NATURE painted one of the most beautiful works of art on Saturday and Sunday we have ever looked upon. The mantle of white was most gracefully and gorgeously draped, every tree and shrub and hillside and vale being given just the touch to make it most beautiful, and the glory of the moonlight on Sunday evening reflected by the snowflakes gave the town the appearance of fairyland. It was all simply gorgeous.

THE report of the special committee appointed by the Water Board to investigate the water supply for the town and to suggest methods for increasing same and for better fire protection, appears in another column. It would not be courtesy for us to discuss the provisions of the report until it has been received officially by the Water Board. We hope the tax payers of the town will read the report carefully and note what its provisions are.

THE TRANSCRIPT wishes all of its patrons and friends a very happy and prosperous new year. Let every one strive to make the year 1910 the most prosperous in the history of their business relations, and let the new year mark the beginning of an era of progress for our town that will place it in the front rank of the most progressive towns in the State. Let us lay aside all prejudices and let all pull together for the benefit of our town as well as for each other. The TRANSCRIPT will be delighted to assist in any movement looking to the improvement of the business interests of the community, and it will be a pleasure for us to use our pen and influence for the moral and spiritual elevation of the community.

THE Caroline County Road Law provides that the road engineer, who must be a graduate of some accredited engineering school, of several years experience, must be appointed by the county commissioners; and that the county commissioners can levy only a specified sum of money for working roads. This law is the same in every respect which Queen Annes county is preparing; it is the same as Talbot will have, and it is the same that Wicomico and Somerset have. Then, why should the Governor of the State be asked to appoint an engineer to do the work which the people have entrusted to the management of the county commissioners? If Kent county has a road engineer appointed by the Governor it will be different from any other county in the State, and it will mean that politics will continue to be the most important factor in working the roads of the county.

NOW THAT the Legislature is about to assemble there is no better time than the present to urge the preparation and passage of a law during the session providing for a municipal charter for Chestertown similar to the charter by which the town of Snow Hill is now governed. Sometime ago there appeared in one of the local papers an article from the pen of a prominent gentleman here who attended the session of the Methodist Protestant Conference in Snow Hill. The article spoke very flatteringly of the beauty of the town, its fine asphalt streets, and its well-kept and up-to-date appearance, and aside from this it is a well-known fact that Snow Hill and Salisbury, as well as Cambridge and Easton, all of which have municipal charters, are far and away ahead of Chestertown in many respects, due solely to the character of their government. A municipal charter would create a municipality; a municipality is separate and distinct from the county government, and so far as the principle of taxation is concerned it is not a part of the taxable basis of the county. To-day the people of Chestertown face a $1.81 tax rate, being a part of the county government. Under a municipal charter the town would not be a part of the county government, and could be conducted for at least half the tax rate and the town could have fine streets, a fine sewerage system and everything else fine. Then, besides the benefits of decreased taxation, under a municipal charter the right to vote is based upon a property qualification, which provision would place the control of the town just where it belongs, and would prevent the balance of power being in the hands of those who pay the smallest amount of taxes. The question of a municipal charter for the town has everything to commend it to the serious consideration of the people of the town, and we would be glad to have our citizens express themselves upon this question. Chestertown could have a municipal charter without any detriment to the financial interests of the county, and it is certainly along the lines of progress.

THE Legislature of Maryland will convene on Wednesday, and will be in session until April 1st. It is likely that both houses will be promptly organized by the election of their presiding officers, and that Senator Arthur P. Gorman will be president of the Senate, and Mr. Adam Peeples, delegate from Cecil county, will be Speaker of the House. It is sincerely hoped that this will be one of the most economical and profitable sessions in the history of the State. It is up to the Democratic party to redeem every pledge made to the people in its State convention platform, and we believe that Governor Crothers will use his best efforts to see that faith is kept with the people. So far as our delegates in the Legislature are concerned we hope that the fruits of their labor will be an enabling act to bond the town for a sufficient sum to to provide better water supply and better fire protection,

A municipal charter for Chestertown.

FOR IMPROVED WATER FACILITIES.

