LOCAL MATTERS.

Who Caught "Dick" Robinson?—The notorious "Dick" Robinson, who escaped from the late officer Amos B. Kelley, was captured by Deputy Sheriff Gill, assisted by Officer Cooper, on Tuesday night, in Morgnec. Two bench warrants and a writ from a justice has been against Robinson since last fall. Robinson believes in the efficacy of the "conjuring root," and thought that he was never to be caught.

Not Dr. Alfred Stille.—The announcement in Saturday's papers of the death of Dr. Charles J. Stille, at Atlantic City, caused some to think that a mistake had been made in the name and that the Dr. Stille referred to was the husband of Mrs. Alfred Stille, nee Miss Katharine Blackiston. The many friends of Mrs. Alfred Stille will be glad to learn that Dr. Alfred Stille is enjoying good health. It was his brother who died.

Lieut. Morris K. Barroll.—First Lieut. Morris K. Barroll is in command of the now famous Utah Artillery. The fighters from Utah have won immortal honors by their conspicious bravery along the fighting line in the Philippines, and this is no slight compliment to the dashing young officer from Kent, whose splendid work at Iloilo, where he was wounded in the arm, and later on the island of Luzon, has called forth the warmest praise from Gen. Miller and other superior officers.

Mr. Leary Paralyzed.—It will be learned with regret that Mr. George E. Leary, of Grey's Inn, was stricken with partial paralysis on Wednesday night of last week. Mr. Leary had been reading until ten o'clock at night without making any complaint of feeling in any way unwell. When he arose to go upstairs to bed, he took the lamp, as was his custom, but Mrs. Leary noticed that he walked unsteadily. He then asked her to take the light and went to his room, and upon reaching his bed fell helpless across it. The left leg and arm are affected. Mr. Leary is of the extensive firm of Geo. E. Leary & Son, and is one of the most widely-known business men in the county.

† Mr. Alexander Erskine, Jr., and a representative of the TRANSCRIPT, enjoyed a day's fishing on the Betterton fishing grounds on Thursday. Some fine fish were caught. Mr. Howard Turner was unable to join the party and in consequence, an eel fishing match between Messrs. Erskine and Turner was postponed. Capt. W. A. Crew had the party in charge.

CHURCH NOTES.

The Denton Journal says: "Notwithstanding the threatening weather, it is estimated that at least 3,000 persons visited the camp ground near Sudlersville Sunday. The preachers of the day were Rev. Mr. Sidell, of Templeville; Rev. Mr. Sunfield, of Chestertown, and Dr. Waddell, of Millington. The sermons were excellent and were listened to by large and appreciative audiences. Miss Anna Lambert, organist of the Chestertown M. E. Church, has charge of the singing and makes a most able leader. The extra music Sunday consisted of a solo by Miss May Fallowfield, of Chestertown; a duet by Miss Lambert and Mr. Weist, of Philadelphia, and a quartette by Miss Fallowfield and Messrs. Weist, Paynter and Chance. A large choir composed of some fine voices assists at each service. The quartet of the M. P. Church, Chestertown, will be present tomorrow."

The Mite Society of Grace Presbyterian Church, Kennedyville, held its last meeting at the home of Mr. H. L. Davies. The exercises were interesting, and consisted of Scripture reading, prayer, songs, recitations by George Medders and Bessie Wilson; an essay by Mr. Davies and selections by the graphophone. Ice cream and cake refreshed about fifty-five guests. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Webb's home.

NEWS OF THE DIAMOND.

Townsend, the Washington College base-ball pitcher, presided in what the Dorchester Standard declares to have been "The greatest game of base-ball ever played on the Peninsula," on Tuesday of last week. The contest was between Cambridge and Seaford. The game was won by Cambridge by a score of one to two. Townsend, for Seaford, gave but one man bases on balls, while Brooks, for Cambridge gave three. Townsend struck out 6 and Brooks 4.

