mediately to the north of North avenue, and runs east and west parallel to said North avenue, is now known and described as Myrtle avenue, which is the legal name of an avenue in Baltimore City, running from Fremont street at its intersection with Pitcher street, in a southeasterly direction, parallel with Argyle avenue, which causes much confusion; now therefore,

Preamble.

Section 1. Be it enacted and ordained by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, That the avenue in the annexed district of Baltimore C[illegible]ich lies immediately to the north of North avenue, and runs east and west parallel to said North avenue, and which is now known and described as Myrtle avenue, shall hereafter be known and described as Walbrook avenue, and that Walbrook avenue shall hereafter be the proper and legal designation of said avenue.

To change the name of Myrtle avenue.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted and ordained, That this ordinance shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved May 25th, 1891.

ROBERT C. DAVIDSON, Mayor.

No. 95.

An Ordinance to widen and condemn East street, on the westernmost side, and Chesnut street, on the easternmost side, northwardly from Fayette street, so as to embrace all the property lying between said East and Chesnut streets, from the north side of Fayette street to a line beginning at the northernmost corner of the house on the west side of East street, known and numbered as No. 218 (two hundred and eighteen) and assessed to Benjamin Miller, such corner being distant about 147 (one hundred and forty-seven) feet northwardly from the north side of Douglas street, and thence running southwestwardly at a right angle with East street to Chesnut street.

Section 1. Be it enacted and ordained by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, That the Commissioners for Opening Streets in said City be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed to widen and condemn East street, on the westernmost side, and Chesnut street, on the easternmost side, northwardly from Fayette street, so as to embrace and include all the property lying between said East and Chesnut streets, from the north side of Fayette street to a line which is described as follows: Beginning at the northernmost corner of the house on the west side of East street, known and numbered as No. 218 (two hundred and eighteen) and assessed to Benjamin Miller, such corner being distant about 147 (one hundred and forty-seven) feet northwardly from the north side of Douglas street, and running thence southwestwardly at a right angle with East street to Chesnut street.

To condemn and widen.
