Wed 30 Times And Paid By Bogus Checks.

There is a couple in New York City who have been married so many times that they probably lost count, and every minister who smiled over them and bade them good fortune and success is the possessor of a $20 check for which he gave $10 in change. The checks were bad.

It is an entirely new swindle and it apparently worked with ease, for the police have complainants from nearly thirty ministers who did not for a moment doubt the happy couple.

The Rev. W. F. Kerney, then of 34 West Twenty-Sixth street, was the first clergyman the police heard from. On October 23 there called on him a young man, who said he was Eugene Keller of 247 West Thirty-Sixth street and a young woman who seemed very shy and upon whom Mr. Kerney beamed with corresponding benevolence. They were in a great hurry and were united with all reasonable speed.

Mr. Kerney took a $20 check with alacrity and when he came back with the change he found the couple extricating themselves from an embrace that brought blushes to the cheeks of the bride. They were very much in love, he thought, and as they went down the steps and left him with the check in his hand the clergyman meditated on what makes the world go round and went slowly back to his study.

Late when he went to Greenwich Bank at 1531 Broadway, on which the check was drawn, there was no account under the name of Eugene Keller, and no one by that name was known at 247 West Thirty-Sixth street. So he went down to Police Headquarters. He lives in Albany now.

Since then complaints have come to Police Headquarters from many ministers, all with the same story. The much married couple are still at liberty.

Rock Hall Items.

Mrs. Mary Sewell has moved into the Chesapeake House, which she will conduct as a hotel for the coming year.

Lloyd Scott has returned to Rock Hall after an extended visit to Baltimore.

The young men of Rock Hall will hold a dance in the Jr. O. U. A. M. Hall, next Friday, the 12th. A big time is expected.

Mr. Frank Marillo, of Richmond, was the guest of Mr. S. B. Maslin during the Xmas holidays.

Mr. Robert Crew left Rock Hall last Wednesday for the West: he is connected with the Balland Rubber Co.

Mr. Sam Armstrong has moved into the house lately vacated by Mrs. Sewell.

The Greenwood house has been rented to Mr. Biddle, from up the county.

All the merchants of this town claim the holiday trade of the past year the best in the history of their business.

Last Friday night, the 29th, four young men were out joy riding from this town and were "speeding her up some" when she turned turtle and hurt all four, though not serious, now you can hear: "Let her Buzz." The machine was a wreck.

A dance was held in K. of P. Hall, Piney Neck, last Monday night. A large crowd from Rock Hall attended.

The boys of the Junior Order will again resume practice for their minstrels within the next week and will again put on a big show. Let her come again quick, boys.

Rev. Mr. Corkran returned Wednesday from a short visit among relatives in lower Maryland.

School opened Tuesday with several new pupils and all the old ones ready for a bright year's work.

Where Is Crothers' Oyster Revenue.

We note the editorial of the Baltimore Sun recently, which says, "The State gets no revenue from its oyster wealth, but on the contrary, taxpayers all over the State are burdened with a portion of the cost of keeping dredgers off its tonging grounds." At last, it seems to be leaking into the minds of people, who take the trouble to examine things, that Crothers has been guilty of talking "through his hat," when he has gone about the State declaring that the new State roads would bring no increase in the State tax rate, because among other sources of increased revenue for their building would be the income of the State from the oyster fund. We have been saying for two or three years that the State was getting no income from this source, but was per contra being taxed therefor. People did not seem to attach any great weight to our charge, largely we persume, because Governor Crothers' solemn assurances were so much more impressive than the citation of a mere, bald headed fact.—Cecil Whig.

Peninsula Horticultural Society.—The 25th annual session of the Peninsula Horticultural Society will be held in Pocomoke City January 9th, 10th and 11th, the first session beginning on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A splendid program has been prepared and noted speakers will address the sessions.
