have smothered an honest expression as to his fitness or unfitness, but because, taken from whatever standpoint, the character of the man and the professional fitness of the lawyer disarms criticism. The splendid tribute of the Observer will find a ready and emphatic sanction by the great masses of voters in every county of the circuit.

FAR ROCKAWAY.

An Echo of the Sullen Roar of Ocean Waves and a Scent of the Salt Sea Foam, by Still Pond Wanderers.

Far Rockaway! methinks the ocean sighs
Its tend'rest serenade about thy shore,
Upon thy velvet sands is boisterous roar
Ne'er heard? Do green waves melodize
The summer long 'neath dreamy picture skies?
And inland, dost thou ever hold in store,
About thy lanes, and by the cottage door,
For so it seems to me, some quaint surprise?
And to thy bowers should wearied earthlings flee,
From morn to eve with joy they might be blest,
For when thy greening ways had lost a zest,
Their eyes could turn upon thy light-heart sea
Whose waves would lure all care from out each breast,
And life hour-long a dreamed enchantment be.

An ideal resort is Far Rockaway; a lovely, artistic nook which now forms the eastern extremity of Greater New York, and an hour's run from Long Island City. The railroad skirts, what might be called the "kitchen-gardens" of Brooklyn; but as soon as it reaches Jamacai Bay a newness strikes one—the salt air awakens and makes one alert to the impressions that are to follow. The bay alone is worth the trip. To right and left, as far as eye can reach, the waters are dotted over with tiny islands of reed which indicate their shallowness, and from a distance they look like lily-pads,—so flat and still they lie, while here and there are little houses on stilts with dozens of small boats about them for the pleasure of summer visitors.

Leaving the bay, it is a few minutes' run through Arverne and Edgemere to Far Rockaway. Far Rockaway! there is something alluring in the very name! One might really wish to rock away many years of one's life in the foamy waves that wash its smooth beach. To lovers of the picturesque it has the advantage over the resorts along the Jersey Coast, for besides the beach of velvety gray sand, the town itself and surrounding towns nestle beneath fine shade trees; lovely cottages gleam out through thick foliage, and from above well-kept blooming hedges; while the roads and paths are unsurpassed for driving and wheeling. Many beautiful residences are owned by wealthy New Yorkers. To the west, these cottages take the names of Wave Crest and Bayswater, to the east, Lawrence.

The resident population of Far Rockaway is not over fifteen hundred, but one may imagine the increase during the summer when there are known to be five hotels and a large number of boarding houses. In fact, most every house in summer has the latch string out to boarders. Cottages rent for from five hundred to a thousand dollars, just for the season.

The summer population is an unconventional and interesting one, composed mostly of northern people and quite a number of foreigners—persons seeking rest in ocean pleasures.

A heavy storm two years ago made quite a change in the beach; the wide, smooth sand bar, which was separated from the shore by a quiet sheet of water, was ruthlessly broken through by the furious sea. But to those who have not seen it before, it seems it must be an additional beauty. A bridge, a quarter of a mile long, has been built across the inlet to the sand-bar beyond, and upon this the ocean, on breezy days, rolls in long, lazy swells. The beach is smooth and hard, and quite safe within the ropes. Three life guards patrol it during bathing hours, ready with their catamarans to risk life for the too venturesome or disabled.

VISITORS.

MR. ISAAC HORNER, proprietor of the Burton House, Burton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state, was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I hav'nt sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered. My physician told me that nothing could be done for me, and my friends were fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr. Evans, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my feet and limbs were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst, but soon after I began using the Pain Balm, the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave, and now I consider that I am entirely cured. KLONDYKE COUNTRY.

Mr. Spencer Harris, of Kent, Graphically Describes the Perils and Hardships of Life in the Goldfields.

SHOOTING RAPIDS AND FALLS.

Mr. Spencer Harris, brother of Mr. Allen Harris, and well-known in Kent, has spent several years in the great Alaskan goldfields and is in the midst of the consuming fever which is spreading throughout the world. Thousands of persons are now enduring the hardships and privations of a trip to the great frozen Eldorado of the north where gold and eternal snows hold sway.