There was sorrow at Betterton on Friday. A large crowd saw the Bettertonians overwhelmingly crushed by the Kennedyville players. The latter players were on their mettle and put up a strong game, while the bayside players were away off in their work Kennedy and Ryland carried off the honors for Kennedyville, and Owens carried them off for Betterton. Kennedy's running catch was the feature of the game.

The young ladies of Worton Presbyterian Sunday school anticipate holding a lawn fete on the church green in the near future. The date has not yet been fully decided upon.

The picnic held at Worton Manor Beach on last Wednesday, under the auspicies of the Sunday School of this place, was a decided success. The day was fine, a large crowd present, and everything passed off with mirth and enjoyment. Cream and cake were served in abundance at about four o'clock. At 5.30 P. M. the Sassafras arrived, and the jovial Captain Tarbutton volunteered of give the picnicers a sail up Worton creek as far as Buck Neck and back, which all enjoyed. Everybody expressed themselves as never having had a better time and hoped for many more such picnics.

MADGE.

FROM CLIFF CITY.

Cliff City is commencing to show some activity. The tongers are getting their boats in order for the oyster season, though the prospects for oysters above Piney Point are poor, both in quality and quantity. There is no preceptable increase on the bars below Piney, but there is a slight increase on the whole. The season promises to be unfavorable and unprofitable.

The shipments of fruit from Cliff wharf continues fair, considering the season. From 100 to 150 packages of peaches are shipped daily, and about half as many pears, with a prospective increase in pears.

Mr. Henry Brown, who will have about 1000 packages of peaches this season, is the heaviest shipper of that fruit.

Crabs are scarce and low in price, bringing in Baltimore from 75c to $1.25 a barrel.

Church matters at Mobray are progressing favorably. The Epworth League is increasing in membership and interest; the Sunday school is in excellent condition and the church attendance good.

On last Wednesday night the following recently elected officers were installed in regular league form by the retiring president, John D. Carter: Rev. T. R. Cannon, pres., Robert Goodman, 1st vice pres.; Ida Kirby, 2nd vice pres.; Lillian Hadaway, 3rd vice pres.; Bertie Hadaway, 4th vice pres.; Emma Woodmender, secy.; Maggie Stratton, treas.

Miss Smith's Reception.

Little Miss Smith gave a charming reception to her numerous friends from 6 to 9 P. M., at the residence of her parents, corner High and Cross streets. The beautiful home was ablaze with electric lights, and the mellow glow emitted therefrom, together with the merry ring of the juvenile voices as the little callers flitted in and out the spacious parlors made the scene a veritable fairyland. Miss Ida Orem Smith is a charming little maiden and received her guests with that grace and eclat which is characteristic of a person of older years. Nor was she lacking in skill to provide pleasant entertainment for her little guests. The hours alloted to the reception were delightfully spent in games and plays, Miss Smith leading and conducting the merry-making. An elegant banquet was served at 8.30. Miss Smith presided at one end of the table and little Miss Rebecca Aldridge, the defeated candidate for the unveiling honors, sat at her right. The handsomest ornament of the banquet table was a fountain cake, made and designed by Mr. Smith's baker. When the little guests had been seated Misses Smith and Aldridge, with their dainty forks, penetrated the fountain cake and the ceremonies began. The collation consisted of delicate fruits, ices, confectionery and finely flavored cake fresh from Mr. Smith's popular bakery. A pleasant feature of the occasion occurred toward the close; when the guests were engaged in their leave-takings, Mr. Smith let go three large balloons, which, as they soared away to the far away clouds, told the outside world that this had been a great day in Miss Ida Orem Smith's life, and a memorable one for Chestertown.

A PLEASANT REMINISCENCE.

The ceremony of Tuesday recalls a somewhat similar occasion. The place was precisely the same, and the actors in Tuesday's drama, were some of them participants. Many years ago, in the days of tournaments and May queens, three charming children, Nannie Bordley, Mary Burchinal and Ida Jewell were made contestants for the honor of being crowned Queen of Love and Beauty by the successful knight at a tournament. The exercise was held in the old hall where now stands the beautiful fountain. The contest waged high, but at the final count it was found that Miss Nannie Bordley received 1200 votes and Miss Mary Burchinal 600. Harrison W. Vickers, the same silver-tongued orator who delivered the presentation address on Tuesday, was the orator on that occasion and in his own characteristic way presented the successful candidate to Sir Knight for the coronation. How true it is, that history repeats itself.

