Oratorical Contest.—The annual Oratorical contest of Maryland Colleges, represented by Washington, Western Maryland, St. John's and Maryland Agricultural Colleges was held last Friday evening at St. John's College, Annapolis. First prize was won by a representatiev of Western Maryland College, while W. D. Allen, who represented Washington College, and whose subject was "International Peace" captured second prize. The contestants displayed marked oratorical ability, and the contest was one of the best in the history of the Oratorical Association.

George Vickery Arrested on Assault Charge.—George Vickery, a well-known mule dealer from Missouri, is out on bail of $4,750 on the charge of having assaulted Thomas S. Johnson, of Smyrna, Del., who had assisted Mr. Vickery in many of his mule sales recently. The trouble arose over Johnson having placed a claim against some mules owned by Vickery, because he asserted that Vickery had failed to pay him and a squable ensued last week, in which the lie was passed. Vickery is alleged to have hit Johnson with the butt of a revolver. The blow caused concussion of the brain, and it was thought that Johnson would die. Vickery is in jail awaiting results of the condition of Johnson.

HOW ABOUT THIS, CAPT. CRANE?

The story is being told that some one told Captain Curtis E. Crane that a prominent farmer in Quaker Neck was for Harmon for President. Mr. Crane jumped in his automobile and went down in Quaker Neck accompanied by a young lawyer to see the farmer. When he got there he said: "Well, Mr. ——, I am for Harmon for President, and I want you to vote for me for delegate to the State Convention." "Well," said the farmer, "Mr. Crane, I am for Wilson, and I shall not vote for you. And not only that, you see my son there? He has never been out to vote in a primary. But I am going to get him to go to the polls on Monday and vote for Wilson, and for the delegates who are for Wilson."

It is also being told upon reliable authority that Capt. Crane approached a gentleman on the streets in Chestertown, whom he believed to be a Wilson man and said: 'Mr. ——, I am a candidate for delegate to the State Convention, and I want you to vote for me." "Well," said the gentleman, "Mr. Crane, who are you for for President?" "Oh, I'm for Wilson, first, last and all the time," said Captain Crane. "Well, said the gentleman, "I am for Clark, and I can't vote for you." "You are for Clark?" said Capt. Crane. "Yes, I'm for Clark, good-bye." And Capt. Crane looked like he had been "stung" again.

New Water Board Organizes.—The new Water Board, Messrs. Wm. M. Culp, Harry R. Graham Democrats, and Charles N. Satterfield, Republican, organized on Wednesday night by electing Mr. Graham president, Wm. M. Culp, secretary, and Charles N. Satterfield, treasurer. Mr. Charles S. Smith was elected superintendent and John Ringgold was elected engineer at the pump house. The Board submitted a report setting forth the general condition of the plant and offering suggestions as to future work. They turned over the books and accounts of the office, and wish their soccessors in office success and harmony of action.
