Many women are waiting to select their Spring Suit, and if they incline to a plain Tailored Suit, they are especially invited to see our line, for the values can't be surpassed. From $12.50 to $25.00.

SHOES.

Our complete line is here better than ever. For the little folks we have made a great preparation for the season, and with that careful attention that the requirements of the growing foot demands, knowing full well that the foot in the formation state needs especial shapes and fitting—something more than mere foot covering. "'Tis a feat to fit feet" (good wear or a new pair.)

Millinery!
Mourning, and all Black Hats as well, here in Easter abundance.

Winter mourning seems doubly hot and stuffy when new hat days roll around. We've scores of light weight---actually dainty---Hats in the dullest black of correct mourning. Besides the French Models which are in greater abundance than ever before shown in this town. Every Hat a special model of its own. Such a display was never shown by us to one-half as this season.

MARYLAND DAY SONG.

By Belle Caples Morris.

Once more thy birth we celebrate,
With songs of joy, O Maryland!
Once more we hail thee, native State,
And pledge our faith to Maryland.
Once more we look across the years,
To where with mingled hopes and fears,
Our Fathers wrought with blood and tears,
For liberty and Maryland.

The fields of wheat are wet with dew,
"Green fields of Kent" in Maryland;
And all the spring is creeping through,
Is coming back to Maryland.
Flashes of blue are on the wing,
Afar the red-winged black birds sing,
The mocking bird proclaims the spring,
Once again in Maryland.

Monocacy is now unbound
In Frederick's glades in Maryland,
And every stream a tongue has found,
A tongue of praise for Maryland.
Upon Potomac's flowing tide,
The white sailed vessels gaily ride,
As safely ride o'er ocean wide,
The Ark and Dove to Maryland.

Before St. Mary's sacred shrine
We bow again in Maryland;
Lord God of Hosts our hearts are thine,
In gratitude for Maryland.
Thou who didst once our Fathers guide,
Safely through stress of storm and tide,
O wilt thou still with us abide,
And guard and bless our Maryland.

How it Works in Caroline.

The Baltimore Sun on Tuesday in discussing the value of the Caroline Road Law to the people of that county says: "Caroline got its road law in 1904, when Senator Goslin, who is the father of the bill, was a member of the House of Delegates from that county. For many years previous—since Caroline had been a county, no doubt—the highways had been looked after under the the old system of local supervisors. Each road was cut up into so many sections and each section "farmed out" for repairs and improvement. Each man worked his section according to his own ideas, and "repairs" consisted generally of throwing loose dirt into holes in the road. The result was a discouraging patchwork and a poor system of roads. If the system was not good for the roads, it was good for the politicians; in fact was one of the principal assets of whatever party was in power. For years it was realized that the people's money was not being well spent, although the road supervisors, as a rule, were honest and worked hard. The trouble was lack of a systematic scheme and the application of modern, scientific principles.

In 1904 the leading men of both political parties got together and decided that Caroline should have a new road law. This, as stated, Mr. Goslin had passed by the Legislature. It gave the County Commissioners authority to collect a complete road-making outfit and appoint a road engineer at a salary of $1,500 a year. There was no bond issue; the cost of improvement was to be carried in the tax levy each year. The county now owns 32 mules, a complement of road-making equipment and recently has added a steam roller. During the road-making season from 25 to 30 men are employed. The system is out of politics, and Caroline has some of the best roads in the State, where formerly it had some of the worst".

This is convincing testimony, and proves the economy of the law as it is applied to Caroline, and yet for purely political reasons, and no other, the people of this county are to be deprived of the benefit of a law like this, and compelled to take a piece of political machinery that will grind out, as has been done in the last six months, the taxpayers' money. Shame on the framers of such a law as is being forced upon us in place of the Caroline law.
