LOCAL MATTERS.

Part of Centreville Record Sold.—A controlling interest in the Centreville Record has been sold to Mr. Edwin H. Brown, Jr ,a prominent attorney of the Centreville bar. The management passed into his hands with last Saturday's issue. The Record is a good paper and enjoys a large circulation in Queen Annes. We extend congratulations to Mr. Brown and welcome him to the world of journalism. We understand that the paper will be Democratic in politics hereafter.

Mr. Elmer Leary Sustains Injury.—Mr. Elmer Leary, head of the well-known lumber and mill work firm of G. E. Leary & Son, near Rock Hall, and one of the Fifth District's most prominent men, met with a painful accident last Saturday. Mr. Leary was testing a new plaining machine in his mill when in some manner his left hand got caught, and before he could extricate it the machine had cut off the ends of two fingers. Dr. Schwatka was summoned and dressed the wound. Mr. Leary is doing well though the injury has caused considerable pain.

TOLD IN BRIEF.

—Baltimore had a $250,000 fire in Canton lumber district on Tuesday.

—The stone and brick work on the Kent County Savings Bank building is completed.

—The oldest man in America is named Kalinsky. He lives in Baltimore, and is 116 years old.

—Mr. and Mrs. Roland Matthews have rented Mrs. Jesse R. Copper's residence on Maple avenue.

—Have you seen the comet? It is visible to the naked eye, shortly after sunset every evening.

—We are compelled to omit several interesting communications and much interesting local matter to-day.

—The Volunteer Firemen will give a public reception in their hall on Monday evening. Everybody is cordially invited.

—Mr. Andrew W. Vansant's hen house, near Galena, was raided one night this week, the thieves getting away with 50 fine hens.

—The steam whistle at the pump house has been temporarily out of repair. It will be replaced and tested on Wednesday from 12 to 1 o'clock.

—Mr. James W. Lambert sustained an injury to his foot at the carnival in Stam's Hall last week, and has been housed several days in consequence.

—The arbiters in the Hynson-Cooper case have rendered a sealed verdict and have passed it up to the circuit court to be opened at the April term.

—Mr. W. B. Stafford has been appointed mail carrier from the Chestertown postoffice to the depot, in place of the late Charles H. Davis, who was mail carrier for years.

—Wednesday was Ground Hog Day, and as the sun was shining brightly, it is safe to say that he saw his shadow, and he is now in his hole for another 40 days of winter.

—Some one got a hat through mistake at the Sunday School service in Christ M. P. Church last Sunday afternoon. If they will come to the TRANSCRIPT office the hat will be exchanged for their own.

—The Orphans' Court, on Tuesday, appointed Mr. R. F. Parks and Mrs. Mary A. Moffett, next of kin, administrators, pendente lite of the estate of Mrs. Lydia A. Shaw, late of Kent county, Md., deceased.

—Messrs. Merrick Clements, Thos W. Perkins and Wm. C. Sutton attended the automobile show in Philadelphia last week and each bought a fine Buick. There will be no end to autos in town this year.

—Manager Wertzel, of the Reading baseball team of the Tri-State League, has signed Mr. Hanson Horsey, the crack Galena pitcher, for next season. Horsey was highly recommended to Manager Wertzel by Chas. Herzog, of the New York Giants.

—Mr. Noble Moffett, of Rock Hall, caught an otter six feet long in Church Creek, one day this week. This is one of the largest otters ever caught in that section, and his fur will be worth big money to Mr. Moffett.

—Mr. Fred S. Russell has purchased the stock of goods and fixtures of Mr. Harding, who formerly conducted the candy store next door to H. B. Rote's jewelry store, and has taken charge of same.

—Those who failed to see Lyman H. Howe's moving pictures in Stam's Hall on Wednesday evening, missed a treat that is not often offered to the people of Chestertown. It was unfortunate that there should have been an accident at the electric light plant during the performance, but the pianist kept the crowd in good humor.

—A bull's eye lantern reflector placed in the show window of one of the stores of the town, came near being the means of a fire last Tuesday afternoon. The heat of the sun reflected from the bright surface of the reflector set fire to the strap of a shoe and burned a part of the leather. The timely discovery by the proprietor saved the store from a possible fire.

—Messrs. L. J. Messimer and C. W. McGaw, representatives of the Underwriters Association, of Philadelphia, are in town inspecting insurance risks, etc. They will be in the town and county about a month.

—Eggs have taken a tumble in price during the week and the hens have gone on a strike. Speaking of eggs, we know a splendid housekeeper in Chestertown who sold $5 worth of eggs from 19 hens in the month of January, besides what she used for table dainties, and yet Champ Clark says town people are non-producers.

—The Springfield Insurance Company, Mr. James G. Beck, agent, has adjusted the insurance on the laundry and equipment recently destroyed by fire; machinery and laundry men have been here estimating the cost of rebuilding and equiping a new laundry, and as soon as the weather is favorable the work of rebuilding will commence. We understand the building will be erected upon a portion of the site of the old building lot, Messrs. Davis & Satterfield having reserved one part for the erection of a warehouse.

—The following additional contributors to the Firemen's Carnival sent their contributions through Mrs. Owen B. Crow: Bohea Importing Co., Balto.; Mr. Weems, of Daniel Miller; Misses Mae and Lillie Crow, New York, and Mrs. C. C. Dorn, of Bethlehem, Pa.
