To Whom it May Concern:

It is with great pleasure that I say a word relative to the character and standing of the bearer of this letter, Miss Scottie Byrer.

She is worthy of the confidence and esteem of all with whom she may come in contact, and is hereby recommended to them.

Her moral standing in the community where she lived is all that could be desired, no one being able to say ought against her.

She is an acceptable and devoted member of Trinity M. E. Church South in this city, and has the respect and good will of those who are associated with her therein. I, therefore, cheerfully give her a letter of recommendation, trusting that
