SIN-FORGIVENESS AND HEALING.

Mark ii, 1-12—March 17.

"Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases."—Psalm ciii, 2, 3.

When later the Savior returned to Capernaum there was a crush to see and hear Him, and to bring the sick for His healing words and touch. The miracles which our Lord performed were specially with a view of getting the ear of the people for His Message—the Gospel of the Kingdom—the good news of the privilege of becoming sons of God and joint-heirs with Jesus in the Messianic Government which would bless Israel and all nations with light, knowledge, and uplift from sin and death.

It was while He was thus preaching that some earnest ones brought to Him a palsied man for healing. Unable to come into the house or its court because of the throng, they removed some of the tiling stones of the roof, and lowered the sick man into the presence of the preaching Savior. Such implicit faith, manifested by such heroic effort, could not fail to be appreciated by the Redeemer.

"Thy sins be forgiven thee."

But the unexpected happened. Instead of healing the man of his disease, Jesus exclaimed, "Thy sins are forgiven thee." Under God's arrangement with the Jews, under their special Law Covenant, original sin was typically atoned for by the typical sacrifices, and the people were held to account for their transgressions of the Law. Hence, amongst the Jews, serious sickness implied serious sins.

We are not to forget that such special dealings were with the Jews only—that they never applied to Gentiles nor to Christians. God has no such Covenant with the Church, nor with the world in general today. Hence, the righteous are often sick, and sinners healthy.

Authority to Forgive Sins.

There are certain great, basic principles relating to God's dealings with humanity which should be recognized. Jehovah's Government is based, not upon mercy, but upon Justice; as we read, "Justice is the foundation of Thy Throne." In one sense of the word Divine Justice never forgives and never can do so, as we will explain. We read, "All His work is perfect." Man was thus created perfect, in the image and likeness of the Creator, and therefore needed no provision for mercy so long as he was in relation with his God.

When temptation came, man fell from Divine favor and life into disfavor and under the death sentence. But another feature of the Divine character, Love, was brought into exercise for man's relief. But Divine Love or Mercy could not override or interfere with Divine Justice. In other words, God could not forgive a sinner whom He had sentenced to death. What He could and did do, was to provide in due time for man's redemption. All of Divine Mercy, therefore, flows through the channel of redemption.

The Philosophy of the Forgiveness of Sins.

Applying this principle to our Savior and His teachings, we ask, How could He forgive sins when Divine Justice could not forgive sins, nor set aside the penalty of sin? The answer is, Jesus was the representative of Divine Mercy, and was at that time amongst men for the purpose of giving His life as a sacrifice on man's account, and therefore to Him belonged the distinctive honor of forgiving sins.

However, His surrender of His all did not give Him the authority to forgive sins. It was the heavenly Father's acceptance of His consecration—His sacrifice, that counted. God's acceptance of Jesus' sacrifice was manifested in His impartation of the Holy Spirit, which lighted upon Jesus like a dove, as was testified by John the Baptist, and also testified by Divine power which thereafter operated in and through Jesus for the healing of diseases.

"Justice is the foundation of thy throne."

The text for this study comes from the Psalms and is most interesting. The Prophet David may have appropriated the words to himself as a Jew and may have thought of his own physical healing and blessing as evidences of the Lord's favor under the Law Covenant. But the prophetic application of this Psalm to spiritual Israel is still more interesting. The spiritual Israelites are new creatures, spirit-begotten, and have this treasure in earthen vessels.

With these it is the new creature that recognizes his healing, his forgiveness, and, according to God's promise, all things are working together for good to him, because he loves God and has been called according to the Divine purpose.

Entertainment a Success.

The entertainment given in Stam's Hall last Friday evening by local talent for the benefit of the missionary work of the M. E. Church was a charming success. A packed audience greeted the performers, and from the rising of the curtain to the going down thereof, there was one continuance round of mirth and jollity. Manager Sterling had every number of his excellent program working like clock work, and with his valuable assistants, including Robert Moffett and Bates Hendrix, he kept things on the move, and proved the value of consistent and persistent effort in the rendition of an entertainment of that character. Space will not allow a description of each number, but we must be pardoned for saying that Messrs. H. Stockton Startt and Romie Skirven, two of the best minstrels in this county, added much to the pleasure and spice of the entertainment by their jokes and local hits, while the banjo picking by Messrs. John G. Westcott and Harrison Finley could not have been excelled by professionals. The entire program was excellent, and the net proceeds, which have been donated to the cause of missions, were $67. Excellent music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Messrs. T. Kemp Bordley and Warren C. Hurlock, violins; Foster Cannon, trombone; Arthur Bacon, cornet; Donald Stam, clarionet, and Mr. Faulkner, accompanist.

The De Laval Separator.

The De Laval Cream Separator was not only the first machine of its kind put on the market, but has kept the lead in all material improvements down to the present day. Its skimming efficiency, its ease of operation, maintaining cleanliness commend it to all thoughtful dairymen. While it stands at the top of the heap, it costs no more than competing machines, and will be placed in competitive trial with any cream separator made, and that without cost or liability on the part of the person desiring to see such test made. Any interested party can learn of the merits of these machines by inquiring of the following list of users of the De Laval Separators:

Hens Wear Real Clothes.

Taking pity on chickens that moulted late in the season and were somewhat shy of feathers when frigid weather arrived, Mrs. Huldah Judd, of New York, made for them cute little caps, coats and trousers of canton flannel, and they have been wearing the novel garments for about two months.

Red flannel caps with visors adorn the heads of the roosters, but the hens have a sort of poke bonnet trimmed with baby blue ribbon. The trousers are of the knickerbocker brand, caught with a cord at the bottom of the drumstick.
