Mr. A. C. Loud shipped 264 baskets of peaches on Monday.

Mr. Wm. Toulson has a new roadster. It is a beauty. Look out for the dust when he comes along.

Everybody is busy at Quaker Neck wharf getting ready for oysters.

Mrs. Lulu Toulson has been very sick, but is improving now.

John Burris was taken to the hospital on Friday last for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Omeara were Baltimore visitors last week.

Mr. Romie Harris is wearing the smile that wont come off. Yes, it is a fine little girl.

Great interest is being taken in the Epworth League meetings at Mowbray Church every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The contract for new lights for Mowbray M. E. Church has been awarded to Julian Brown, of near town. The system will be installed about the middle of September. Big preparations are being made for this event. Extra services will be held by the pastor assisted by out-of-town ministers. The program will be announced later.

The Ushers Union will serve an oyster supper at Mowbray Hall on the 12th of September. A good feed of oysters for 25 cents. The big fall poultry and oyster supper will be given in October.

Rev. Edw. Melott will have charge of the adult Bible Class at Bond Church Sunday A. M. Everybody welcome.

CAMPAIGN SONG.

(Tune, "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet.")

On the same old platform landing,
Where for ages they've been standing;
Republicans have had their say,
And they're having toil and trouble.
On their tracks they're trying to double,
Hoping thus to save the day.
Taft, they promised to elect him,
Though they wanted to reject him,
And it may be some of them have wished him dead;
They're the ones who worship Teddy,
And who want him for their steady;
But to them the old guard said:

Put on the same old bonnet
With the same strings upon it,
An stand hitched to the Organization shay;
You may love your Teddy,
But we'll hold you steady,
'Till after next election day.

But some Democrats are unhappy,
W. J. B. is their pappy,
And he spanks them 'till they're good;
He didn't ask them who they wanted,
But his birchen rod he flaunted,
And, Woodrow Wilson's sawing wood.
Says he, "They've split the ticket,
And I'm trying hard to lick it,
And I mean to do the job and do it right."
Though the bosses groan and grumble,
One and all they'll take a tumble,
When Wilson leads the fight.

Put on the Democratic bonnet,
With progressive strings upon it.
And help Woodrow Wilson in the fray;
He will rout the bossess,
And they'll count their losses,
After next election day.

If you don't like either party,
You'll receive a welcome hearty,
In the new one under way;
If you'll snuggle up to Teedy,
You may bolt when e'er you're ready,
While the Bull Moose leads the way.
He'll lick them to a frazzle,
And his followers he'll dazzle,
And he'll keep the other fellows on the jump:
So they'd best get out and hustle,
For you bet they'll have to rustle,
When T. R, takes the stump.

Put on the Colonel's jacket,
And help raise a racket,
While the people toil both night and day;
For Teddy loves to fool 'em,
And he hopes to rule 'em,
After next election day.

L. B. C. MORRIS,
Sassafras, Md.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of my loving wife, Caddie O. Whittington, who departed this life June 6th, 1910.

NEVER CAN BE FORGOTTEN.

Weary days and years have passed,
Since my loved one passed away;
All our efforts proved in vain,
To have her longer stay.

We can never solve the mystery,
Just why she could not stay;
We loved her yes, but God knew best,
And 'tis he who had his way.

He called her to his mansion,
Prepared for the pure in heart,
And the message seemed so sad indeed—
You must from earth depart.

We were compelled to stand the pressure,
Which touched us everywhere;
That she must leave the little ones,
Who need a mother's care.

She was a wife both true and kind,
Likewise a mother too;
'Twas her who soothed the sighs and pains,
That no one else could do.

And I sit to-night half dreaming,
My mind wondering too and fro,
A memory comes o'er me stealing,
Which brings back the long ago.

When my home was so bright and happy,
And I could meet that smiling face;
But there's big change to-day—
That loved one is not in her place.

There seems no comfort in life at all,
Despite what others do or say;
The sad true thought still lingers,
My loved one has passed away.

