"How Good This Suit Feels!"

is the delighted exclamation of every wearer of our clothes.

The grateful sense of ease and comfort the knowledge that he is looking his best, and the consciousness that others regard him with approval makes a man expand his chest, and step out more confidently.

As in past years, our line of Men's Boy's and Children's clothing is second to none in our midst and we are on fairly even terms with the larger city houses, with prices ranging from $5.00 to $18.00, and the price on each individual garment always the very lowest, consistent with good quality. Prices marked upon everything in plain figures—one price to all—so the child can deal here as safely as the parent.

Careful buying and fair selling has been the key note of our success.

We want you to come see us.

Yours for business,

Eyes Examined FREE AT ROTE'S

I have succeeded in arranging with DR. SAMUES H. PINE, one of the best Refracting Opticians of Baltimore, Maryland, to examine eyes in my store every TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., beginning December 4th, 1906.

If you are troubled with sick headache, pains in the top or back of the head, or in the eyes, come and have them thoroughly examined by Dr. Pine. If these troubles are caused by defective vision, the doctor will tell you so, and if from other causes he will be just as candid with you.

Dr. Pine comes to me very highly recommended and a great number of you know him already as being thoroughly competent and reliable.

Bring your old glasses with you and see if they are the proper kind. There will be no charge for examination and he will fit with glasses at the most reasonable prices. At

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM MORRIS.

Mr. William Morris, one of our most highly esteemed and respected citizens, died at his home on Queen street last Saturday morning at eleven o'clock after a lingering illness, aged 72 years. Few men there were in this community and indeed throughout the county who enjoyed to a larger extent the confidence and esteem of his fellowmen than did William Morris. He was one of those substantial and solid characters which always leaves the world poorer when he leaves it, and yet while living made his influence felt for good both morally and socially. The deceased spent the greater part of his life in farming his fine estate near town, and in managing the estates of others. His beautiful home near town was always open to his many friends and the hospitality which he dispensed therein was genuine and sincere in every respect. Mr. Morris was not only an ideal husband and father, making his home dear to those he loved, and rearing a family of children who have become an honor to the community, and who occupy positions of trust and responsibility in the affairs of the county, but he was a christian man, whose love for his church made him one of its most valuable members, and whose influence, borne of strict integrity and scrupulous honesty, made the world richer by his living and poorer by his departure.

Some years ago, when the ravages of age began to affect his body he retired from his farm and removed to his home on Queen street, where, surrounded by a loving wife, who had been his constant companion for nearly fifty years, and his devoted children, he passed his days in quiet and peace until he was stricken with the dread disease which proved fatal. Throughout his long illness he manifested that same manly courage that characterized his active life, and though he realized that his life work was nearly finished, he was calm in his suffering, and resigned to the will of his Maker. His death was as peaceful as the coming of eventide, and he answered the summons like the great good man that he was. William Morris has left an influence behind him which will live long after to-day. He has given to the world the fruit of a well-spent life, and his life will always be worthy of emulation by those who knew him.

He is survived by a widow and five children—one daughter, Mrs. Elmore Skirven, of Baltimore, and four sons, Messrs. Walter T. Morris, a prominent farmer and dairyman, J. Elwood Morris, Register of Wills for Kent county, John E. Morris, County Commissioner, and William F. Morris, a prominent farmer.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Queen street, on Monday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. M. Sheridan, pastor of St. James M. P. Church, of which the deceased was one of the most prominent members for 24 years, assisted by Rev. Dr. D. L. Greenfield, pastor of Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown. Interment was made in Chester cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John P. Nicholson, Robert G. Nicholson, Thomas J. Willis, Samuel Vannort, George W. Hatcherson and Joseph R. Usilton. A quartette from St. James choir composed of Mrs. Jesse H. Usilton, Mrs. John Gale, Messrs. Jesse H. Usilton and Romie Skirven sang favorite selections during the service. Undertaker J. E. Ferguson had charge of the funeral arrangements.

MRS. WILLIAM S. CULP.

