BRIBERY IN ELECTIONS.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Briberyfof voters, or how to secure a truthful and honest expression of those who exercise the elective franchise, is a question which has not been an evolution from modern methods. On the eleventh of July, 1732, forty-four years before the Declaration of Independence, and one hundred and sixty-eight years ago, nearly, the Province of Maryland passed an "Act to prevent Bribery and Corruption in the election of citizens and Burgesses and Delegates in Assembly, for the city of Annapolis." Thus early, it seems, the Ancient City must have been well up in ways that are generally thought to be of peculiarly modern growth. I give the following extracts from the Act:

"Upon the election of any member or members to serve in Assembly for the city of Annapolis, every freeholder or others claiming, shall, before admitted to poll at the same election, take the following oath, or being one of the people called Quakers, take the solemn affirmation appointed for Quakers, in case the same shall be demanded by any candidate or any two of the electors, viz:

"I, A. B., do swear, (or being a Quaker solemnly affirm) that I have not received or had by myself or any person whatsoever in trust for me or for my use, directly or indirectly, any sum or sums of money, office, place or employment, gift or reward, or any promise or security, for any money, office, employment, gift or reward, for giving my vote at the election.

"If any having a right and claiming a vote, shall ask, take or receive any money or other reward, by way of gift or loan or other device, or agree or contract for any gift, employment or other reward, to give his vote; or refuse or forbear to give his vote in such election; or if any person by himself or by any person employed by him, doth or shall by any gift or reward, or by any promise or security for any gift or reward, corrupt any persons to give his or their vote or votes in any such election, or shall use any threats or menaces to induce or compel any person to give or not give his vote, such persons, so offending, shall, for every offence, forfeit five pounds current money of Maryland, to any person who will sue for the same."

If the provisions of this act both for taking and giving bribes were incorporated in an oath to be taken by each voter on the day of election before he voted, a certificate of having taken it to be handed to the judge receiving the ballot and filed, it might reduce the amount of bribery. The oath could be made past, present and prospective with reference to that particular election, and could be administered and certificates given by as many officers as deemed necessary not to delay the voting.

FISH AND OYSTER LAWS.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Not as a fisherman, nor as a member of that great army of toilers, the oystermen, but as a member of that great body of bread-winners of our State, I ask, in all candor, has the time come that the oyster-bearing bottoms of our bay and river should be given out to great corporations in 3,000-acre slices at a time? Now, if it will pay these concerns to plant shells, etc., and grow oysters, why will it not pay the State to do so and let all of her people reap the result. To us of the tidewater counties it is a question of great concern that those great blessings God has given us should not be taken away from our laboring people, driving them into other fields to seek something they do not know how to do if they should find it, and thus bring want and poverty to homes that now are happy! Then, again, it is all right for the Game and Fish Protective Association to protect the fish when such protection is in the interest of all and not solely for the sports. If it were possible to get Virginia to join us in some such law as Mr. Latrobe offered it might be just what is needed, but what is the use of Maryland passing such a stringent law for the comparatively few fish that pass the miles of close wire hedging of the Virginia fishermen into our waters? We are told by Commander Turner, of our oyster navy, that many of these hedgings interlock, or, if stretched in a straight line, would in many places reach clear across the bay. Now, why not let all our people get a chance at the few fish that come? For if they get away the chances to get back are very poor indeed. It may be all right to have a closed season for fish, say, from May 25 to September 1, but the idea of catching fish just so many inches long is all bosh, for no man is able to tell how big the fish is until he catches it, and then, 90 times out of 100, the fish is dead This is not a political question, but one that affects all the people of the tidewater counties, and we think the press and leading citizens should take hold of and see to it that some law in the interest of our watermen is passed or the whole thing dropped as at present talked about.—G. E. NOLAND, in the Balto. Sun.

How Kruger Opened a Synagogue.

President Kruger, when Jews first began to flock to Pretoria was unfavorably disposed toward them, and used them severely, but after a time relented, and finally gave them leave to build a synagogue. They were grateful, says the Argonaut, and when the synagogue was built they asked him to come and open it. The old man accepted the invitation, and, standing on the platform, duly said: "In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, I declare this synagogue opened. Now, my friends, I hope you will lose no time in becoming converted."

Legislative Fox Hunts.—The first of the series of three Legislative fox races between the hounds of Baltimore Howard and Anne Arundel counties, mentioned in the TRANSCRIPT, took place on Saturday, in Anne Arundel county, The races are for a cup offered by Mr. Redmond C. Stewart and the conditions are that the packs are to start and run wild foxes, and are to be judged according to their speed, endurance, nose, ambition and "fox sense." The judges are Senators Ravenscroft and Beasman and Dr. Mackie, one of the Delegates from Cecil county. The next run wil be to-day.

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Herminie, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. [COMMUNICATED.]
THE GIRLS' EDUCATION.

Not long ago some ladies were spending the day with a friend, making an old-fashioned country visit. Various topics had been discussed with more or less enthusiasm, when there came a lull in the conversation and one of the party said:

I wish you ladies would tell me how to best educate my daughter, I have been thinking of it for years and am still unable to decide. If I had an unlimited sum of money to spend on her education it would not be such a difficult matter to decide. But my sum is only moderate and I wish to have it used to the best advantage for her future welfare. She will soon have passed all the grades of the country school, and be ready to take up whatever course we decide upon.

What seems to be the bent of her inclination, asked one of the ladies?

Oh! nothing special, was the reply. She is a fairly good scholar, but nothing extra. She is fond of music, but has no remarkable talent. She is the life of the home, is kind and affectionate to her brothers and sisters, she is a good daughter and very companionable, and if her mother does say it, she is an uncommonly nice girl, and yet, nothing remarkable in the way of mental attainments. I do not expect that she will have to face the world to make her own living, and yet, how many we know, who have had less reason to expect it than she, have been forced to do so, and although hundreds of dollars had been spent on their education, it was practically of little use in helping them to obtain a good position. I wish to avoid all that. I would like to educate my daughter so that, if the worst came to the worst, her education would be to her, as you might say, cash in hand. If I only knew what her future would be I would know exactly how to educate her.

Ah! my child, said one of the elderly ladies, there is nothing more uncertain than a girl's future. You can educate a boy with a tolerable degree of certainty that he will be a lawyer, a doctor, a teacher or a farmer, just as you expect him to be, and will be very likely to make it his life work, but not so with a daughter. You may give her a general education, or you may educate her on a special line to fit her for a teacher or a musician, and perhaps before she graduates, a wedding will put an end to all your plans, and be but the beginning of the uncertainty of your daughter's future. I have experienced all the anxiety that you are having now, and yet, I cannot tell you what will be best for you to do. It is an easy thing to say, let your daughter's education be practical above all things, but it is quite another thing to tell just how to have it so. Every mother must decide for herself. You know all about your daughter's health, disposition and attainments, and also of your resources, all of which must be taken into consideration. Pray for guidance and "walk by faith," for in this matter you cannot "walk by sight." Do, as in your opinion, the Lord directs you to do, and trust the future to the Ruler of destinies.

Dinner was announced and the conversation was ended. There are many anxious mothers in Kent county to-day who are thinking out the same problem, "How shall I best educate my daughter?"

The Trip of the Transport Siam From San Francisco to Manila.

Additional particulars of the terrible trip of the transport Siam, en route from San Francisco to Manila, have been received in this country. The Siam left San Francisco on August 19th with 400 horses for the army in the Philippines. On October 1st a terrific typhoon was encountered near Guam Island, four days from Manila. The storm broke at one o'clock in the morning and at the first roll of the vessel the horses stampeded. Wave after wave crashed over the decks of the steamer, throwing the animals about, breaking their legs and otherwise maiming them. The scene was frightful. The vessel was uncontrollable and it was next to impossible for anyone to stand on deck, it was so slippery with blood and debris. Three hundred and fifty horses were killed and their bodies remained on deck for four days before they could be disposed of.—Buffalo Horse World.

For the Horses.

Dip the bridle bits in water in winter weather before putting them in the horses' mouths. If you doubt the necessity put your tongue to a frosty nail.

Use oil on the wagon in winter. Axle-grease stiffens in cold weather—becomes dry and hard.

Uncheck while standing, and blanket in cold weather.

Horses like a kind voice, and are not deaf as a rule. Don't yell at them.

Horses get tired and nervous and hungry and thirsty. Give them good beds to sleep on.

Don't make the load too heavy.

Sharpen their shoes in icy weather.

Give them always a lunch at noon.

What James Russell Lowell Wrote.

"Ez fer war, I call it murder—
There you hev it plain an' flat;
I don't want to go no furder
Than my Testyment fer that;
* * * * * * *
'Tain't your eppyletts an' feathers
Make the thing a grain more right;
'Tain't a-follerin' your bell-wethers
Will excuse ye in His sight;
Ef you take a sword an' dror it,
An' go stick a feller thru,
Guv'ment ain't to answer for it,
God will send the bill to you."

Handsome Doorway.

A handsome doorway seen not long ago, says the New York Evening Post, had the actual frame covered smoothly with a brocade pattern of cretonne before the portiere was hung in the usual way. The effect given was that of a deep recess. This application of fabrics to woodwork is becoming popular with the best decorators. In this way alone is it possible to get satisfactory color effects.

Dig down to the cause of your sickness if you want to get well and stay well. Most likely it's indigestion. The irritating poisons of fermenting, putrid food, left in the stomach by indigestion, cause headache, neuralgia, nervousness, dizziness, stomachachs, nausea, irritability, and all the other well-known symptoms of indigestion.

They also cause many pains and disorders which are often laid to other causes and hence are not easily cured. But as soon as the poisons are removed, all these symptoms and disorders disappear, because there is nothing left to cause them. Nothing succeeds in this like Shaker Digestive Cordial, because it prevents the undigested food from fermenting in the stomach and helps the stomach to digest its food.

STARVED HAIR

Slow growth of hair comes from lack of hair food. The hair has no life. It is starved. It keeps coming out, gets thinner and thinner, bald spots appear, then actual baldness. The only good hair food you can buy is—

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

It feeds the roots, stops starvation, and the hair grows thick and long. It cures dandruff also. Keep a bottle of it on your dressing table.

It always restores color to faded or gray hair. Mind, we say "always."

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

"I have found your Hair Vigor to be the best remedy I have ever tried for the hair. My hair was falling out very bad, so I thought I would try a bottle of it. I had used only one bottle, and my hair stopped falling out, and it is now real thick and long."
