

The laundress is sure of satisfactory results in her work if she uses Ivory Soap. Linens are of immaculate whiteness; no dirt or streaks anywhere. There's no room for criticism in the work when brought home. Ivory Soap is cheaper than common soaps in the end.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Has a Turkey Five Feet High.

A Clinton, Iowa, correspondent writes to the Chicago Inter-Ocean: John McCormick, a farmer, who resides across the river from here, in Illinois, is the owner of a turkey gobbler which is probably the largest that has ever been raised in the United States. This monster towers into the air five feet and weighs sixty-five pounds. It looks more like an ostrich than a turkey. Its legs at the feet are an inch and a half in diameter, while close to the body they are the size of an ordinary man's arm at the elbow. The bird's wings measure seven feet from tip to tip. The turkey is two years old and never wanders away from home, as is usually the habit of turkeys. The bird is of the bronze breed, and Mr. McCormick says he has been offered large sums for the monster fowl, but has no desire to sellit.

A VISITOR AT LEWES.

A Chestertonian Writes of This Interesting Peninsula Town.

We arrived on the Queen Anne's train at 8.23 P. M., and after a good night's rest at the hotel kept by Mr. Jeff Ford, the veteran hotel man, followed by a tempting breakfast, we set out to see the sights. But first, I must say a word in reference to the town proper. Lewis is an enterprising and growing town. Yes, we may say a city, for it is hustle and bustle from early morn to late at night. Lewis can boast of one of the largest department stores on the peninsula. It is kept by Mr. Elmer Outten, a thorough business man. One thing which struck your correspondent was the number of houses, and a great many pretty ones, too, built low, and on which shingles were used as weatherboarding. Upon questioning we found that the storms are so very severe that the rain and snow would beat in if the ordinary weather-boarding was used. There are three very fine hotels in the town, and one newspaper call the Pilot. This is a great town for pilots. They have an average income of from $150 to $200 per month, and the majority of them own beautiful and cosy homes. There are three churches here, Presbyterian, Episcopal and M.E. Church.

We will now journey on and tell you of the sights as we saw them. We passed through a suburb of Lewes which some one has given the name of Cuba. Then, on down the beach we saw two large vessels which had been blown ashore; one had been there three years and the other for only a few days, and the prospects are that both will be total wrecks. There have been as many as fourteen vessels ashore here at one time. We now approach the great Delaware Breakwater, which is a huge stone pile and cost the government millions of dollars, and took eighteen years to build. It is three miles in length. The government is building another about one mile from the beach, and the contractors have five years in which to build it, and are to receive one million dollars a year until completed. A great number of boats of all kinds and classes are in sight.

We now pass on to the Marine Hospital, which is a very fine building. Then, the iron pier, which cost the government a great deal of money and is almost useless. Now on to the great fish houses owned and run by the American Fishery Company. This is a great industry which has just shut down. It employs about five hundred men in the factory where the fish are cooked and made into oil and phosphate. A large fleet of fishing steamers come yere every year from the New England States and engage in this great industry. We now come to the Life Saving Stations which are dotted on the beach about four miles apart. The men can be seen patrolling the shore at all times. We follow the coast line and see the remains of many fine vessels which have been wrecked in the gales that sweep this coast. We find here a monster sand pile a mile and a half in length, from three-quarters to a mile in width, and about one hundred and twenty feet high. The sand is continually drifting and completely covering a large pine woods. On the point of this pile of sand is situated ths historic Cape Henlopen light house, which was rebuilt in 1859 by the American government. It was first built by the English government, but we can find no date of its erection. We were met by the accommodating and jovial keeper of the light who took us up in the tower, where we were shown the great lamp which guides the sailor by night. It is 900 candle power. Cape May can be plainly seen; also the light ship which is stationed about three or four miles out in the big pond. We can see the great billows rolling and washing the shores at the foot of the light house; you can hear the waves washing the sands at all hours.

We now turn back to Lewes, and after a hearty supper go this time to church, where we hear quite an eloquent sermon, and, too, gaze on the beautiful girls, for which Lewes is noted. She is justly entitled to this renown, for, indeed, you see scores and scores of pretty girls here.

We predict for Lewis a grand future, for with very little expense she can be made one of the greatest seaport towns in the United States. We will now bid adieu and say we have thoroughly enjoyed our visit and hope to soon come again.

Companion Stories for 1900.

The stories published in the Youth's Companion portray the manly and womanly virtues with no sacrifice of interest or vitality, and they appeal to the sympathies of old and young alike. During 1900 the Companion will offer special series of stories—among them being stories of Former Political Campaigns and Adventures of Linemen.

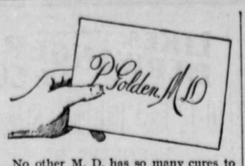

Besides these there will be a score of stories for girls by such writers as Sarah Orne Jewett, Mary E. Wilkins, Margaret Deland, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Edith Wharton, Kate Chopin and Margaret Sangster. There will be four serial stories—"A Prairie Infanta," by Eva Wilder Brodhead; "Running a Merry-go-Round," by Charles Adams; "The Schoolhouse Farthest West," by C. A. Stephens, and "Cushing Brothers," by Ray Stannard Baker. In addition there will be two hundred other short stories by the most gifted of American writers of fiction.

All new subscribers will receive the Companion for the remaining weeks of 1899 free from the time of subscription, and then for a full year, fifty-two weeks, to January 1, 1901; also the Companion's new Calendar for 1900, suitable as an ornament for the prettiest room in the house.

Illustrated Announcement Number containing a full prospectus of the volume for 1900 will be sent free to any address.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
203 Columbia Avenue, Boston, Mass.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by M. A. Toulson, druggist.

No other M. D. has so many cures to his credit. No other M. D. has made so many wonderful cures. So-called "hopeless" cases, chronic cases, "incurable" cases have all been cured, not once or twice, but thousands of times, by the use of that remarkable remedy

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"My husband had been coughing for years and people frankly told me that he would go into consumption," writes Mrs. John Shireman, of No. 964 28th Place, Chicago, Ills. "In the spring of 1888 he took measles. He caught cold, the measles then settling on his lungs, causing such terrible coughing spells, we not only grew much alarmed, but looked for the bursting of a blood vessel or a hemorrhage at almost any time. After three days' coughing he was too weak too cross the room. The doctor who lived with us on the same floor did him no good. I went to the other end of the town and stated the case to a druggist, who then handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My husband's recovery was remarkable in its speed. In three days after he began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was up and around and in two more days he went to work. Two bottles cured him."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely free of charge. Every letter is treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential. All answers are sent in plain envelopes without any printing upon them. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

LITERARY NOTES.

The December "New Lippincott" breathes the Christmas spirit throughout. The complete novel by Ernest Rhys in the December "New Lippincott," under the striking title of "The Whistling Maid," is a romance of rushing interest and weird beauty surpassing anything yet achieved by a writer of far-reaching fame. It exhales the very breath of the Welsh land in which the scene is laid, and brings back the charm of love and martial glory which characterized the days of Celtic knighthood.

Of almost equal importance with the longer novel is a brief one by William D. Howells, called "The Magic of a Voice," a bright and amusing tale of upper New York State, where the undercurrent of marvellous penetration is evident in an unusual degree, as well as Mr. Howell's keen sense of humor.

An attractive subtle story "The Perfume of the Rose," by Flora Annie Steel, describes the visit of an Englishman and his sweetheart to a distiller of roses in India, where they seek the "secret" of the perfume.

A Christmas paper on "The Real Star of Bethlehem" by Julia MacNair Wright, accompanied by a frontispiece from a beautiful painting of the "Star," by Henry R. Poore; "The Return of Wm. Penn," in December, 1699, by William Perrine, well known as "Penn;" "Washington's Death and the Doctors," by the authoritative pen of Solomon Solis Cohen, M. D.; and a delightful talk about "Alphonse Daudet and his inmates," written by one of the latter, Jean Francois Reffaelli, the celebrated artist now in this country, comprise a contents most interesting and seasonable.

Edwin Markham, the author of "The Man with the Hoe," contributes a strong and impressive poem, significantly entitled "The End of the Century."

"The Little Child," by Albert Bigelow Paine, and "At Nazareth," by Thomas Walsh, are poems appropriate to the season.

CAUTION!

A young man operating under the name of "Myron West" is securing subscriptions to McClure's Magazine in various parts of the country, on the pretense that he is a poor, virtuous person who is ambitious for a college education; and that when he has obtained 1000 subscriptions he is to be rewarded by us with a college scholarship. In some instances, perhaps, in all, he gives out a receipt, made out on printed blank, and signed "McClure Publishing Co., per Myron West, agent," all of this signature being in print except his own name, which he writes in. Printed across the end of the receipt is this: "McClure's Building, 34th Street and Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y." This man is an imposter and a fraud.—He is not our agent, and has never paid over to us any money collected by him. There is no such building as a "McClure's Building," either at 34th St and 5th Avenue, or anywhere else in New York. There is no such corporation as the "McClure Publishing Co." The S. S. McClure Co., publishers of McClure's Magazine, have no agents. Postmasters, newsdealers and subscription agents will act as agents for subscribers or intending subscribers, but all persons must use judgment in selecting their own agents. No person is authorized to collect and receipt for money in our name. In short, "Myron West" is simply victimizing people, and we hope he may soon be apprehended and brought to justice.

THE S. S. McCLURE CO.,
141-155 East 25th Street, N. Y. City,
Publishers of McCLURE'S MAGAZINE.

James Barnes, now the recognized authority on all the heroic phases of American history, has written for the December number of McClure's Magazine the romantic story of Col. John Lauren's special mission to France in 1781. It is a story that has almost never been told yet Laurens' mission is believed to have been the one thing that saved the cause of American Independence at a moment when it seemed to be lost. The article will be fully illustrated by Howard Pyle.

Dr. O'Meara, author of the famous volumes "Napoleon at St. Helena," left a journal of his daily intercourse with Napoleon in exile, less than half of which was drawn upon in his published work. The original journal, containing upwards of 160,000 words, was bequeathed by Dr. O'Meara to a friend, by whose heirs it has been placed in the hands of the Editors of The Century. It abounds in passages of the greatest interest, as bearing on the character and opinions of Napoleon, matter which was suppressed by Dr. O'Meara at the time of the publication of this book in 1822. This journal which is distinct from the book manuscript, though the latter is in large measure founded upon it, is in a fuller and more intimate style, and details the life and conversation at Longwood without reserve. The Century Magazine will soon begin to publish copious extracts from this journal.

The Best Christmas Gift of All.

In choosing a Christmas gift for a friend what can afford more present or lasting pleasure than a subscription to The Youth's Companion? The delight with which it is welcomed on Christmas morning is renewed every week in the year. The charm of it is disclosed little by little as the months run their course. There is no household in which it will not prove an inspiration.

Those who wish to present a year's subscription to a friend may also have the beautiful new Companion Calendar for 1900 sent with it. This Calendar is a reproduction in twelve color printings of three exquisite designs by a celebrated American artist, a memqer of the American Water-Color Society. In addition to this all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1899 are sent free from the time subscription is received for the new volume.

Illustrated Announcement Number containing a full prospectus of the volume for 1900 sent free to any address.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
203 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

"I THINK," said the old lady, wisely, "that young Mr. Binks has a hold on Mabel's affections." "Possibly, possibly," replied the old gentleman, who had just glanced into the parlor. "At any rate, he has a hold on her hand."

Dig down to the cause of your sickness if you want to get well and stay well. Most likely it's indigestion. The irritating poisons of fermenting, putrid food, left in the stomach by indigestion, cause headache, neuralgia, nervousness, dizziness, stomachache, nausea, irritability, and all the other well-known symptoms of indigestion.

They also cause many pains and disorders which are often laid to other causes and hence are not easily cured. But as soon as the poisons are removed, all these symptoms and disorders disappear, because there is nothing left to cause them. Nothing succeeds in this like Shaker Digestive Cordial, because it prevents the undigested food from fermenting in the stomach and helps the stomach to digest its food.

Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

FARMERS AND LAND OWNERS

Why not Look to Your Interest

In the Improvement of your lands, while grain is a good price and the indications have an upward tendency. Does it pay to let your land sour and degenerate for want of a stimulant? We answer no. The question arises how are we to get the best results from our crops and at the same time raise the standard of our land? We answer by the use of lime. Well, what Lime do you think will give the best results? We think which has stood the test for many years by our oldest and most prosperous land owners. We can furnish you with other limes as you may wish, all of which will be delivered to any station on the Balto. & Del. Bay R. R. at short notice on reasonable terms. Last but not least is the well known which has been the greatest selling Lime on the market; this Lime runs 97 per cent. of pure Carbonate of Lime. We can deliver this Lime by water to any point on the Chesapeake Bay or tributaries on reasonable notice. We would be pleased to have you call on or write us before placing your orders.

The Celebrated Kerr's Wrightsville Lime,

Standard Lime and Stone Company's Lime,
