EXCELLENT PROGRAMME RENDERED.

First Concert of Elmira Symphony Orchestra Proves Rare Treat for Music Lovers.—Difficult Numbers Admirably Rendered.—Great Credit Due Those in Charge.

Elmira Advertiser, Friday morning, Dec. 3.

The first 1909-1910 season concert of the Elmira Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Frederick H. Cheeswright, was given before a very large audience in the First Baptist Church lecture room last night. It was an epoch making event, in a way, for it marked the triumph of Elmira talent unassisted by visiting artists or vocal stars. An Elmira Symphony Orchestra of real metropolitan calibre has appeared, and the program was well arranged to allow full and deserving display of its ability. The people who went to the concert last night went to hear artistic instrumental music at the hands of local musicians who have spent some real effort in their lessons and practice. Under the leadership of a competent director, they have come together and are able to give something well worth while musically. All concerned are entitled to fell a little pride in this signal success.

The overture, "Oberon," by Weber, was good. The Concerto for Pianoforte in D minor, by Rubenstein, was the feature number. George Morgan McKnight directed this and was in splendid control of the various participants. Elmirans recognize Mr. McKnight as unsurpassed when the baton is his to wield.

At the piano Mr. Cheeswright's work was remarkable. The Concerto calls for the ability of an artist of the first class, and Mr. Cheeswright filled the position to the utmost satisfaction. The second movement gave opportunity for a most beautiful theme. The entire Concerto was faultlessly given, and aroused enthusiam among the educated and trained musical listeners.

The Symphony, by Mendelssohn, was full of variety and excellence. The minuet was exquisite and the dance movement was delightfully brought in. Perhaps the "Shepherd's Dance" was the most popular of the "Henry the VIII" renditions.

The ever popular "Straddilla" came as a fitting close to the most commendable program. May the Elmira Symphony Orchestra prosper and appear real often. Mr. Cheeswright, the director, who so ably leads the organization, is entitled to much of the credit for bringing out the talent under his leadership. He is ever in command of the situation, and is most ably trained for the responsibility.

A feature last night was the fact that Mr. Cheeswright used for the first time the silver mounted baton presented to him by the orchestra last year.

The orchestra was organized and fostered by Mr. J. Rudolph Stam, son of Mrs. Annie H. Stam, of this town. Its charming triumph on Dec. 3rd is the result largely of the efforts of Mr. Stam to provide in his adopted city such music as is not only entertaining but which is so edifying and instructive as to preclude the necessity of going to New York or other large cities to hear high-class instrumental music.

Still Pond Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Watson and son, of Newark, spent Xmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Rasin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Crewe, of Baltimore, and Mr. Golden Warren, of Philadelphia, visited their mother, Mrs. James W. Warren.

Mrs. George Davis, of New York, spent Xmas with their father, Mr. Geo. Harper.

Mrs. Mary Hyland, of New York, and Mrs. Marghuerita Dodd, of Chestertown, spent a few days with their grandmother, Mrs. Jane Howard.

Mr. Holton Parr, of Chestertown, spent the holidays here.

Mr. Penn Toulson and family, of Vineland, N. J., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toulson.

Mr. Wm. Hague and family, of Kennedyville, were entertained at a family dinner at the home of Mr. Chas. Hague.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodall and Mr. Ernest Schofield spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schofield.

Mr. Lemont Hackett, of Baltimore, spent Xmas at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hackett.

Mr. Laurie Hackett, of Chestertown, spent Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hackett.

It was certainly a shock when we heard of the death of Mr. Thomas Norris, the worthy postmaster of Still Pond, as no one knew of his being sick as he really was. He died last Sunday morning, Dec. 26, 1909.

Winter is certainly upon us. It began snowing last Satruday morning and ended with a blizzard—kept everyone who had only come from the cities for a day or two nearly a week, as the roads were all blocked and travel impossible.

We were not able to have the Xmas social Wednesday evening and the time has been postponed indefinitely.

Mr. Charles Hague spent Thursday in Philadelphia.

Mr. Baynard Harper spent Xmas with his mother, Mrs. Lavinia Harper.

Mr. Ben Quimby, of Seaford, Del., spent Xmas with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Bowers.

*†*The heavy wind of Wednesday night blockaded the cuts in the Kent roads on Thursday morning, and the morning train did not leave here until 11.30. The trip was made with difficulty and the train did not return until late in the afternoon pulled by three engines.