The following highly interesting account is from the pen of Mr. Harris, the Kent county gold-hunter:

In a letter written a short time before the great finds were made, which have spread the Klondyke fever over the country, he gave an interesting description of of the country in which he was located and of the difficulties of reaching the interior of Alaska. The letter is as follows:

"The first mail leaving here goes out in a few days, and I will take the opportunity to let you know of my safe arrival, after nearly four months of such hardships and dangers as I have never dreamed of. You who are surrounded at home by loved ones, all the comforts of civilization and those things that go to make our span of life enjoyable, cannot realized with what longing a fellow out here looks for some communication from those who are left behind. Each sentence of a letter from home is read and reread until the letter is learned by heart.

"The trip in here is one in which a man virtually carries his life in the palm of his hand. From the start at Dyea difficulties meet one on every side. In the climb over the stormy and snowy summit of the Chilkoot range and down over the Crater lake, which never thaws, you are forced to battle with blinding snowstorms, in which are icy particles that cut like glass, filling the trail so that you are in danger of losing your way, and are compelled to break a new trail for miles—a terrible undertaking when one is pulling a heavily loaded sled.

"As there are times when you cannot haul but 100 pounds many journeys in the same trail are necessary. You cannot stop except for a few minutes at a time. No matter how loudly nature calls for a respite you must push on, for so low is the thermometer that a rest of any length means a stiffening of the limbs, intense suffering, lethargy and death. Two young men, in company with Jimmy Jackson, an Indian, were lost here last season. The Indian barely pulled through. The two others lie somewhere under the eternal snow, never to be found until some great revolution of nature takes place or until the coming of the last great day of resurrection.

"After making the mountain trip comes the long and wearisome journey over the lake and down the Lewes and Yukon rivers, a distance of about 1,000 miles. The run on the rivers is fraught with danger from beginning to end. Miles upon miles of rapid running water filled with jagged rocks and sunken boulders must be traversed—then an awful, awe-inspiring canyon to shoot. The canyon is three-quarters of a mile long and through it the waters of Lewes and five lakes force their way. The three-quarters of a mile is made in two minutes and four seconds. Then you go on to the White Horse rapid, a passage of two miles, which is literally one mass of rocky, broken bottom, around which the water whirls and eddies until the entire surface is lashed into white foam.

"Here Clark, my companion, and myself struck and remained in the water holding our boat to prevent its capsizing for nearly two hours, never once conscious of the chill of its icy waters, so great was the mental and physical strain. A man might as well lose his life as to lose his supplies.

"At the end of these rapids you plunge over a perpendicular fall of six feet and then for thirty miles you have a smooth rapid current. The next important place of danger is Five Fingers, two hundred miles below. Here five perpendicular columns of basalt rise and extend across the entire stream, which at this place has narrowed to three-eights of a mile. The river here seems to have gone crazy—channels are everywhere and whirlpools that spin and roar until they can be heard for miles. There is but one passage through which a boat can shoot, and it is only thirty feet wide. The others are filled with sharp and dangerous rocks, and little would be left of man, boat or cargo should any one of them be taken. You must pick the right one at once and row hard for it—to be swept into one of the false places would require more than human power to extricate you. There is a drop here similar to the White Horse, but the run is short, and if you survive, you are soon through it Seventeen men were drowned and three frozen last season between the Summit and the Five Fingers. I have heard of only three this season.

"One curse of this country that cannot be exaggerated is that of the mosquitoes. No pen can exaggerate their number or their viciousness. Day and night they fill the air and their hum in the evening is like a breeze singing through the pines. Circle City is somewhat free from them, as it has been clared and partially drained, but the mines and trails to them are frightful. Many have turned back from prospecting on account of these pests and gone out of the country.

