SPECIAL TO TRANSCRIPT.

TRANSCRIPT:—Nominees—Smith, Hering, Rayner. Chairman of convention, L. V. Baughman. No change in State Central Committee.

DIXON.

MR. SMITH HAD A WALKOVER in Baltimore, and carried seventeen wards.

"GUNPOWDER GOSPEL" is the appropriate name given by Mr. Bryan to Mr. McKinley's slaughter policy in the Philippines.

SMITH FOR GOVERNOR, Hering for Comptroller and Rayner for Attorney-general, is an aggregation of strength and popularity which no ticket the republicans can place in the field can beat. It is invincible.

THE APPEARANCE of yellow fever in the Soldiers' Home, Hampton, Virginia, has introduced a startling condition of affairs. A coal famine is already on, food is scarce and the infested town and towns adjacent are being almost depopulated by fright. The town is rigidly quarantined, and the situation is serious.

A NUMBER of Kent countians were seen in the crowd of prominent democratic politicians at the Carrollton Hotel on Tuesday night and yesterday. M. deK. Smith was one of the early arrivals on Tuesday. Among others from Kent were: Richard D. Hynson, W. B. Usilton, James T. Dixon, William W. Beck, Thomas Maslin, Josiah Massey, Wm. E. Keyser, Judge Joseph A. Wickes, J. Fletcher Wilson, Jonn Medders, Tilghman Shafer, Hope H. Barroll, Harrison W. Vickers, "Doc" William Cooper and others.

HERE IS A "winning ticket" as outlined by a prominent republican leader on Monday:

For the Senate—James H. Baker.
House of Delegates—Wilbur Eliason, F. H. Harper.
Treasurer—Unsettled.
Sheriff—J. C. Davis.
Commissioners—First district, Louis Atwell; second, Daniel Hill; fourth, James W. Lambert.
States Attorney—John D. Urie.

THE BALTIMORE AMERICAN declares the primary campaign in Baltimore city to have been "idylic." "It has been," says this republican authority, "free from coarseness, brutality and offensive personalities. So friendly was Mr. Warfield in the contest that he went so far as to invite Colonel Smith to appear with him at public gatherings—an invitation which Colonel Smith was forced to decline, as he had already advertised his meetings. Both in their speeches have paid compliments to each other, and each has said that he would work for his successful rival."

THE REPUBLICAN State Central Committee has called for the opening of the campaign. A would-be candidate several days ago applied at the High street headquarters for permission to become a candidate, and the very pertinent question was put: "Have you the dough? You know politics are like religion, it takes money to run 'em." The applicant for political promotion left in disgust, muttering to himself: "I suppose it is only the man with the 'barrel' who is elligible to a place on this year's ticket." And it is stated that he sized up the situation with considerable accuracy.

WHILE GOVERNOR LOWNDES has been loudley praised in some quarters for his refusal to extend executive clemency in the case of the four colored men who were executed in Baltimore on Friday, he is being vigorously condemned by others. A gentleman from Baltimore said on Monday that many colored voters in the city considered that life imprisonment would have fulfilled every demand of the law; that many believe that the Governor was "playing to the galleries," as it were, in his obstinacy in refusing to interfere, and that Friday's execution will mean the loss of many votes to the Lowndes people this fall.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

OUR INDUSTRAL EDITION.

Every man knows a town which has a future is the one which has business energy back of it. Natural advantages, of course, help, and their assistance is not to be despised, but the most potent factor in promoting the success of a town is the energy of its people.

A place may be surrounded by the richest resources, but if its people hav'nt enterprise enough to properly utilize their advantages, the town will never succeed. But a people with energy enough and enterprise enough can build a successful city in the desert and draw the wealth of other sections into their own coffers.

It is not so much the character of the town's natural advantages which tells, but the character of its citizens. Chestertown has the energy and the enterprise, and if properly directed, can make Kent's beautiful metropolis the metropolis of the Eastern Shore. The TRANSCRIPT's Industral Edition is a step in the right direction, and should be encouraged by every citizen of the county.

IN ADDITION to naming candidates for Governor, Comptroller and Attorney General yesterday, the chairman of the Democratic State convention announced the members of the State Central Committee for the city of Baltimore and the counties. The committee for Kent is: Richard D. Hynson, chairman; William E. Keyser and Tilghman Shafer.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES have been called for Saturday, August ninteenth, between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock P. M., except in the 5th district, where the hours will be from 3 to 8 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of selecting five delegates from each district to meet in county convention, at Chestertown, on Monday, August 21st, 1899, at 12 o'clock, noon. Said convention is for the purpose of nominating a full county ticket. Also to select three delegates and three alternates to represent Kent county in the State Convention to be held in Baltimore city at a date to be hereafter named by the Executive Committee of the State Central Committee.

The County Convention will also select three members of the State Central Committee for Kent county.

In any district where more than one set of delegates are to be voted for, the State Central Committee will appoint three judges and two clerks, one judge and one clerk for eace of two sets of delegates to be named by such delegates to the committee, in writing, three days before the primaries, the third judge to be named by the committee.

