Spring Clothes.

When you buy a suit of clothes, you're pretty much at the mercy of the clothier. The suit looks good to you, but then you don't know what's back of the looks. The inside making—the parts you don't see—is what counts, and you have got to leave it to the merchant's sense of honor to give you a suit that's properly made.

Our clothes are made especially for us. We know what's inside; you see the outside, and we guarantee every garment and to back up its good looks by giving good wear. The same can be said of Youth's and Children's Suits.

Yours for business,

J. D. LUCAS.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

Exercises at Washington College of More Than Usual Interest.

Sweet Girl Graduates and Blushing Youth Step Into Real Life. Class Day Exercises a Pleasant Feature.

Chief Judge Pearce Lays Cornerstone.

Alumni Banquet a Feature—Degrees Conferred and Prizes Awarded—List of Graduates.

OTHER SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

The month of June is always the season of the year which belongs peculiarly to the sweet girl graduate and to the blushing youth. It is the time of year above all others to which their thoughts turn with feelings of joy and gladness yet not without the appreciation of all that lies before in the rugged pathway of life. It is the consummation period of hours of patient toil and delving among books, and it is the era of the realization of all the fond hopes of those who have "scanned Virgil," or crossed the "Pons Assinorum" of college life. This year is no exception and wherever one would look, one could see the cap and gown, or observe the sweet "neglige" of those who had wrought and won. Washington College has always played a conspicuous part in the social life of the community, and commencement week has always been a distinct social feature in Chestertown. But this week has marked a new era in the exercises, for not only has the occasion been graced by the presence of the Secretary of our great State, the State Superintendent of Education and the distinguished men of our great city, but there has been instituted an era of development and improvement at the college which marks the beginning of a greater usefulness and more prominent position in the educational world for the historic institution. It has been therefore a week of great rejoicing to all those whose interest in the welfare of the college is someting more than for the occasion. The exercises of the week began on Friday evening with the in Normal Hall, at which the students and members of the faculty, together with a large number of friends, were present to enjoy a splendid programme and dainty refreshments. The hall was beautifully decorated in the society colors and with flowers, and the environment was all that one could wish to make the evening a most enjoyable one socially as well as intellectually.

SUNDAY SERMONS.

Sunday dawned fair and cool, and long before the hour of service the Methodist Episcopal Church was packed with graduates, students and friends to hear the baccalaureate sermon preached by Rev. John H. Willey, D. D., of Brooklyn, N.Y. Dr. Willey is not a stranger to Chestertown audiences. He is an orator of rare ability, and his audience was delighted with his masterly effort on the occasion. A full choir, under the leadership of Prof. A. Sagar Hall, discoursed fine music before and after the sermon.

At night the sermon was preached to the Christian Associations in Emmanuel P. E. Church by Rev. R. W. Micou, D. D., Theological Seminary, Va. The sermon was a masterpiece of eloquence and thought, and was replete with such advice as young people so much need. The music was a pleasant feature of the service. Mr. Howard Dyott, of Baltimore, who has a beautiful baritone voice, being the soloist. The faculty, graduates and students formed in a body on the college campus and marched to the churches on both occasions.

SENIOR NORMAL CLASS DAY.

An entirely new and most enjoyable feature of this commencement week was the Senior Normal Class Day exercises in Stam's Hall on Monday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The delightful manner in which the enjoyable program was rendered made Senior Normal Class Day a distinct feature of the commencement, and from the "Sadness of Parting" so ably written and delivered by the valedictorian, Miss Anna Cheseldine Roe, of Sudlersville, to the class song splendidly rendered by the class, the entire affair was unique, and displayed the splendid quality of the material to be graduated from the Normal Department of the college this year. The "Take off" of the Professors was as realistic as if Dr. Micou had acted his part, or, if Prof. Hau had delivered Miss Whaland's recitation, and the "hits" were hugely enjoyed by the audience. How Miss Sue Walton Dunbracco's little whistle in imitation of Dr. Micou, reminded us of the days when he was our beloved teacher, and how the earnestness of Miss Bertha Naomi Jump in imitation of Prof. Clarke, reminded us of the professor's enthusiasm in his class room or before an audience. Miss Elizabeth Garey "got off" her "take off" without a Hitch, and Miss America Virginia Reich sported with her Cain with consummate ease and grace. One of the noticeable features of the class was its deference to the sedate landlady, Miss Daisy Nicholson, and she looked easily the mistress of the situation. The following is the programme:

SYNOPSIS.

A crowd of College girls—Juniors—have taken a short vacation before Commencement. Having missed their return train, they were compelled to go back to the boarding-house where they had spent the night. As this prevented their attendance at the College Commencement, they, after a short discussion, planned to have a Mock Commencement at the boarding-house.