"There is big money in bringing goods in here in the Spring. One can realize from 100 to 150 per cent. On $35 worth of stuff I took in $148. Now that I know the trail and what to expect, I could make it easier and quicker. On another trip I should want to bring in at least five tons. Were I back in California I would endeavor to influence enough capital to make the venture. As it is, I have fair prospects here.

"The two companies that rule this country are the Alaska Commercial Company and the North American Trading and Transportation Company. Bacon here is worth 40 cents a pound, beans 12 cents, sugar 20 cents, butter $1, salt 10 cents, tobacco from $1.50 to $2, potatoes 15 cents per pound, flour $8 per hundred pounds. Add 40 cents per load to these for freighting and you have the prices at the mines. Whiskey is $20 per gallon, 50 cents per glass, and cigars are 50 cents apiece.

"I should hesitate a long time before advising a friend to come here. I would have to know him. A fellow to succeed here must be brave and willing, ready to meet anything and everything that comes up; cheerful and full of hope, bearing in mind that there is an end to all things. He must not allow regret to enter his mind or self-reproach to take possession of him, for if he does it will grow upon him until it cuts into his heart and kills all the manhood there is in him, making live a burden to himself and his companions. I saw a great deal of this on my way in and know whereof I speak.

"Callous, indeed, would he be who, when alone failed to recall those far away and to whom he consciously felt he must be a source of anxiety and solicitude. But these memories serve to keep alive the refining influences, which for the time are laid aside like some rare book, to be taken up again with tenfold appreciation.

"It has been very warm here and wet, the thermometer ranging some days in the nineties, yet two feet below me there is solid ice, which has never changed since these regions were claimed by the Ice King, who changed a country teeming with mastodons and luxuriant with tropical foliage into one of desolation and dreariness."

MADGE.

HE WAS NOT SCHOFIELD.

"Jacob" Schofield Answered the Description of "Sam" Schofield in Many Respects but was Released.

The man announced in last weeks issue as having been arrested in Philadelphia supposed to be Schofield, the assailant of Mrs. William Godwin, though strikingly like the man wanted in Kent for the crime, was not Samuel Schofield and was accordingly released. Wm. H. Lambert, Jr., clerk to the board of county commissioners, accompanied by Mr. H. Stockton Startt, went to Philadelphia on Friday in response to the telegram from the city authorities to identify the man held there. Mr. Startt knew Sam Schofield well and went for the purpose of identifying the prisoner.

Mr. Startt, in referring to the trip said in substance: "As soon as I saw the man I was confident that he was not Sam Schofield, the man wanted by the Kent county authorities. He was much taller and heavier than the brute who is supposed to have assaulted Mrs. Godwin. At the examination the prisoner was greatly frightened and shook like a leaf as I stated that Sam Schofield had a crooked finger on the left hand, a scar on the head, a voice like that of the prisoner and was the same color. This was all true and each and every point tallied exactly with the marks on the man before me, but it was Sam Schofield's third finger that was crooked, while it was the little finger on the left hand of the man under arrest, and while the scar was just above the temple of the man being examined the scar on Sam Schofield's head was on the back part. The man wore a number nine shoe, just the opposite from that of the man wanted, for he was noted for his small foot and wore a number six and ahalf. He was also 30 or 40 pounds heavier. When I stated that the man was not Sam Schofield, the man wanted in Kent, a look of relief flashed over the fellow's face and he said with much feeling; thank you, boss, thank you, and also thanked the officer when informad that he was released.

The arrest was made through a colored detective who knew of the Kent county crime. The man arrested was known to his companions as Jacob Schofield and claimed to hail originally from Snow Hill.

It was the similarity of name which brought about the arrest, and the coincidence of the several marks were considered strong circumstantial points against him.

Some excitement was created in Chestertown on Saturday night, when the report was given currency that the man was really Schofield, without the explanatory name of Jacob being given. It was at one time reported that Samuel Schofield was really in the Chestertown jail.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is atarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Order of Publication.

Richard Chase,
vs.
Frances Groves, Eugene Groves, Emily Price, Henry Price and Charles Thompson.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County, in equity.