Recommendations of Citizens Committee as to Increased Water Supply and Better Fire Protection.

Following is the report of the citizen's committee recently appointed by the Water Board to make recommendations looking to the improvement of the water facilities of Chestertown. The report was filed with President J. D. Bacchus on Monday and the Water Board will no doubt take early action thereon.

TO THE WATER BOARD OF CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND.

The undersigned, constituting the Committee appointed by your Board for the purpose of examining the water supply now owned by the Corporation of Chestertown, and to make such recommendation as would increase the supply of water for domestic or household uses and for fire purposes and for the betterment of the whole system, as they shall regard as practicable and efficient, would report that it has examined the old pool, now in disuse, with a view to determine the advisabil ty of restoring same, and making it the source of the needed increase in the supply; and after several meetings of your Committee and a full discussion of the needs of the town in relation to its water supply and betterments in the plant system, we would respectfu ly make the following recommendations:

FIRST.—That the old pool located at the site of Morgan's Spring, near the home of Edward Robinson, should be pumped out and a careful and thorough examination made of the springs or veins of water supplying said pool, and if the quantity and quality of the water and the condition of the base of the pool are found to warrant same, that a new rim or brick wall should be constructed within the present wall, now cracked and insufficient to hold water, and in the construction of the inner wall the capacity of the pool should be decreased as little as possible. When this pool was first made about twenty-five years ago, it is a well known fact that the water was of good quality and the quanity was sufficient for the uses of the town; in fact, it was the sole supply of the Water Company for five or six years. It is the judgment of your Committee that the sum necessary to be expended in pumping out the pool, to demonstrate quality and quantity of the water thereat, should not exceed $350.00. That a small rotary pump and gasoline engine could be purchased for the purpose which could subsequently be sold at a loss of not more than twenty-five or thirty per cent. of the original cost.

SECOND.—That a storage pool or reservoir should be constructed near the present pump house, of a capacity of not less than 50,000 gallons, into which the water from the first artesian well should be pumped, where it could remain for twenty-four or thirty-six hours before being used for domestic purposes, it being in the judgment of your Committee that the quality of the artesian well water would thereby be materially improved. The first and principal object of this pool for additional storage of water, would be for fire purposes and to be used for domestic purposes only when the supply of water in the present pool, located near the pump house, was found inadequate.

THIRD.—That new mains not less than six inches in diameter should be laid on Washington Avenue, from Spring Avenue to Campus Avenue, and mains of not less than four inches in diameter should be laid on College Avenue from High street to Cannon street, and on Cannon street, from College Avenue to Kent street, and on Kent street from Calvert street to Washington Avenue.

FOURTH.—That an additional thirty fire plugs should be located in the town; experience has shown that the most effective work by the Fire Company cannot be given by the present limited number of fire plugs.

FIFTH.—That an additional man should be employed at the pump house; under the present system the man in charge of the pump is on duty not later than nine or ten o'clock in the evening. The demand for earliest possible best efficiency of the pump, in the event of fire, cannot be had unless a man is in charge of the pump at all hours of the night.

SIXTH.—That the present smoke stack at the pump-house should be increased 25 feet in height for greater efficiency and quickening the service, particularly at the alarm of fire.

SEVENTH.—That the Commissioners of Chestertown should immediately pass an ordinance prohibiting the erection of any new buildings or the renewing of roofs on buildings already erected, in the town, with any other than metal or slate roofs.

EIGHTH.—In the event that your Board shall adopt the several recommendations herein made, we recommend that the Commissioners of Chestertown ask the General Assembly for authority to issue Corporation bonds to the amount of $10,000, and that the money realized from the sale of said bonds be expended under the direction of the Water Board for the purposes herein recommended.

His two farms in the First district are devised to his wife for life, and at her death the "Myrtle Grove Farm," of 250 acres, is to go to his niece, Miss Katherine Budd, and the Davis farm, of 100 acres, is bequeathed to the vestry of St. Stephen's Church, North Sassafras Parish, to hold forever in trust, the proceeds from which, after paying taxes and necessary repairs, to be used by the vestry for the sole purpose of beautifying and keeping in good order the graveyard attached to the church, especially that portion where the testator and his ancesters are buried. If the church will not except the gift within two years, then the farm is to go to Miss Katherine Budd. RECORD BREAKING STORM.

