London 6 Aug. 1784.

My dear Sir.

'Tis some Months since I have had the pleasure of hearing from you and to you I may have appeared inattentive you will however never attribute any seeming remissness to want of Respect but to that constant business that engages my whole time & reflection I have never let an opporty escape writing to some of Mr Digges's family of the welfare of their little friend to you & Mrs Lee it is not material from whom you are informed if you know that he is well & happy and I trust you will believe that I shall not be wanting in attention to him let what will be reflected. You will readily reflect that my hands must be pretty full of business & therefore make the necessary allowances How are you settled at Fredrick Has my good friend Mrs Lee got reconciled to that Retirement, In what manner do you spend your time Have you any Neighbours whom do you ever see Cadwic Noddell Have you seen Mrs McHenry Answer me if you please all these questions & others that may suggest to you
