except to say I have not intentionally treated you with any disrespect, and that I shall not be deterred by your threat from doing precisely what I think right.

I wish to treat you as I would any other business man with whom I desire to retain the most friendly and Cordial relations and in this spirit I have to request you at yr earliest convenience to inform me if you hold any note, obligation, direct or indirect, or order of mine, other than the $28 on the timber and which you agreed to take as so much money.

In the intercourse heretofore existing between us in the settlement of this Estate, it is quite possible something may have been left in your hands which I did not at the time take a note of, but is necessary to the final statement of my affairs in reference to the Estate.

I propose as soon as I get yr acknowledgment and can get a settlement with Albert to make out a final statement, and then represent to the Orphans Court the present Condition of the Estate, detail to them the proposition made by me and rejected by you, and ask a final discharge from all further responsibility in the matter.

Yours very truly yr