

Young Ladies Shoes.

Fitting the Feet of the Young Ladies is our specialty, and we do it as it should be done.

Her trim, pretty foot can be fitted correctly and yet do it justice.

She need not wear Shoes too large for her—but they must fit her.

We have Young Ladies Shoes, Oxfords and Ties in all the good leathers, such as Tan, White, Pat. and Colt, in all sizes and widths.

We've everything that's wanted in Young Ladies Low and High Shoes, and we doubt if she can do as well anywhere as she can here in getting correct shoes.

Very truly yours,

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

Reckless Philanthropy.

An instance of what I should call reckless philanthropy has come to my notice. The story is told of a certain old and very wealthy lady who has never been known to give anything to anybody, but whose will must enrich many institutions—unless the estate is swallowed up by the lawyers. After spending half a lifetime selecting first one and then another charity for her post mortem benevolence she recently had qualms of conscience. She heard mysterious voices say, "Feed my lambs."

At first she took no notice. They became insistent. "At last," she says, describing the experience, "I took the money in my hand and set out to give a subscription to ——'s home. On the way I had doubts. 'No,' I said, 'I had better leave them a legacy.' But again I heard the voice, 'Feed my lambs.' Well, my dear, I trembled with agitation. I said, 'I will.' I felt I must do it and I did. I rushed straight to the office and I gave them 5 shillings."—London Tatler.

Old Tudor Ghosts.

At Hampton court palace, near London, are, according to report, several ghosts, all of which belong to the Tudor period. "First is Jane Seymour," says a writer, "who, clad in white garments and carrying a lighted candle, ascends the queen's staircase on the anniversary of the birth of her son, Edward VI. The ghost was laid by the opening up of the staircase. Mrs. Penn, the nurse and foster mother of Edward VI., is the most persistent ghost. Since her grave was disturbed in Hampton church her gaunt figure in a long gray robe has walked the vicinity of her old rooms, and the whirring of her spinning wheel has been heard by several people. The board of works instituted an inquiry and discovered a walled up room with an old spinning wheel, the treadle of which appeared to have worn the oaken flooring. The third Tudor ghost is Catherine Howard, who is reputed to haunt a gallery about to be opened to the public."

Legend of the Ostrich.

Among the Arabs there is a curious legend to account for the ostrich's residence in the desert. "On a certain day appointed," so the story runs, "all created beings met together to decide upon their respective order and precedence. All went smoothly until the ostrich, pleading its inability to fly, disowned the birds and claimed to take rank with the mammals. These, however, would have nothing to say to a creature clothed not with fur, but with feathers, while the birds, when the ostrich went dejectedly back, repudiated it also as a traitor to its race. But the ostrich was equal to the occasion and declared that, being neither mammal nor bird, it must be an angel. At this all the other animals indignantly rushed upon the ostrich and drove it before them into the desert, where it has lived in solitude ever since, with no one to contradict it."

Antiquity of Cheating.

False weights were found in the ruins of the oldest city that has yet been exhumed. And false weights will probably be consumed when the earth drops into the sun and the heavens are rolled together like a scroll. Ancient records and ancient statute books are full of evidence that every new practical device—from capitalistic and labor monopolies, secret rebates and majority owners, swindling monopoly owners, down to adulterations and crooked scales—was familiar to our ancestors of the plateau of Iran before the migrations. Vice is the old inhabitant; virtue is the newcomer, the immigrant, received with reluctance and compelled to fight for every inch of ground he gains.—David Graham Phillips in Reader Magazine.

Ants' Eggs.

The egg of the ant is uniform, smooth, tight and bright, without any division. When the larva has come from it only a very thin membrane is left, which rolls up and is reduced to an imperceptible point, and even if the egg does not hatch it is still so small as to escape the eyes. This is why these eggs are so little known, for what is commonly and improperly called the egg is really the larva and is endowed with life and motion. These eggs, or rather these larvae, of ants are very much sought after by barnyard fowl.

The Art of Expression.

A discontented woman uttered this complaint the other day: "If I only knew how to express myself!" she said. "I know so many things that I cannot possibly convey to other people." She did not dream that the little thing for which she yearned—namely, the art of expression—is the essential attribute of the loftiest genius in letters or the fine arts.—New York Telegram.

Jewels That Live.

Beauty, money and fame cannot be carried beyond the horizon line that shuts around this cradle of a world, but love, joy, peace, gentleness, faith, meekness, temperance, are jewels which by their very nature will survive the transit of the world invisible.—F. E. Willard.

His Trouble.

Sunday School Teacher—Whom was it that the whale swallowed? Tommy—Why—er—er— Sunday School Teacher—Come, now; that's an easy question. Tommy—Oh! it ain't the question that bothers me, but the answer.—Philadelphia Press.

