History of the Spanish War
By Dr. ALBERT SHAW,
Editor of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS,
AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.
Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.
Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.
See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.
This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,
By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

How to obtain the handsome edition by a payment of only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

The three beautifully bound large octavo volumes and a year's subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS can be obtained by any of the readers of this paper by joining the Review of Reviews Club and paying one dollar. The volumes will be sent as soon as ready to those who remit the sum, and the purchase will be completed by the payment of one dollar per month for twelve months. The first volume will be ready early in December. The subscription to the magazine which goes with the offer can be dated from any month.

FARMERS AND LAND OWNERS
Why not Look to Your Interest

In the Improvement of your lands, while grain is a good price and the indications have an upward tendency. Does it pay to let your land sour and degenerate for want of a stimulant? We answer no. The question arises how are we to get the best results from our crops and at the same time raise the standard of our land? We answer by the use of lime. Well, what Lime do you think will give the best results? We think

The Celebrated Kerr's Wrightsville Lime,

which has stood the test for many years by our oldest and most prosperous land owners. We can furnish you with other limes as you may wish, all of which will be delivered to any station on the Balto. & Del. Bay R. R. at short notice on reasonable terms. Last but not least is the well known

Standard Lime and Stone Company's Lime,

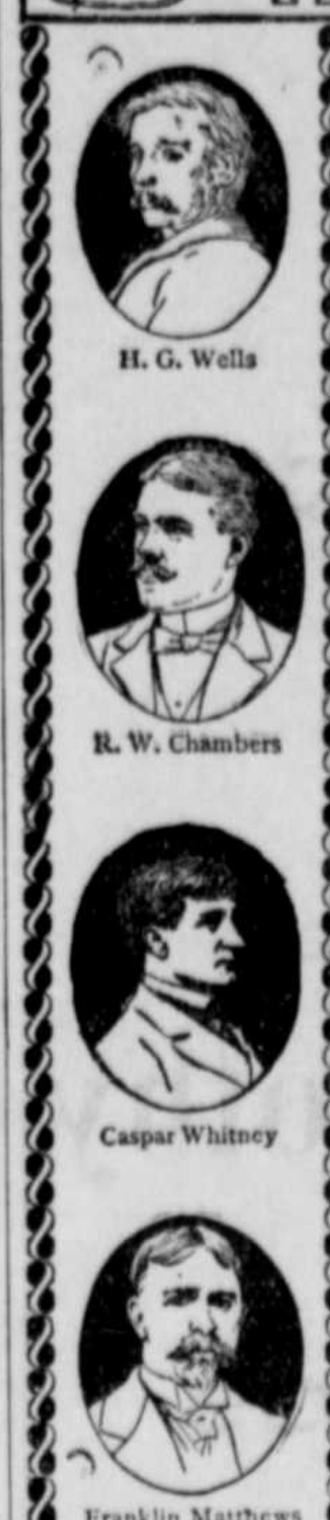

which has been the greatest selling Lime on the market; this Lime runs 97 per cent. of pure Carbonate of Lime. We can deliver this Lime by water to any point on the Chesapeake Bay or tributaries on reasonable notice. We would be pleased to have you call on or write us before placing your orders.

COAL AND WOOD.

Building and White Wash Lime, Cements, Baled Hay, Roofing Felt and Terra Cotta Piping, all of which will be sold at city price. Hoping you may favor us with your orders and we will promise to try and please you. Thanking you for past favors, I remain, yours for business,

Good Blood!

Your heart beats over one hundred thousand times each day. One hundred thousand supplies of good or bad blood to your brain. Which is it?

If bad, impure blood, then your brain aches. You are troubled with drowsiness yet cannot sleep. You are as tired in the morning as at night. You have no nerve power. Your food does you but little good.

Stimulants, tonics, headache powders, cannot cure you; but will. It makes the liver, kidneys, skin and bowels perform their proper work. It removes all impurities from the blood. And it makes the blood rich in its life-giving properties.

To Hasten Recovery.
You will be more rapidly cured if you will take a laxative dose of Ayer's pills each night. They arouse the sluggish liver and thus cure biliousness.

Write to our Doctors.
We have the exclusive services of some of the most eminent physicians in the United States. Write freely all the particulars in your case.

HORN HALL CLUB.

One of the Most Interesting Social Organizations Ever in Kent County.

THE CLUB SONG.

The most quaint and picturesque club house in Maryland, and possibly in any other State, stands about two and a half miles from Chestertown, on the left side of the cross roads leading from the Chestertown-Hanesville road to Flatland's school house, on the Tolchester road. It's an unpretentious looking story and a half house having its plain weather boarding heavily encrusted with layers of ordinary whitewash. Near it is a branch whose forests of magnolia blooms in summer freighted the early summer air with fragrance, while during the chilly winter its sparkling waters, half congealed, sent a song which blended with the joyous revelries of the members of the Hall Horn Club. The unpretentious little home of Richard Snowden Thomas sat amid scenes peculiarly inspiring to the restful, informal life of its owner and his friends.

With enough of this world's goods to preclude the necessity of aggressive enterprise, the owner of the little castle dispensed a royal hospitality, and lived an ideal life of ease and comfort. An old bachelor family cares were unknown. His cellar was always stocked with well-filled jugs and demijohns of old Bourbon whiskey, while his well-stocked pantry was presided over by old Aunt Mariah, a veritable wizzard of good cooking. The master of Horn Hall and president of the club, when a young man swore off from drink, and though he lived to be eighty-five years of age remained true to his pledge. He was born on January 11th, 1787, and died in April of 1871.

Possessing a keen sense of humor, he found in the society of young men that conviviality and social intercourse which had become a necessity to his very being, and the Horn Hall Club was the result of this social demand. The doors of the club were always open and an air of come-when-you-please and go-as-you-please pervaded every nook and corner of the place. An old-time rockaway carriage having a monster horn painted on the back curtain with the words "Horn Hall Club," ran constantly between the club and Chestertown. This vehicle was at the disposal of the members at any and all times.

Whenever a new member was to be sworn in he took the oath of allegiance to the master of the hall and the club, on a beautiful horn. This horn is now owned by Mr. J. Evan Thomas, of Chestertown. It is three inches in diameter at the large end, nineteen inches long and a most beautiful brown in color. It looks like polished ivory and is handsomely carved. As to the history of the old horn no one knows. Before his death Mr. Thomas presented the horn to George N. Hines, of Kent, it then passed to Mrs. Julia Whaland and finally Mrs. Ella Kelley got it and gave it in 1897 to its present owner, Mr. J. Evan Thomas. It was originally twenty-eight inches in length.

Many of the most prominent names in Kent county are associated with the revels at the Horn Hall Club. On its roster of members were: George N. Hines, William Harris, William B. Wilmer, E. A. Moore, R. A. Stam, George W. Spencer, Jere Nicols, George W. T. Perkins, Richard Hynson, W. N. E. Wickes and many others.

Here was the centre of the social life in Kent; here was collected wit, humor, eloquence and wealth.

This is the Horn Hall Club song, composed by Mr. Thomas, and sung on all State occasions by the members:

Come each jovial fellow,
Who loves to get mellow,
Attend unto me and sit easy.
One jorum in quiet
We quickly will try it,
Dull thinking will make a man crazy.
For here I am king,
We can drink, laugh and sing,
Let no one appear as a stranger.
But show me the ass
Who refuses his glass,
And I will order him hay in the manger.

By plowing and sowing,
By reaping and mowing,
Kind nature supplies me with plenty.
I've a cellar well-stored,
A plentiful board,
And my cupboard affords every dainty.
I've all things in season,
Both woodcock and phaesant,
Besides I'm a squire of decorum.
At my cabin's far end,
I've a bed for a friend,
A clean fireside and my jorum.

Were it not for this seeding,
You'd have but poor feeding,
You'd surely be starving without me.
I'm always content,
When I've paid all my rent,
And happy when friends are about me.
Draw near to the table,
I'm thriving and able,
Let's not have a word of complaining.
The jingling of glasses,
All music surpasses,
I love to see bottles a draining.

Let the mighty and great,
Loll in splendor and state,
I envy them not I declare it.
I eat my own ham,
My chickens and lamb,
I shear my own fleece and I wear it.
I've birds and I've bowers,
I've fields and I've flowers.
The lark is my daily alarmer.
So ye jolly boys now,
Who delight in the plow,
Drink long life and success to the farmer.

According to a celebrated anatomist there are upwards of 5,000,000 little glands in the human stomach. These glands pour out the digestive juices which dissolve or digest the food. Indigestion is want of juice, weakness of glands, need of help to restore the health of these organs. The best and the most natural help is that given by Shaker Digestive Cordial. Natural, because it supplies the materials needed by the glands to prepare the digestive juices. Because it strengthens and invigorates the glands and the stomach, until they are able to do their work alone. Shaker Digestive Cordial cures indigestion certainly and permanently. It does so by natural means, and therein lies the secret of its wonderful and unvaried success.

At druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

THE BANDIT BAND.

A Story of Feudal Times Written in 1855.

In the early annals of Spain, Count Julien, a rich and powerful Gothic noble, having been injured by Roderick the King, to avenge himself, invited the Moors to invade Spain. Accordingly large numbers came over and were successful in subduing the country. The fate of King Roderick was never known. Some of the Goths believed he would one day return and lead them again to battle against the hated Moors, and would therefore not submit to the conquerors. Among these was a famous "Bandit Band" who held their court in a strong, old castle, surrounded by rocks, on an island.

One day they left their stronghold to go, as was their wont, on a predatory excursion against the Moors, leaving at home only their wives and children. The castle was so concealed among the rocks and the access to it so difficult, the bandits did not suppose strangers would discover it, therefore left no men to protect their families. During their absence a petty Moorish Chief, with his followers, accidentally discovering the path, pursued it to the castle. Soon effecting an entrance, the savage Moors murdered the Gothic women and children and comfortably ensconced themselves.

One boy, however, escaped the massacre of his people and hastened towards the returning bandits, whom he apprised of the capture of their island home. They had been scattered, but were now congregating near their home. As it was unsafe to appear openly in large numbers, they waited for the shades of night to cover their place of rendezvous. They then proceeded swiftly to their castle to punish the invaders, arriving while the Moors were feasting, they mercilessly attacked and slew them amid their Bacchanalian revelry. A furious tempest raging without added horror to the scene.

'Tis summer eve, the twilight grey
Is deep'ning o'er the beauteous land,
Night's dusky veil will soon conceal
The meeting of the "Bandit Band."

In angry tone, thus speaks the chief—
We've work to-night, my comrades brave,
Yon rock-bound isle, yon sea-girt home
This night must be again our own.

We'll have revenge on him who holds
His court to-night, where mine should be.
Care not for laws, which cowards bind,
These ne'er control a warrior's mind.

Shall we submit, like abject slaves?
To cruel despots, brutal knaves?
Gird on your swords, come on ye brave,
Revenge is sweet, revenge we'll have.

PART II.

In yon grey castle, reared on high,
Mid jutting crags, with ocean nigh
Whose sullen surges beat and roar
Against the wild and rocky shore.

The bandit band their home had made,
And wives and children there had stayed,
While they went forth to meet the foe
On mountain height or valley low.

But ne'er again shall sires greet
Those infant forms they loved to meet,
For ne'er again shall sires bold
Behold those forms, e'er they be cold.

For brutal hearts and deadly hands
Did cast their corses on the sands,
Now cold and still those loved ones lay
Beneath the waters of the bay.

When o'er the earth night's sable pall
Fast hides grey tower and mouldering wall,
Then marshalled all, the bandit band
Sternly await their chief's command.

The sky is now with clouds o'er cast,
Which darker grow before the blast;
The thunder rumbles deep and loud,
Red lightning gleams on every cloud.

PART III.

In yon old hall, a Chieftain Moor
(A savage, brutal, untaught boor)
Now holds his court, and sounds of mirth
In drunken revelry have birth.

The coarse rude jest, the hoarse loud laugh
Of men, excited by the wine they quaff,
Half drown the tempest's awful voice
Whose wildest furies now rejoice.

But hark! above the din we hear
A voice so loud, so shrill and clear
The notes, as borne along the gale
Make e'en the Moorish Chieftain quail.

Around their chief, with quivering frame
The revelers crowd, by fear made sane:
With firm, clenched swords, amid the din
The dreaded bandit band rush in.

The stalwart chieftain shouts aloud,
"T' avenge our cruel wrongs we've vowed
Our murdered wives and children call,
Let none escape, but slaughter all.

Don Pedro, Josef, Diego,
Fernando, Carlos, Roberto,
Strike fierce and deep, my comrades brave,
Revenge is sweet, revenge we'll have."

Despair, the unarmed Moor makes bold,
He grasps the knife with desperate hold,
And grapples fierce with deadly foes
Whose hearts for vengeance only glows.

The festal board is overturned,
By men whose souls for conflict burn'd;
Wild shrieks from dying wretches rise,
To spare—the bandit fierce denies.

Their corses strew the cold stone floor,
With streams of blood and clots of gore;
The wine and blood together flow,
The blood of friends with fiercest foe.

The howling tempest's awful voice,
Is drowned in passions harsher noise;
But soon deep gloom and silence reign,
Their foes, the "bandit band" have slain.

THE OPEN COURT.

One of the Most Readable of Magazines.

The Open Court, a monthly magazine devoted to the "Science of Religion, the Religion of Science and extension of the Religious Parliament Idea" is one of the most thoroughly readable publications which comes to the literary reviewing desk. Its sketches of the great thinkers, philosophers and scientists stand at the forefront for brilliancy of treatment and thoroughness of research, while the contributors are writers whose English is as pure and sparkling as the subjects treated are interesting.

The literary prospectus of the Open Court for the present year will be wider in its range and, if possible, superior in general literary and scientific quality to any which the publishers have ever before offered.

