RESULT IN MARYLAND

Jackson Successful in First, But Congressional Delegation in State Divided.

ELLIOTT ELECTED JUDGE IN BALTIMORE—CECIL VOTES FOR LOCAL OPTION.

Results in Other States.

The election on Tuesday seems to have been marked throughout the entire State by apathy and unprecedented lack of interest on the part of Democrats as well as Republicans. So far as the First Congressional District is concerned, we will not say that the good people of the District elected Mr. Jackson, because his majority cannot truthfully be said to come from that quarter to such a degree as it did from the venal voter. Yet the result is sufficiently decisive to warrant no contest, and the Democrats will be content to let the verdict of the ballots remain intact. The result in Kent is not surprising to those who were in a position to be on the "inside." The one surprising and regretable thing is the large Democratic stay-at-home vote, which, had it been gotten to the polls, would have carried the county for Smith. As it is, Jackson carries the county by 147, according to the following official vote:

Prec.	Dist.	Jackson.	Dulany.	Smith.
1st.	1st	143	6	167
2d	1st	159	8	178
1st	2d	131	3	133
2d	2d	155	9	141
	3d	221	14	181
1st	4th	193	6	201
2d	4th	137	7	142
1st	5th	147	7	159
2d	5th	127	3	119
	6th	234	3	154
	7th	183	2	108
		1830	68	1683

Jackson's majority 147.

RESULT IN DISTRICT.

The total vote in the District gives Jackson a plurality of 2,538, according to the following official vote:

	Smith, Dem.	Jackson, Rep.
Worcester	1,904	1,570
Somerset	1,244	2,182
Wicomico	2,189	2,428
Dorchester	1,818	2,908
Talbot	1,581	2,106
Queen Anne's	1,799	1,658
Caroline	1,729	1,694
Kent	1,683	1,830
Cecil	2,185	2,198
Total	16,132	18,670

Jackson's plurality, 2,538.

Dulany, Prohibition, 1326 votes in the District.

The result throughout the State shows that the Democrats elected three Congressmen, Talbot in the second, Wolf in the third, Gill in the fourth, while the Republicans elected Jackson in the first, Mudd in the fifth and Pearre in the sixth.

The surprises in the First District were the small majority for Smith in Queen Annes, and the unprecedented majorities for Jackson in Cecil, Talbot, Somerset and Dorchester. It is said that in these counties there was an almost unlimited use of money, and notwithstanding the solemn agreement made by Mr. Jackson to use no money in Wicomico, money was freely used, and he carried the county by 276. It is especially gratifying to note that Cecil county voted for local option, and thus maintained its high moral standing. The majority for Jackson there however, was a great surprise to the Democraric leaders.

In Baltimore city, Thomas Ireland Elliott, Esq., is elected judge of the Supreme Court, over Mr. Wm. A Wheatley, who was the Democratic candidate. Mr. Wheatley's defeat was a sore disappointment to the Democratic managers, who predicted a decisive majority for Mr Wheatley.

In no State did the result of the election create greater interest than in New York. There Hughes, backed by corporate wealth, the entire State administration, and helped by the National administration, defeated Hearst, the Democratic-Independence League Candidate, practically alone, and opposed by every newspaper in the State except his own, and by a very large number of Democrats, by the very small and significant majority of 52,00 votes out of a total of 1,500,000 cast. No wonder Mr. Hughes promises a reform administration, and no wonder that President Roosevelt intends to wield his big stick more ardently than in the past.

It is to be regretted that the reform party in Pennsylvania failed to oust the Republican corruptionists. But they have made a beginning, and a good one it was.

There is not much glory for the Republican party throughout the country in the result of the election. Their majority in Congress is materially reduced, and several of the Eastern and Middle States have been redeemed to the Democrats. Rhode Island elects a Democratic Governor.

Missouri elects the Democratic ticket and sends 12 Democratic Representatives to Congress out of a total of 16.

Pennsylvania's majority is greatly reduced; Kansas may be Democratic, and all over the country there is manifest that spirit of intolerance with the favoriteism to corporate wealth, and its fate seems to be sealed. So far as the election in Maryland is concerned, it seems to teach the lesson that the spirit of independence is growing apace, while the corrupting influence of money in some quarters is not diminishing in the least. It remains to be seen what effect the present contest will have upon the coming city and State elections.

The Republican majority in Congress will be about 70.

MYERS IS CAPTURED.

Negro Murderer Caught in Camden, N. J., by Deputy Sheriff Startt.

William Myers, colored, aged 24 years, wanted in this county for causing the death of his father, Frank Myres, on October 4 last, was arrested on Monday at the farm of Walter Ward, at Audubon, four miles from Camden, N. J., by Deputy Sheriff Startt, of Chestertown. He was taken to Camden county jail to await requisition papers from Governor Warfield.

Myers, when captured, admitted his identity, and confessed that he had beaten his aged father with a club, but did not know that he is dead. Myers said that he and his father quarreled at their home. He struck the father so hard with a club that the latter fell across a tub. One of Myers' ribs was broken by the fall and this punctured a lung, which resulted in his death about two weeks ago. The TRANSCRIPT published a full account of the assault at that time. Deputy Sheriff Startt said that the clue which led to the arrest of Myers was obtained through letters written by Myers to his wife under the name of Wm. H. Thomas. These were addressed to the wife as Maggie Johnson, her maiden name. Myers did not know that his wife is now in jail here charged with being an accessory to the crime, and the communications fell into the hands of the authorities. He told her he had a good position and had one for her, and that he would meet her at Camden on the arrival of the Ericsson boat. Deputy Sheriff Startt went instead of the wife, who now awaits her husband in the Chestertown jail.