Mrs. Ida Isabella Culp, wife of Mr. Wm. S. Culp, died at her home on Washington avenue, yesterday afternoon at a quarter past one o'clock, after a lingering illness, aged 63 years. The deceased was a Miss Melvin before marriage, and was born on the Melvin homestead in Morgnec. She was a lady of remarkable intelligence and refinement of character, and prior to her illness, was of a bright and most attractive disposition. During her long illness she had received the loving and devoted attention of her husband and family, who did everything in their power for her comfort. Only two weeks ago, her brother, Mr. Willard Melvin, passed to his reward, and the visit of the Death Angel to the same family twice in so short a time, evokes the sympathy of the entire community for those who survive. But it is comforting to know that death does not end all, with such good people as were Mrs. Culp and her lamented brother.

The deceased is survived by a husband, Mr. Wm. S. Culp, of the well-known firm of contractors and builders, W. S. & A. M. Culp, and four children, one daugter, Miss Susie Belle Culp, of Baltimore, and three sons, Messrs. William M., Alwyn M., of Chestertown, and Harvey Culp, of Ohio. Funeral services will be held to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon at two o'clock from her late residence on Washington avenue. Interment in Chestertown cemetery.

PROF. LOUIS LACY BEATTY.

Prof. Louis Lacy Beatty, school examiner for Queen Annes county, died on Saturday, at 12 o'clock, at his home on Commerce street, Centreville, of diabetis, aged 56 years. Prof. Beatty was one of the best known educators on the Eastern Shore, and had filled the position of County Superindent for 20 years. He was born at Ingleside, August 3, 1850, and received his education at Dickinson College. He held the office of County Surveyor from 1881 to 1886, and during the latter years he was chosen County School Superintendent. For six years he was a member of the State Board of Education, and was always greatly interested in education, especially in his native county. He was a director of the Queen Annes National Bank, of Centreville, having been appointed last April to succeed the late Judge Edwin H. Brown. He is survived by a widow and one daughter.

E. STERLING EVANS.

The funeral of E. Sterling Evans, son of County Commissioner John H. Evans, of Queen Annes County, took place on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of his parents, Rolph's wharf, conducted by Rev. Sewell R. Hepburn, rector of the Church Hill Protestant Episcopal Church. Interment was made in Chester cemetery. The funeral procession was one of the largest seen in this town in years, attesting the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Wilbur W. Hurlock, W. E. B. Faithful, J. Carroll Catlin, J. Arthur Reed, Josiah and Paul Massey. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. Quite a number of friends of the family attended the funeral from Chestertown.

CARVILLE H. MASLIN.

Mr. Carville H. Maslin, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Havre de Grace, died at the home of his son, Mr. F. S. Maslin, at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon after and illness of about five months from a complication of diseases, aged 74 years. The deceased was a native of Kent county, and the last surviving member of a large family. He had spent a greater portion of his life in Have de Grace. He leaves four sons: Jackson W., Harry C. and Frank S. Maslin, of Havre de Grace, and Samuel J. Maslin, of Baltimore, and two daughters, Mrs. H. H. Bowden and Mrs. S. Irvin Ivins, both of Havre de Grace.

FOOT BALL NOTES.

Washington College went to Emmitsburg, Md., last Friday to tackle the Mt. St. Mary's College team. They not only were compelled to tackle the team but they had to tackle the referee and the crowd as well, and the result was that the college boys were defeated by the score of 10 to 5. The home boys stated that on a neutral field they could have walloped the boys from the mountains to the tune of about 30 to 0, but they were content to loose the game in the face of such rank decisions and they took their defeat very gracefully. The boys returned to Baltimore at night, and on Saturday morning they boarded the train for Annapolis where they saw the first half of the St. John's-Western Maryland game. They saw just enough to convince them that St. John's was doomed to another defeat, and then they came back to Baltimore and took the boat for home. Every body was happy, even Coach Mahony, who, though he failed to get up in time to go to Annapolis with the boys, was never-the-less in good spirits.

St. John's defeat by Western Maryland on Saturday puts her out of the running for the Championship in the Inter-collegiate series.

Washington plays Maryland Agricultural College today at College Park. If Washington is successful, the championship pennant will float from the top of College Hill because the game which was forfected by Western Maryland to M. A. C. and which was ordered by the committee of the Inter-collegiate League to be played at a future date, will, in all probability not be played. The standing to date is as follows:

	Games Won.	Games Lost.	Persentage.
M. A. C.	1	0	1000
W. C.	1	1	500
W. M. C.	1	1	500
St. John's	1	2	333

Should Washington win today the fina standing will be:

	Games Won.	Games Lost.	Persentage
W. C.	2	1	666
W. M. C.	1	1	500
M. A. C.	1	1	500
St. John's.	1	2	333

It can readily be seen how great the interest in today's game is. The boys on College Hill and those interested in the college in town will await with feverish anxiety the result of the game, and if we win, there will be such a yell as that it will be heard at College Park. Give us the chance, men of Washington, to try our lungs.