NO. 1276 CHANCERY.

THE OBJECT of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Kent County of which George Green, late of Kent County, died, seized and possessed.

The bill states that George Green (colored) late of Kent County, Maryland, was in his lifetime indebted unto Richard Chase in the sum of $30 on his certain note dated Aug. 20, 1886, and that the said George Green left but little personal estate, not sufficient to pay the costs of administering upon the same, and no one has ever taken out letters of administration on his said personal estate, and there is no way by which his debts can be paid unless his real estate be sold for this purpose.

The bill further states that the said George Green being indebted as aforesaid and also unto divers other persons, and having real estate in Kent county, Maryland, departed this life in the year 1877 intestate, leaving no widow and no children surviving him, but leaving the following half brothers and sisters, namely: Frances Groves, whose husband's name is Eugene Groves, and Emily Price, whose husband's name is Henry Price, and each of these live in Queen Anne County, Maryland. And a half brother, Charles Thompson, who resides in Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania.

The bill further states that in order for the claims against the said George Green to be paid it is necessary for the real estate, which consists of a house and lot of land near Millington, in Kent county deeded to the said George Green by James Ricketts, be sold so that the creditors of the said George Green, may be paid.

To the end therefore, that the real estate mentioned aforesaid or so much as may be necessary for the purpose may be sold for the payment of his debts.

That the plaintiff may have such other and further relief as his case may require.

It is thereupon, this 2nd day of August, 1897, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County, as a Court of Equity that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper printed and published in said Kent county, once a week for four successive weeks, before the 6th day of September, next, give notice to the said absent defendant, Charles Thompson of the object and substance of this bill and warning him to appear in the court in person or by solicitor on or before the 20th day of September next, to show cause, if any may be had, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Mortgagee's Sale

—OF A VERY—

Desirable Farm

AT EDESVILLE, KENT CO., MD.

BY VIRTUE of a power of sale contained in a mortgage from George T. Cosden and Emma A. Cosden, his wife, to Henry C. Kennard and Catherine E. Kennard, dated December 10th, 1886, and duly recorded among the Land Records for Kent County, in Liber S. B. No. 7 folios 402, etc., and of an assignment by the said Henry C. Kennard of a portion of said mortgage debt to Mary E. B. Mallalieu, which assignment is duly recorded in Liber S. G. F. No. 4, folio 504, the undersigned, as attorney named in said mortgage, will offer at Public Sale to the highest bidder, at the Court House door, in Chestertown, on

TUESDAY, AUGUST 17th, 1897,

AT ONE O'CLOCK P. M.,

THE FARM

KNOWN AS THE

Edes Farm or Geo. Cosden Farm

CONTAINING

111 ACRES

3 Roods and 3 Perches of Land,

MORE OR LESS.

This land is of fine quality and produces large crops of grain and grass, and is well adapted for truck. It immediately adjoins the thrifty village of Edesville, on the road leading to Pine Neck, and also adjoins the lands of the late Sarah F. Page, and that portion of the tract fronting on the public road is all eligible for Building Lots

The location of this farm makes it very desirable, as it is convenient to stores at Edesville, within one-half mile of public school, and within two miles from Rock Hall landing, where there is a daily steamer the greater part of the year to and from Baltimore.

The improvements consist of a substantial and commodious comparatively new, and ample for a good family, and the Outbuildings are also ample for the farm.

Frame Dwelling,

TERMS OF SALE:

The terms of sale will be as follows: $1000 cash on the day of sale or in 30 days thereafter, at the option of the undersigned, and the residue in three equal installments in one, two and three years from the day of sale, with interest from the day of sale, the credit payments to be secured by the purchaser's bond with security to be approved by the undersigned. The purchaser will be entitled to the landlord's share of the rent except the wheat, which has been cut, and will be liable for the taxes on said farm for 1898. Possession to be given January 1st, 1898, with privilege of seeding wheat this fall.

JAMES A. PEARCE,
Attorney named in the Mortgage.