St. John's Wins.

With a big brass band and a jolly crowd of rooters, St. John's College football team came to town last Saturday and defeated Washington College by the score of 19 to 0. In less than two minutes after the ball was put in play full-back White, of the W. C. team, was compelled to fall on the ball behind his own goal line, thus scoring two points for St. John's. After that both teams played a kicking game, St. John's getting the better of the exchanges. In the first half St. John's scored 12 points from a safety and two goals from place kicks.

In the second half they scored a touch-down from a block kick. White, of Washington College, attempted a kick from behind his own goal, which was blocked, and St. John's men fell on the ball. Not a point was made by straight football. The rooters who accompanied the team were a splendid looking set of young men, and while they had a jolly good time and rooted to beat the band, they were all perfect gentlemen, and we shall be glad to see them come again. The lineup was as follows:

St. John's.	Positions.	Washington.
Arnold	C.	Johnson
Dimpfel	R. G.	Voss
Jones	R. T.	McMaster
Brady	R. E.	Turner
Clark	L. G.	Brittingham
Gwinn	L. T.	Gibson
Bosley, Bowen	L. E.	Long, Barrol
Bordley	Q. B.	Toulson
Anderson, Warfield	R. H.	Gill, Hitch
Stevens	T. H.	Porter
Quimby	F. B.	White

Referee—H. W. Vickers, Chestertown. Umpire—Thomas Massey, Chestown.

*†So far as the weather is concerned, October and November have swapped places on the calendar.

COLLEGES TO MERGE.

St. John's and Maryland University in Combine.

The Baltimore City News of Tuesday is responsible for the following statement:

A meeting will be held at the Governor's office in Annapolis one day this week—most likely on Friday—when a merger will probably be consummated between the University of Maryland Schools of Law and Medicine of Baltimore city and St. John's College of Annapolis. The significant point of such a combination is in the fact that a State university may eventually be established. It is recalled that the University of Maryland was under control of the State from 1826 to 1839, when it was agian secured by the former regent body.

While the proposed arrangement must be regarded as somewhat tentative in this locality, it is not an untried experiment elsewhere, and it is said to have worked satifactorily in other universities, for instance, the Northwestern of Chicago and Tulane at New Orleans. Those who will have the task of drawing up the legal contract are Governor Warfield, President Thomas Fell and Mr. J. Wirt Randall, of St. John's College, and Dr. R. Dorsey Coale, Dr. Randolph Winslow, Dr. Charles Caspari, Jr., Dr. Ferdinand, J. S. Gorgas, Mr. John Prentiss Poe and Mr. William T. Brantly, of the University of Maryland. The charter of neither school will be affected.

The advantages of such a merger are mutual. As it requires four years to complete the course at St. John's, a student contemplating a medical education can save the time and expenses of a year by taking the major branches of the professional curriculum in his senior year at St. John's, the whole course requiring only seven years. The freshmen classes of the University of Maryland could draw their personnel from St. John's. Furthermore, it would place the graduates of the University of Maryland on a higher plane, by virtue of the incoming students being endowed with an academic education. On the other hand, St. John's will profit by the vast amount of advertising it will receive. The medical department of the University of Maryland alone sends out 40,000 catalouges a year. This would result in an increased size of their freshman class.

The proposed combination has frequently been discussed by Governor Warfield, President Fell, of St. John's College, Dr. Eugene F. Cordell, of the University of Maryland, and others. They suggest that the State should fulfill the duty it originally set out to perform and crown the system of education in Maryland by the establishment of a State university. In making this proposition there is no desire to deprive any of the existing schools and colleges which receive State aid of the amounts that they have been annually awarded.

Negro Murderess Will Be Released.

On Tuesday next, Novenber 13th, the big iron doors of the Maryland Penitentiary will swing open and allow one of its prisoners to walk free, after having been incarcerated there for the past fifteen years. The prisoner is Mary Brown, colored, who was carried to that instiution from Kent Couuty for the murder of Miss Annie Gale, of Still Pond. When the girl was twelve years of age she was in the employ of Miss Gale, who did everything possible to bring the girl up amid comfortable surroundings, but that inexplicable something put an evil notion into the girl's head. She began to crave money and plotted to get it. Being acquainted with Miss Gale's habits, she knew where her employer kept her money and where rat poison was secreted in a place of safety. The longing for money soon got too strong for the little negress and she made up her mind to kill Miss Gale. Some tomatoes were cooking on the stove on Oct 15, 1891, and Mary dropped enough rat poison into them to kill her mistress. Friends of Miss Gale heard she was ill and tried to see her, but the negress was shrewd enough to keep them away by saying her mistress was ill and did not wish to see them. Finally the murder was discovered, and the attitude of the girl created suspicion. She was caught spending some of the money she had stolen and admitted her guilt. Since her confinement in the penitentiary she has made a model prisoner. The matron taught her to sew, and by this means she has saved $100, which will be given her the day she is liberated.

*†Hope H. Barroll, Esq., has planted pretty shade trees in his field adjoining the lower Normal Hall campus and Mr. D. B. McMenamin's property. Mr. Barroll will lay off a number of desirable building lots, which will, no doubt, owing to there fine location command ready sale.
