SOME PEACH PROFITS.

What a Thirty-Acre Western Maryland Peach Farm Has Done.

Mr. W. B. Stattlemyer has this to say of the profits of his 30-acre peach farm in the Western Maryland peach belt. He says:

"Our peach orchard of 30 acres is situated in the Western Maryland peach belt, two miles from station, and has best slope for sure crop. The 30 acres were purchased in 1895 at $70 per acre and planted in peach trees at once.

"Among the preferable late varieties selected we planted the Salway, Crawford's Late, Heath Cling and Heath Freestone.

"Our trees cost $45 per thousand, though at the same time we would have been able to have procured the same varieties at some other nurseries for a great deal less. The shipping and planting cost us $60.78 for the 30 acres. We planted 100 trees to the acre, thus giving sufficient room for cultivation. Our outlay, including machinery and incidentals, thus far was as follows:

Land	$2100 00
Trees	135 00
Planting, etc	60 78
Machinery	170 07
Incidentals	4 04
Total	$2469 89

"For four years the orchard was cultivated thoroughly, while only slight crops were realized the third and fourth years.

"The fifth year we realized a fairly good crop, and during 14 years we secured six crops from the orchard. The average age of a healthy peach orchard in this section of the country ranges from 10 to 16 years, and generally a good crop is realized every other year.

"By careful records kept we find that the average amount of fruit grown upon each tree for the six crops was two and eight-ninth crates, or a little over two and a half bushels. Of course the quantity varies very much. A large healthy tree often yields five, eight, ten or even more bushels, but during the fourth year hardly any of the trees yield more than a peck apiece. Thus on an average each one of our trees produced 15 bushels during its lifetime. In fact, the orchards produced 44,364 bushels of salable fruit.

From the sale of these 44,364 bushels we realized a net gain, over picking, crating, shipping, commission, express, etc., of $46,361.07. The net profit per bushel would thus be a little over $1, but in fact this varies from 5 cents to $6 and $8 per bushel.

"Our expenditures were heavy, for the trees had to be well cultivated and fertilized during the 10 years of productiveness. Cultivation, including superintendence, amounted to $1320, while the fertilizer bills footed up $769. Our expenses included also interest on capital and taxes during the period of 14 years.

"The following gives an exact statement of expenditures and net returns:

Net returns for peach sales	$46,361.07
Land	$2,100 00
Trees	135 00
Planting, etc	60 78
Machinery	170 07
Cultivation	1,320 00
Fertilizers	769 00
Taxes	312 06
Interest	2,520 90
Incidentals	11 88
Total	7,399 69
Profits	$38,961 38

"Taking the difference between these two columns, we have an almost fabulous gain of $38,961.38. This may seem a large gain to one not acquainted with the business, but we feel confident that other peach-growers realized much larger returns from their healthy orchards than we did."

THE BOY ON THE FARM.

A Happy Solution by a Delaware Father as to Raising His Boys.

Much favorable comment has been heard relative to a communication in a recent issue of the TRANSCRIPT relative to "The Girl's Education." Many a father finds himself confronted by the puzzling problem of just what to do with the boy on the farm,—how to interest him, how to make him self-reliant and at the same time prevent any conflict of duties when there are more than one son. A Delaware farmer who presides over a family of four boys and three girls has solved the problem in this way,—He has decided that each one of the sons shall take charge of certain work so that there may be no clash, one with the other. The eldest one is to take charge of all the live stock on the farm, including the horses and cattle. The second one is to have charge of the swine, oftimes called hogs. The third one is to be the hewer of wood, and the fourth one to make and take charge of the fires in and about the house. The daughters are to be cared for by the mother, who is a very fine woman and a most excellent wife. This strikes us as being an excellent idea.

He Kept the Seat.

A man who had not been to church for a very long time finally harkened to the persuasions of his wife, and decided to go. He got the family altogether and they started early. Arriving at the church there were very few people in it, and no pew openers at hand, so the man led his family well up the aisle, and took possession of a nice pew.

Just as the service was about to begin a ponderous looking old man came in, walked up to the door of that pew and stood there, exhibiting surprise that it was occupied. The occupants moved over and offered him room to sit down, but he declined to be seated. Finally the old man produced a card, and wrote upon it, with a pencil:

"I pay for this pew."

He gave the card to the strange occupant, who, had he been like most people, would have at once got up and left. But the intruder ajusted his glasses, and, with a smile, he read the card. Then he calmly wrote beneath it:

"How much do you pay a year?"

To this inquiry the pompous old gentleman, still standing, wrote abruptly:

"Ten pounds."

The stranger smiled as though he were pleased; looked round to compare the pew with others, admired its nice cushions and furnishing, and wrote back:

"I don't blame you. It is well worth it."

It is very hard to sit and idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N.Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also brought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by M. A. Toulson.

PHILIP F. RASIN.

Was arrested and Imprisoned as a Southern Smpathiser While a Member of the State Legislature From Kent.

In the death of Mr. Philip F. Rasin, on February 27th, aged 75 years, the county lost one of its most estimable and interesting citizens.

