SATURDAY, FEB. 12, 1910.

LOCAL MATTERS,

T. Romie Strong Ill.—We greatly regret to state that Mr. T. Romie Strong is critically ill at the Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore, where he was operated on over two weeks ago for blood poison caused from mashing a finger while nailing up a box. His physicians have very little hope of his recovery. His host of friends feel the deepest sympathy for him and his family in their sad misfortune and affliction.

Report of Water Board.—The report of Charles N. Satterfield, treasurer of the Chestertown Water Department, appears in this issue. It should be of interest to every tax-payer in the town. Every debt of the department to Jan. 1, 1910, has been paid, including the $1500 interest on bonds, and there remains a net reserve of $828. The report speaks for itself, and attests the fact that the Water Board has used every effort to be as economical as possible in the use of the people's money, in order to give good service.

TOLD IN BRIEF.

—Monday next is St. Valentine's Day. Look out, sweetheart.

—Guy Bros. minstrel show in Stam's Hall on Tuesday night was good and clean.

—Mr. Harry F. Jefferson has sold the house on Cannon street now occupied by Mr. Charles Johnson.

—A number of ice house owners finished filling their houses with good ice from the mill pond this week.

—It is estimated that between $500 and $600 damage was done to water pipes and spigots in the town on Monday morning by the coldest weather of the winter.

—The Chestertown Stars base ball club is preparing to give an up-to-date minstrel show in the near future for the purpose of procuring new suits. Watch for the date.

—A cold wave struck this section on Sunday, driving the mercury down to within four degrees of zero Monday morning, freezing water pipes and closing Chester river from shore to shore.

—Mr. Thomas Stevens, of Queen Annes county, tells of the queer affection of a dog. A farmer of that county carried a young lamb to the house. A dog, who had lost her puppies, adopted the lamb and gives it nourishment.

—James Reed, colored, was given a hearing before Justice Crawford Wednesday evening on the charge of stealing $30 from Hackett Godwin, the blind man at the county almshouse. He was held for court.

—R. Groome Parks, Esq., has completed a neat law book, title "Contracts," which has recently been published. The book is a splendid reference book and is a monument to Mr. Parks' ability in handling this intricate phase of the law.

—Capt. S. T. H. Pfeffer, sold to Mr. Marcus Asher one day last week 160 muskrat hides, for which he received a check for $112. This is at the rate of 70 cents per hide and is the highest price paid for muskrat hides in the history of the State.

—Six negroes were arrested on Saturday and Monday, charged with stealing meat, chickens, corn, etc. from the farmers around Kennedyville. They were given a hearing before Justice David Nickerson, of Kennedyville on Monday, and held for Court. They are now in jail.

—Mr. Thomas W. Eliason has awarded to Mr. Walter T. Pippin, the contract for the erection of a large carriage emporium for Graham & Clements, the hardware and implement firm. The building will front on Queen street 18½ ft. with a depth of 46 feet, and 18ft. corner posts. Large plate glass windows will ornament the front. Work will begin next week.

—Messrs. Graham & Clements have purchased from Mr. Wilbur Eliason, Jr., the frame building situate on Queen street and occupied by Mr. John M. South as a photograph gallery. The deal was negotiated through L. B. Russell & Co., real estate and business brokers. Messrs. Graham & Clements will remove the building to the lot on Cross street, near the Enterprise office, and erect a warehouse on the Queen street lot.

OBITUARY.

MR. BRUCE CREW.

The funeral of Bruce Crew, aged 31 years, son of Harriet and the late J. Lewin Crew, took place from his late residence near Worton station on Monday morning, Feb. 7, the Reverends J. A Morris and Leonard White officiating. For several months Bruce had been a great sufferer, yet bore his afflictions with Christian grace and fortitude, and when the summons came early Friday morning, Feb. 4, he gladly responded to the Divine call, exchanging a life of suffering and sorrow for one of eternal bliss. To him death had no terror, the sting having been removed by his accepting Christ as his Saviour, and in simple faith trusting in Him for help and strength. Death to him was rather the breaking of the bonds and shackles of his earthly prison and setting free his spirit in the heavenly kingdom. When our loved ones are taken from us, how hard it is to say "Thy will be done;" and it is especially sad and distressing when we mourn for them without hope of being reunited in that day when "He shall make up his jewels."