The Work Begun.

In the issue of the TRANSCRIPT of July 14th, 1898, under the caption—"Town Improvement," the following significant statement was made relative to the first step taken in the splendid work which so happily culminated on Tuesday evening, "An enthusiastic meeting was held in Stam's Hall yesterday morning, having in view the organization of a Ladies' Town Improvement Society. A large number of representative ladies were present, others sent their regrets, and a general feeling of interest was manifested by all those present and many who were unable to attend."

At this meeting committees were appointed to canvass the town and the matter was gotten into practical shape. Among others present at this meeting were: Mrs. James Brice, Mrs. J. R. Clements, Mrs. B. F. Fleming, Mrs. C. R. Twilley, Mrs. M. C. Ringgold, Mrs. Hope H. Barroll, Mrs. Burchinal, Mrs. John Brice, Miss Maggie Plummer, Miss Laura Thomas, Mrs. James A. Pearce, Mrs. C. C. Hopper and others.

So it will be seen that scarcely more than one year ago the idea of beautifying and improving "Old Kent Square" first assumed practical form in the minds of the ladies.

The old square which had become so closely identified with the town, had become unsightly. The picturesque old market house in which vegetables, beef and other provisions had been sold for the use of the citizens; the old armory in which Kent's prosperous military organization, the old Kent Guards with Eben F. Perkins, Esq., as captain; Gen'l John Bordley and Harrison W. Vickers, Esq., and others as officers, had crumbled into disuse, having outlived the day of their usefulness. Old Kent Square, it will be seen, held a position of peculiar nearness to the public heart and it was but natural that the ladies should first of all turn their attention to its ornamentation and improvement. The soldiers had drilled there; many and many a time had the old muskets of the company been stacked on almost the exact spot where to day stands the beautiful fountain sending up its refreshing spray. There is, then, a sacredness in the very name.

At a meeting on the following Friday, in Stam's Hall, Mr. James Brice, by request of the ladies, presented the object of the meeting in an extremely filicitous speech, and in his capacity as a town commissioner placed the square at the disposal of the ladies to be improved and beautified as they might deem best. Mr. C. L. Dodd, another member of the board, gave his fullest encouragement to the enterprise. William W. Beck, Esq., acting for the ladies, called for expressions of opinion and short speeches of endorsement were made by Messrs. M. A. Toulson, C. C. Hopper, F. G. Usilton, Dr. S. C. Roberts, Samuel Vannort, W. F. Russell, C. S. Smith, R. Bergen, T. D. Bowers, P. T. McFeely, Judge James A. Pearce and Hope H. Barroll.

The gentlemen were then dismissed and the Ladies Improvement Association of Chestertown, was formally organized by the election of the following officers and appointment of committees:

President—Mrs. Thos. W. Eliason.

Vice-Presidents—Mrs. Geo. B. McWhorter, Mrs. James Brice, Mrs. James A. Pearce, Mrs. Wm. J. Vannort, Mrs. E. F. Perkins.

Secretaries—Miss Clare Vannort, Mrs. Geo. Brice.

Treasurer—Mrs. Wm. F. Russell.

Hynson, Mrs. John N Dodd, Mrs. M. deK. Smith, Mrs. Jas. Bradley, Mrs. Hiram M. Brown, Mrs. James Brice, Mrs. John Brice, Miss Annie Lambert, Mrs. H. K. Shaw, Mrs. John Shuster, Mrs. Charles T. Westcott, Mrs. H. M. Thomas, Mr. M. A. Bowers, Mrs. J. H. Simpers, Mrs. T. R. Hubbard, Mrs. H. L. Boyd, Mrs. James T. Dixon, Mrs. Jos. Emerson, Mrs. H. Rickey, Mrs. S. M. Usilton, Mrs. J. A. Catlin, Miss Gertie Lusby, Mrs. A. B. Kelley, Mrs. S. Maslin.

