New York 17 August 1782

Sir

I hope and trust the liberty I now take will have your excuse, as it is on the side of Humanity. Mr Clerk must certainly be very anxious to hear from his Relations in England, the letter I venture to put under your Cover, have lain for some time in Dr Clerks hands here, without any good opportunity offering to send them. One now affords itself, and Captain Waters of Baltimore town has kindly undertaken to be the bearer. I am confident private Business is their sole import; You Sir, are the proper judge whether they ought to be given him, I presume not to solicite what may be improper. At any Rate I beg you may have the goodness to tell him, all his Connections were well on the 6th June.

You must now give me permission to offer my most affectionate complements to Mrs Lee, the families of Mellwood & Glenheim.

I have the honor to be Sir
Your most obedient Servant
R. Molleson
