THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brice After A Happy Union of Fifty Years, Celebrate the Event Amidst the Congratulations of an Unbroken Family and a Host of Friends.

Few people indeed there are to whom is given the privilege to live together for fifty long years, and rear a family of six children without a break in the entire family; and yet our esteemed friends, Mr. and Mrs. James Brice, of Washington avenue enjoy this rare privilege, and on Sunday the actual fiftieth anniversary day, surrounded by their six children, their wives and husbands, and their thirteen grandchildren the happy couple renewed their nuptial vows, and told of many interesting reminiscences of their happy wedded life. Since 1858 they have traveled life's pathway together, smoothing out its rough places, bearing together its burdens, experiencing few of the shadows of death, and caring for those whom God has given to them, in fruguality and careful training, until in 1908, just fifty years after, when the frost of years has whitened their locks, and the hand of time has furrowed their cheeks, they enjoy all the comforts of life, the love of children and the esteem of a host of friends. This was beautifully evidenced on Monday evening when the public celebration was given at their beautiful home on Washington avenue, and where from 8 to 11 o'clock all their children and more than two hundred friends were present to pay their respects and to leave beautiful remembrances of their love and esteem.

In front of a bower of ferns and rubber plants in the spacious parlor, over which were suspended in gilt figures 1858--1908; Mr. and Mrs. Brice assisted by their six children, with Mrs. Harry Brice, Mrs. James Brice, Mrs. Wm. Brice and Miss Watkins, received the congratulations of the guests, who were introduced by Mrs. W. L. White. Beautiful American Beauty roses, the gift of Mr. Marion DeK. Smith, Jr., and pink carnations the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Copper and Miss Palmer Carrol, adorned the parlor. After extending congratulations, the guests were ushered into the dining room by Misses Nannie Brice, Katie Little and Nellie Nicholson. The color scheme here was pink. From the center of the ceiling to the corner of the spacious dining table were suspended streamers of pink crepe paper, and festoons of holly and evergreen deftly arranged by Miss Anne Smith, made a particularly attractive scene, when the soft light of beautiful candelabras was added. Dainty refreshments of ices, fruits and fancy cakes with coffee were served, in charge of Mrs. Dr J. T. Twilley, Mrs. Thomas D. Bowers and Misses Anne Smith, Edna Watkins and Ethel Brice.

The presents received were numerous and costly, among them being three handsome leather chairs, the gifts of their children, articles of gold, cut glass, silver and fancy needle work. There was also displayed a soup tureen, which was among the bridal presents of fifty years ago. A singular coincidence in connection with the event was noted by Mrs. Brice who stated that the day before they were married there occurred a severe thunder storm, and on the day of their anniversary (Sunday), there was another thunder storm. The happy couple have the best wishes of the community for a continuance of their wedded life. The following members of the family attended:

From Baltimore—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brice and daughter, Miss Ethel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watkins and daughters, Edna, Adelaide and Isabel, and son, Rickards, Mr. and Mrs. James Brice and daughter, Adele.

From Philadelphia—Mrs. Charles H. Moore and sons, Brice and Charles H. Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brice and daughter, Fannie.

From Berlin, Md.—Mr. and Mrs. G. Hines Thomas and son, Emory.

From Chestertown—Messrs. Earle and Harvey Thomas.

Wedding Bells.

MASSEY—STRONG.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Strong, near Rock Hall, was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, when their daughter, Mary Hoffman, became the bride of Mr. Paul Curtis Massey, one of our prosperous young farmers. Promptly at the appointed hour, to the strains of the wedding march, skilfully rendered by Miss Blanche DeFord, the bridal party entered the spacious parlor, where under an arch of evergreen from which was suspended a marriage bell the ceremeny was performed by Rev. Father Ott, of Newark, Del. The bride entered the parlor upon the arm of her father by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a handsome travelling suit of brown chiffon broadcloth, with hat and gloves to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Hattie, as maid of honor, who wore white organdie trimmed with valenciennes lace. The groom was attended by his best man, Mr. Spencer Biddle. Immediatly following the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served in the dinning room, which was beautifully trimmed in evergreen, holly and mistletoe. Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends attended. Mr. and Mrs. Massey left via Rock Hall for a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside on the Westcott Deep Point farm in Quaker Neck. They were the recipients of many handsome and valuble present.

MERRITT—VINYARD.

Wednesday afternoon of last week at 2.30 o'clock, Miss E. Louise Vinyard and Amos Roue Merritt, both popular young people of Warwick, were married in the Methodist Protestant Church at Warwick by Rev. C.M. Cullom. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of "O Promise Me," rendered by Miss Bessie W. Gunkel. A temple designed of crepe paper, which bedecked an arch, from which was suspended two wedding bells, is where they were pronounced husband and wife. The bride was gowned in a beautiful traveling suit of brown broadcloth and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss S. Ethel Vinyard, who wore brown broadcloth and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. Guy Johnson. T. Bayard Vinyard, a brother, and William J. B. Lofland, a cousin of the bride, were ushers. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother. The predominant colors at the house were green and white. Mr. and Mrs. Merritt left the same evening on a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will occupy their new residence in Warwick.

The Transcript's Service to the Public.

Another instance of the service which the publicity afforded by the TRANSCRIPT as to the misdoings of public corporations and public carriers comes to light this week. Messrs. Stavely & Bowers, the large contractors at Lynch's, have been much annoyed by losses and breakage of goods shipped over the railroad, and last month put in a claim of $2.65 for the last item of damage sustained by them. As usual the railroad company paid no attention to their claim, and they forthwith placed it in the hands of their attorney. The railroad company was given until December 20th to adjust, and failing to do so, suit was promptly brought. The result was a check for the full amount, including cost and damage, on Monday last. The law is so plain in these cases that the railroad companies and the steamboat companies may as well, soon or late, recognize that when they carry goods they are "insurers" and pay the bills of our citizens promptly when they are duly presented. The TRANSCRIPT proposes to continue the campaign it has instituted. Next!

THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Mr. L. Harris Crewe, of Near Betterton, Whirls Along on a Train Whose Engineer Received a Stroke of Paralysis While at the Throttle.

Just imagine yourself on a limited express train, flying through space at the rate of sixty miles an hour, with a paralyzed engineer at the throttle, and a terrible wreck with loss of many lives inevitable, had not the fireman of the train discovered the cause of the mad dash of the engine through towns and villages. This was the thrilling experience of Mr. L. Harris Crewe, of near Betterton, last week while returning from a visit to Rhode Island and Providence. Mr. Crewe says that while enroute to his destination he noticed that the speed of the train was becoming faster with every turn of the wheels, and towns and villages were approached and passed without blowing the whistle. This attracted the attention of the fireman, and in going to see what was the trouble, he found the engineer unconscious on the floor of the cab, and the train rushing on like mad. The fireman took the throttle and succeeded in bringing the train to a standstill just in time to avoid a terrible collision that would have meant death to many if not all of the passengers. The realization of what had occurred caused a great commotion among the passengers of the express, but after some delay the train was brought to its destination by the fireman, and the stricken engineer was taken to a hospital. Mr. Crewe said that it was the most thrilling experience he had ever had, and when he looked out of the coach and saw another train only a short distance ahead on the same track, the horror of what might have happened was sickening.