But I think I shall soon stand beside her,
And I hope my thoughts are not in vain;
For I am weary, I'm tired, I'm worn out,
And want to meet Caddie again.

By Her Loyal Husband
M. O. WHITTINGTON.

Hicks' Forecast for September

A regular storm period is central on the 5th, embracing the 3d to the 8th. By the 5th low barometer, rising temperature, cloudiness and gathering storms will appear in western sections and during the 6th, 7th and 8th, rain, and threatening conditions generally, will pass in regular progressive order eastwardly across the country. The probabilities are that the rainfall during these storms will be moderate. The barometer will remain below normal, and the temperature will not fall, as ordinarily, after the passage of these disturbances, giving a continued spell of very warm weather, except in the extreme nothern parts of the country.

A reactionary storm period involves the 10th, 11th and 12th, the moon being in perigee on the 9th, new on the 10th and on the equator on the 11th. It must also be remembered that a maximum crisis of electrical and magnetic unrest falls each year from about the 8th to the 15th of September, being central on the 11th. This tendency will be greatly aggravated this year by the added force of the moon's conjunction with the Earth and Sun on the 10th. This crisis of this period will fall on and near the 10th, 11th and 12th. The center of a marked seismic period is on the 10th, involving the 8th to the 13th. High barometer and much cooler weather, with probable frosts northward, will come out of the northwest from about the 12th to 15th.

A regular storm period is central on the 16th, covering the 15th to the 20th. The barometer will fall, temperature rise and renewed storms of rain and wind will pass eastwardly across the country during this period.

A regular storm period is coincident with the center of Earth's autumnal equinox on the 21st, 22d and 23d. This period will, in a great measure, fill the time betweeen the preceding and succeeding regular storm periods, causing a prolonged time of threatening weather.

A regular storm period is central on the 28th, extending from the 26th to October the 1st. The Mercury period comes in at this time, the moon is full, on the celestial equator, and at an eclipse node on the 26th. All these, being near the center of Earth's autumnal equinox call for very active and violent disturbances. The 26th is the center of a seismic period, involving the 23d to the 29th. The month will end with change to very cool.

Success in Growing Peaches.

We are very much indebted to Mr. B. F. Rash for a basket of beautiful Chairs Choice (yellow) peaches. The following letter which may be of interest to our growers accompanied the gift.

Worton, Md., Aug. 23, 1912.

MESSRS. TRANSCRIPT CO.—GENTLEMEN: I herewith send you a basket of peaches, Chairs Choice. These are not as high color as my previous fruit. I am sending them for size. We have sold to date over 3200 baskets, a fine crop from 2000 trees 5 years old.

I owe my success largely to summer spraying with Lime Sulphur and Arsenate of Lead. We sold our crop to Clifton & Woodland, of Baltimore, for 56 cents strait put up in two grades. These peaches were grown on Rash Bros. Flower Grove fruit farm known previously as the Jewell farm near Worton—they believe in giving a farm a name. They have on this farm 2000 peach, 400 Bartlett and 1000 Keiffer pear, 9 acres in asparagus, 5000 Concord grape, 3300 Houghting gooseberries from which they shipped over 6300 pounds this season; 1400 apple trees, 5 year trees; 925 winter, balance summer York Imperial and Stayman wine sapp for the winter varieties. Also 45 cherries, plum, damson, quince, trees. They expect to have an ideal fruit farm. By spraying with lime sulphur when the trees were set and continuing each season while trees are dormant they have no scale on this farm.

We hope to have a produce exchange at Worton Station one of these days. We see a possibility since we are to have a large milk station. With Mr. E. A Corey teaching the farmer how to grow potatoes, they will soon be growing cantalope, onions, cabbage and other vegetables. The farmers are waking up in Worton community to the fact that the old time farming, growing wheat and corn exclusively is not a paying proposition.

I am yours very truly,
BENY F. RASH.