THE DAILY PRESS comes freighted in each issue with tales of the most revolting outrages by colored brutes upon defenseless girls and women. These crimes are not confined exclusively to white women or girls, but colored girls as well, are victims of the atrocities of brutes in human form. Within the shadow of the national capital the crime of rape has taken place in its most harrowing detail. The white people of the south, in the face of the total disregard to decency and truth with which the condition of affairs in the south is being treated, are not in a mood to calmly submit to the elevation of the negro office-holder. President McKinley, not satisfied with the needless slaughter in the Philippines, not content with the calamitous sequel to his vicious appointment of a negro postmaster at Lake City, now insists on a further aggravation of the deplorable condition of affairs in the south by a similar appointment at Florence, South Carolina. The status of the colored citizen of the north is radically different from that of the colored man at the south; the northern colored citizen is, as a rule, educated and representative of an entirely different class from that at the south; the northern citizen has less reason to object to the enlarged social and official recognition of the colored man, than have the white population of the south, consequently the promotion of the colored man as a reward for his part in electing republicans to office, if it must be paid, let it be done where the results will be less serious to the colored race as well as to the peace and good order of the community. The old fire of the southern gentleman still burns and has served notice on the office-mongers at Washington that there is a point past which patience ceases to be a virtue. The attitude of the McKinley administration toward the south has entirely discounted the President's swaggering vote-bidding trip and blatant speech-making during his southern tour.

SOME PEACH SUGGESTIONS.

Conditions to be Observed by Fruit Growers to Make Peach Culture More Successful.

Mr. H. P. Gould, the "bug man" of the scientific party engaged in investigating soil and other conditions in the Kent county peach belt, has given the TRANSCRIPT the following short summary relative to peach culture, and some of the conditions imposed upon the farmer to secure successful fruit cropping. Mr. Gould said:

"This is decidedly an 'off year' with peaches for the most of the Maryland growers, as well as for the growers of other sections, yet a few favorably situated orchards are producing a partial crop, and if carefully marketed, the fruit will doubtless bring good prices. Already some of the earlier sorts have been shipped.

"When peaches are no more plentiful than they are this season, the tendency is to send to market everything that comes from the tree which can be called a peach regardless of its condition, and this tendency is not entirely confined to years of scarcity. The shipper should keep in mind the fact that it is the poorest fruit in the basket which establishes the grade and sets the price. No grower should expect a high price for his product, whether it be peaches or some other kind of fruit, unless it is carefully graded and sorted. A decayed peach on the top of a basket casts a reproach on the entire contents.

"The number of orchards which have been taken up during the past few years on account of their being unprofitable, is surprisingly large. The unprofitableness is due to a variety of causes. Perhaps late spring frosts—frosts which come while the trees are in bloom, render a crop more uncertain than any other one cause. And in years past, when peach-planting became almost a fad, thousands of trees were set in locations which were subject to these late frosts. Orchards in close proximity to large bodies of water or on high elevations are less liable to suffer injury from this cause than if otherwise located.

"A second cause of failure, hardly less potent than the first, is neglect of orchards. Many orchards are allowed to grow up almost wild; are uncultivated, unfertilized and unpruned; and even then the grower often complains because peach-growing "has had it's day." In other words, the unadaptability of the man himself, asserts itself, and a worthless orchard is the result.

"The bugs and fungi are also potent factors in reducing the profits. The borers reign supreme in many orchards and tree after tree turns yellow and finally dies because the owner neglected to spend a little time each season in removing these pests. The curculio is not so easily controlled as the borer, but doubtless this pest can be subdued in a manner similar to that resorted to by the plum-growers, namely, jarring the tree in the early part of the day.

"The fruit-rot is often very serious and, unlike most of the plant and fruit diseases, it does not yield satisfactorily to Bordeaux mixture. The decayed fruit is covered with the spores, which propagate the disease, so if the decaying fruit is collected and burned the trouble will doubtless be lessened enough to pay for the extra care taken. And since this disease develops most rapidly in moisture and during damp, humid weather, the tops of the trees should be kept sufficiently open by pruning out the limbs to allow the moisture on leaves and fruit to dry out quickly. In this way the danger may be still further reduced.

"Probably more trees have been killed by "yellows" than by any other one cause. But as it is positively known that a tree so affected is doomed, there should be no delay in taking heroic measures as soon as the first signs are discovered. If a "yellows tree" is rooted up and burned as soon as the trouble is detected, the spread of the disease can be very largely controlled, but to neglect such trees is simply to invite destruction to the orchard.

"To a large degree, a profitable crop of peaches represents an accumulation of detail on the part of the grower, but if an orchard is favorably located with reference to the frosts and severe freezes, and the owner is willing to sufficiently regard these matters of careful detail, annual crops of peaches are not so uncertain as many are inclined to believe them to be.

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering—Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty R. I. For sale by M. A. Toulson, Druggist.
