had then been overpaid by Mr $558 = and that sum declared to be due me by the Orphans Court, and that all the money collected did not yet amount to that sum, and further that I had agreed to let a part of that sum go to you, which was due to me in final liquidation of what I had agreed to give you from the Commissions. Under these circumstances and with the original Accts open to you at the Orphans Court (for I have only the Copies) was not reminded of that Circumstance except by you thro' Mr Brown,) my Conduct as Executor and my word as a man have been assailed indirectly without your giving the least explanation, and but for the clear headedness of Mr Brown and his candour I proved I fear he still in the dilemma in which I was placed by Frederick's Complaint.

How was it possible for me to suppose that with you as my paid and bound Agent, interested as deeply as myself in the settlement of the Estate, and with Albert my brother and special Agent for this very business, that matters could become so entangled as to permit the clear statement in my 1st Ch. Account to be overlooked, and I called to account for monies, ~~[illegible]~~ which were my own, but which I had chosen to transfer to you for your supposed attention to my interests, and the remainder without exception in the hands of
