GOOD RESOLUTIONS

THE HUSBAND

I AM resolved this New Year's day
To go a new and better way.
No more the lodge shall I attend;
The homeward road by nine I'll wend.
While in the house I'll never smoke
Or tell my wife a "chestnut" joke.
The servant girl I'll never kiss,
But be content with wedded bliss.
I'll bear with patience all my ills
And swear no more at dry goods bills.

THE PREACHER

As this is New Year's, I may say
I'll turn a leaf for this good day.
My sermons now I'll shorten some;
No more they'll charge that I'm humdrum.
The wealthy sinner I'll assail
And scorn his wrath if I shall fail.
My salary I shall not seek
To swell, for I'll be plain and meek.

THE DOCTOR

ANOTHER year! Well, I must make
In my prescriptions no mistake
In 1910, for these young men
In drug stores talk too much — ahem!
The code I'll follow close this year;
No advertising shall appear.
I'll speak no ill of other "docs"
And quit for good all throwing rocks.
I'll be on hand in hours late
And greet good husbands at the gate.
I'll upright live as any Quaker
And spare my friend the undertaker.

THE PLUMBER

OH, WELCOME, New Year's!
Joyous day
That finds the plumber's heart still gay
And full of vows of true reform.
To him's ne'er dark the winter storm.
For plumber's time and helper's toil
I'll charge much less this year and oil
My patron's fixtures free of cost
(The generous yet have never lost.)
And when I grease his stop and waste
My bill I'll not present in haste.
His pipes I'll give the proper fall
And lay them on the southern wall
To do things well shall be my mission
And thus crowd out all competition.
'Tis my belief that sanitation
Is yet to save this perilled nation.
—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

THIS NEW YEAR'S

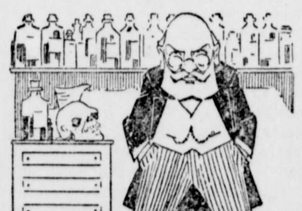

THE WIFE

RESOLVED am I for this new year
In no high bonnets to appear.
All costly wraps I'll now forego
And do away with idle show.
In husband's business I'll not mix
And get him in another "fix."
My shopping I'll curtail at once,
For well I know I am a dunce.
In scandals I shall no more speak;
I'll lecture only once a week.

THE LAWYER

WITH this new year I'll aim to please.
I'll do great work for little fees.
Prevarication I'll eschew
And utilize no dodges new.
I'll advocate no unjust cause
And break no wills, whate'er the laws
These resolutions are not grudged,
For lawyers, too, in time are judged.

THE GROCER

WELL, this, I s'pose, is New Year's day
And time for me to change my weigh.
From this time on I'll do things clean
And sell no oleomargarine.
To patrons old I'll be as good
As to the new ones, though my food
I risk in doing so. I'll bust
Or sell as cheap for cash as trust.
To him who pays I shall not place
The debts of those who fail from grace.
Adulterations I shall scorn,
For honesty may e'en adorn
A grocery, and grocers reap
Rewards in heaven, heap on heap.

Mrs. James D. Morris, E. Market St., Georgetown, Del., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills whenever my kidneys have become disordered and from the benefit received, I have no hesitation in praising them highly. At times the secrations from my kidneys became irregular in passage. My back was very weak and pained greatly, especially at night when I was unable to rest comfortable.
