that no bid was made. I regret he should have said anything to divert you from your purpose of bidding; it was contrary to both the letter and spirit of my instructions. I think you ought to become the purchaser and that if it went for any thing under $400 you could make yourself safe