ROCK HALL ITEMS.

The scarcity and low price of oysters caused many oystermen to abandon them for fishing and now on the eve of the season they are confronted with a glut of shad in the market. Shad are quoted 5c for bucks and 10c for roe. Some have made large catches.

Much excitement was created among the fishermen owing to the circulation of a report that a license of $5 was to be imposed upon each man engaged in the business. Politicians, law-makers and parties received invectives not complimentary.

Spinal meningitis has made its appearance in our midst. Mrs. Willson, daughter of Mr. James Newcomb, left New York to visit her parents. While on the Tolchester boat her child of five years complained of feeling bad and became quite ill. Dr. Long was called in and diagnosed the case as spinal meningitis. The little sufferer lingered until Sunday. The Dr. used every means to prevent the spread of the disease, consulting the Health Commissioner who furnished him with proper disinfectants. Mr. Newcomb's children attended Rock Hall school. On Tuesday many of the parents kept their children home. Trustees of said school authorized the principal not to receive Mr. N.'s children without a certificate from the Dr. stating that there would be no danger in admitting them.

Mr. Med Taylor is again confined to the house suffering from rheumatism in ankles and wrist.

This has been a busy week both for housekeepers and gardeners. Porches and yards are filled with furniture and the men have been compelled to resort to their gardens for comfort. Planting is general and each vies with the other as to who shall have the earliest vegetables. Mr. George Maslin leads all others, as his peas, lettuce and radishes are up and well advanced. He has tomatoes in blossom. Who can beat it?

Miss Nannie Taylor has resigned her position with Mr. R. S. Crew, and will devote her time to giving music lessons. She has been a student of Mr. Olie Judefind for a long time and he says she is well equipped for that position.

Misses Emma Joiner, Sallie Joiner and Mattie Maslin are taking lessons preparatory for the summer examination for teachers.

Mrs. Canaan, widow of the late Arthur Canaan, has purchased a lot adjoining Mr. Will Hickey on Green Lane, and has given her order for lumber to erect a house with four rooms upstairs and three rooms and a hall below.

The citizens of Gratitude are very much incensed at the conclusion of the Steamboat Co. to change to Rock Hall wharf. The company's agent has been surveying the advantages of the latter place and if sufficient depth of water is found they will begin at once. When the agent made known this arrangement one of Gratitude's citizens concluded to "pack up" and leave. He said, "Our property now will not be worth two cents."

Mr. Jessie Lomax and Mrs. Willson Lomax, of Baltimore, are visiting their sister, Mrs. James Warmsley.

Mr. Joe Judefind has been employed to build a bowling ally at Tolchester for Mr. Ed. Noland. Mr. J. took Leo Durding, Johnnie Ayres and Willie Wilkins to assist him. Mr. Noland is a friend to our people as most of the employees at the beach are from here. Jos. W. Kendall has been appointed wharf agent. Joe got up at 3 A. M., on Monday morning and walked to the beach. On his way he was attacked by dogs, (Joe is afraid of dogs.) He started to run, tripped and fell, causing him to drop his grip, which fell open and contents fell out. He left contents and gave "leg bail." We hope nothing serious will result.

We noticed in Kent News that Miss Reese would leave here to take school made vacant by Prof. Melvin. We are happy to inform you that she is here at her post and will so remain. She is beloved by both pupils and patrons and is doing good work here.

Odd Fellowism is being rejuvenated here. Meetings are growing in interest and those fellows who stay away are missing a literary treat every Wednesday. An interesting program is being prepared for next Wednesday. In the near future the K. of P. will join them to attend the church in a body.

Mr. John Hersch died this morning (Wednesday). He was a native of Baltimore and moved to this county early in the forties, and was a carpenter by trade. He retired from business a few years ago. He was a member of I. O. O. F. He was an uncompromising democrat and took an active part in politics until his health failed. Mr. Hersch was 91 years old and has a sister living in Washington 94 years, one in Baltimore 85 and a brother 80 years old. He raised seven children and never had a death in his family until the death of his wife. He was possessed of some property, the rent of which furnished him sufficient income for his needs. He was buried Thursday, funeral being held at house. The pall bearers were: C. A. Leary, Isaac Leary, Capt. Joe Downey, W. K. Ayres, William Thomas and Jos. C. Kendall. Casey Bros. undertakers.

A very interesting entertainment was held at Wesley Chapel on Monday evening. The audience was small and those who remained away missed a literary treat. The following program was rendered : Instrumental music, by Prof. Judefind ; reading, by Miss Lulu Thomas ; solo, by Miss Clara Downey ; quartette by Messrs. Parris, Judefind, Johnson and Ayres ; recitation, by Miss Hattie Lewis ; solo, by Miss Anna Leary ; instrumental music, by Prof. Judefind ; recitation and song by Miss Anna Leary ; solo, Miss Lillian Taylor ; duet by Misses Clara Downey and Nannie Taylor.

Rev. J. W. Parris left for Salisbury to attend conference, accompanied by Mr. Samuel Burgess as delegate.

A very distressing accident occurred on the farm of Mr. Lew Smith on Tuesday. Harry Eisenwine while spreading manure from a wagon slipped and fell beneath the wagon, the horses became frightened started off and the wheels passed over his right leg breaking it below the knee and hurting him severely in other parts of the body. Mr. Thomas Smith, brother of Lew, undertook to stop the horses, became entangled in the harness and was painfully hurt about the head. Both were brought to town, a launch secured, and taken to a Baltimore hospital.

Echoes from inauguration:—One of Rock Hall's young merchants in company with the proprietor of one of Chestertown's hotels went to see the great parade. The former boasted of the ability to avoid being sold. When they arrived at Washington depot, they were approached by a gentleman, who told them that for a dollar apiece he would take them over the city in an auto. Bargain closed, money paid, and trio waited for return—Who was sold ?

One of our young ladies kneeled beside her bed for devotion. There she spent the night. Was it from multiplicity of mercies or an enormous burden of omissions that kept her there?

About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys and extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will releave the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by M. A. Toulson, Druggist, Chestertown, Md.

He Has Not Only Made His Mark in Various Fields of Labor, But Has Materially Aided in Developing The General Prosperity of The City.

The Baltimore Evening Herald in speaking of the work of men from the Eastern Shore who are now conspicuous in the life and development of Baltimore says : Among the men from the Eastern Shore whose conspicuous business and professional careers have materially aided in developing the general prosperity of the city and in establishing that sturdy mercantile credit which Baltimore merchants have always notably enjoyed in the markets of the world, Kent is especially rich.