To the aged mother of Bruce and the loving sisters who so tenderly watched over and cared for him during his illness, it is indeed cheering and comforting to know that he has gone to a country where the inhabitants never say "I am sick" and where there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain. He has gone only a little while before, and his beloved ones have the blessed privilege of again joining hands on the sunny banks of the river. How short is life and how certain is death; yet with what indifference we treat the whole affair. Let us flee from the wrath to come ere it is too late, and in the words of the Psalmist earnestly pray, 'Oh teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts to wisdom," and when our work is done and we are called from this earth, may we be as ready and willing to obey the summons as was this young man."

Oh these tender ties,
How they dim our aching eyes,
But like jewels they will shine in the morning:
When our victor palms we bear,
And our robes immortal wear,
We shall know each other there in the morning.

A FRIEND.

David Bruce Crew, son of the late J. Lewin Crew, died at his home near Worton, last Friday morning, aged 32 years. Funeral was held Monday morning, conducted by Revs. C. K. Morris and Leonard White; interment in Still Pond cemetery. The pall bearers were the five brothers and brother-in-law of the deceased. Undertaker W. H. Krusen had charge of arrangements.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR.

IVENS—USILTON.

St. James M. P. Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when Miss Mae, the popular daughter of Mrs. Sarah Usilton, of Worton, became the bride of Mr. Charles Chester Ivens, son of Mr. J. W. Ivens, of Worton Station. The church was trimmed with cedar and holly, and was lighted by myriads of red candles. Promptly at the appointed hour, to the wedding march, skillfully rendered by Mrs. John Schofield, of Still Pond, the bridal party entered the church in the following manner:—The ushers, Messrs. C. Romie Skirven, Wm. B. Willis, H. Stockston Startt and Walter Ivens, brother of the groom, wearing black suits, with gray ties and white vests, the maid of honor, Miss Bessie Nicholson, gowned in a beautiful robe of light blue silk mulle, over blue silk, carrying pink carnations tied with white ribbon, the flower girl, little Miss Rachel Willis, beautifully dressed in pink suisine silk, carrying a basket of white and pink carnations, and the bride and groom.

They proceeded to the chancel where the ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. G. A. Morris in the presence of a large audience of relatives and friends. The bride's costume was a rich creation of white satin, draped overskirt, with crystal trimmings, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations tied with white ribbon. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ivens were driven to their future home at Worton Station, where a reception was held. They were the recipients of numerous valuable and handsome presents.

SHORT—MATTHEWS.

The wedding of Miss Annie Sylvania Matthews, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Matthews, of Smyrna, Del., and Mr. George N. Short, of Philadelphia, took place at high noon on Wednesday, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. J. A. Arters, grandfather of the bride, performing the ceremony. The bride's wedding gown was white crepe de chine, and she carried bride's roses. Her traveling suit was grey with hat and gloves to match. The bride is a niece of Mrs. W. E. Ringgold, of Chestertown, who with her two daughters, Misses Mollie and Ethel, attended the marriage.

The marriage of Miss Martha Neale Wallis, dauguter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wallis, of this county and Mr. John Alfred Wheeler, of Washington, D. C., was quietly solemnized in Washington, by Rev. Father Conolley, of the Immaculate Conception Church, Monday, Feb. 7th at four P. M. After a short trip south, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will be at home at 437 Que street, N. W. Washington.

Mr. Alexander Maxwell, a former well-known hotel keeper of Middletown, Del., and well-known in this county, and Miss Elizabeth Thompson, of the same town, were married Monday night at St. Ann's Episcopal Church by Rev. P. L. Donahy. The groom is 76 years of age and the bride 40 years old.