ANNIVERSARY OF MT. VERNON

LITERARY SOCIETY.

The anniversary of the Mount Vernon Literary Society was held in Stam's Hall on Monday evening, and notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large audience was present. Mr. Walter Hicks Davis, President of the Society, presided and introduced the speaker of the occasion, Hon. James E. Ellegood, '63, Salisbury, Md. Mr. Ellegood is always "good" it matters not where he is placed or what he is called upon to do. This occasion was no exception to the rule, and his address was a splendid specimen of the thought and ideals of a man of experience and broad observation. Mr. Ellegood is one of the honored and esteemed graduates of the college and his interest in the institution has not grown less with the passing of the years. He is present on every occasion when possible, and last year he and Mr. Emerson, of Connecticutt, members of the class of '63, were present at the commencement exercises and Alumni Banquet as the "boys of ye olden time". He is an eloquent speaker, and his address was much enjoyed by the intelligent audience present.

DECLAMATION CONTEST.

The Oratorical ability of the students of the college was manifested at the Annual Oratorical Contest held in Stam's Hall on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The class presented was one of the best in years and the character of their subjects indicated the superiority of the training in the department of elocution. The following were the contestants with their subjects: "Cicero's Oration Against Cataline," Lewin Wethered Barroll, Chestertown, Md.; "Peace, America's Mission," Charles Bayly Morris, Princess Anne, Md.; "Eulogy to John Paul Jones," James Thomas Kendall, Fairlee, Md.; "Good-bye, Jim," Sewell Norris Pilchard, Wilmington, Del.; "Truth," Walter Hicks Davis, Street, Md.; "Extract from Clay's Valedictory," Thos. Kemp Bordley, Chestertown, Md. The judges Hon. Jas. E. Ellegood, Prof. J. W. Wheatley and Mr. Thomas D. Bowers, awarded the Simpers medal for which the contest was held to Mr. J. Thomas Kendall. Second honor was awarded to Mr. Sewell Norris Pilchard.

Weber's band furnished excellent music for the occasion.

LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE.

Perhaps the most important feature of the commencement exercises was the laying of the cornerstone of William Smith Hall, the new $50,000 Administration building by Chief Judge James Alfred Pearce, President of the Board of Visitors and Governors of the college. The town was crowded with many distinguished guests and alumni of the college who were present to enjoy the auspicious occasion. The Secretary of State with a party of distinguished guests and alumni of the Baltimore Branch arrived in Chestertown on the State steamer at 1 o'clock where they were met at the wharf by committees of the Board of Visitors and Governors and Alumni Association in carriages and escorted to the College Gymnasium where they were tendered a luncheon. Immediately following the luncheon the party proceeded to the campus where is to stand the handsome administration building, and the exercises of the laying of the cornerstone began with an invocation by Rev. D. L. Greenfield, D. D., pastor of Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown, Md. President James W. Cain delivered a short address treating of the development of the college during his administretion and outlining plans for the future that mean much for the welfare of the institution. He was followed by the singing of "America" by the entire audience. Chief Judge James Alfred Pearce delivered an address upon the history of the college and spoke eloquently of the work the college has done and is doing for the youth of the land. He spoke of the hardships through which the college had passed during its existence and congratulated the faculty and students upon the advantages which they are enabled to enjoy through the munificience of the college authorities and the State of Maryland.

In speaking of the name given to the Hall Judge Pearce said:

"The choice of the visitors and governors was prompt and unanimous, and the hearts of those who are familiar with the early history of the college should go before my tongue to name im. The choice fell upon the founder of the college, the first principal of its faculty, the leading spirit of the College and Academy of Philadelphia and of the early days of the University of Pennsylania, the first American chosen to be a bishop of the United States, distinguished alike as a scholar and a divine, Rev. Dr. William Smith.

"Long may the William Smith Hall stand to commemorate his virtues and talents and to aid in the education of the youth of the land."

Senator Perkins presented Judge Pearce a memento from the alumni styling him the highest ideal of an American citizen.

Dr. M. Bates Stephens made the address on behalf of the State.

The tools used by Judge Pearce in laying the stone were donated by Mastermason Taylor to the Ladies' Improvement Society of Chestertown. W. S. & A. M. Culp are the builders of the new structure.

A large crowd was present to witness the ceremonies, and when the beautiful marble slab was laid the audience cheered to the echo. The stone was laid upon the northeast corner of the building facing the upper campus. It is a handsome piece of marble weighing 1800 lbs., and has inscribed upon it the following: "Erected in 1906," with the names of the Board of Visitors and Governors on one side and the following upon the other:
