"How Good This Suit Feels!"

is the delighted exclamation of every wearer of our clothes.

The grateful sense of ease and comfort the knowledge that he is looking his best, and the consciousness that others regard him with approval makes a man expand his chest, and step out more confidently.

As in past years, our line of Men's Boy's and Children's clothing is second to none in our midst and we are on fairly even terms with the larger city houses, with prices ranging from $5.00 to $18.00, and the price on each individual garment always the very lowest, consistent with good quality. Prices marked upon everything in plain figures—one price to all—so the child can deal here as safely as the parent.

Careful buying and fair selling has been the key note of our success.

We want you to come see us.

Yours for business,

J. D. LUCAS,

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN N. WILSON

The funeral of Mrs. John N. Willson, nee Miss Mary Emily Wallis, daughter of F. Adolphus and Mary G. Willson Wallis, took place at Landover, Prince George county, Md., Friday morning last.

Her remains were brough to Rock Hall on Friday afternoon and laid at rest beside her mother in St. John's cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. Notly O. Willson, Sr., A. Carroll Willson, B. Neale Willson, Wm. W. Camp, T. B. Durding and John Hadaway.

The lovable character and the many good traits of the deceased were beautifully alluded to by her pastor during the last sad rites.

A husband and four children, also ten brothers and sisters are left to mourn their imparable loss.

The sisters and brothers of Mrs. Wilson are: Mesdames C. H. Jarman, of Millington, H. E. Perry, of Queenstown, T. Reverdy Sasscer and J. Percy Wilson, of Prince George county; Misses Nannie Wallis, of Mississippi and Neal Wallis, of Annapolis, and Messrs. F. A. Willis, of Philadelphia, John C. Wallis, of Queenstown, Thos. S. Wallis, of Washington, D. C., and Henry Hill Wallis, of Richmond, Va.

J. PORTER LUSBY

J. Porter Lusby, one of the largest land owners in Cecil County, died suddenly at his home, near Cecilton, early Sunday morning, aged about 71 years. He had been in poor health for severa years. Mr. Lusby started life a poor boy and by thrift and good business tactics, at the time of his death was the owner of six of the finest farms in Cecil and Kent counties. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Ada Cox, daughter of ex-Secretary of State, Nathaniel Cox. His second wife, who survives him, was Miss Willis, daughter of Dr. Samuel Willis, of Sassafras. Four children survive, Mrs. J. Edgar Davis, Mrs. Lambert Davis, Samuel Willis Lusby and Miss Emma Lusby. In politics Mr. Lusby was a Democrat and an active worker for his party. For many years he was one of the managers for the Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Cecil County. He was related to the family of the late Josiah Lusby, of Chestertown.

MR. H. BLACKISTON BALL.

Mr. H. Blackiston Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ball, of Kennedyville, died at the home of his parents at 9.30 o'clock on Sunday morning, of typhoid fever, aged 19 years. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. J. Hooker, pastor of Kennedyville M. P. Church. The remains were taken to Princess Anne, the former home of the deceased's parents, on Tuesday morning for interment. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters, Miss Bessie Ball, of Baltimore; Mrs. Geo. W. Brown, Princess Anne; and Mrs. Lester Carrow, of Mississippi. He also leaves one brother, Mr. George Ball, of Princess Anne. The deceased was a nephew of Mrs. Dr. J. T. Twilley, of Chestertown. Undertaker Wm. H. Krusen, of Still Pond, had charge of the funeral arrangements.

DOCTOR WILLIAM B. TURNER.

Doctor Wiliam B. Turner, brother of Mr. R. T. Turner, Jr., of Betterton, died at Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday, Dec. 5, 1906. Dr. Turner was a native of this county. He graduated in medicine and practiced his profession successfully for some years in Baltimore, where he married a Miss Poke. Dr. Turner retired from the practice of medicine in 1892 and accepted an important position with the Pennsylvania Railroad in its Western department, in whose employ he remained until the time of his death.

MISS DAISY PEARCE

Miss Daisy Pearce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pearce, of Eastern Neck Island, died last Saturday evening in Baltimore, of typhoid fever, aged 17 years. The deceased was one of the most popular and attractive young ladies of the Island. She had only recently gone to Baltimore to take a position. The remains were taken to Rock Hall by the steamer and interred in Wesley Chapel cemetery.

Letters to Old Kris.—We have received a number of letters to old Kris from our little friends, and will mail them all to him and see that he receives them in ample time to send each child all they ask for. We will certainly take good care of our little friends and hope they will all have a happy Christmas and get lots of books, toys, sleds, dolls, skates, horns, candy, nuts, apples, oranges, rasins and figs. They must be good little girls and boys, however, or Old Kris might not come to their homes Christmas eve.

CHURCH UNION PLANS DEVELOP.

Committee Finds no Barriers to Merger.

Reports submitted at the recent meetings in Pittsburg, concerning the organic consolidation of the Congregationalist, United Brethren and Methodist Protestant Churches contain recommendations concerning the policy and vested interests of the several bodies affected. "We find no insuperable barriers to organic union" is the recent report of the subcommittee appointed by the Tri-church council of the three denominations. The findings of the subcommittee will be learned with much interest by church men, as there were many who entertained fears that it would find difficulty in making a report that would be at all satisfactory to the three denominations interested. Fort he present, for prudential reasons, the report recommends each denomination shall retain its property in its own name, and in this respect neither of the three denominations now uniting will be formally extinguished. It is recommended that the work of the Charitable Societies be concentrated as far as possible, but that the old societies may continue in legal existence. Funds held by such a society, given to it because of its name, could then remain untouched in its hands, and bequests hereafter falling to it, under wills already executed, would also be preserved. For similar reasons, it is also recommended that colleges and seminaries be left for the present precisely as they are. The most important recommendations of the report are as follows:

Let each church be left free in its local affairs to conduct its worship and business in its own manner. Let the local churches be organized into forms of fellowship as follows:—(1) The District Association; (2) the Annual Conference; (3) the National Council.

Let each Annual Conference at its regular meeting elect a pastoral supply committee to aid in keeping the churches supplied with pastors and the ministers with churches.

Ministers in good standing in any denomination represented in the union shall be ministers of the united churches.

So long as the autonomies of the three denominations are maintained it is agreed that in voting on questions in the National Council, when requested by a majority of the delegates in any one of the three denominations, the vote shall be taken by denominations, it requiring a majority of each denomination to carry. All other questions arising shall be determined by a majority vote of the councils.

The Tri-church Council met at Dayton, O., last February, and it is proposed to have another meeting next February, at which time the reports of the subcommittees on vested interests and polity will be officially announced to the churches, provided they are adopted by the council.

Social Notes.

Miss Violet R. Beck royally entertained at dinner a number of friends at her beautiful home, "Heigh Park," on-the-Lankford, near Lankford, last Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Perkins. The spacious dining room was tastefully and artistically decorated with potted flowers, ferns and plants with mammoth boquets of huge chrysanthemums adorning the tables, scenting the atmosphere with their fragrance The tables were neatly arranged and laden with the luscious bivalve and toothsome salads temptingly prepared and at which the guests gathered and feasted to their hearts' desire. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Perkins, Misses Sara E. Beck, Isabel Beck, Florence Beck, of St. Louis, Bertie Beck, Alice Gemmill, of Baltimore, Sarah Penning, of Havre de Grace; Messrs J. Arthur Bradley, Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., Dr. Frank B. Hines, R. Snowden Thomas, C. W. Reinhart and Soloman Scott Beck.

Fire in Town and County.

The citizens of the town and worshippers in the churches were startled on Sunday morning by the alarm of fire, which was found to be in a pile of papers in the back yard of Mr. George Z. Roland's store. A quantity of hot ashes were thrown on the paper, which caused it to ignite. The volunteer fire department responded quickly to the alarm and the blaze was subdued before any serious damage was done. Had the blaze occured at night, it may have resulted in a serious conflagration.

The barn, out-buildings and fodder-ricks on the farm of Mr. Wm. H. DuShane, situated near Black's Station, were destroyed by fire early Monday morning, together with a quantity of grain, hay and some farming implements. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to have originated from the gnawing of a match by a mouse. Two horses and two colts were also burned. The loss is about $2000, partly covered by insurance in companies respresented by Mr. Tilghman Shafer, of Kennedyville.

