Wall Papers and Paints.

Wall Paper

Our stock of new Wall Papers is nearly all in—over 9000 rolls. We purchased at a lower price and will sell at a lower price than ever before. The cash discounts on this bill is enough profit for us. We can sell these papers at the same price our competitors pay for what they buy. The starting price is but come and see these papers and prices will surprise you. We'll sell paper. We sell you the paper outright or send you a competent man to hang it. No charge for our team.

2½c Per Single Roll up to 10c Per Roll,

Paint

Big Reduction in the price of B. P. S. Paint.

The Patterson Sargent Co. are using what they call their Universal Label on all their different products. So to keep in touch with this move, we have decided to sell all gallon cans bearing old labels at cost

$1.75 Per Gallon.

Also Hirschberg Hollander & Co.'s Stag Semi-Paste Paint; 1 gallon makes 2 gallons at $1.75. This reduction comes in season, don't wait as these prices won't last. Back they go when this lot is gone.

THAW'S FIGHT COSTS NEW YORK $350,000.

And if He Loses He Will Make State Spend Still More.

New York, July 14.—While the decision of Justice Keogh on the question of the sanity of Harry Thaw—expected about July 26—is awaited, attention has been drawn to the enormous expense attached to the recent hearing.

It is figured that to place Thaw in Matteawan it has cost the county of New York $350,000, making the murder of Stanford White one of the most expensive in the matter of high expenses in the history of the State.

It has cost Harry Thaw and his family three times this sum, or more than $1,000,000, for his two trials and his hearings to obtain a release from Matteawan. In case the present hearing does not result in his release, Thaw is in a position financially to make another try for his freedom.

Another hearing for Thaw will add another $50,000 to the county's expense, which is the estimated cost of the present hearing. The Authorities are getting used to spending large sums to prevent Thaw from getting his freedom.

MONEY ALL WASTED.

The first trial began on January 23, 1907, and lasted 79 days. Court expenses were $500 a day. The State's alienists received $23,000. The jury was housed and fed at a cost of $1500 a week. Witness fee and care of witnesses cost $5000 more. When the jury, after 48 hours, returned a disagreement, the State had spent—for nothing—a trifle more than $100,000.

Thaw had spent nearly all he possessed, he said. He had given Hartridge $104,000 and that attorney entered suit for $50,000 more. Delphin M. Delmas, "the attorney from the Pacific slope," was paid $40,000. Other lawyers received sums from $15,000 up to guesswork. Lawyer Gleason is said to have received $60,000.

SECOND TRIAL COST $100,000.

Then came the second trial, which cost the State another $100,000. At the end of this trial, when he was adjudged insane, Thaw from Matteawan declared he was bankrupt. The two trials had cost him $438,000 in money already spent and he owed $453,000. Valuable coal lands were sold and more money raised by Mrs. Mary Thaw, the prisoner's mother.

In 1909 Thaw began another fight for freedom before Justice Mill at White Plains. The contest looked favorable. Jerome went out of office but the State hired him, and Thaw stayed in Matteawan. Cost to the State—about $45,000; to Thaw—more than $100,000.

Then came the hearing just concluded. In it, in addition to the expense, 775,000 words of testimony were taken. This makes 3500 typewritten pages. In book form it would make eight novels the size of the best sellers.

Where Wilson Stands on the Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

The following letter from Gov. Woodrow Wilson to Prof. R. H. Dabney, of the University of Virginia, is taken from the Richmond Times Dispatch:

MY DEAR HEATH: "We did not have a chance when I was with you to have our talk out about the initiative, referendum and recall; it may be worth while, therefore, in view of the importance of the subject, for me to summarize somewhat more formally what I said to you in scraps.

"In the first place, with regard to my own state of mind, I surrendered to the facts, as every candid man must. My whole prepossession—my whole reasoning—was against these things. But when I came into contact with candid, honest, public-spirited men who could speak (with regard, for example, to Oregon) from personal observation and experience, they floored me flat with their narration of what had actually happened. I found in the men who had advocated these things, who had put them into operation, and who had accomplished things by them, not critics or opponents of representative government, but men who were eager to restore it where it had been lost, and who had taken—successfully taken—these means to recover for the people what they had unquestionable lost—control of their own affairs.

"In short, they were not trying to change our institutions. The initiative, referendum and recall were to their eyes (as they are to mine) merely a means to an end—that end being the restoration of the control of public opinion. Where opinion already controls, where there is now actual, genuine representative government, as I believe there is in Virginia and in the South in general, they are not necessary. Each State must judge for itself. I do not see how it could be made a subject of national policy. The people will, in my opinion, demand these meausures only where they are manifestly necessary to take legislation and the control of administrative action away from special, hopelessly intrenched interests. They are no general or universal panaceas!

"The recall of judges I am absolutely against, and always have been. It is a remedy for a symptom, not for a disease—the disease being the control of the system by influences which general opinion has ceased to control.

"It interested me very much to find that even in Oregon literally no one thought of these new methods of action as a substitute for representative institutions, but only as a means of stimulation and control. They are as devoted to the idea of our representative institutions as we are—and are bent upon realizing these ideas in practice. That is their conscious object.

"As for the recall, it is seldom used outside the municipalities. I do not remember an instance of its use on a State officer. It is merely 'a gun behind the door.'" Faithfully yours,
WOODROW WILSON.