Collectors—Mrs. Wilbur Eliason, Mrs. C. C. Hopper, Mrs. T. W. Eliason, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Mrs. John Brice, Mrs. Wm. J. Vannort, Mrs. John Burchinal, Mrs. Jas. T. Dixon, Mrs. H. L. Boyd, Mrs. C. R. Twilley, Mrs. J. D. Bacchus, Mrs. Dodd, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. M. A. Toulson, Mrs. Wm. R. Aldridge, Mrs. George Brice, Mrs. H. M. Brown, Mrs. John D. Urie, Mrs. L. Bates Russell, Mrs. Hope H. Barroll, Mrs. Horace Reed, Misses Maggie Plummer, Sussie B. Culp, Mamie Carroll, Emma Davis, Nelie Walker, Mamie Thompson, Marian Lusby, Clara Usilton.

Advisory Committee—J. K. Aldridge, Eben F. Perkins, Wilbur Eliason, T. R. Hubbard, Lewin W. Wickes.

Committee on Improvements—Mrs. Hope H. Barroll, Mrs. Jervis Spencer, Mrs. M. A. Toulson, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Mrs. H. K. Shaw.

The meeting was large and enthusiastic, and in spite of hot weather and dust, within twenty-four hours the ladies had done much of the work of canvassing the town. It is gratifying to state that the response by the citizens had been prompt and liberal. A sufficient sum was already in hand to warrant the statement that the beautifying of the long-neglected and unimproved square in the centre of town was to become a spot of beauty and comfort.

It was not convenient for Mrs. Eliason to serve as president and she afterwards resigned, when Mrs. Hope H. Barroll was unanimously elected president.

Miss Clare Vannort was elected treasurer of the sprinkler fund, and still has a handsome sum on deposit to be used for that purpose. Not one cent of this sprinkler fund has ever been touched.

Eben F. Perkins, Esq., prepared for the Improvement Society handsome drawings of the square to be used in outlining the character of the changes to be made, and the first sod was turned by Mr. Edward Robinson, who on Monday, August 15th, commenced to plow the squares for the purpose of grading and seeding grass.

On September 20th the square had been graded to some extent, grass seed sown and the work was well under way. Mrs. Barroll, Mrs. M. A. Toulson, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard and the other ladies continued indefatigable in their labors, and on October 14th, a charming tea and musicale was arranged to take place on the beautiful lawn surrounding the home of Hope H. Barroll, Esq., overlooking the Chester.

The ladies, limitless in their resources, to further the ends which they so ardently hoped for, adopted still another means to swell the square fund. Tiny bags were sent to hundreds of friends accompanied by the following self-explanatory card.

Town Improvement Banquet.

To make a park for Chestertown
We send this little bag around.
Pray, slip a penny its folds between
For every year your life has seen,
And send it back (or bring) to the tea,
On Friday next, at half-past three,
Where charming music will glad your heart,
And dainties will play their usual part,
For all the townspeople will gather there
In interest of our Old Kent Square.

The following characteristic response was made by that sturdy Kennedyville smithy, John Medders:

'Tis with sincere regret that I am not able
To meet the townspeople at your "groaning" tea table,
But you will find enclosed in the cute little sack,
A penny for every year of our lives counting back;
My wife and myself and two merry boys,
Who love flowers better than they ever loved toys.
And I hope that never will horse shod by me
Put his foot on the grass or his teeth on a tree
Of your town improvement.

The work of improvement, stopped by the winter weather, recommenced with the first buds of spring, and the TRANSCRIPT, always in profound sympathy with this and every movement looking to the beautifying or improvement of Chestertown, published the following, on March 20th:

"The public squares in the center of town, which were graded and seeded in grass last fall, are green as a leek with a fresh, heavy sod, and have been further beautified by the setting out of a number of handsome Norway Maple shade trees. To increase public interest in the work, each class of the Chestertown public school was requested to name one of the trees, each minister was accorded the same privilege, and the work of planting took place on Saturday and Monday. Mrs. Hope H. Barroll, Mrs. W. J. Vannort, Mrs. H. B. Simmons, Mrs. M. A. Toulson, Mrs. James Brice, Mrs. J. T. Twilley, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Mrs. Thomas S. Bordley, Miss N. E. Gooding, Miss Hope Wickes, Miss Mamie Carroll, a number of the public school children, a representative of the TRANSCRIPT, and others, participated in the work. Mr. R. G. Nicholson furnished the trees and supervised the work of setting out.