Wedding Bells.

COPPAGE—GOLT.

Miss Harriett Glanville Golt, only daughter of Mrs. Mary Francis Golt, of Centreville, and Dr. Wm. Guyther Coppage, of Church Hill, were married on Wednesday by Rev. Walter B. Stehl, assisted by Rev. James A. Mitchell. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John P. Stelle, Sr., of Baltimore, and Mrs. Edward Bourke Emory, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Dr. Arthur Hebb, of Baltimore, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. John P. Stelle, Jr., and H. Ross Coppage, of Baltimore, Norman Dudley, Herbert H. Warren and W. Bourke Faithful, of Church Hill, and Edward Bourke Emory, of Centreville.

Their 30th Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Burgess celebrated the 30th anniversary of their wedded life on Thursday evening last at their home in Edesville. A most delightful supper, consisting of roast turkey, duck, pig, chicken, chicken salad, oysters in all styles, splendid bread, ices and fancy cakes, was served to the many friends who called during the evening to extend best wishes and to leave tokens of esteem. Every one present enjoyed the occasion immensely, and at eleven o'clock took their departure wishing Mr. and Mrs. Burgess many more years of happiness. The presents which were numerous, were in silver, china, linen and cut glass. Among those present were:—

Mrs. Hettie Crosby, Mr. Wm. Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wood, Mrs. George E. Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leary, Mr. Ellsworth Leary, Mr. Columbus Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hadaway, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens, Mr. Frank Coleman, Miss Annie Coleman, Miss Elizabeth Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller, Mr. Marion Miller, Rev. J. W. Parris, Paul Parris, Mr. Wm. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. W. Crew, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hydie Thompson, Miss Myrtle Durding, Miss Ruth Durding, Miss Hattie Lewis, Miss Mamie Wickes, Mr. Nueton Maslin.

With Our Advertisers.

Peculair.—A peculair feature about the sacrifie jewelry sale by Davis & Smith is the bow window attraction. All articles 25c. See their advertisement in this paper elsewhere.

Take advantage of the offer to bank with us. We sold goods to strangers and our people and they save 50 per cent. The sales are yet going on and we ask you to view our 25c bow window offer.

Smith & Graham have a special advertisement on the first page in which they offer for Monday Nov. 26, a premium of a five gallon galvanized air pressure oil can on all cash purchases of $5 and over. See advertisement and profit by calling on them on above date.

Dr. Samuel H. Pine, one of the best refracting opticians of Baltimore, will be at H. B. Rote's jewelry store every Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., for the purpose of examining eyes free of charge. See advertisement front page. Rote's jewelry store.

Read the number of changes of advertisemts in this morning's paper. You will find something interesting in the following changes: B. S. Sutton, Blacks, Medders & Co., Still Pond, H. F. Jefferson, J. H. Sides, J. D. Lucas, J. F. Thompson and H. B. Rote. And don't forget Smith & Davis' big sacrifice sale of jewelry, etc.

Supt. Melvin's Report.—The annual report of Superintendent of county schools Milton Melvin appears in our advertising columns and should be read by every taxpayer in the county. It shows how carefully and well the financial affairs of our schools are conducted, and what efforts the county authorities are making to improve the public school system of the county. After meeting all the current expenses the report shows a gratifying cash balance in banks of $2653.47. We are advised, however, that notwithstanding the great care in the expenditure of the funds the receipts are hardly adequate to meet all necessary expenditures.

To be Given Increase in Sarlary.—Prof. L. J. Smith, principal, of the Chestertown High School, was before the Board of School Commissioners on Wednesday at a special meeting, to ask for at increase in salary, stating that he had an offer paying more money than he is now receiving as principal of the school. The board passed an order granting the increase for next year, Mr. Copper dissenting, on the ground that the finances of the Board are not now, nor will they likely be sufficient next year to justify any increases in salary. Prof Smyth's salary next year will be $1000.