At a Bargain.

Mrs. Gad A. Boutt—Dear me! I have been to about ten stores and am all used up. Mr. B.—Oh, no; you're only a little shopworn.—Washington Life.

Moscow is situated almost in the geometrical center of European Russia.

Flowers With Vegetables.

You can't eat your cake and have it too. If you cut flowers all over your grounds, particularly near the house, the place will not look its best. Moreover, we none of us have enough cut flowers for house decorations and to give away. If you plan to raise a great many flowers for cutting in beds and borders you are simply inviting backache and hours of unnecessary work. The cheaper, easy and sensible way is to have a separate place for raising flowers that you want for cutting. Select a place that is out of the way, so that the removal of the flowers will not spoil the garden or landscape effect. The vegetable garden is just the place, because you can have long, straight rows and cultivate them easily by horse or wheel hoe. You can trust an ignorant laborer to hoe anything that is in straight lines, but he is the ruin of an informal border.—Garden Magazine.

The Waltz in 1781.

I was engaged in looking at these fine people when a gentleman and lady came whirling by and had almost overwhelmed me. I could not imagine what they were about. I had scarcely extricated myself from the danger with which they threatened me when another and another couple came twisting by in like manner. I found on inquiry that this was a favorite German dance called a waltz and is performed in the following manner: The lady and gentleman stand face to face. The gentleman puts his arm around the lady's waist and with the other hand he gets firm hold on her arm. You would at first think they were going to wrestle. Thus prepared and the gentleman having got so good a purchase upon the lady, they begin to spin around and around with a velocity which would have made me giddy in half a minute.—"Twining Papers."

Lacquer For Brass.

Make lacquer for brass as follows: Tumeric root, ground fine, one ounce; best dragon's blood, one-half dram, put into one pint of alcohol. Place it in a moderate heat and shake at intervals for several days. It must then be strained through a linen cloth and put back in the bottle. Now add three ounces of powdered gum shellac; then keep as before in a warm place for a few days more and shake frequently. When thoroughly dissolved strain it again and keep in a bottle tightly corked. The metal must be perfectly clean and free from dust or grease and must be heated. The article may either dipped in the lacquer or coated with a brush, taking care not to go over the same place twice nor to leave any spots uncovered. The lacquer will dry in a few seconds.

The Shining Face of Moses.

All down through the ages a mistake has been perpetuated as to the meaning of the Hebrew word "karan," "to emit rays like horns." It is the word used in Exodus xxxiv, 29, to describe the shining face of Moses after he had talked with the Lord. The Septuagint translated it into Greek, "his head was horned." So all through the middle ages and the period of great Italian art the Vulgate had it (whence Michael Angelo and other artists got the idea, Angelo giving to Moses two flamelike locks of hair on the head); the Cranmer Bible and the Douay Catholic English Bible continued the queer error. King James' version at last got it right, "the skin of Moses' face shone, and Moses put the veil upon his face," etc.

Coaling the Sun.

Coaling the sun is an expression used by physicists to indicate the necessity of renewing the stock of motive power, exactly analogous to coaling a vessel for an ocean journey. Many maintain that this is done by the incessant showers of meteorites which rain in upon it from celestial space. Thus it is that the sun's energy is continually kept up and its fires are fed. Atom after atom in the continuous collisions of matter is changed into vapor and adds its quota of energy to the great central storehouse—in fact, "coals the sun."

Climbing Parnassus.

In mythology Parnassus, a mountain in central Greece, was sacred to the muses. The Delphian sanctuary of Apollo was on its slope and from between its twin summit peaks flowed the fountain Castalia, the waters of which were reputed to impart the virtue of poetic inspiration. The highest peak, 8,068 feet, was held sacred to Bacchus and the rest to Apollo and the muses—whence the saying of young poets "climbing Parnassus."

Subtle Scheme.

"Do you like Wagner's music?" asked the caller.

"No," said the young woman at the piano. "I hate it."

"Why do you play it, then?"

"Because this instrument is dreadfully out of tune, and if I played any other kind of music you'd notice it."—Chicago Tribune.

Easily Remedied.

A shoemaker was fitting a customer with a pair of boots when the buyer observed that he had but one objection to them, which was that the soles were too thick. "If that is all," replied Crispin, "put on the boots, and the objection will gradually wear away."

Two Bad Moments.

There is only one thing that is said to be worse than being called upon unexpectedly to make an after dinner speech. That is to prepare an after dinner speech and not be asked to deliver it.

Spiteful.

Ida—Why, he actually wanted to kiss me! I think he must have lost his senses. May—I think so, too, dear.