The following is the list of names given the trees: By first grade, Eben F. Perkins; second grade, George Dewey; third grade, Colin F. Stam; fourth grade, Richard Pearson Hobson; fifth grade, Nettie E Walters; first-sixth, The Maine; second sixth, J. Lawrence Smyth; seventh, Thomas H. Topping; eighth, Mrs. Hope H. Barroll; Dr. S. C. Roberts, Bishop Phillips Brooks; Father McSweeny, Father G. A. Bradford, first resident priest of Sacred Heart Church, Chestertown; Chestertown W. C. T. U., Frances Willard; C. L. I. A., Mamie Wethered; Mrs. C. C. Hopper, Charles Wilson Peale, America's first great portrait painter, born in Chestertown; the Improvement Association, James Brice.

Suppers and festivals were held to replenish the improvement fund, with most encouraging results. Responses to the little birthday bags continued to come to Mrs. Barroll late into the spring. The following replies are interesting because of their originality:

How came you to send this bag to me,
With quest of age, which you may see
I'll not be apt to freely name,
As doubtful age conceals the same;
Of pennies asked the bag will not hold,
Instead thereof find one of gold.
Very truly yours,
(Judge) W. R. MARTIN.

My dear ladies fair.—With motive good, on town improvement bent,
For each natal day of wife and self, you ask of us one cent;
So I put my wife at sweet sixteen, and self at eighty-four,
And send, in your sack, one hundred cents, from out our little store;
Please be assured we wish success to Chestertown's improvement,
And praise your zeal in carrying out so laudable a movement;
Hurrah for you, and for your work, well may you ever fare,
Each time you try to beautify your town, and Old Kent Square
(Rev.) CHRIS. T. DENROCHE.

Some sixty pennies more or less,
This baglet doth unfold:
It represents the years I've seen—
Politely, so I am told.
Ah! would that for each vanished year,
I might enclose a hundred here!
But be it more, or be it less,
May every penny bring,
For every blade of grass that grows,
A thousand more to spring;
May tree tops lift their grateful shade,
And shrubs their fragrance shed,
In beauty that shall never fade;
With every spring re-made.
And so, with hearty love I bear,
My tribute to "our Old Kent Square."
(Mrs.) CHARLOTTE LENOX CRISFIELD.

As the work of improvement progressed and new developments continued to take place, Mr. Walter T. Pippin contributed not a little to the work of the ladies by furnishing a highly valuable design for walks, etc. At this point Mr. Wilbur W. Hubbard, though always deeply interested in the changes taking place, came forward and suggested the idea of the beautiful cement walks which are conspicious features of the square as now improved and ornamented.

Without detracting one ioto from the unlimited credit due to Mrs. Barroll, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Vannort, Mrs. Toulson, Mrs. Boyd, and the long list of other devoted women, it must be said that the work of Mr. Hubbard was of incalculable value to the ladies. It was never too hot, too dry or too wet for him to devote hours of each day to a personal supervision of the work of grading, laying the walks or arranging for the fountain. His time, talent and means were lavishly given in promoting the changes under way.

It was through the kindness of Dr. C. A. Grise, of Wilmington, that the handsome fountain unveiled on Tuesday, was brought to the notice of the ladies, and on Wednesday, June 15th, a committee consisting of Mrs. Hope H. Barroll, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard and F. G. Usilton, purchased the handsome $1,200 fountain which now adorns the square.

The story of the interesting contest for the honor of unveiling the fountain, is too fresh in the minds of the readers of the TRANSCRIPT to need retelling.
