THE WEDDING DELAYED.

Rev. G. J. Hooker, a Prominent Pastor of Kennedyville M. P. Church Figures in an Exciting Marriage Ceremony at Hurlock, Last week

Rev. G. J. Hooker, a former popular pastor of Kennedyville M. P. Church figured in an exciting wedding ceremony at Hurlock last week as told in the following manner by a correspondent of the Sun :

Hurlock, Dorchester county, about 15 miles from Easton has the past week been the scene of much excitement. First, it was the arrest of a school teacher for whipping a scholar, Friday it was threatened by a destructive fire which drew crowds of people from all parts of the surrounding country. But the latest excitement, about which there has been thrown much secrecy, was at the marriage of Miss Maggie Ford, a young lady who is much thought of in that town, and who was raised by Mr. Frank Parvin, a farmer living near Hurlock, and Anthony Saunders, a divorced man, which took place in Unity Methodist Protestant Church, Tuesday.

The church was crowded to its capacity when the bridal party entered and took its stand before the altar rail to be married by Rev. Geo. J. Hooker, the pastor. He had gotten as far in the ceremony as "if anyone can show just and lawful cause why these two people should not be joined together, let him now speak or forever hereafter hold his peace," a member of the Holiness Church, John Harper, who had come in just behind the bridal party, rushed up the aisle, Bible in hand, reading it and at the same time crying out :

"Stop it ! stop it ! he is a divorced man. It's against the laws of God ! You have no right to marry him ; you are violating God's law !"

This he kept up all the time the minister was praying. He was told to stop. Mr. George Trice went to him and tried to keep him still, but could not. The preacher said "Put him out." The bridal party, especially the young lady, was nervous and trembling. Frank Parvin and A. N. Russell went to Mr. Trice's assistance and Harper was taken down the aisle, calling out, kicking and catching hold of the columns to keep from being carried out. He was finally gotten out and the marriage ceremony completed.

He took the same train as Mr. and Mrs. Saunders and went with them as far as Preston, preaching to them all the way.

Minstrel Show.

The show given by the Fairlee Grange minstrels last Friday evening in Fairlee Grange Hall, was one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever given in the county. The performances would have done credit to a professional troupe, and we doubt seriously if Dockstader would have been any more enjoyable. The wedding of Widow Corey to Mr. John Morris was both sublime and ridiculous, and the climax was capped when it became known that the "little" child, Jesse H. Usilton, was included in the deal. Stockton Startt and Romie Skirven made fine end men, and "little" Tom Davis in his creton pants and swallow tail coat made an apt school boy. Charley Beck beat the witches dancing the clog dance. Mrs. Barclay Kilbourne was good in plantation dialect speaking. Prof. Wm. G. Smyth was right in his element as the school pupil, and Miss Mae Sutton made a hit as a singer. More than two hundred people were turned away and yet they cleared $62.50. An effort is being made to bring the show to Chestertown for a performance, and the TRANSCRIPT will do everything in its power to get them a packed house if they decide to come. Come, boys. The people want to hear you.

The program was as follows :

| | |
|---|---|
| Singing—Dixie Land | Circle |
| Jokes. | |
