DON'T!

Of course you intend to get a cream separator soon. Before you do, just show this picture to your wife. The three light, simple bowls on the right are the popular Sharples Dairy Tubular Cream Separator—and the four fearfully complicated, heavy "bucket bowls" on the left are samples of the kind used in ordinary Separators.

Don't you think your wife will want to wash the heavy, complicated kind, for she won't. Not by a jug full! She'll want the Tubular.

Don't think you'll want to pay the repairs on any one of these complicated bowls, for you won't. Not much! You'll prefer the Tubular.

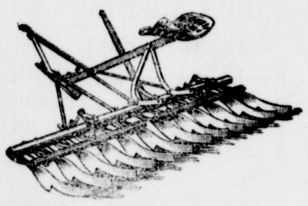

Well, we are selling the Tubular. Bring your wife to see it. We'll show you why it's the best separator made, and how it may even double your butter money.