That Part of the United States as Far West as Cleveland and as far North as New England Affected by the Heaviest Storm Since 1851.

The heaviest snowstorm since 1851, according to our oldest and most conservative weather observers, swept over this section and a great part of the country on Christmas day and Sunday, making the Christmastide of 1909 one of the most memorable in the history of the country and doing thousands of dollars worth of damage to property and shipping. Train service on the local road was at a standstill from Saturday night until Wednesday morning, when the snow plow reached Chestertown, opening up the road to traffic. Train service on the Delaware Division, as well as on the main line form New York to Washington, was blocked for two days, only two trains going over the main line from Saturday night to Monday evening. The snow was over a foot deep on the level, and the high northwest wind which began to blow early Sunday morning, blocked roads as high as fences, and completely blockaded traffic until Tuesday, except on horseback. The farmers of the county are to be congratulated upon the quick efforts which they made to open the roads to travel. It is needless to say that all church services in the county were suspended, and about the only service that was not greatly hampered in its use was the telephone, and we are sure that it was a most highly prized adjunct of the household for several days this week. It is remarkable that so very little damage was done to the telephone system in the town and county, and the electric light system was not damaged to any extent. The employes of both companies acted with commendable promptness and there was little or no interruption to the service of either. We were cut off from communication with the outside world, however, so far as the daily papers and mail matters were concerned, and that feeling of remoteness from civilization stole over some people, and gave them the impression that they were not living, but simply existing. Farmers had difficulty in getting to their stock to feed them, and many of them state that Sunday was one of the roughest and most uncomfortable days they have experienced on the farm for years. Everybody accepted the situation philosophically, however, and bided their time in patience, and now that the situation has cleared, and the great damage in other parts of the country is known, we are yet able to rejoice in the fact that the Eastern Shore is one of God's favored spots, and we can still claim title to being the garden spot of the world. The rural route carriers made their routes on horseback over the entire county each day until traffic was opened, and there were almost as many people in town on Tuesday from different parts of the county as usual. There was no interruption to boat service on the Chester River Line until Thursday, when the Ford failed to make her regular trip to Chestertown. The Tolchester Company sent a boat to Sassafras river on Tuesday afternoon. Sleighing has been fine, and there have been the usual fine turnouts and fast steppers on the boulevard, and the usual crowd of spectators on the sidewalks. So much for the storm here.

THE STORM ELSEWHERE.

The snowstorm which made a white Christmas for Baltimore extended from Washington to Boston and as far west as Cleveland.

The snowfall in Baltimore was 10 inches, the heaviest except one, recorded by the local Weather Bureau.

Railroad traffic between Baltimore and Wilmington was almost suspended.

Several trains of passengers were snowbound all day and night near Elkton, Cecil county, Md.

Telephone and telegraph wires were much damaged.

County roads were in many cases made impassable by snowdrifts.

Movements of shipping were almost suspended by the severity of the storm on the bay and on the river.

Utter demoralization of traffic, railroad and trolley; crippled wire communication and heavy property loss are reported from all over New England, south as far as Washington and west to Cleveland, Ohio; New York was practically stormbound, with nearly 10 inches of snowfall; a small tidal wave beat over the Battery, and shipping was damaged even in the harbor.

In Philadelphia 16 inches of snow stalled trains and trolley, and cars were abandoned by their crews all over the city.

The highest tide since 1851 swept up the New England coast; took a toll of three lives in Chelsea; engulfed 250 houses in that town and did great damage in Boston, besides wrecking cottages along the coast. Gales were reported and communication between many New England places was cut off. A number of towns had to depend on the moon for light.

Cleveland had the worst snowstorm in seven years, and Pittsburg reports trains from five to eight hours late and schedules practically abandoned.

The steamer Thurman, coal-laden, went ashore off Tom's river, New Jersey. The crew was saved.

Storm warnings are up from Hatteras to Eastport, Maine.