In addition to the attractions already referred to, the monthly numbers are handsomely illustrated with half-tone portraits which are in themselve worth the cost of subscription to this excellent publication. The Open Court is published by The Open Court Publishing Co., 324 Dearborn street, Chicago. Single copies 10 cents, annually, $1.00

Dangers of the Grip

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for la grippe we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It [is] pleasant and safe to take. For sale by [...] A. Toulson, druggist.

MOTHER-IN-LAW TO HER MOTHER

And a Lot of Other Mixed up Relationships.

PRESCOTT, Mich., Jan. 21.—This town is all worked up over a series of recent marriages. Everybody who can handle a pencil is trying to figure out the present and possible future relationship of the interested parties.

The famous pigs in clover puzzle is not a circumstance in comparison with it. Already several persons have come down with nervous prostration, and others are threatened. The authorities are seriously contemplating the prohibition of further mental strain by process of law. This is how it is;

John A. Cameron, aged 89, married Miss Anna B. Van Doren, who is 26 years old. For the past 10 years the young woman had been employed in a dry goods store at Oscoda, six of them as chief bookkeeper and cashier. So far, the use of a pencil is not required, but more remains to be told.

A short time ago, Mrs. George Van Doren, aged 46, mother of the bride in the present instance, was married to Hugh C. Cameron, 58 years old, son of the aged bridegroom, who now marries her daughter. Here is where the mathematical problem comes in.

To begin with, Mrs. John A. Cameron is her mother's mother-in-law. Hugh C. Cameron is his father's father. John A. Cameron is his mother-in-laws's father-in-law. Mrs. John A. Cameron is her father-in-law's mother-in-law. Mrs. Hugh C. Cameron is her daughter's daughter-in-law, and John A. Cameron is his son's son-in-law. Mrs. Hugh C. Cameron is her son-in-law's daughter-in-law.

Thus Mrs. John Cameron becomes the mother of her own mother, and Hugh Cameron his father's father.

Should John A. Cameron and wife have a son he would be step-brother to his grandmother. Hugh C. Cameron, his step-brother, would also be his grandfather. A son born to Hugh C. Cameron and wife would be a step-brother to his grandmother.

WOMEN AS CRIMINALS.

Axioms Formulated by a Chief of Detectives.

"Ben" Bohen, a veteran San Francisco detective captain, gives his views of women as criminals in these philosophic axioms:

Women as criminals are very smart, but they cannot keep crime hidden so well as a man.

A woman is more desperate in love affairs than in anything else. Men get desperate about money matters.

If a woman of the criminal type loves a man, she will, as a rule, do almost anything to win him.

It is difficult to convict women of murder; the jurors are men, and they sympathize.

Men don't want to have women hanged, but a jury of women might go to the other extreme.

Women don't like women as men like men.

A woman has no sympathy with another woman who has done wrong, but often a man has sympathy for a wrong-doing fellow and will help him out.

If a man don't like a man he wants to have the other know it. It is just the reverse between two women.

A half-way decent woman will do anything to hide a criminal who is her lover.

Get a woman in a tight place and she will tell about a crime quicker than a man would.

When a woman is led to believe that a man has given her up she is apt to tell about his crimes.

Men kill themselves when they are broke; women don't. The women can stand it better and are more used to it.

Most of the suicides of women are on account of desertion.

When a man is deserted he gets another girl and begins life over.—San Francisco Examiner.

What is Good.

"What is the real good?"
I asked in musing mood.
"Order," said the law court;
"Knowledge," said the school;
"Truth," said the wise man;
"Pleasure," said the fool;
"Love," said the maiden;
"Beauty," said the page;
"Freedom," said the dreamer;
"Home," said the sage;
"Fame," said the soldier;
"Equty," the seer.
Spake my heart full sadly—
"The answer is not here."
Then within my bossom
Softly this I heard:
"Each heart holds the secret;
Kindness is the word."

Unmasked by Science.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The lady professor suddenly reached forward and deftly picked a long, light hair from her husband's coat.

"Wretch," she cried, "whose is this?"

"One of your own," he answered stoutly.

"We will see," she haughtily observed, and speedily vanished through a door labelled "Laboratory." For an hour or more the sound of clinking tubes and glasses was faintly heard through the heavy partition.

Then the door suddenly opened and the lady professor stood on the threshold.

Her face was blazing.

"Villian," she cried, "it was bleached!"

But he had gone.

A Small Boy's Problem.

I wonder how I'd like it,
And I wonder who I'd be,
Supposing I was somebody else,
And somebody else was me!
I wonder, I just wonder,
What boy I'd like to be—
Supposing I didn't like him
When I found that he was me!

Beats the Klondike.

Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex., has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages; and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at M. A. Toulson's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.
