Hitch in Building Road.

There is a hitch between the county Road Engineer and the Board of County Commissioners regarding the building of the new road in the Fifth District which was asked for by a number of shippers and residents of that district, and which was duly examined by a commission appointed by the commissioners which commission reported favorable to building the road. The road engineer contends that the funds for opening the road should be made a special levy by the commissioners and we understand that the road engineer and Capt. Jim Wilson, a prominent Republican of the Fifth District, whom our Democratic road engineer wants to build the road have estimated that it would require $200 to open the road while a committee from the Board of Commissioners estimate that the work can be easily done for $100, but state that under the present road law the work must be done under the supervision of the road engineer and makes no provision for paying for the work except from the annual road levy. The commissioners have been advised by their counsel Hope H. Barroll, Esq., that their interpretation of the law is the proper one, and the responsibility for the opening of the road which the people of the Fifth District have asked for and which they have received permission from the Board of Commissioners to build, is upon the shoulders of the road engineer who has enough money at his disposal from the annual road levy to open all roads applied for and keep the present highways in excellent condition if he were a competent man for the job.
