DRESS GOODS.

The new fall woolens are all here. Aristic care has been used in their selection, and you will be sure to find your own particular desire among them.

Our well-known LOW PRICES reign supreme in this department and our constant effort is to give you "better goods for less money" than you can find elsewhere.

Our Milinery Exhibition

Medium Hats predominate, ostrich plume and bird-of-paradise feathers are chief ornaments. But there are small hats a plenty. The fine clipped beaver felt varieties lead; and they are preferably trimmed with pheasant tails, merle birds, wings and quills. But details are tedious and it is much easier to show you. Do not fail to look at our millinery when in need of your fall hat.

We have fortunately secured the services of Miss M. Kynast, of Baltimore, as trimmer, and artist who stands in the very front ranks of her profession and her work will speak for itself.

SOME PITHY SAYINGS.

They Indicate The Rhetorical Style of The Evangelist.

Here are some of the pithy sayings of Sam Jones on the occasion of his first visit to Baltimore, in 1886:

God can't elect any man unless he is a candidate.

The biggest fool in Baltimore is the woman who will act as barkeeper for her husband.

I'll wear garments made of wire before I'll wear garments made at 30 cents a dozen.

Every barroom is a recruiting office for hell.

Sow whiskey and you'll reap drunkards.

Christ won't stay in a house with the cellar full of whisky.

Sow little parties and Reap big ones. Sow these and reap ballrooms. Sow these and reap germans, and from these reap spiderlegged dudes, and from these you'll reap a half-thimbleful of calves'-foot jelly.

There is such a thing as the race running out in dudes, and God knows I am glad of it.

The most demoralizing and damning thing and the most insidious is the city club.

I have seen men converted from the barroom and from everything else, but never, never have I seen a man converted from a club.

I never saw a first-class billiard player who was worth the powder and lead to kill him.

What is a town woman but a country woman with Sunday clothes on?

I'd rather be dead than be in fashion.

The more bent, mashed and warped the lady's hat is the more fashionable it is.

Shall I come to Baltimore and ask your little dudes and dudines how to preach the Gospel?

A little party is only a big one with short skirts on.

Religion don't help a fellow to quit his meanness, but it helps him to stay quit.

Doubts are but the children of sin.

Repentance is quitting your meanness.

I'm not a muddy physician, and I am not kin to any.

Infidelity is nine-tenths mouth.

Give your hearts to God and he will comb the kinks out of your head.

An honest man who's seeking after God is as sure of heaven as the man who is on a full tilt after glory.

I've got as much respect for those fellows with striped clothes as I have for you who hop around at every tap of the devil's drum.

If ever my daughters cut off any of their skirts, I don't want them to cut from the top.

There's many an honest fool—and, after all, that's the best class.

I'm sorry for a fellow who's got nothing but money, for when that's out, he's out.

If you won't pay your debts nobody won't pay you.

I would rather do anything than stand up before the tongue of a mad woman.

The biggest fool I know is a woman who marries a man, knowing all the time that he is dissipated.

God gave women a little fist and never adjusted her life to guns and pistols.

You make the coffee bitter and get mad because our housbands say it ain't sweet.

You can't control your husband by argument and dictation.

I am sorry for any woman who will sit and listen to gossip about her husband.

The switch is good in its place, but its place is on the tree.

The gentle horse works anywhere, so does a gentle Methodist or Presbyterian.

Find a man better than yourself. If you can't find one, stand by yourself, although you may be with the biggest rascal in town.

A man may go to hell from the sacramental table.

God pity a Methodist the devil has got out in the woods running a sawmill instead of a passenger engine a mile a minute.

Creed is but the skin of truth set up and stuffed with something—sometimes with sawdust and sand.

If you can't follow a creed it's got no legs. You got to tote it.

When a preacher and a church haven't got much reglion, they must have some creed.

There's many a soul in heaven today who never saw a creed or heard of one.

You can't argue a man into religion, and a man can't argue his way into heaven.

I like a man who can prove by his wife that he's got religion.

I'd as soon get on my knees and pray for a silk hat as pray for faith.

Whenever a man is out of a job he sits right down and gets to telling lies on Sam Jones.

The way to get more grace is to use what you have got.

He who dresses, eats and sleeps wisely is physically religious. A true gentleman never swears.

God gave you six days and one to keep hallowed, and you want to steal that one.

If the devil wants to catch an ordinary sinner he covers up his hoofs, but if he is trying to catch a profane sinner he drops down a plain hook and the fool grabs it.

God deliver me from a foul-mouthed drummer.

AN OFFICER'S HEROISM.

When Chesapeake Met Leopard Near Site of Jamestown Exposition.

BY WILLARD HOMAN.

Norfolk, Va.—In June, 1807, the American Frigate Chesapeake had just been fitted out at the Norfolk Navy Yard, and was passing out of Hampton Roads, with a new and untried crew and only a few of her guns on board. Commodore James Barron, whose broad pennant floated from the masthead, was, however, proud of his ship, as she was new and was considered one of the finest models in existence, and was named for the great wateway near his birthplace, at Hampton. Nevertheless the ill-starred Chesapeake was that day destined to begin a career of misfortune which was to end only with the death of Lawrence and her capture by the Frigate Shannon.

As the Chesapeake passed Sewell's Point, on Hampton Roads, where the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition is to be held in 1907—just one hundred years later—she was sighted by the lookout of the British Frigate Leopard, lying in Lynnhaven Bay nearby. The Leopard, accompanied by another British war vessel, put on all sail and ran out to sea ahead of the Chesapeake. The Chesapeake followed them to sea, her men busily engaged in stowing the mass of rigging that littered her decks.

Beyond the Capes of British Frigate signalled that her captain had a message for Commodore Barron. The message was a letter from Vice Admiral Berkeley, commander of the British fleet in American waters, directing all British cruisers to stop and search the United States Ship Chesapeake wherever she be encountered, and to take from her, if found, four deserters from the British Navy. At this time the people of the United States were much excited over the impressment of American seamen by the British, to serve in their ships of war.

Commodore Barron refused to allow the search, and made sail to proceed. The British ships, thereupon, hauled off and gave the Chesapeake a boardside, killing and wounding twenty-seven men. On board the Chesapeake every effort was made to return the fire, but few of the guns could be brought to bear on the enemy, and no fuses and little ammunition were avilable.

A lieutenant on board, maddened at the thought of his ship's surrendering without firing a shot, ran to the cookstove in the galley, and picking up a live coal in his bare hand, returned to the gun, and succeeded in discharging it, using the coal as fuel fuse. The Chesapeake was obliged to haul her colors down.

The British took from the ship four men, who they claimed were British subjects. This incident was largely responsible for the outbreak of the war of 1812.

A Little Hero.

Thursday morning Mrs. George Frippler, who resides at Cowantown, Cecil county, left her home to go to a nearby farm to work. She left her two children, the elder not quite six years of age, locked in the house.

During her absence, the house, which was a small frame strncture, caught fire. The elder child got to a window and climbed out; but, hearing his little sister on the inside crying, he climbed back into the burning building, and was endeavoring to help her out of the window when neighbors discovered that the house was on fire, and hastened to it, rescuing both the children, the younger of whom had nearly all the hair burned from its head. A portion of the furniuture was saved, but the building was entirely consumed.

Shot While Ducking.

H. Lynn Worthington while out ducking Wednesday on the Susquehanna Flats accidentally shot himself. In the act of picking up his gun the weapon was discharged and the load entered his abdomen. He was brought ashore and hurried to his country home, at Rising Sun, Md., where he is under the care of physicians.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.