Always a warm sympathiser with the south, when the great crisis came in 1861, Mr. Rasin was a member of the State Legislature from Kent county and was one of those who espoused the great principle of States Rights, or that under certain conditions the individual states had a right to secede from the Union. The cotton states had seceded, Sumpter had been fired upon and the country was in a ferment. Baltimore city held a vast number of persons in warm sympathy with the South, while in the counties were found those who placed ther services upon the altar of the Confederacy. Criticism of Mr. Lincoln was not tolerated and the freedom of the press soon became a hallowed memory of the past.

With the thickening of the clouds arrests of southern sympathisers became the order of the day. Important personages whose loyalty became a matter of question were arrested whereever found. Charles J. Faulkner, of Virginia, minister to France; George W. Jones, of Iowa, minister to Bogota; and many others were arrested. A policy of general repression was followed. The Daily News, printed in New York by Ben Woods, was suppressed.

The inauguration of Mr. Lincoln intensified the element favorable to secession in Maryland. The fact that the National Capital was skirted by Maryland and that the population of Baltimore was largely against the administration caused all eyes to turn upon Maryland. The conditions were threatening and heroic measures were adopted. Annapolis, Baltimore and other places in the State were occupied by Union troops.

On June 27-1861, George P. Kane, marshal of police of Baltimore city, was arrested; on July 1st Charles Howard, William H. Gatchell and John W. Davis, Baltimore police commissioners, were also arrested and taken to Fort McHenry but were subsequently sent to Fort Lafayette and eventually to Fort Warren, in Boston harbor. The House of Representatives passed a resolution asking Mr. Lincoln for the "grounds, reason and evidence" for the arrests.

In August a rumor was started that an effort would be made in the Maryland Legislature to secure the secession of the State. Mr. Rasin, from Kent, and other Southern sympathisers were members of this body and prompt action was deemed necessary to head off the movement. Gen'l McClellan, on September 14th sent a letter to Major-Gen. John A. Dix, directing that he arrest forthwith T. Parkin Scott, S. Teackle Wallis, Henry M. Warfield, Thomas W. Hall. Jr. Nine members, and some of the officers of the Maryland House and Senate were arrested in conformity with orders sent out. Some of the names on the official list were: Henry May, M. C. George, William Brown, Mayor of Baltimore; William G. Harrison, Henry M. Warfield, Ross Winans, James U. Dennis, S. Teackle Wallis, R. M. Dennison, Philip F. Rasin, J. W. Maxwell and many others.

Nearly all of the minor officers of the Legislature subscribed to the oath of allegiance and were not arrested. Mr. Rasin would not subscribe and was sent to prison. He often talked of his wartime and prison experiences.

A man of fine address, commanding appearance and broad and generous impulses, Mr. Rasin was the centre of a wide circle of friends.

He died at the home of Mr. Charles Hill, near Kennedyville, and was buried at "Old Field Point" cemetery.

Dig down to the cause of your sickness if you want to get well and stay well. Most likely it's indigestion. The irritating poisons of fermenting, putrid food, left in the stomach by indigestion, cause headache, neuralgia, nervousness, dizziness, stomachache, nausea, irritability, and all the other well-known symptoms of indigestion.

They also cause many pains and disorders which are often laid to other causes and hence are not easily cured. But as soon as the poisons are removed, all these symptoms and disorders disappear, because there is nothing left to cause them. Nothing succeeds in this like Shaker Digestive Cordial, because it prevents the undigested food from fermenting in the stomach and helps the stomach to digest its food.

HEALTHY HAIR

A man with a thin head of hair is a marked man. But the big bald spot is not the kind of a mark most men like.

Too many men in their twenties are bald. This is absurd and all unnecessary. Healthy hair shows man's strength. To build up the hair from the roots, to prevent and to cure baldness, use—
AYER'S Hair Vigor
It always restores color to faded or gray hair. Notice that word, "always." And it cures dandruff.
$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.
"My business calls me out among strangers a great deal. I would actually feel ashamed every time I would take off my hat, my hair was so thin and the bald spots showed so plainly. I began the use of your Hair Vigor less than three months ago. Today I find I have as fine a head of hair as I ever had. I tell everybody what I used, and they say 'it must be a wonderful remedy.'" For the last year of the old century "THE NEW LIPPINCOTT" promises two features of especial importance. The first of these is a series of papers by Stephen Crane
author of "The Red Badge of Courage" on the
GREAT BATTLES OF THE WORLD.
Since his first book, Mr. Crane has not until now, returned to the subject that made him famous. He alone among authors to day, can adequately describe the
The second of the striking features of the "New Lippincott" for 1900, is a series of
SHORT STORIES OF MORMON LIFE
BY MRS. J. K. HUDSON.
These are made timely by the new Mormon issue in Congress, but they owe their deep interest not so much to this as to the pathetic, often tragic, revelation of woman's heroic suffering under an odious tyranny.
Mrs. Hudson writes from inner facts, but drapes them in a cloak of glowing fiction.
