SHARPLES
Dairy Tubular Cream Separator.

Here are five separators—the largest Sharples Dairy Tubular in the middle and two "back breakers" on each side. The machines are all set so the crank axles are level. Which kind for you? The girl is 5 feet 4 inches tall. We handle Tubulars exclusively. Tubulars have waist-low supply cans and other advantages over all other separators. Call and examine Tubular.

Orchards to be Inspected.

College Park, Md., June 30.—Instructions have been issued by the officers of the State Horticultural Department directing the local inspectors appointed in the various counties to commence work of inspection of orchards for San Jose scale and peach yellows July 1. These men, 27 in all, were required to take a course at the Maryland Agricultural College last winter to better fit them for the work of identification of the various insects and plant diseases and to give up-to-date information to the growers for their control.

This work on the part of the department has been a great help to the orchardists throughout the State, as the inspectors come in personal contact with the growers and can point out such infected trees and give advice as to treatment. It also enables the officers of the department to learn of direfully neglected cases where the scale or yellows is allowed to stand without treatment. In such cases the officers endeavor to impress upon the individual owner the great necessity of treatment in order to save his trees as well as protect his neighbors. If the treatment recommended is not applied it is then necessary that the law be enforced.

While the officers, Prof. T. B. Symons, State Entomologist, and Prof. J. B. S. Norton, State Pathologist, will give all the co-operation possible in aiding in the control of these pests, they must perform their duty to orchardists of the State in enforcing the law where necessary.

Cost of the Big Stick.

Tuesday the fiseal year ended. The figures show approximately that the Roosevelt adminstration has achieved a deficit of $60,000,000. The receipts for the year as compared with the previous year have fallen off $64,000,000; expenditures have increased $80,000,000, being even greater than during the time of the Spanish war. We are keeping up a war stride in time of peace. It was no fault of the administration that disbursements were not heavier.

Having reached a financial position where the complete dissipation of the surplus in the Federal Treasury is within hailing distance and the necessity for increased taxation forshadowed, we are fairly assured by the party in power that there will be no change of policy. Old-fashioned notions of equal taxation and economic administration are out of date. "Economical administration be hanged!" is the cry of the hour. "We must have a standing army of 250,000 men and a two-ocean navy with which to protect our coasts and confront the powers."

How much longer the people of the United States will shut their eyes and stand responsible for this sort of costly vanity is yet to be determined. They are feeling the pinch and are doing some thinking.—Philadelphia Record.