Wedding Bells.

BOWERS—LUSBY.

Miss Marian Josephine Lusby, daughter of the late Mr. Josiah Lusby, of Chestertown, and Mr. Thomas Dodd Bowers, junior editor of the Chestertown Transcript, were married at 7 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of the bride, corner Main and Mill street. The ceremony was performed in front of an altar of palms and ferns, by Rev. J. S. Bowers, of Baltimore, brother of the groom, assisted by Rev. D. L. Greenfield, pastor of Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown. The bride was dressed in a taylor-made traveling suit of blue broadcloth with hat and gloves to match and was attended by little Miss Emily Lusby, her neice, as flower girl, costumed in a beautiful gown of white organdy trimmed with valencene lace and pink ribons and wore white slippers. The wedding marches were played by Miss Clara Usilton, organist of Christ M. P. Church. The bride was the recipient of numerous and valuable presents in cut glass, silver, china, ornaments, etc.

The bride and groom left on the 7.50 train for an extended trip. They will be at home on Washington avenue after December 18th.

MARSHALL—MERRICK.

No society event in recent years has attracted as much attention in the neighborhood of Sudlersville as the wedding of Miss Martha Louise Merrick, the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Merrick, Jr., to Mr. Randolph Marshall, son of J. A. Marshall, Esq., of Lynchburg, Va., and great-grandson of Chief Justice Marshall, of Virginia. The ceremony was performed at St. Andrews Chapel, Sudlersville, Wednesday at high noon, by Rt. Rev. Wm Forbes Adams, Bishop of the Diocese of Easton, assisted by Rev. S. R. Hepbron, rector.

The Chapel was attractively decorated in chrysanthemums and a rope of ivy and smilax; was darkened and illuminated with candles.

The bride entered the church upon the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom where the nuptial knot was tied, the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony being used.

The bride's gown was of faille francaise, a la princesse, trimmed with dutchess lace, and she carried a court bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley. Her going-away gown was of brown broadcloth with hat and gloves to match.

The groom, best man and ushers were attired in evening dress.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party and invited guests at "Hillton Grange," near Sudlersville the home of the bride, and the newly married couple took the 3 o'clock train for a tour of northern points. They will be at home, Lynchburg, Va., December 18th. They were the recipients of many beautiful and expensive gifts.

The bride is wellknown in Kent county, where she has relatives and friends.

URIE—RIGNEY.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Chestertown M. E. Parsonage last Saturday evening by the pastor, Rev. W. L. White, the contracting parties being Mr. James H. Urie and Mrs. Sarah J. Rigney, both of Baltimore. The ceremony was performed at 8 P. M. in the parlor of the parsonage.

LECATES—WOODALL.

The wedding of Miss Eleanor Griffith Woodall, daughter of Mr. Andrew W. Woodall, of Georgetown, to Mr. William Daily LeCates, of Baltimore, was solemnized last Saturday at the home of the bride's father, in Georgetown.

BIGGERS—BURTON.

Last Wednesday evening at eight o'clock Rev. Mr. White married Mr. Harry C. Biggers, of Chestertown, and Miss Hassie M. Burton, of Cecilton.

GALENA ITEMS.

On Sunday morning the outbuildings on the Knight farm near Blacks Station, tenanted by Mr. A. T. Dushane, was destroyed by fire together with five head of fine horses.

Capt. Blunt moved from our town on Tuesday to the fine farm of Irving Dempsey near town.

The Festival held in the band hall was quite a success having realized $50.

Mr. Irving Vansant, of Philadelphia, spent Thanksgiving with his mother here.

Misses Evelyn Ford and Edyth Spry are visiting friends in Baltimore.

Chicken pox is the latest. Some talk of the school being closed.

Mrs. Wm. Spry left on Monday for a weeks stay with her husband in Philadelphia.

Mr. Edward Peacock is having his houses beautified by a coat of paint and other improvements.

One of our young ladies, it is reported, expects to start for Denver soon for her health.
