Oct. 6 "1919. (497)

Am getting tired of this peacetime war fare. It is harder than being under shell fire. So many little things to look out for and so little time to do things. We are getting back to the old peace time methods of discipline and everything else, and it is much different from fighting an enemy. We are getting along fine though and are showing the office bullies how a real battery can do things. Bff.